[fol. 5068] Of course, that is a great convenience to the defendants, but I don't think the burden that that would impose, both on this Court and the other Courts, should be imposed. I think we should get a final order entered here so that the whole thing may be heard in the Supreme Court at one time, and then we can get a final disposition over-all. He suggests that we get no final disposition in the Supreme Court or at the next hearing down here.

The Court: Why isn't that so, Mr. McClennen? Why should we be required to take two appeals?

Mr. McClennen: Well, I see no reason to think there would be a second appeal. When we have the Supreme Court's statement as to what we must do, then we will be able to proceed.

The Court: Why, the Supreme Court will either sustain or not sustain the decision of this Court, and it seems to me that if they sustain, it leaves us in a position here to go on and then later take action on the plan, and if that plan isn't approved by you, why, you, appeal again.

Mr. McClennen: Well, it is my position that if the Supreme Court did not decide the fundamental things that I spoke of but held that we must dispose of theatres, the Supreme Court would indicate whether or not the other [fol. 5069] thing that I spoke of, that is, whether we must dispose of theatres that we got originally properly without any restraint of trade or not.

If the Supreme Court says we must dispose of the theatre in Gloversville, for instance, why then, we can move forward with the plan for that purpose.

The Court: But the Supreme Court isn't going to speak on that subject in the first instance unless a plan has been proposed. I am just arguing it.

Mr. McClennen: From the way the Supreme Court has acted in the past, I shall be very much surprised if the Supreme Court did not deal with that bald proposition, that is, whether we must dispose of theatres that we have acquired properly.

The Court: You think they would decide that on this appeal or wouldn't?

Mr. McClennen: I think they would on this appeal. When a decree has been entered that says there will be a dissolution, re-alignment, or re-organization such as to produce competition, we appeal from that apart from the fundamental question as to whether there should be any decree against us, we appeal from that, and that presents to the Court the question of whether there is to be a dissolution [fol. 5070] or realignment that will take away from us theatres obtained properly originally.

The Court: Wouldn't they be likely to say that there should be a distribution or re-alignment and then send it back to the Court to effect such a distribution or re-alignment?

Mr. McClennen: I should expect that they would not fail to deal with that very fundamental question of whether we must give up theatres that were obtained properly originally.

The Court: I should think ordinarily there would have to be a re-alignment in the first instance, approved by the trial court, and then you would have to start with that.

Mr. McClennen: If your Honor please, before the remark gets cold that I had made a gross misrepresentation to the Court of what Judge Hand said. I am going to read to you just what he did say.

Mr. Wright: Of course, I object to carrying into this record any single statement made by the Court in another argument. If your Honor wishes to read this entire volume, I have no objection. But I do object to him seizing a single statement in the course of another argument and inserting it in the record here.

[fol. 5071] Mr. McClennen: When I am charged, your Honor, not only with having made a mis-statement, but a gross mis-statement, I urge that I should be permitted to read to your Honor the language which I paraphrased to see whether it was a misrepresentation.

The Court: I don't think that what was said here has very much bearing on the situation, and I don't think counsel intended to state that you didn't correctly state what was said by the Judge in that case.

Mr. McClennen: He said that I made a gross mis-statement.

Mr. Wright: My objection is that the effect is misleading of simply picking out any statement made by a Judge in an argument and then asking your Honor to consider that as a comment on what is being said here.

Mr. McClennen: That isn't what he said. He said I made a gross mis-statement of what Judge Hand said. I urge upon your Honor that I be permitted to read what Judge Hand said.

The Court: I thought what he said was that the whole statement taken together was misleading.

Mr. McClennen: What he said was that a gross mis-statement was made by me.

Mr. Wright: I take it you have no objection to leaving that volume with the Court?

Mr. McClennen: I have no objection to leaving the volume [fol. 5072] with the Court to have him see all that the Court said. And this is the statement:

"Judge Hand: Why do you have to sell theatres in order to cure that, if there is a wrong there?

Mr. Wright: Well, the agreement is, I would say, per se illegal, and of course——

Judge Hand: You seem really to aim at, I won't say nothing, because you are calling attention now to other wrongs, but your great aim is to upset all the ownership of theatres. Now that is an extremely drastic remedy that I should think was extremely likely for this court to give. But that is merely a first impression by myself, and I have got to study this thing very carefully in other ways than just by reading through the briefs once, of course. But this sort of thing that you are arguing now is the kind of thing that has always been argued, and remedies have constantly been granted that were thought sufficient. Maybe they have not been against the kind of thing you are calling our attention to here."

Now I do not urge upon your Honor these arguments contained in this volume. I had wanted to hand these arguments to you as a whole, but I doubted the propriety [fol. 5073] of my doing so, because it would bring before your Honor things of which there is no evidence whatever in this case. But with those preliminary comments, since Mr. Wright wants it, I leave with you the printed argument in the case and ask your Honor——

Mr. Court: When was this case submitted?

Mr. Wright: It was submitted on January 18th, and I think there should be a decision very shortly.

Don't misunderstand me, your Honor. There is no obligation on your part, as I said, to examine the argument in another case at all. But I insist that the only fair way to go into it, if your Honor is going to pay any attention to what was said on an argument in regard to another case, that you would have to examine the entire contents of the argument. My statement was that there was no occasion for your Honor to examine the contents at all.

The Court: Well, whatever you gentlemen agree on. If you want to submit it to the Court, all right. If there is objection either way, why—I don't know what if any value it might have so far as the decision in this matter is concerned.

Mr. McClennen: Well, I have the volume here, and I as- [fol. 5074] sert that I have made no misrepresentation of anything that Judge Hand said in it, and the volume is available. If Mr. Wright wants your Honor to have it to see whether I have made any gross misrepresentation of anything that Judge Hand said, I leave that matter at that.

Now it is said as to the matter of the object of a motion to amend, and I refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in the Crescent case, on December 11, 1944, where the motion in that case was up, and the Court, by Judge Douglas said, "The motion to amend the findings.

If it was not addressed to mere matters of form, but raised questions of substance, that is, if it sought a reconsideration of certain basic findings of fact and the alteration of the conclusions of the Court, an examination of the motion makes plain that matters of substance were raised."

That is the Supreme Court's characterization of the object of the motion in that case.

Now, it is said that in all these cases—of course, I can't answer all these cases, because I don't know what they are —that there has been these provisions for search of the [fol. 5075] defendants' records. I have here the final decree in the Crescent case as filed May 17, 1943, and the order of the District Court, after the appeal was out of the way, entered February 19, 1945, and I find in my copy of it no provision for any such examination of the records of the Crescent Company.

The Court: What do you say to the Court's suggestion in that connection?

Mr. McClennen: For examination of the records?

The Court: That isn't an ordinary way of handling it.

Mr. McClennen: Well, any such thing wasn't put into the decree in the Crescent case.

The Court: Well, that might be very true, but I am saying why wouldn't that be the proper way to handle it here?

Mr. McClennen: Because I say that it would violate the Constitution. We are entitled to be free from unreasonable searches, and a search is unreasonable unless it is shown that there is probable cause to believe that there has been a violation of the injunction.

The Court: Well, that would be avoided by the procedure I have suggested. Let application be made to the Court, the Court passes on it right then.

Mr. McClennen: That is not the proposal in this case.

[fol. 5076] The Court: I understand. That is my proposal.

Mr. McClennen: I submit that there should be no provision in the decree for an examination of our records until there is presented to your Honor reasonable cause to believe that there has been a violation of the injunction, and then the matter is presented, and that there should be no investigation of our records until that time.

As I say, this case that has been so much relied on has no provision for such an examination, and I cite this to your Honor because of the assertion here that in all these cases this was a provision that had been put in. That is the reason that I am calling your attention to one that I happen to have handled, knowing not what the others are which he has referred to.

The Court: Well, I cannot see the necessity for putting it in anyway. Application can be made to the Court at any time, and the Court can pass upon it then.

Mr. McClennen: Well, that would be true of any decree, the ordinary decree that is entered. The plaintiff can come into court and say there is reasonable cause to believe that this decree has been violated and we ask an opportunity to see the records to see whether that is so, and then if there [fol. 5077] is a showing, reasonable cause to believe that there is such a violation, then such an order may be entered.

But there is no occasion for it in advance in a decree because it is a matter that relates to a subsequent contempt proceeding, if there is grounds for such a proceeding.

Now, if your Honor please, it is suggested that what we are asking for is a narrative of the evidence. Well, in this very motion to amend which the plaintiffs present, they ask for a more elaborate narrative of the facts because they think your statement is too inadequate for the plaintiff's purposes, that is, the principle for which they contend is, "Don't narrate the evidence, except where it is favorable to the plaintiff. Don't put in any evidence on which a judgment of dissolution is to be based which is favorable to the defendants."

That is the summary of their position in this matter.

The Court: Well, they claim that these proposed statements of theirs come within the decision of the Court, while their claim is, on the other hand, that your proposed findings are in contradiction of the decision of the Court.

Mr. McClennen: Then I say that statement is not so. In [fol. 5078] many of these cases where they have made a simple statement, where their draft of findings said we made a threat, for instance, we have substituted a statement of just what we did do. That is all.

Now, why should the representatives of the Government desire to keep their own facts out of the findings of fact, on which so serious a judgment is to be entered? What reason for such a position? We ask to have a fair narrative of the facts put into the findings, so that it can be tested whether on that state of facts we are called upon to have wrested from us these great numbers of theatres.

We are charged with making no attempt to clarify. Clarify? When we have laid out exactly what was said, so as to make it perfectly clear what was said. Absolutely no basis for any such assertion.

No effort to get at the facts, it is said of our motion. Why, what a monstrous statement, your Honor, when we are laying before you the facts exactly as the evidence introduced for the plaintiff showed those facts to be.

Then there is this statement that there is an effort made to make it appear that Schine is not in control. And that [fol. 5079] is said on the very afternoon that I have argued that Schine was the policy maker for this corporation; that he was the one that designed the course that that corporation was to pursue. Of course, there has been no effort whatever to suppress the fact that J. Myer Schine was the controlling head of this corporation, and the only controlling head. But your Honor had findings of fact as to the stockholdings that simply were not so that had been laid before you by plaintiff's counsel, and if they are all stricken out, all right. But if they go in, they should go in as the fact is, and that is simply the reason why the fact is stated in the motion.

Now, there was the statement at the outset that there had been an agreed extension of time to file a motion, which they spoke of as being a motion under 52 (b). Well, we filed this motion before there was any extension of time; we filed this motion within ten days of the judgment, and filed at that time the things that we ask for in this motion. There was no occasion for their having any supposition as to what was going to be filed pursuant to the extension of time, because it had already been filed before anything was [fol. 5080] extended so far as time was concerned. Now, if your Honor please, his specific——

The Court: Counsel stated that you made first an application for extension of time.

Mr. McClennen: Well, the first application for extension of time was at the request of the Government's counsel. The plaintiffs asked for two months' extension. We had already filed our motion, and we joined in that two months' extension provision.

The Court: Well, what I had in mind that counsel said there is that the first application was made by you. You said this motion was filed in ten days. Now, his statement is to the contrary, that you made an application for extension of time to file.

Mr. McClennen: We had filed the motion that is before you before there was any extension of time.

Mr. McKay: The first extension was filed at the same time.

Mr. Wright: It was by agreement. I have the order here. It was made on November 8th, and it is within that extended time that the defendants' motion was filed.

Mr. McClennen: Our motion was filed, Mr. Wright, without any extension of time. It was filed on the 10th day of November.

Mr. Wright: The only thing I have in the file is the order of November 8th.

[fol. 5081] Mr. McClennen: Well, the United States Attorney's endorsement of the service shows that he received our motion on November 10th, 1945.

Mr. Wright: Well, I assume that is when it was filed.

The Court: The point then, counsel, is why did he have to join in the consent?

Mr. McClennen: The Government wanted more time.

The Court: I understand that. Why did you have to join?

Mr. McClennen: There was no need for time as far as we were concerned. We had filed ours. Now, it ought not be necessary that we should clear that up. We filed our motion before that consent. We filed it in time.

The Court: I don't think that makes very much difference here. The reason I spoke about it was that there was an apparent discrepancy in your statements.

Now, you said, Mr. Wright, you want some date fixed for a hearing on the proposed plan?

Mr. Wright: That is what the order calls for, the filing of objections by them and then a date for hearing on the objections. You have thirty days from whenever it was received. I don't know when you received the plan.

Mr. McClennen: I got the plan on the morning of February 22nd, 1945 at my house.

[fol. 5082] The Court: Well, I haven't seen it. What dates do you want to fix then?

Mr. Wright: Well, I would assume that their objections would be filed by March 22nd, and I would suppose that we could have it set down for the first week in April.

Mr. McClennen: Of course, it is very trifling, but I think March 24th would be the expiration of thirty days, and then whatever time is a convenient time thereafter I should think would be satisfactory.

The Court: Well, the 24th of March is a Sunday. Monday is the 25th. How long a time do you want after that? It is immaterial to me.

Is it your view, Mr. McClennen, that your time to appeal will date from—you have already served notice of appeal—but I mean is it your contention that irrespective of that you have the right to take an appeal in thirty days after the action on the findings?

Mr. McClennen: Sixty days. I infer that that is the view of the Supreme Court, that is, they had just that situation in the other case, the appeal was taken, and then another one was taken, and they dismissed the first one as premature, and went on with the second one.

[fol. 5083] The Court: I assume that that will have to be done here. I was just thinking from your standpoint of the question of time, that is all. What time do you want to come up here in April? You can fix your own date, so far as I am concerned.

Mr. McClennen: Am I right in assuming that it would be preferable to your Honor that it should be on a Monday?

The Court: I don't think that makes much difference.

Mr. McClennen: I would rather have it some other day. If your Honor will fix any Tuesday in April.

The Court: Is the 9th agreeable?

Mr. McClennen: Mr. McKay suggests the 16th rather than the 9th.

The Court: 16th is all right.

Mr. McClennen: I have two briefs, one in opposition of their motion, that is dated February 23, 1946, and one in support of our motion, dated February 5, 1946, and I hand Mr. Wright a copy.

Mr. Wright: I haven't any formal memorandum of those authorities I mentioned today. If your Honor wants them I would have a list typed and leave them with you.

The Court: All right.

Civil No. 223

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff,

v.

SCHINE CHAIN THEATRES, INC., et al., Defendants

Appearances:

Robert L. Wright, Louis B. Schwartz, Special Assistants to the Attorney-General; Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney-General; George L. Grobe, United States Attorney; for Plaintiff.

Edward F. McClennen, Samuel S. Isseks, Willard S. McKay, for the Defendants.

DECISION OF JUDGE KNIGHT ON MOTIONS TO AMEND FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND JUDGMENT

KNIGHT, District Judge:

Both parties have moved under Rule 52(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to amend the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law and the Judgment heretofore filed herein.

The Findings made by the court follow closely the opinion. It is usually the practice of this court to ask the prevailing party to submit Findings. No need has been seen for asking an unsuccessful party to submit Findings. The latter has the opportunity to present the record on appeal.

The amendments proposed by the defendants set out in detail large portions of the testimony. Many of these also contain conclusions contrary to the Findings made. [fol. 5085] It is believed that the Findings and Judgment as made are sufficient. It is not the duty of the court to set out the details of the testimony as proposed.

The question has been raised that the relief sought by the defendants is grantable only by motion under Rule 59 and not under Rule 52(b). It is true that the granting of defendants' motion in toto would amount to a reversal of the Judgment. In view of the action herein taken, it seems unnecessary to determine this question. Irrespective, however, of any obligation of the court so to do, certain amendments are allowed.

Defendants' Proposed Findings

Proposed Finding No. 1—Allowed—

"Among the theatres in which Schine became financially interested there are 25 theatres situated respectively in 16 towns, Auburn, Bath, Canandaigua, Carthage, Corning, Gloversville, Herkimer, Little Falls, Newark, Norwich, Oneonta, Oswego, Salamanca, Saranac Lake, Syracuse and Watertown, New York, which had belonged to Schine before 1930 and had been leased to the Fox-Metropolitan Circuit in 1929, and which reverted to Schine in 1933 as a consequence of the termination of the leases in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy proceedings. The result of this reversion was that it was necessary for Schine to resume the operation of the said theatres. At the end of the year 1930 Schine had no motion picture theatres, except suburban theatres in Buffalo and Rochester, motion picture theatres in Courtland, East Rochester, Fairport, Rockport, Geneva, Malone, Medina and Ogdensburg, and a half interest in Amsterdam and a theatre under construction in Bellefontaine, Ohio."

and to be added to Finding No. 3 as found and not substituted therefor. The remainder of the proposed Finding is disallowed.

[fol.5086] Proposed Finding No. 2—Allowed—

"Schine has expended for the cost of land and buildings acquired by it the sum of $6,509,100.00 and for the cost of building additions and improvements the sum of $4,439,000.00."

and to be added to Finding No. 4 as found and not substituted therefor. The remainder of the proposed Finding is disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 3—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 4—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 5—Allowed—

"Schine acquired by purchase or lease 55 theatres from 1922 to 1931 and 80 from 1936 to 1941, inclusive, > 15 in 1938 and 15 in 1939. The 55 theatres included the 25 which, as above stated, had been acquired by Schine and sold or leased to Fox-Metropolitan and which reverted to Schine in 1933 in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy proceedings."

and to be added to Finding No. 7 as found. The remainder of the proposed Finding is disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 6 to No. 14, inclusive,—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 15—Allowed and to be added to Finding of Fact No. 20, but not in substitution therefor.

Proposed Finding No. 16—Allowed and to be added to Finding of Fact No. 21, and not to be substituted therefor.

Proposed Finding No. 17—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 18—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 19—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 20—Allowed.

Proposed Finding No. 27 to No. 31, inclusive,—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 32—Allowed, except that the record shows approximately 87% are located in cities and villages.

Proposed Finding No. 33 to 44, inclusive,—Disallowed.

Proposed Finding No. 45—Allowed, except that "or 40" percent should be stricken.

Proposed Finding No. 46 to No. 84, inclusive,—Disallowed.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

V-1-9, inclusive, Denied.
VI—Denied.
VII—Denied.

PLAINTIFF'S PROPOSED FINDINGS

1. Add at the end of Finding No. 22 the following: "Minimum admission prices were omitted from Schine's contracts, although the contracts of his independent competitors specified minimum admission prices.

> "The Plaza contracts in evidence prohibited it from charging less than 15 cents. The Fox contracts for the 1933-34 season permitted Schine's State Theatre with a 60-day clearance over the Plaza, to charge an adult evening orchestra admission price five cents lower than the Plaza was required to charge. Metro's 1933-34 contract for Schine's State Theatre omitted any minimum admission price requirement, as did the Universal contract for the State and RKO contracts for the Fox and State Theatres in both the 1933-34 and 1934-35 contracts.
> [fol. 5088] "In Lexington, Kentucky, Schine's contract with Fox for the 1936-37 first run product provided for minimum admission prices in Schine's Lexington Theatre for the first run showing of Fox pictures. Schine cut its admission price below the minimum prices fixed. Schwartz complained to Fox and Paramount about these. Fox advised Schine of this complaint and Myer Schine replied that the cuts were 'quite essential and proved to be beneficial.' Fox then omitted all minimum admission price requirements in the Schine second and third run contracts for the succeeding seasons, but provided for minimum evening adult admission prices of 15 cents for the independent theatre."

In other respects the proposed finding is disallowed.

2. Disallowed.

Nos. 3 to 7, inclusive, Allowed. It seems to me that the proposed amendments are reasonably based on the opinion herein.

8. It is believed that the court should not at this time include any Finding with respect to authorizing representatives of the Department of Justice to have access to books, etc. of a defendant corporation and to interview officers of a defendant corporation. It is believed that the court has the authority to make this direction. (United States v. Bausch & Lomb, 321 U. S. 707) A plan of reorganization of the defendants or re-alignment of the theatres in suit has been submitted by the plaintiff and action on it is pending. We see no reason why the matter proposed in No. 8, supra, should not await consideration of the plan or some further action relative to the judgment.

March 8, 1946.

John Knight, United States District Judge.

[fol. 5091] IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

[Title omitted]

Amended Findings of the Court—March 29, 1946

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The defendants in this suit are: Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., a New York holding and service corporation, five other corporations in which Schine Chain Theatres, Inc. owns all of the stock, to wit, Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., an operating company, Schine-Lexington Corporation, a holding company, Schine Enterprise Corporation, a service corporation, Schine Circuit, Inc., a service corporation, and Chesapeake Theatre Corporation, a holding corporation; and also three individuals J. Meyer Schine, Louis Schine and John A. May. Hereinafter the corporate defendants will sometimes be referred to as "Schine", the "Schine Circuit" or as "the Circuit."

2. From 1920 to 1941 these defendants acquired, either as purchaser or as lessee, an interest in 175 theatres and in addition some 42 separate parcels of real estate for theatre purpose, or connected with such purpose.

3. Since 1931, there have been 118 theatre corporations in which an interest has been acquired by "Schine." Among the theatres in which Schine became financially interested there are 25 theatres situated respectively in 16 towns, [fol, 5092] Auburn, Bath, Canandaigua, Carthage, Corning, Gloversville, Herkimer, Little Falls, Newark, Norwich, Oneonta, Oswego, Salamanca, Saranac Lake, Syracuse and Watertown, New York, which had belonged to Schine before 1930 and had been leased to the Fox-Metropolitan Circuit in 1929, and which reverted to Schine in 1933 as a consequence of the termination of the leases in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy proceedings. The result of this reversion was that it was necessary for Schine to resume the operation of the said theatres. At the end of the year 1930 Schine had no motion picture theatres, except suburban theatres in Buffalo and Rochester, motion picture theatres in Courtland, East Rochester, Fairport, Rockport, Geneva, Malone, Medina and Ogdensburg, and a half interest in Amsterdam, and a theatre under construction in Bellefontaine, Ohio. As of the time of the commencement of this suit there were 62 of such operating corporations and in 48 of these "Schine" owned 100 per cent of the stock, in 12, 50 per cent. Schine operates 93 theatres in 73 towns (including cities). The towns run generally in population from 5000 to 35000 and include 39 in New York, 16 in Ohio, 8 in Kentucky, 7 in Maryland, 2 in Delaware and 1 in Virginia. In addition to its theatrical and realty operations, "Schine" has booked and bought for and supervised 37 theatres since 1931, and when this suit was brought there were 27 for which it so acted. Since 1928 the closed towns (those in which there was no opposition) show a total increase of 56. In 1941 there were only 3 towns in which Schine's competitors (hereinafter called independents) were playing major film product.

4. In a single season, 1939-1940, Schine paid $1,647,000 to six film companies. These defendants together control the largest independent theatre circuit in the country. For [fol. 5093] theatre acquisitions and capital improvements there has been expended admittedly upwards of $10,948,100, not including dividend payments on operating expenses and cash on hand. Schine has expended for the cost of land and buildings acquired by it the sum of $6,509,100 and for the cost of building additions and improvements the sum of $4,439,000.

5. There are eight so-called major film companies: Fox, Loew, Paramount, RKO, Warner, Columbia, Universal and United Artists, which supply Schine a large per cent of the feature films used by Schine and together receive upwards of 75 per cent of the total film rental paid by Schine. The principal sales office of each is in New York City and the method of licensing and servicing of films is similar with each except that United Artists licenses its films subject to the approval of the respective producers of whose films it distributes. The feature films are mostly produced in California where the negatives are taken, the prints being generally manufactured in New York and New Jersey. Film license applications are solicited by salesmen from the branch office, and the delivery and return of films are made through the branch. Prints of films are sent from the various exchange offices in the various states to the exhibitors of the main office and all contracts are subject to approval by the main office at New York although the recommendations for approval ordinar-ly are made by the branch manager who is close to the situation. Prior to the 1941-1942 season it was the usual custom for all of the distributors to make license agreements for feature films for a period of a year commencing about September of each year, which license agreements were ordinarily made before the film was produced. Since that season the films of Fox, Loew, Paramount, RKO and Warner have been [fol. 5094] licensed in blocks generally not exceeding five in number rather than in season blocks.

6. The individual defendants hold the principal offices in the defendant corporations and hold other offices in the various so-called local corporations. They are the principal stockholders in the parent corporation and have general supervision of the operations of the circuit. The film buying for the circuit and the companies in which it had an interest was conducted through "Schine" or one of its subsidiaries, Lazar, a regional manager for "Schine" covering several states, and Silverman and Hensler, district managers, and one Insley, principally carried on negotiations for acquisitions, though the defendants Schine and May engaged directly in some, while one Lynch was "the Circuit's" chief film buyer. In circuit buying "Schine" generally negotiated deals with the division manager. The agreements so made are referred to as "master agreements and deal sheets", but these were usually followed by license agreements signed by the chief sales executive of the distributors.

7. The great film buying power of the defendant corporations gave opportunity to exert pressure on the distributors to obtain preferences. The extent of this film buying is demonstrated by the exceedingly large number of theatres controlled by "Schine" and the large amount of money which must have been paid for film rentals. This buying power included both closed and open towns. By combining the open and closed towns in Schine's deals with the distributors, Schine was enabled to dictate terms to the distributors. This ability to dictate terms was further increased by the authority of Schine to buy product for theatres not owned or operated by it. Schine acquired by purchase or lease 55 theatres from 1922 to 1931, and 80 from 1936 to [fol. 5095] 1941, inclusive, 15 in 1938 and 15 in 1939. The 55 theatres included the 25 which, as above stated, had been acquired by Schine and sold or leased to Fox-Metropolitan and which reverted to Schine in 1933 in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy proceedings.

8. The means and methods employed by the different defendant corporations through their officers and authorized representatives to obtain a "monopolistic" control were numerous. Principally among these were arbitrarily depriving independents of first and second run pictures, securing unreasonable clearances, making threats to build or open closed theatres to prevent construction or operation by independents, lowering admission prices, obtaining rental concessions, restricting independents who sold to Schine as to periods and places of operation, making long time franchise agreements covering the "Circuit."

9. Some specific instances showing the predatory means used by "Schine" follow:

(a) The Schine defendants arbitrarily deprived independents of the first run product which they had previously enjoyed in several towns. Independents were deprived of 1936-37 Columbia product at Norwalk; 1935-36 Fox product at Van Wert and Bucyrus; Loew's product for 1930-31 at Bellefontaine and for 1935-36 at Van Wert; Paramount's 1935-36 product at Van Wert and Bucyrus; RKO product for 1933-34 at Auburn and 1935-36 at Norwalk; of United Artists 1936-37 at Norwalk; and of Warner for 1933-34 at Norwich, 1936-37 at Norwalk; and 1941-42 at Harlan. Independents were arbitrarily deprived of second run product which they had previously exhibited, losing 1938-39 Columbia at Rochester, Loew's 1935-36 at Van Wert and 1934-35 Warner at Watertown. After "Schine" secured the [fol. 5096] product from the independents for the aforementioned seasons, he retained it and the independent was unable to secure it in subsequent seasons. Relative to six towns including Corning, Lynch wrote on October 21, 1933, Metro: "If there are any other opposition towns where you believe you can sell a second run, I would appreciate it if you would take the matter up with me first before selling." In 1932 Lynch wrote Flynn a letter saying, among other things: "I want you to refrain from selling him (independent) any pictures whatsoever." And Metro through Flynn agreed not to do so. Lynch also wired Fox to withhold selling to this independent and wrote Fox' agent saying "have also asked him (Schmertz-Fox agent) to refrain from selling this man second run."

(b) "Schine" was able to secure unreasonable clearances year after year in many towns. A few only need to be mentioned. At Corning, New York, RKO permitted 90 to 180 days and Fox permitted 160 days. At Seneca Falls, New York, Columbia and United Artists permitted 120 days. At Little Falls, New York, RKO, Columbia and Universal permitted 120 days and United Artists permitted 115 days. At Carthage, RKO permitted 120 days and United Artists 90. United Artists permitted 90 days at Watertown, New York, and 90 days at Amsterdam, New York; Bucyrus, Kent, Norwalk, Tiffin and Fostoria, Ohio; and Lexington and Van Wert, Kentucky. Schine got clearance for Herkimer over Ilion where none existed before.

(c) The license contracts with "Schine" in many instances specified minimum admission prices for the various runs as well as clearance periods. This affects adversely the time given the competitor.

10. "Schine" made threats to build in various towns, such as Paris, where there was a sign up, Canandaigua by a [fol. 5097] sign and newpaper article published, and where he eventually did build. In Perry, a statement by May and a newspaper article announcing that land had been bought for theatre purposes came at a time when "Schine" was trying to purchase the independent's lease. "Schine" did not build, but later got the lease. In Salamanca, just after independents acquired a site for a contemplated theatre, through the press "Schine" announced its intention to build. In Medina, "Schine" announced the making of an agreement to erect a new theatre immediately after independents started construction. In Mount Vernon, May contacted the independent to buy, saying "Schine" would build unless the deal could ~~be put~~ through.

11. Defendants' authorized agents made statements to independents which are reasonably construed as threats.

(a) At Bellefontaine, during negotiations for the renewal of a lease with an independent, Lazar threatened to reopen the Opera House if the independent opened the Strand.

(b) With reference to Paris, Lazar told the independent, who was taking steps to build, that if the independent went ahead with his projects "Schine" would build a 1200 seat theatre in Lexington where the independent had a theatre and that the house would be run with 10¢ policy at all times. At Paris, Schine and an independent began construction at practically the same time. Lazar asked the independent to stop construction and see him about a deal. Subsequently Schine took over the independent's Lexington and Paris theatres under an agreement prohibiting for fifteen years the independent from engaging in the theatre business in any town in Kentucky where Schine had a theater.

(c) Just before Schine acquired the "Forum theatre in Norwalk, Lazar advised an independent to "get in with us [fol. 5098] * * * we are a big company. You know what it means if you are not in with us" and further stated: "If you lease your theatre Mr. William Selman (part owner of the "Forum") will walk out of town."

(d) At Van Wert, the operator of the "Ohio" theatre could not get first run product it had had. During negotiations for the sale of the "Ohio" to Schine, Lazar said that Moore would have trouble getting product; Schine would have the first runs; and that Schine was interested in buying in order to raise prices.

(e) At Lockport, during negotiations with "Schine" for the "Palace" theatre, May said it would be necessary to re-open the Hi-Art owned by "Schine" to use up "the large volume of product they had bought." This statement evidently was made to induce Reliance to sell the "Palace." In this instance it is to be noted that the independents experience great difficulty in getting product. Hi-Art had then been closed for seven years. Metro, Fox, Universal and Loew's refused major product to the independent. Indicative of the attitude of the distributors is the letter from the Eastern Salesmanager of Loew's who wrote:

> "In our negotiations with the Schine interests it will very likely be that we will have to give them consideration for our product at Lockport, as well as other situations, and as we are hardly in a position to forego or jeopardize the business from their other situations, and for the further reason that they have for a number of years been a very representative account, we feel that our interests would be best served by giving them such consideration."

(f) At Perry, May told the independent that "Schine" has bought a lot to build a 1000 seat theatre there. This [fol. 5099] was a town of less than 5000 population. The independent theatre building was owned by the town and leased to the independent. When May said this, a local newspaper article to the same effect was given out. Schine did not build but Hersberger sold shortly thereafter, and through the purchaser of this interest Schine acquired the lease.

(g) Insley and May tried to buy an independent's theatre at Seaford and Georgetown. Insley said it was foolish that the independent did not make a deal with "Schine" because he had recently purchased the theatre at Laurel and "very likely, with the buying power they had they would get away the product" from the independent. Isnley said Schine had bought a lot with the intention to build a theatre in Seaford, and also said: "Well, if I were you I would sell the theatres to Schine because they are going to build a theatre there and, naturally, they are going to get the product." Insley, under a written contract with "Schine", had authority "in negotiations for the acquisition of motion picture theatres within the above-described territory" (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia). Seaford and Georgetown are in Delaware.

(h) At Rochester, J. Meyer Schine told independents, who were then building the "Webster", that the location was not appropriate, that it was too near the "State" (Schine's) and not justified, and Schine said he would build a theatre near the Murray theatre (owned by independents). The "State" and the "Webster" theatres were ¾ mile apart. Schine later took over the "Webster". Schine testified he said that it would not be sensible to build the "Webster", but denied that he said he would build near the "Murray."

(i) At Seneca Falls, after an independent had taken steps toward building a theatre, a sign was placed on the [fol. 5100] Seneca theatre, (shortly theretofore purchased by Schine) which read: "Closed for alterations. Will reopen soon as a Schine theatre." Independent then discontinued efforts to build. "Schine" did not re-open. Practically the same things recurred two years later. The same independent took steps to build. The sign re-appeared on the "Seneca." The independent did not go through with his plan. The "Seneca" did not open. It had not been open in several years.

12. After "Schine" opened a theatre within a town, it was arbitrarily able to keep the independents from opening a theatre in the town with suitable run product, as in Auburn, Lockport, Mt. Vernon, Paris, and Bellefontaine.

13. "Schine" was able to monopolize first run product at Corbin, Medina and Lockport even though the physical facilities of the independents in those towns were better than Schine's. He was able to monopolize the first neighborhood run in Rochester even though the physical facilities of the independents were better.

14. "Schine" cut admission prices at Corbin, Geneva, Lexington, Malone, Ogdensburg and other towns; gave out cut rate tickets in Addison, good in his Corning theatre for students, and frequently engaged in two for ones and bank nights in other towns.

15. In cases of purchase or the assumption of leases other than those hereinbefore referred to, the agreements therefor provided for no competition by the independents for long periods of time. The non-competitive feature was also extended to cover outside towns, i. e.: Amsterdam, Ilion, Malone, Paris, and Lexington.

16. By reason of franchise agreements entered into prior to May 19, 1942 (voided thereafter, see Decree herein of [fol. 5101] that date) permitting special film rentals not given independents, "Schine" was able to reap benefits unavailable to independents and these were utilized against independent operators as a means of restraint. These have a definite bearing on the competitive effect of buying power. Rather than make contracts for a single year, as appears to have been Schine's practice prior to 1936, he then began making such for a period of two or three years. These contracts included both the entire circuit and also those theatres for which Schine did the booking. The great buying power of "Schine" enabled him to obtain concessions not obtainable by independents. In 1936 Schine made a three year agreement with Fox, and as a result he obtained the Fox feature product in all the towns which "Schine" then operated, and this agreement was later made to include subsequently acquired theatres. In 1938 a subsequent three year agreement was made. These agreements provided for payment of certain percentages of gross receipts after deduction of operating costs, and also fixed minimum admission charges. With Loew in 1936, a four year agreement was made under substantially the same terms as made with Fox. In 1937 a comparable three year agreement was made with Warner; in 1938 a similar one with RKO; a similar two year one with Columbia in the same year and a three year agreement was made with Universal in 1939. In the instance of United Artists, a distributing corporation, separate contracts were made for each feature for all Schine theatres. Another feature of these agreements was the inclusion of unfair and inequitable clearance provisions.

17. In numerous instances unreasonable clearances were allowed to Schine over towns in which Schine did not operate, and some towns distant from 10 to upwards of 20 [fol. 5102] miles, and towns in which there were no theatres. Gloversville got clearance of 45 days over Johnstown, and "Schine" was given clearance both over Newfane and Mohawk where there were no theatres. Many clearances were over outside towns of comparably small population, distant so far that no clearance is justified, such as Randolph, Little Valley and Elliottville, New York. Many recently were given over towns over which there had been no previous clearance. Metro gave clearance in Ashland over Londenville and Lodi, Ohio; United Artists gave clearance in Auburn over Skaneateles, New York, and Fox in Hornell over Earlville, New York. The record is replete with inter-department communications between major film representatives which recognize the unreasonableness of the clearances given to Schine at his demand. This is shown by the communications and representations made by Lehman of United Artist; Pielow of M. G. M., Dana and Sauber of Universal, Smith of Warner, and Sussman and Grassgreen of Fox, which are admissible in evidence because these men all held positions in their respective companies so that it was within the scope of their duties to make the representations in the communications that they did as a natural incident of the office, i. e.: branch or district manager. Pielow, MGM resident manager, wrote: "I feel that in some of the situations (unnamed) (discussing Schine contracts), the clearance that he (Lynch) is demanding is unfair * * *." Dana, branch manager of Universal wrote the district manager that he had asked Louis Schine relative to clearances over the Smalley circuit (Norwich) and that he refused to grant the privilege of serving the pictures with shorter clearance. Universal branch manager Sauber wrote Lynch that they wanted to serve Waterloo in less time than the 30 days clearance after Seneca Falls because other majors were, but Lynch refused [fol. 5103] though Universal had the right under its contract to do so. At Rochester, Scully, of Universal, said it would be satisfactory if the Madison and Monroe came within the Schine 21 day clearance. Smith, branch manager of Warner, wrote to the Home office that Canton would do more business if it were not for Schine at Ogden-burg having 30 days clearance and if it was reduced; "It will make a better condition for us all * * *." Smith also wrote relative to Seneca Falls stating that he hoped Lynch would break down their 60 days clearance: "As I told you this morning over the phone, the clearance set up is all wet * * *." Sussman, of Fox, wrote to Grassgreen that the 60 day clearance in Glens Falls and elsewhere seemed excessive. Sussman went on to comment that he noted that 60 day clearance was given over second run at Malone when Fox had no second run in Malone, and furthermore, as previously stated, 60 days over second run seemed excessive. Grassgreen replied that while the 60 days at Glens Falls might seem excessive, Lynch insisted upon it. Grassgreen said that Schine insisted upon the 60 day clearance because they wanted to be consistent with their demands for 60 days over subsequent independent runs.

18. In certain instances the distributors refused to negotiate with the independents for runs not bought by Schine. Such are seen in the refusal of RKO, Fox, Paramount, MGM and Universal to furnish second run at Auburn; of MGM at Amsterdam until the "Schine" deal did not materialize; by United Artists at Geneva; and by RKO, Universal and Fox at Paris.

19. In many instances the distributors refused to negotiate with the independent for runs. After "the Circuit" came into the town, in many instances it was impossible for the independent to get a good run of major product, or even to have his requests to purchase considered. RKO would [fol. 5104] not sell to the independent after "the Circuit" came in for 1933-34 in Auburn, 1935-36 in Mt. Vernon; MGM would not sell 1930-31 in Bellefontaine, 1933-34 in Lockport and Norwich, 1935-36 in Van Wert, 1936-37 in Lexington, 1938-39 in Medina; Paramount would not sell 1933-34 in Lockport, 1934-35 in Auburn, 1935-36 in Mt. Vernon; Fox would not sell 1933-34 in Norwich, 1935-36 in Amsterdam and Mt. Vernon; Universal would not sell 1933-34 in Lockport, and Norwich; United Artists would not sell 1935-36 in Mt. Vernon and Van Wert; and Warner would not sell 1933-34 in Norwich, 1935-36 in Amsterdam, 1938-39 in Medina and 1941 in Norwich. In these instances, when the independent attempted to make application for product, he was simply advised that the product had been sold to "Schine" in a circuit deal.

20. Special privileges were granted, as in the option of paying a percent of the gross receipts from product or flat rental, and as in deducting cost of competitive devices (bank nights, etc.) from gross before computing the distributor's share. In certain instances the distributors made contracts providing for film rental based upon a percentage of the gross receipts and in certain other instances, the rental was a flat rental. When a percentage picture was played, with a competitive device (bank nights, etc.) sometimes provision was made for the deduction from the gross receipts of the cost of such competitive device before computing the distributors rental. These provisions were also in contracts with independents.

21. Special license provisions were given by tying up second runs, as in Lockport and Corning. In Lockport and Corning Schine bought some product second run and during the currency of the Schine contracts this run did not remain open for sale to others.

[fol. 5105] 22. In certain instances Schine's film contracts called for lower minimum admission charge than those for the independent for subsequent run. This happened in Lexington and Corning. Minimum admission prices were omitted from Schine's contracts, although the contracts of his independent competitors specified minimum admission prices.

The Plaza contracts in evidence prohibited it from charging less than 15 cents. The Fox contracts for the 1933-34 season permitted Schine's State Theatre with a 60-day clearance over the Plaza, to charge an adult evening orchestra admission price five cents lower than the Plaza was required to charge. Metro's 1933-34 contract for Schine's State Theatre omitted any minimum admission price requirement, as did the Universal contract for the State and RKO contracts for the Fox and State Theatres in both the 1933-34 and 1934-35 contracts.

In Lexington, Kentucky, Schine's contract with Fox for the 1936-37 first run product provided for minimum admission prices in Schine's Lexington theatre for the first run showing of Fox pictures. Schine cut its admission price below the minimum prices fixed. Schwartz complained to Fox and Paramount about these. Fox advised Schine of this complaint and Meyer Schine replied that the cuts were "quite essential and proved to be beneficial." Fox then omitted all minimum admission price requirements in the Schine second and third run contracts for the succeeding seasons, but provided for minimum evening adult admission prices of 15 cents for the independent theatre.

23. United Artists with respect to the Capitol theatre in Ilion wrote: "We do not want to encounter any difficulty with the Schine Circuit * * *, we want to be definitely [fol. 5106] assured that the clearance as submitted in the contracts is satisfactory to the Schine Company."

24. Sichelman, assistant sales manager for Fox, wrote Schine that Fox was free to sell ten pictures of first run and also 100% second run in Bellefontaine and that the branch manager was being directed to sell these. In reply, Lynch said, in part: "The only product which he (independent) has been able to buy has been from independent companies. There has not been a major company that has sold him any product, * * * We are charging a top of 40¢ admission * * * and we don't want to have the distributing companies make it impossible for us to continue getting this price. * * * I have also written Mr. Schwartz advising him that we will take the remaining pictures which we did not buy first run, and, have also asked him to refrain from selling this second run house." Lynch also wrote to the Fox branch manager asking him to hold off selling the independent.

25. Lynch wrote United Artists that "Schine" should be allowed the privilege of playing pictures ahead of a situation (Sodus) charging a lesser admission price." To this the reply, in part, was: "Therefore, in the future we will grant you fourteen days, or whatever clearance you see fit to take on towns like Elmira etc. in that locality."

26. The Fox home office wrote its branch with reference to Glens Falls, second run: "I note that you have changed the clearances hereby providing for sixty days over third run Glens Falls. Sixty day clearances here and elsewhere seem to be excessive," and to this the branch manager replied that Schine always provided for this clearance over third run and "George Lynch insisted in carrying it through for the future."

[fol. 5107] 27. There is much other evidence going to show the influence of "Schine" with the distributors to gain preference over independent competitors and also the cooperation of the distributors with "Schine" to the same end.

28. As compared with some of the major distributors[1] these defendants when combined are relatively small. Some of the major companies are exhibitors as well as distributors. The producer-distributors and chains of exhibitors occupy positions from which monopolization is easily brought about.

29. The record does not disclose that Schine did not seek to furnish its patrons with those pictures which attracted the greatest revenue or that it has not furnished sufficiently attractive entertainment.

30. All findings made herein with respect to any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them which the Court holds to be in violation of the antitrust laws are limited to acts committed or course of conduct pursued prior to May 19, 1942, plaintiff's counsel having stated at the opening of the trial that he would not offer any evidence beyond that date.

31. Of the Schine theatres approximately 87% are located in cities or villages with populations under 25,000 and 60% are located in cities or villages with populations under 10,000 (Pltf's. Adm. No. 23, 4617).

32. It is estimated that of the total revenue of a distributor 70% comes from the first run theatres and 30% from all other theatres playing second and subsequent runs, and that the 70% or 75% is made up of 35% from towns [fol. 5108] under 50,000 population and the other 40% from those over 50,000 population.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The court has jurisdiction of this cause under the provisions of the act of July 2, 1890, entitled "An Act to Protect Trade and Commerce against Unlawful Restraints and Monopolies," hereinafter referred to as the Sherman Act.

[1] The term "major distributors" as used herein refers to the distributors known in the trade as Fox, Loew, Paramount, RKO, Warner, Columbia, Universal and United Artists.

2. The defendants have violated Section 1 and Section 2 of the Sherman Act in that they have maintained an unlawful combination among themselves by means of which they have unreasonably restrained trade and commerce among the several States and have monopolized the business of operating theatres and the supplying of major films in various towns and cities, and that each of the major distributors by the methods it has employed in its dealings with the defendants and their independent theatre opposition has aided and abetted these defendants in such restraint of trade and monopolization of theatre operations.

3. The defendants have maintained an unlawful combination among themselves and with their affiliated corporations and have monopolized the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of the aforesaid sections of the Sherman Act and, through the unlawful combination between themselves and their affiliates by their predatory practices, have monopolized the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns and have attempted to monopolize in various other towns; and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other and their affiliated corporations and with each of the aforesaid major film corporations for the purpose, and with the effect of suppressing [fol. 5109] competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of said film corporations in various towns and cities, in violation of the aforesaid statute.

4. The principal means and methods employed by the defendant corporations through their officers and authorized representatives to obtain said monopolistic control of theatre operations are as follows:

(a) Arbitrarily depriving independents of first and second run pictures;

(b) Securing unreasonable clearances for the defendants' theatres over independent theatres;

(c) Making threats to build or open or close theatres to prevent construction or operation by independents;

(d) Lowering admission prices;

(e) Obtaining rental concessions;

(f) Restricting independents who sold to them as to periods and places of theatre operations;

(g) Making long time franchise agreements covering the "Circuit"; and

(h) Controlling the existence and extent of admission price differentials between Schine's and other competing theatres by agreement with distributors and by demanding that distributors refrain from licensing other theatres charging admission prices objectionable to Schine.

5. The plaintiff is entitled to a judgment enjoining the defendants:

(a) From monopolizing the supply of major first run films in any situation where there is a competing theatre suitable for first run exhibition thereof, and from monopoliz- [fol. 5110] ing the supply of second run films in any situation where there is a suitable theatre for second run exhibition thereof;

(b) From demanding or receiving clearance over theatres operated by others which unreasonbly restrict their ability to compete with a theatre owned or operated by a defendant, or corporation controlled by it and from attempting to control the admission prices charged by others by agreement with distributors, demands made upon distributors, or by any means whatsoever;

(c) From conditioning the licensing of films in any competitive situation, outside of Buffalo, New York, upon the licensing of films in any other situation, and from entering into any film franchise;

(d) From selling or acquiring any theatre interests pending the further order of this Court;

(e) From enforcing any existing agreements heretofore entered into by the defendants not to compete, or to restrict the use of any real estate to non-theatrical purposes; from the use of any threats or deception as a means whereby a competitor is induced to sell;

(f) From continuing the heretofore described "conspiracy" or "monopolization" in restraint of trade and commerce between the states and the entering into any combination or conspiracy for the purpose or with the effect of restraining trade and commerce between the states;

(g) And directing the entering of a decree adjudging that the defendants and their affiliated corporations be dissolved, re-aligned or reorganized in their ownership and control, so that fair competition between them and other [fol. 5111] theatres be restored and hereafter maintained; and that the determination of the question of the dissolution, realignment or reorganization of the parties aforesaid and the method to be employed in the accomplishment of the same be left to be fixed by this Court after further consideration with the parties.

[fol. 5112] IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, WESTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

Civil No. 223

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff,

v.

AMENDED JUDGMENT—March 29, 1946

This Court having rendered its opinion herein on October 8, 1945 and having filed its findings of fact and conclusions of law and entered judgment in accordance therewith on October 31, 1945 wherein the defendants herein were found to have violated Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and this cause having again come on for hearing upon the parties' motions pursuant to Rule 52(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to amend the aforesaid findings of fact, conclusions of law, and judgment, and the Court having rendered an opinion dated March 8, 1946 granting and denying in part each of said motions and having filed herewith findings of fact and conclusions of law amended in accordance with said opinion.

It is hereby Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed as follows:

I

1. The defendants have maintained an unlawful combination among themselves and with their affiliated corporations and have monopolized the licensing of the exhi- [fol. 5113] bition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act and, through the unlawful combination between themselves and their affiliates by their predatory practices, have monopolized the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns and have attempted to monopolize in various other towns; and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other and their affiliated corporations and with each of the aforesaid major film corporations for the purpose, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of said film corporations in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute.

II

Each of the defendants is hereby enjoined and restrained:

1. From monopolizing the supply of major first run films in any situation where there is a competing theatre suitable for first run exhibition thereof and from monopolizing the supply of second run film in any situation where there is a suitable theatre for second run exhibition thereof.

2. From demanding or receiving clearance over theatres operated by others which unreasonably restricts their ability to compete with a theatre owned or operated by a defendant corporation controlled by it and from attempting to control the admission prices charged by others by agreement with distributors, demands made upon distributors, or by any means whatsoever.

3. From conditioning the licensing of films in any competitive situation outside of Buffalo, New York, upon the [fol. 5114] licensing of films in any other situation and from entering into any film franchise.

4. From selling or acquiring any theatre interest pending further order of this Court.

5. From enforcing any existing agreements heretofore entered into (1) not to compete or (2) to restrict the use of any real estate to non-theatrical purposes.

6. From using any threats or deception as a means whereby a competitor is induced to sell.

7. From continuing any contract, conspiracy or combination with each other or with any other person which has the purpose or effect of maintaining the exhibition or theatre monopolies of the defendants or of preventing any other theatre or exhibitor from competing with the defendants or any of them, and from entering into any similar contract, conspiracy, or combination for the purpose or with the effect of restraining or monopolizing trade and commerce between the States.

III

The defendants and their affiliated corporations be dissolved, realigned, or reorganized in their ownership and control so that fair competition between them and other theatres may be restored and thereafter maintained. [The plaintiff and the defendants shall each within 60 days from the entry hereof submit a plan to this Court for such dissolution, realignment or reorganization as they believe will attain this end and serve copies thereof upon opposing counsel. Within 30 days after the service of such a plan upon counsel for the parties they shall advise the Court in writing of their objections, if any, to such plans and such counter or substitute proposals for the carrying out of this provision of this judgment as they may desire to submit.*]

[fol. 5115]

IV

Jurisdiction of this cause is retained for the purpose of entering such further orders as may be necessary to amend, construe, and carry out this judgment after such hearings thereon as the Court may direct.

[fol. 5116] PLAN OF REORGANIZATION*

The following plan is submitted in accordance with Section III of the Final Judgment in this cause, dated October 31, 1945, to dissolve, realign, and reorganize the Schine circuit, so that fair competition between Schine theatres and independent theatres may be restored and thereafter maintained.

I. Theatre Interests to be Divested.

The defendants should be divested of the following theatre interests to the end that they may not, individually or collectively, retain such film buying power as would endanger future competition in the areas where they continue to operate theatres.

A. All theatre interests in the following towns, where the defendants now own or control the only theatre:

Bath, N. Y.
Carthage, N. Y.
Dolgeville, N. Y.
East Rochester, N. Y.
Fairport, N. Y.

*Clerk's Note: This document is part of a document filed by Plaintiff's Attorney, Feb. 25, 1946, and designated as "Plan of Reorganization of the Schine Circuit proposed by the Plaintiff and Memorandum in Support Thereof."

[fol. 5117] B. All of the defendants' theatre interests in the following towns, except in one theatre to be selected by them. The name of the theatre which the defendants desire to retain in each of said towns should be filed with the court within 30 days after approval of the Plan.

Amsterdam, N. Y.
Ashland, Ohio
Athens, Ohio
Auburn, N. Y.
Bellefontaine, Ohio
Bucyrus, Ohio
Cambridge, Md.
Canandaigua, N. Y.
Corning, N. Y.
Cortland, N. Y.
Delaware, Ohio
Easton, Md.
Geneva, N. Y.
Gloversville, N. Y.
Herkimer, N. Y.

Ravenna, Ohio
Richmond, Ky.
[fol. 5118] Salamanca, N. Y.
Seneca Falls, N. Y.
Tiffin, Ohio
Watertown, Ohio
Wooster, Ohio

C. Theatres still undisposed of under consent order of 1942:

Cumberland, Md.
  Strand Theatre
Harlan, Ky.

Margie Grand Theatre
(50% interest)
Lexington, Ky.
Opera House and
Ada Meade Theatres
Malone, N. Y.
Plaza Theatre
Mt. Vernon, Ohio
Memorial Theatre

D. The Riviera or Liberty and the Monroe or Madison Theatres in Rochester, N. Y. to be sold, with the defendants designating the two theatres in this group of four to be retained, within 30 days after approval of the Plan.

E. The existing pooling arrangements in the following towns should be dissolved by sale of the defendants' stock in the respective corporations operating the theatres there:

Fostoria, Ohio
Medina, Ohio
Norwalk, Ohio
Shelby, Ohio
Ballston Spa, N. Y.
Granville, N. Y.
Mechanicville, N. Y.
Whitehall, N. Y.

[fol. 5119] The pooling arrangement now in effect in Syracuse, N. Y. should be terminated by sale of Schine's interest in SKE Operating Co. and return of Schine's theatres to the defendants for separate operation.

F. In addition to the foregoing requirements, the defendants should also make an election as to which of the following towns they will withdraw from completely in the following areas where the defendants now operate in two or more towns within approximately 25 miles of each other. In each designated area the defendants should dispose of all theatre interests except those held in one town. As to the town in which the defendants elect to remain, the option specified in "B" above should apply:

Area 1
Kent and Ravenna, Ohio
Area 2
Ashland and Wooster, Ohio

Area 3
  Bucyrus and Tiffin, Ohio
Area 4
  Cambridge and Easton, Md.
Area 5
  Lexington and Paris, Ky.
Area 6
  Amsterdam and Gloversville, N. Y.
Area 7
  Ilion, Herkimer, and Little Falls, N. Y.
Area 8
  Auburn and Seneca Falls, N. Y.
Area 9
  Geneva and Canandaigua, N. Y.

II. Terms of Sale

The properties described in Section I hereof should be sold as rapidly as possible upon such terms and upon such [fol. 5120] prices as the court may approve. When feasible, theatre sales should be made by transfer of the ownership of existing corporations through which said theatres are owned and operated. The parties should be afforded a reasonable opportunity to file objections with the court to any proposed sale and if the court finds that the proposed sale might itself result in an unreasonable restraint of competition or would otherwise not effectuate the purpose of the Plan, it may disapprove the sale. In exercising any choice among prospective purchasers for the same property, the court should favor the purchaser which will, after approval of the sale, have the lesser circuit buying power. In no event should a sale to any person in any way affiliated with a distributor of motion pictures be approved.

III. Trustee for Sale

In order to effectuate this Plan the court should appoint a trustee with full power to negotiate and make the sales provided above. The trustee should be required to (1) make every effort to sell these theatres as rapidly as possible by public advertisement for bids, private negotiations, and the employment of real estate or business brokers whenever necessary; (2) present to the court for approval such sales as he believes will effectuate the Plan; and (3) present a quarterly report to the court which will include a detailed account of (a) all offers received for any of said properties, together with the names and addresses of the offerors and the amounts offered, (b) the efforts made to sell all unsold theatres, and (c) the prospects for disposition of all unsold theatres in the succeeding quarter. If within a period of one year the trustee has not succeeded in disposing of more than one-half of the total properties required to be sold, the court should review the trustee's operations for the purpose of determining what, if any, modification in the disposition procedure should be made in order to insure the completion of the Reorganization Plan within the next succeeding year. [fol. 5121] The trustee should be authorized (1) to examine all books and records of defendants, to employ such accounting assistance as may be necessary for the purpose of ascertaining any information as to earnings or value of the theatres in question as he may require; (2) to have free access to the theatres involved at all times for the purpose of showing them to prospective purchasers, providing only that such access shall not interfere with the normal operation of the theatres; (3) to examine all executed film licenses of the defendants and to ascertain from inquiry of the defendants' employees the current status of film licensing negotiations and other data relevant to the current operation of the theatres; and (4) to employ all assistance necessary to negotiate and close sales for the properties in question, including legal counsel.

The expenses and compensation of the trustees should be paid from the proceeds of sales made by him in such amounts as the court may from time to time approve. In determining his compensation the number and rapidity of the sales made should be considered. All amounts paid by purchasers should be received by the trustee and distributed by him only upon the order of the court. Except as specifically outlined above or as expressly authorized by the court, the trustee should not participate in the actual operation of any of the theatres in question.

IV. Booking Agencies Prohibited

No defendant shall buy or book films for any theater other than those in which the defendant owns a financial interest.

V. Restrictions on Schine Expansion

No defendant shall acquire a financial interest in any additional theatres except after an affirmative showing that such acquisition will not unreasonably restrain competition. Such showing shall be made before this court upon reasonable notice to the Attorney General at Washington, D. C.

[fol. 5122] IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

[Title omitted]

PLAN OF REORGANIZATION OF THE SCHINE CIRCUIT PROPOSED BY PLAINTIFF AND MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT THEREOF—Filed February 20, 1946

The purpose of the Plan submitted by plaintiff and attached hereto is to comply with Section III of the Judgment and at the same time permit the greatest possible flexibility in the defendants' mode of compliance. The Plan accomplishes only a partial dissolution of the circuit as such inasmuch as it leaves the defendants in possession of a substantial circuit of theatres. It provides no realignment of theatre ownership in the sense of transferring operations from one area to another, but it does reorganize the circuit by a method of theatre divestiture which is calculated to insure active competition for the defendants' theatres wherever they operate.

The Plan substantially dilutes the circuit buying power possessed by the defendants and found by the court to have been illegally used by them to achieve their present dominance of motion picture exhibition in the areas where they operate. This is essential to a restoration of competitive conditions. We have attempted to insure such restoration of theatre operating competition in the future in the areas involved without eliminating the defendants as a substantial competitive factor in these areas. Thus, in Utica, Buffalo, Glens Falls, Norwich, New York, and Salisbury, Maryland, where other existing theatres offer substantial competion, Schine's holdings would not be disturbed by this Plan.

The proposed sale of the theatres listed in Section I, paragraph "A", divests the defendants of established monopolies in one-theatre closed towns by opening these towns to [fol. 5123] competition in the only sense possible. In these towns theatres are henceforth to be operated by owners who will be dependent for success upon the extent to which they can individually meet the needs of these communities rather than by the use of monopolistic circuit buying power.

The divestiture proposed for the towns listed in paragraph "B", Section I of the Plan, in each of which the defendants own or operate two or more theatres, permits the defendants to continue to ~~operate~~ in each of these towns what they regard as the best existing theatre. However, the sale of the other theatres in these town to independents will create a situation where these towns may enjoy competitive theatre service. In all but Amsterdam, Auburn, Corning, and Watertown, New York, and Van Wert, Ohio, there is no competition of any kind at the present time. In the latter four towns there is a single competitor in each which the record shows has not been able to offer substantial competition to Schine in the past. It has therefore been necessary to provide for divestiture in these towns, as well as in the closed situations, to insure such competition.

Rochester, New York, presents a special situation in which Schine has and will still have upon completion of the Plan more theatres than any other exhibitor in the town. However, in view of the ~~fact that~~ Schine's position is subordinate to the downtown first run theatres, it was felt that the general competitive situation in this town would be best served by limiting the divestiture to two theatres, which would permit the first neighborhood run competition which should have occurred but was illegally suppressed by Schine when the Monroe and Madison were independently owned.

The Plan further provides for terminating all of the existing pooling arrangements. These are the situations where Schine partially or wholly eliminated competition by the formation of corporations jointly owned by the defendants and other exhibitors in the towns in question and the Plan provides for complete withdrawal of the defendants from these pools.

Since the completion of divestiture along these lines would still leave the defendants with a substantial circuit of more than 50 theatres, some of which would be concentrated in relatively small geographical areas, in order to insure [fol. 5124] area as well as town competition, the requirements specified in paragraph "F" have been added. They break up these area concentrations by preventing operation in two or more towns within twenty-five miles of each other and thus further dilute the circuit buying power possessed by the defendants.

In fixing the terms of sale complete flexibility has been provided with a view to actually accomplishing the sales required to effectuate the Plan as rapidly as possible, although the rights of the parties have been protected by a provision for court approval of every sale. The Plan, to be effective, of course, contemplates the transfer of the theatres involved to independent exhibitors rather than those affiliated with motion picture distributors or other large circuits and appropriate provisions have been inserted to this end.

The plan also provides for the appointment of an agent by the court to take active charge of the execution of the Plan, but preserves to the defendants the right to operate the theatres involved pending sale. In view of the history of the defendants' failure to comply with the prior consent order for the sale of a limited number of theatres nearly four years after its entry, we think the court would be fully warranted in appointing a receiver to actually take over and operate the defendants' theatres pending completion of the Plan. However, we have not proposed a receivership at this time simply because we feel that the court's agent may function more effectively if his entire time is devoted to actually making theatre sales instead of concerning himself with operating details. The record made in the course of efforts to enforce the prior consent order has fully demonstrated that the defendants have neither the will nor the ability to dispose rapidly of the properties ordered sold.

Even if now reconciled to the court's decision, the defendants' prior failure to perform a bargain which they themselves made is conclusive evidence that under no circumstances may the execution of a plan be left to them. Anything less than a trustee for sale leaves the dissolution in the hands of those who will profit from postponing it. The choice is therefore one between a trustee for sale and a full-scale receiver. In our view the less drastic trustee for sale method should be given a trial, although a receivership [fol. 5125] may ultimately be necessary if the trustee's more limited powers prove insufficient to effectuate the Plan.

The provisions against booking films for others and acquiring interests in other theatres are self-explanatory. Any plan of dissolution could, of course, be frustrated by an expansion of either character. The safeguard imposed by Section V simply follows in express language the one approved by the court in United States v. Crescent Amusement Co., Inc., et al., 323 U. S. 173.

Respectfully submitted, Robert L. Wright, Philip Marcus, Louis B. Schwartz, Special Assistants to the Attorney General.

Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney General.
George L. Grobe, United States Attorney.

The following plan is submitted in accordance with Section III of the Final Judgment in this cause, dated October 31, 1945, to dissolve, realign, and reorganize the Schine circuit so that fair competition between Schine theatres and independent theatres may be restored and thereafter maintained.

I. Theatre Interests to be Divested

The defendants should be divested of the following theatre interests to the end that they may not, individually or collectively, retain such film buying power as would endanger future competition in the areas where they continue to operate theatres.

A. All theatre interests in the following towns, where the defendants now own or control the only theatre:

Bath, N. Y.
Carthage, N. Y.
Dolgeville, N. Y.
East Rochester, N. Y.
Fairport, N. Y.
Federalsburg, Md.
Hamilton, N. Y.
Hudson Falls, N. Y.
Hurlock, Md.
Laurel, Del.
Milford, Del.
Newark, N. Y.
Penn Yan, N. Y.
Perry, N. Y.
St. Michaels, Md.
Saranac Lake, N. Y.
Tupper Lake, N. Y.

B. All of the defendants' theatre interests in the following towns, except in one theatre to be selected by them.

The name of the theatre which the defendants desire to retain in each of said towns should be filed with the court within 30 days after approval of the Plan.

Amsterdam, N. Y.
Ashland, Ohio
Athens, Ohio
Auburn, N. Y.
Bellefontaine, Ohio
Bucyrus, Ohio
Cambridge, Md.
Canandaigua, N. Y.
Corning, N. Y.
Cortland, N. Y.
Delaware, Ohio
Easton, Md.
Geneva, N. Y.
Gloversville, N. Y.
Herkimer, N. Y.
Ilion, N. Y.
Kent, Ohio
Lexington, Ky.
Little Falls, N. Y.
Lockport, N. Y.
Middlesboro, Ky.
Maysville, Ky.
Ogdensburg, N. Y.
Oneonta, N. Y.
Oswego, N. Y.
Paris, Ky.
Piqua, Ohio
Ravenna, Ohio
Richmond, Ky.
Salamanca, N. Y.
Seneca Falls, N. Y.
Tiffin, Ohio
Watertown, N. Y.
Wooster, Ohio

[fol. 5127] C. Theatres still undisposed of under consent order of 1942:

Cumberland, Md.
  Strand Theatre

Harlan, Ky.
  Margie Grand Theatre
  (50% interest)

Lexington, Ky.
  Opera House and
  Ada Meade Theatres

Malone, N. Y.
  Plaza Theatre

Mt. Vernon, Ohio
  Memorial Theatre

D. The Riviera or Liberty and the Monroe or Madison Theatres in Rochester, N. Y. to be sold, with the defendants designating the two theatres in this group of four to be retained, within 30 days after approval of the Plan.

E. The existing pooling arrangements in the following towns should be dissolved by sale of the defendants' stock in the respective corporations operating the theatres there:

Fostoria, Ohio
Medina, Ohio
Norwalk, Ohio
Shelby, Ohio
Balston Spa, N. Y.
Granville, N. Y.
Mechanicville, N. Y.
Whitehall, N. Y.

The pooling arrangement now in effect in Syracuse, N. Y. should be terminated by sale of Schine's interest in SKE Operating Co. and return of Schine's theatres to the defendants for separate operation.

F. In addition to the foregoing requirements, the defendants should also make an election as to which of the following towns they will withdraw from completely in the following areas where the defendants now operate in two or more towns within approximately 25 miles of each other. In each designated area the defendants should dispose of all theatre interests except those held in one town. As to the town in which the defendants elect to remain, the option specified in "B" above should apply:

Area 1
  Kent and Ravenna, Ohio
Area 2
  Ashland and Wooster, Ohio
Area 3
  Bucyrus and Tiffin, Ohio
Area 4
  Cambridge and Easton, Md.
[fol. 5128] Area 5
  Lexington and Paris, Ky.
Area 6
  Amsterdam and Gloversville, N. Y.
Area 7
  Ilion, Herkimer, and Little Falls, N. Y.
Area 8
  Auburn and Seneca Falls, N. Y.
Area 9
  Geneva and Canandaigua, N. Y.

II. Terms of Sale

The properties described in Section I hereof should be sold as rapidly as possible upon such terms and upon such prices as the court may approve. When feasible, theatre sales should be made by transfer of the ownership of existing corporations through which said theatres are owned and operated. The parties should be afforded a reasonable opportunity to file objections with the court to any proposed sale and if the court finds that the proposed sale might itself result in an unreasonable restraint of competition or would otherwise not effectuate the purpose of the Plan, it may disapprove the sale. In exercising any choice among prospective purchasers for the same property, the court should favor the purchaser which will, after approval of the sale, have the lesser circuit buying power. In no event should a sale to any person in any way affiliated with a distributor of motion pictures be approved.

III. Trustee for Sale

In order to effectuate this Plan the court should appoint a trustee with full power to negotiate and make the sales provided above. The trustee should be required to (1) make every effort to sell these theatres as rapidly as possible by public advertisement for bids, private negotiations, and the employment of real estate or business brokers whenever necessary; (2) present to the court for approval such sales as he believes will effectuate the Plan; and (3) present a quarterly report to the court which will include a detailed account of (a) all offers received for any of said [fols. 5129-5132] properties, together with the names and addresses of the offerers and the amounts offered, (b) the efforts made to sell all unsold theatres, and (c) the prospects for disposition of all unsold theatres in the succeeding quarters. If within a period of one year the trustee has not succeeded in disposing of more than one-half of the total properties required to be sold, the court should review the trustee's operations for the purpose of determining what, if any, modification in the disposition procedure should be made in order to insure the completion of the Reorganization Plan within the next succeeding year.

The trustee should be authorized (1) to examine all books and records of defendants, to employ such accounting assistance as may be necessary for the purpose of ascertaining any information as to earnings or value of the theatres in question as he may require; (2) to have free access to the theatres involved at all times for the purpose of showing them to prospective purchasers, providing only that such access shall not interfere with the normal operation of the theatres; (3) to examine all executed film licenses of the defendants and to ascertain from inquiry of the defendants' employees the current status of film licensing negotiations and other data relevant to the current operation of the theatres; and (4) to employ all assistance necessary to negotiate and close sales for the properties in question, including legal counsel.

The expenses and compensation of the trustees should be paid from the proceeds of sales made by him in such amounts as the court may from time to time approve. In determining his compensation the number and rapidity of the sales made should be considered. All amounts paid by purchasers should be received by the trustee and distributed by him only upon the order of the court. Except as specifically outlined above or as expressly authorized by the court, the trustee should not participate in the actual operation of any of the theatres in question.

IV. Booking Agencies Prohibited

No defendant shall buy or book films for any theatre other than those in which the defendant owns a financial interest.

V. Restrictions on Schine Expansion

No defendant shall acquire a financial interest in any additional theatres except after an affirmative showing that such acquisition will not unreasonably restrain competition. Such showing shall be made before this court upon reasonable notice to the Attorney General at Washington, D. C.

[Title omitted]

DEFENDANTS' OBJECTIONS TO PLAINTIFF'S SO-CALLED PLAN OF REORGANIZATION

April 1, 1946

On or about the 25th day of February, 1946, the plaintiff submitted to the Court what is called a "Plan of Reorganization of the Schine Circuit", together with a supporting memorandum. This "Plan" purported to be submitted in compliance with Section III of the Judgment. Among the encomia self-applied by the plaintiff to the "Plan" plaintiff said: "The Plan accomplishes only a partial dissolution of the circuit as such inasmuch as it leaves the defendants in possession of a substantial circuit of theatres. It provides no realignment of theatre ownership in the sense of transferring operations from one area to another, but it does reorganize the circuit by a method of theatre divestiture which is calculated to insure active competition for the defendants' theatres wherever they operate."

[fol. 5134] The defendants are filing herewith their objections to the "Plan" submitted by the plaintiff as provided for by Section III of the Judgment. Each objection is filed by each defendant separately.

In that part of the opinion of the Court which was preparatory to paragraph (7) of the directive language and to paragraph III of the Judgment, the Court said (pp. 39-40):

> "Some of the major companies are exhibitors as well as distributors. The government by the Consent Decree entered in an agreement setting up procedure purported to provide a fair and equitable sale, distribution and showing of pictures to all distributors. Just what was accomplished by the Decree, other than some arbitration of clearances, does not appear. The government in entering into the Consent Decree evidently contemplated that such decree would obviate the necessity of a trial of the issues and intended to let by-gones be by-gones. As compared with some of the major distributors, these defendants when combined are relatively small. The Consent Decree, therefore, brings up the question of whether the harsh determination of dissolution as urged by the government should be compelled or whether some adjustment or reorganization can be agreed on or fixed by the court which will be as definitely as possible prevent future violations."

Some weeks later when the case of United States v. Paramount, et al., was being argued before the Three-Judge Expediting Court in the Southern District of New York, Circuit Judge Augustus N. Hand voiced practically the identical sentiments in the excerpt quoted on pp. 33 and 34 of our brief, dated February 25, 1946, and read to this Court in the course of the argument of defendants' motion [fol. 5135] under Rule 52 B, on February 25, 1946, at page 108 of the transcript, to wit:

> "'Judge Hand: Why do you have to sell theatres in order to cure that, if there is a wrong there?

Mr. Wright: Well, the agreement is, I would say, per se illegal, and of course——

Judge Hand: You seem really to aim at, I won't say nothing, because you are calling attention now to other wrongs, but your great aim is to upset all the ownership of theatres. Now that is an extremely drastic remedy that I should think was extremely unlikely for this court to give. But that is merely a first impression by myself, and I have got to study this thing very carefully in other ways than just by reading through the briefs once, of course.

But this sort of thing that you are arguing now is the kind of thing that has always been argued, and remedies have constantly been granted that were thought sufficient. Maybe they have not been against the kind of thing you are calling our attention to here."

Jacob Siegel Co. v. Fed. Trade Comm., Mar. 25, 1946, 325 U. S. ——, furnishes in another field a decision pertinent in this case. The Federal Trade Commission had found that the petitioner's trade name, Alpacuna, applied to coats containing no vicuna, was deceptive and misleading. Consequently, the Commission, in its order, banned the use of the word Alpacuna. The Supreme Court reversed because "the policy of the law to protect them as assets of a business indicates that their destruction 'should not be ordered if less drastic means will accomplish the same result.'"

The directive language of this Court leading to paragraph III of the Judgment reads as follows:

> [fol. 5136] "(g) and directing the entering of a decree adjudging that the defendants and their affiliated corporations be dissolved, re-aligned or reorganized in their ownership and control, so that fair competition between them and other theatres be restored and hereafter maintained; and that the determination of the question of the dissolution, re-alignment or reorganization of the parties aforesaid and the method to be employed in ~~the~~ accomplishment of the same be left to be fixed by this court after further consideration with the parties."

The above quoted excerpts from the opinion of this Court must be borne carefully in mind in considering whether the plaintiff's "Plan" even remotely approximates what the Court had in mind in its decision. It is submitted that it does not.

The very word "Plan" presupposes familiarity on the part of the planner with the subject matter of the plan and a careful study by the planner of the problem involved, so that the application of the plan will have at least a reasonable chance of accomplishing the desired results. The "Plan" as suggested by the plaintiff, does not indicate any familiarity with the subject matter, nor any careful study by the planner of the problem involved, nor any reasonable prospect that the "Plan" will accomplish the professed desired results.

In this instance the plaintiff admits that its "Plan" does not provide for any "re-alignment" of the circuit, and the plaintiff further admits that the "Plan" provides for a "partial dissolution" of the circuit, which the plaintiff seeks to justify by lugging in the word "reorganization" without any justification whatsoever. In submitting this "Plan" the plaintiff has, by its own admission, adopted the very remedy characterized by the Court as "harsh".

[fol. 5137] The Court has stated in so many words that the purpose of the judgment should be to prevent as definitely as possible future violations of the Statute and to restore and hereafter maintain fair competition between theatres operated by the defendants and other theatres by some method of adjustment or reorganization to be agreed upon or fixed by the Court. Restoration of competition necessarily implies that at some time in the past competition did actually exist between Theatre "A" and Theatre "B" and in order to justify the inclusion of Section III of the Judgment, the plaintiff must prove as to each theatre affected by Section III that such competition did exist and was illegally eliminated by the defendants in violation of the provisions of the Sherman Act. Thus in cases where there never was, and in all probability never will be any competition, or in cases where existing competition was eliminated by legal methods, there is no occasion for any action on the part of the Court such as is contemplated here. In the brief submitted by the plaintiff on December 26, 1944 (when the plaintiff was endeavoring to persuade the Court that some limited divestiture might be necessary) the plaintiff said, on page 60:

> "As a further means of dissipating the illegal effects of the defendants' monopoly, it may be necessary to order the sale of specific theatres in each town where the defendants were shown to have eliminated previously existing independent competition, to the end that such competition may be restored." (Italics ours)*

* The above quoted sentence is the first sentence in the fifth paragraph of Section III C of plaintiff's brief. The page citation is to the printed copy of said brief.

[fol. 5138] However, after the plaintiff was able to persuade the Court to decide this case in its favor, the plaintiff discarded its sheeps' clothing and now seeks to compel the sale not only of one or more theatres in each town in which the defendants operate (with only four exceptions), but also to compel the defendants to get out of certain towns entirely without any reference whatsoever to the status of competition in these towns at any time during or prior to the existence of the Schine Circuit. There is absolutely no justification for the plaintiff's attempt in the remainder of the above quoted paragraph to drag in the May, 1942, order as an indication that it is difficult to induce independents to enter into competition with Schine and that this alleged fact is the reason why Schine was unable to dispose of all of the theatres covered by said May, 1942, order. There is not a scintilla of evidence in the record of the truth of the claim made by the plaintiff in this paragraph, and the fact is that the theatres which were not sold at the time the order expired were not sold because no one wanted to pay as much money as Schine had paid for these theatres.

In formulating its so-called "Plan" the plaintiff has attempted to deal not only with the thirty-two towns regarding which the plaintiff offered evidence and which are mentioned in the opinion and findings, but with every town in which the Schine Circuit operates one or more theatres and, in fact, with two towns in which Schine does not operate any theatres at all. Since obviously the defendants were not required to offer any evidence as to towns ignored by the plaintiff in the presentation of its affirmative case, the record is barren of any information (except purely statistical information contained in the answers to interrogatories) regarding the majority of the towns which [fol. 5139] would be affected by the "Plan". If, therefore, in our discussion of individual towns we should make any statements of fact not found in the record, we assure the Court that such statements are made only because the plaintiff seeks to include in the judgment towns not mentioned in the evidence and can be proved beyond all question of doubt by indisputable evidence.

The only sense in which the plaintiff may be said to have planned anything is that, realizing from the language of the Court that a complete dissolution of the circuit would not be ordered, plaintiff has determined the maximum number of theatres which it felt that it might be able to persuade the Court to take away from the defendants, and has tortured out what it is pleased to call a "Plan of Reorganization" to accomplish this end. This will appear in our detailed objections as we proceed to discuss the "Plan" item by item. In discussing this "Plan" item by item we wish to make it clear that every single item of the "Plan" is so vicious that it alone is sufficient entirely to destroy the legality, propriety or effectiveness of the "Plan". This is not a "Plan" which can be corrected. It must be rejected in toto.

I

The Submission, Discussion, Approval or Execution of any Plan at this Time is Premature

A

At the time that we entered upon the preparation of these objections the Court had under consideration a motion by the defendants under Rule 52B to amend the findings, conclusions and judgment herein, and a similar motion by the plaintiff, and we intended strongly to stress the point that no plan should be submitted, discussed, approved or put into execution until the Court had decided these motions, and settled the findings of fact, conclusions and judgment in final form.

We are now in receipt of the decision of the Court upon each of these motions, from which it appears that while the Court has disallowed most of our proposed amendments, it has allowed two amendments to the judgment requested by the plaintiff. We, therefore, respectfully submit that no action is necessary or proper under the judgment until the entry of a new judgment in conformity with the decision of the Court and the expiration of the statutory time required after the entry of such judgment.

Therefore, in filing these objections at this time, and in proceeding with a hearing on April 16, 1946, the defendants and each of them do so, reserving, as to each defendant, its respective rights in the premises and without waiving any objection to the consideration at this time of the "Plan" submitted by the plaintiff.

B

Aside from any legal consideration, as urged in A above, it is submitted that until the Supreme Court of the United States shall have heard and determined the appeal which the defendants and each of them will now take from the judgment about to be entered pursuant to the Court's decision on March 8, 1946, no "Plan" should be submitted, discussed, approved, or put into execution.

This proposition was partially argued before the Court on February 25, 1946, and the Court was apparently influenced in deciding in favor of immediate consideration by plaintiff's argument that not to do so at this time would result in two appeals to the Supreme Court. A study of the transcript indicates that this discussion was diverted into other channels before the question had been fully argued.

Presumably even the plaintiff will concede that nothing can be done about putting any plan approved by the Court over the objections of any defendant into execution until the entire matter has been passed upon by the Supreme Court. Certainly no trustee appointed by this Court would be allowed to enter upon a course of selling theatres belonging to the defendants until the Supreme Court has decided our appeal.

In the Crescent case, so much relied upon and cited by the plaintiff (and frequently cited by the Court), the plan of divestiture has not as yet been put into execution, although judgment was entered in the District Court on May 17, 1943, and affirmed in the Supreme Court on December 11, 1944. In the appendix hereto we print the latest ruling of the Court further extending the time to perform the acts of dissolution. There was never any danger of the possibility of two appeals in that case.

[fol. 5142]

II

The Court is without power or authority under the Sherman Act, or any other act, judicially to enforce performance of the plan submitted by the Plaintiff in this case.

This objection is entirely apart from the objection which will be made infra in relation to the illegality and unconstitutionality of the method of sale proposed by the plaintiff. The objection is based upon the fact that the Court has not and never has had before it in this case the parties whose compliance would be necessary to carry into effect the plaintiff's "Plan."

This is not the type of case referred to in the Crescent case where the Supreme Court held that the absence of minority stockholders of defendant companies was not a legal barrier to the separation of the companies, citing United States v. American Tobacco Co. The rule applicable in this case is that laid down by the Supreme Court in Minnesota v. Northern Securities Co., 183 U. S. 199, where the Court, citing Hogan v. Walker, 14 How. 35, 14 L. ed. 315, said:

> "It remains true, notwithstanding the act of Congress and the 47th rule, that a circuit court can make no decree affecting the right of an absent person, and can make no decree between the parties before it, which so far involves or depends upon the rights of an absent person that complete and final justice cannot be done between the parties to the suit without affecting those rights."

In this case, no showing has been made that the theatres which the plaintiff is seeking to persuade the Court to take away from the defendants are owned, leased or operated [fol. 5143] by the defendants who are before the Court in this suit. In fact, so far as there is any evidence, the contrary, for the most part, appears. On September 29, 1944, at the request of the plaintiff, and the suggestion of the Court, the defendants furnished the plaintiff with a list of the operating companies listed in answer to Interrogatory

15 and the theatres then operated by said companies. This stipulation was marked Exhibit 994. There was no evidence as to the companies owning the fee of these theatres or holding underlying leases thereon, and there is no evidence as to the state of affairs existing since September 29, 1944.

The plaintiff is asking the Court to order the sale of certain theatres notwithstanding the fact that with very few exceptions there is nothing in the record to indicate that the persons owning, leasing or operating these theatres are present before the Court and subject to any order or judgment in this case.

The plaintiff apparently realizes this and has suggested that, when feasible, theatre sales should be made by the transfer of ownership of existing corporations through which the theatres are owned and operated, but the burden would be upon the plaintiff to show that such method of transfer would be feasible. No such evidence is before the Court nor can it be produced.

It may be conceded, but only for the purpose of this single objection, that the situation would be different if the defendants and their subsidiaries were to be regarded as a single unit. The defendants urged this theory upon the Court, as is clearly shown in defendants' brief submitted on January 24, 1945, pp. 853 to 855, defendants' brief dated February 25, 1946, pp. 31-34, and upon the argument before [fol. 5144] this Court on February 25, 1946, appearing on pp. 69-76, inclusive, of the transcript, and will press for its acceptance by the Supreme Court on any appeal herein, but for the present at least the theory was rejected by the Court, first, in its opinion on pp. 10 and 11, and again in the argument above mentioned where the Court stated at page 73 of the transcript:

"The Court: Well, in your construction such an aggregation of entities would be exempt from the Statute? They couldn't commit a conspiracy?" And again on page 74: "The Court: I know there were. But, if you are right in that construction that goes to the very foundation of the statute itself."

Therefore, we are faced with this position; if the Schine Companies are to be regarded, as we contend, as a single entity, the Court has before it all parties whose presence is necessary to enforce an order of sale, but in that case there would be no judgment because there would be no conspiracy. (This Court, in its opinion, quoted the Supreme Court opinion in the Crescent case as follows:

> "We may assume that if a single exhibitor launched such a plan of economic warfare, he would not run afoul of the Sherman Act.")

If, on the other hand, the Schine Companies are to be regarded as separate individuals so as to permit proof of conspiracy between them, the Court has not now before it the companies whose presence is necessary to permit the enforcement of a plan such as the plaintiff is seeking here.

[fol. 5145]

III

The proposed "plan" seeks the divestiture of theatres which were acquired in the ordinary course of business by entirely legal methods and without any violation or thought of violation of the statute.

Except as the Court may have found to the contrary as to some of the thirty-two situations mentioned in the opinion and in the findings of fact, there is absolutely no evidence even remotely indicating that the acquisition of the theatres comprising the Schine Circuit was other than by wholly legal means and in the ordinary course of business, nor is there any evidence that the defendants in their operation of the said theatres have in any way violated the Sherman Act.

(The defendants contend that the evidence presented regarding the thirty-two situations referred to in the opinion does not indicate any violation of the statute, but for the purpose of our discussion of this point we shall omit these thirty-two situations and deal only with the situations as to which there is no evidence at all).

Notwithstanding the failure on the part of the plaintiff (and we are certain that such failure was due solely to its inability to produce the same) to produce any evidence indicating or tending to indicate any violation by the defendants of the Statute in these other situations, the plaintiff now asks the Court to take away from the circuit, theatres which it obtained and has been operating in a perfectly legal manner.

As has been pointed out, the failure of the plaintiff to introduce evidence as to many situations, other than the thirty-two mentioned in the opinion, led the defendants to confine the evidence offered by them to these thirty-two situations and resulted in a trial record barren of any information regarding the majority of the towns which [fol. 5146] would be affected by the "Plan." However, the Court will find in the answering affidavits submitted by Schine in opposition to the plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction, which was the opening gun fired by the plaintiff in this case, sworn and uncontradicted statements from many of the former owners of theatres now operated by the circuit, setting forth the circumstances under which these theatres were acquired by the Schine Circuit.

Thus, as in the cases of Messrs. Wilkins, Wheatley & Brohan (in Milford, Delaware, Easton and Federalsburg, Maryland and Cambridge, Maryland) the owners had substantial outside business interests to which they desired to devote all of their time, and for which reason they desired to sell the theatres to an experienced operator. In other cases, the terms offered by the circuit were so favorable that the former owner considered it good business to make a deal. In none of these instances was there any indication whatsoever that any of the former operators was influenced to dispose of his theatre by reason of any so-called threat made directly or indirectly by any member of the Schine Circuit, or by reason of any burdensome competition.

Even with respect to the thirty-two situations mentioned in the opinion, we submit that although the testimony of many obviously biased and hostile witnesses was introduced by the plaintiff, there is no evidence that any former independent exhibitor was "forced out of business" in any town, or that interstate commerce was restrained by any improper activities on the part of Schine.

The attempt on the part of the plaintiff to take away from the Circuit property legally acquired and legally operated is not justified by any principle of law under the Sherman Act or any other statute, and is even inconsistent with the theory upon which the plaintiff submitted this case to the Court as indicated in the quotation from plaintiff's brief, page 5, supra.

IV

Objections to the Disposition Proposed by the Plaintiff with Respect to Each Individual Town.

A

Towns in Which the Plaintiff Concedes the Existence of Competition

The plaintiff refrains from disturbing the Schine interests in the following towns: Utica, Buffalo, Glens Falls, Norwich, New York, and Salisbury, Maryland.

It is significant to note that the Schine Circuit has not operated any theatres in Utica since 1930, and that in Buffalo the circuit operates only two neighborhood houses in a city of nearly 600,000 inhabitants, where several other circuits, much stronger than the Schine Circuit, are established.

Furthermore, if this principle were to be adopted, we are unable to see why there should not be included in this category such towns as Syracuse, Cumberland, Amsterdam, Gloversville, Auburn, Corning and Watertown. In all of which the Schine interests have substantial competition, as will be indicated in our detailed analysis of the separate towns.

B

One Theatre Towns

The plaintiff names seventeen towns, in fifteen of which the Schine Circuit operates the only theatre in the town, and in one of which (Dolgeville, New York) the Schine Circuit has no theatre. These towns are all small towns, running from Hurlock, Maryland, with a population of 800, to Saranac Lake, New York, with a population of 7,138, but for the most part the population is 5,000 or under.

[fol. 5148] Newark should be included in the two or more theatre towns because, while there is only one theatre in operation there, Schine also holds the lease upon the Crescent Theatre. (Int. Ans. 17(A) and 18, p. 5.) The theatres in East Rochester and Fairport should properly be treated as Rochester suburban theatres. Both East Rochester and Fairport are suburbs of Rochester and their theatres are to all intents and purposes neighborhood houses subject to clearances from first run downtown Rochester.

The remainder are typical one theatre towns, capable of supporting one theatre and one theatre only. In fact, in some cases, such as Hurlock, Maryland, they have difficulty in supporting even one theatre. In seeking the sale of these towns the plaintiff wholly disregards the principle for which it argued in the passage quoted from its brief of December 14, 1944, which principle was accepted by the Court in the passages quoted, supra, from the opinion. The competitive situation (there never was any competition, there is no present competition, and there is no likelihood that there ever will be competition) would not be changed one iota by the sale of these towns, or any of them; the only result would be that instead of the towns being operated by Schine they would be operated by some other person under exactly the same conditions.

None of these towns is even mentioned in the opinion or findings, except Perry, where Schine tried to buy the theatre, but the independent preferred to sell it to a different circuit which circuit subsequently sold to Schine, and Carthage where RKO and United Artists apparently at one time granted clearances (over whom it does not appear, which meant nothing, and against which there was never any complaint made).

(F.M.) Bath. (Population 6,496.) Schine acquired the lease of the Babcock Theatre in 1924. At that time Schine was operating in only seven towns. The Babcock Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5150] (F.M.) Carthage. (Population 4,207.) Carthage was the fourth town in which Schine acquired a theatre. This was in 1922 when Schine acquired the fee of the Strand Theatre. Schine also acquired at that time there, from the former owner, the lease of the Hippodrome Theatre, but that lease expired in 1929 at the time Fox-Metropolitan took over the Strand and the building was converted to commercial use. The Strand Theatre was destroyed by fire in March, 1945. Rebuilding has been delayed due to war time restrictions, but it is expected that a new theatre will be ready for operation by the end of April, 1946. This new building will cost more than three times as much as the old building. The plaintiff has closely watched the Schine Circuit and must know these facts, but it has not mentioned them in the "Plan" and apparently expects Schine now to turn over to some other exhibitor a building which it has taken Schine over a year to complete. The Strand Theatre is the only theatre in town.

[*] Wherever in any of the analyses contained herein the symbol (F.M.) appears before the name of a town, it means that the Schine Theatres in that town were leased to Fox-Metropolitan Playhouses in August, 1929 and reverted to Schine in the Fox-Metropolitan receivership in April, 1933.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: Finding of Fact No.

United Artists permitted ninety days clearance and R.K.O. permitted one hundred and twenty.

Facts. This alleged abuse is meaningless. It is not stated over whom the clearance was permitted, or whether it was ever exercised, and there is no evidence that any one ever complained about it.

[fol. 5151] East Rochester. (Population 6,691.) Schine acquired a lease on the Rialto Theatre in 1924, at a time when it was operating in only seven towns. East Rochester is a suburb of Rochester and the theatre is in fact a neighborhood theatre, subject to clearance from Rochester first-run downtown theatres. The Rialto Theatre is the only theatre in East Rochester.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5152] Fairport. (Population 4,644.) Schine leased the Temple Theatre from the builder in November, 1926, and in 1928 Schine bought the real estate and improved the building and equipment. The Temple Theatre is the only Theatre in Fairport. Fairport, like East Rochester, is a suburb of Rochester. The theatre is in effect a neighborhood house and is subject to clearance from downtown Rochester.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5153] Federalsburg, Maryland. (Population 1,369.) Schine acquired the fee of the Federalsburg Theatre in 1938 from several local businessmen. The deal was made concurrently with the deal for the theatres in Easton, infra.

The theatre had been built and was being operated by local business men as a matter of local pride and they were anxious to dispose of the theatre to an experienced operator. (See affidavit of Wheatley on motion for preliminary injunction.) The Federal Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5154] Hamilton, New York. (Population 1,790.) Hamilton is the site of Colgate University. Schine acquired the fee of the State Theatre in 1934. Prior thereto the theatre had been leased to the Smalley Circuit and upon the expiration of the lease Smalley told the owner that he was going to build a new theatre unless she would reduce the rent. Thereupon she came to Gloversville and induced Schine to buy the theatre. The owner was an elderly widow who is dead and whose testimony was not available at the trial, but the matter was litigated both in the New York State Supreme Court and before the N.R.A., and Schine was successful, in each forum. Schine spent a very large sum of money modernizing and improving the theater and was successful in more than doubling the attendance. The State Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5155] Hudson Falls, New York. (Population 6,654). Schine bought the fee of the Strand Theatre in July, 1935. Hudson Falls is a suburb of Glens Falls, which is only four miles away. The Strand Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5156] Hurlock, Maryland. (Population under 800.) Hurlock is a small town on the "Eastern Shore". Schine leased the Hurlock Theatre in 1938 as a part of the deal for the Wicomico Theatre, Salisbury. The only reason for leasing the theatre was that the former owner did not want to keep the Hurlock after disposing of the Wicomico. The Hurlock Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5157] Laurel, Delaware. (Population 2,277). In 1939 Schine leased the Waller Theatre from the Waller Estate. The theatre burned down in 1940 and Schine rebuilt it in 1941, spending for such purpose considerably more than the proceeds of insurance. The Waller Theatre is the only theatre in the town. Under Schine management the attendance at the theatre has shown a marked increase.

Although Ayers testified that Insley told him that he was foolish not to make a deal with Schine at Seaford because the Circuit had bought the Laurel Theatre, and might get away his product, the fact is that Ayers' theatres in Seaford got clearance over Laurel on all product except half of Warners.

[fol. 5158] Milford, Delaware. (Population 3,719). Schine bought the fee of the Plaza Theatre, Milford, from William Wilkins in 1939. Wilkins was an elderly butcher living in Wilmington. He had been advised by his attorney to dispose of the theatre (see affidavit of Wilkins on motion for preliminary injunction). After Schine acquired the theatre he was obliged to close it before running it because of structural weakness in the roof. Schine then made structural and decorative improvement, as a result of which when the theatre reopened there was a marked improvement in attendance. Milford is subject to clearance from Wilmington which is approximately seventy miles distant.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5159] (F.M.) Newark, New York. (Population, 9,646), Schine acquired the fee of the Capital theatre in 1924 when Schine was operating in only seven towns. In 1926 Schine leased the Crescent Theatre which had been opened for a short time but was found not to be suitable for sound pictures and has been kept closed since Schine reacquired the town in 1933. Newark should be included among the two theatre towns.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5160] Penn Yan, New York. (Population 5,308). Schine bought the Elmwood Theatre in 1936. This is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5161] Perry, New York. (Population 4,468). Schine bought the lease of the Auditorium Theatre from the Dipson Circuit in 1936. Previously Schine had negotiated for the lease of the theatre with Herzberger, the former operator, and had made a deal with Herzberger (Herzberger withdrew from the deal and sold to Dipson). The Auditorium Theatre is the only theatre in Perry. Perry is close to and in competition with Warsaw, which has two theatres, neither of which is operated by Schine.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: (Findings of Fact 10 and 11 (f)) May told Herzberger that Schine was going to build a one thousand seat theatre there and a local newspaper article appeared to the same effect.

Facts: The Auditorium Theatre was an old out-moded opera house unsuitable for the needs of the town and Schine, therefore, decided to build a new theatre in the town. Schine had gone as far as getting blueprints for the theatre, but before bids were received Herzberger, who had previously agreed to sell his lease to Schine, sold it to the Dipson Circuit, which made substantial improvements in the old theatre. The theatre was then adequate for the needs of the town and Schine abandoned the plan to build. Later the Dipson Circuit sold the lease to Schine.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5163] (F.M.) Saranac Lake, New York. (Population 7138). Schine bought the Pontiac Theatre in Saranac Lake. This town is competitive with Lake Placid, which is ten miles away. The Pontiac is the only theatre in Saran Lake.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5164] Tupper Lake, New York. (Population 5,451): Schine leased the State Theatre in 1935. This theatre is competitive with the theatre at Tupper Lake Junction, approximately two miles away, and which is considered as being practically a part of Tupper Lake; except for the Tupper Lake Junction Theatre, the State Theatre is the only theatre in the town.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5165] C

Two or More Theatre Towns

In this category (which is "B" of the plaintiff's "Plan"), the plaintiff has listed thirty-four towns in each of which Schine has two or more theatres and, according to the "Plan", the Circuit is required to dispose of all theatre interests except one theatre to be selected by the Circuit in each town. This would seem to leave the Circuit with thirty-four theatres in thirty-four towns, but a provision is made under "F" of the plaintiff's "Plan", which we shall discuss later, which would take away from the Circuit all of its theatres in ten of these towns so that the Circuit would then be left with twenty-four theatres in twenty-four towns.

Fourteen of these towns are not mentioned in the Opinion or the Findings of Fact, but no distinction is made between these fourteen towns and the twenty towns which are mentioned, in depriving the Circuit of its theatres.

Historically these towns fall naturally into certain classifications, to wit:

(1) Towns which were among the original acquisitions by Schine at a time when either there was no circuit at all, or the Circuit was so small that not even the plaintiff will contend that it had buying power sufficient to intimidate another exhibitor.

(2) Towns in which all the theatres have always been under the same management, either that of Schine or its predecessor.

(3) Towns in which there was originally only one theatre, but where Schine built a new theatre because the growth of the town demanded it.

[fol. 5166] (4) Towns which had one or more theatres which were inadequate to serve the needs of the town, and where Schine was induced by the residents to build a new theatre.

(5) Towns where there was at one time a theatre operated by an exhibitor other than Schine, which theatre was acquired by Schine by wholly legal and proper means.

(6) Towns where there were always was, or now is, an exhibitor other than Schine operating one or more theatres.

The foregoing will appear in detail from the historical analyses of the towns which follows, and it will further appear from such analyses that in no case has any theatre been illegally acquired, or illegally operated by Schine. Nevertheless the plaintiff seeks to reduce the holdings of the Circuit in these thirty-four towns to twenty-four theatres in twenty-four towns.

Amsterdam. (Population 33,329). In 1928 the Schine Circuit and the Shea Circuit each purchased a one-half interest in three theatres in Amsterdam (The Rialto, The Strand (fee) and The Regent (fee). At that time these theatres were the only theatres in the town. The buying, booking and management was handled by Shea. In 1935 Schine acquired Shea's interest, as a result of a buy or sell arrangement, in which Schine finally became the highest bidder. In 1931 Kroniek opened a small store show, known as the Orpheum Theatre. He had no lease and did not conduct a continuous business in the theatre, which lacked the customary facilities and conveniences, and was condemned by the city authorities in 1941. Amsterdam is in direct competition with Schenectady, a considerably larger city where The Fabian Circuit and R.K.O. operate theatres.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9B: United Artists permitted 90 days clearance at Amsterdam.

Finding of Fact 15: Non-competitive agreement.

Finding of Fact 18: Alleged refusal of MGM to negotiate with Kronick until Schine deal did not materialize.

Finding of Fact 19: Alleged refusal of Fox to sell Kronick in 1935-36 and alleged refusal of Warner in 1938-39.

The Facts: The United Artists clearance, as elsewhere, is meaningless. The non-competitive agreement is reasonable as to period and area involved. Kronick was not doing a continuous business. He had only a month to month lease in a theatre which he opened in a converted store many years after the town had been adequately supplied by the existing theatres. It is not strange that occasionally some distributors may have preferred not to sell him. No reasons for this alleged refusal are assigned.

[fol. 5168] Ashland, Ohio. (Population 11,141). Schine acquired an interest in The Palace Theatre (the best theatre in the town) in 1935. The other theatres were (1) an old Opera House, which was owned by the City; and (2) The Ohio, a small converted store show.

Schine acquired an interest in the lease of the Opera House in 1936, but in 1941 the theatre was condemned and the building reverted to the City, which dismantled the theatre. In 1937 Schine acquired the remaining interest in The Palace and in 1938 leased The Ohio Theatre. Later Schine built The Ashland Theatre, a new, modern theatre, which was opened in 1942.

Ashland is thirteen miles from Mansfield, Ohio, and the Warner Theatres there have clearance over Schine's theatres in Ashland.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5169] Athens, Ohio. (Population 7,696). Schine bought the fee of the Athena Theatre in 1935. There were then two other theatres in the town (The Cor[illegible] and The Ohio). They were converted store shows, each having less than 300 seats, and had been opened for only a short time. In 1936 these theatres were leased by Schine.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5170] (F.M.) Auburn, N. Y. (Population 35,753). In 1923 Schine leased The Palace Theatre and the Old Opera House (now The Capitol). At that time Schine was operating theatres in only six other towns. There were then two other theatres in Auburn, The Jefferson and The Strand (an old and large auditorium which was then closed). As none of these theatres was a modern or an adequate theatre, Schine foresaw that it would be necessary at some time to build a new theatre, and, therefore, acquired a lot, upon which there was then located an old church, for such purpose. The Opera House lease expired in 1926. In 1927 Schine, then operating the Palace Theatre, and Shea, then operating The Jefferson Theatre, bought The Strand Theatre and made a new lease on the Opera House.

In the 1929 deal with Fox-Metropolitan that company took over The Palace, Jefferson and Strand Theatres, but refused to take the Opera House because it was an old upstairs house and also refused to permit Schine-Shea to operate the same. In 1931, while Fox-Metropolitan was operating the other theatres, Wallace leased the Opera House under the name of The Capitol Theatre. In 1933, The Palace, Jefferson and Strand reverted to Schine-Shea in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy.

In 1933 the Strand was condemned by the city and closed. It was torn down in 1939. After The Strand was condemned Schine insisted on building a new theatre in Auburn because it was apparent that the town needed a new up-to-date theatre. Shea was unwilling to undertake the necessary expenditure and this difference of opinion resulted in Schine's purchase of Shea's interest in the Auburn theatres in 1937. Schine immediately entered upon the construction of The Auburn Theatre in Auburn on a lot which [fol. 5171] he had bought some fifteen years earlier. The theatre was completed and opened in 1938 and is generally regarded as the finest theatre in upstate New York, except for the large cities, such as Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9A: Deprived independents of RKO product for 1933-34.

Finding of Fact 12: After Schine opened a theatre in the town it was arbitrarily able to keep the independents from opening a theatre with suitable run product.

Finding of Fact 17: United Artists gave clearance in Auburn over Skaneateles.

Finding of Fact 18: RKO, Fox, Paramount, MGM and Universal refused to furnish second run at Auburn.

Finding of Fact 19: RKO would not sell independent in 1933-34. Paramount would not sell in 1935-36.

The Facts: Wallace did not come into Auburn until 1931 which was eight years after Schine had first leased the theatre, which is now the Capitol Theatre. Schine had been unable successfully to operate that theatre and Fox Metropolitan had refused to operate it. Nevertheless, Wallace, despite his complaints, has been able to obtain sufficient first run product to operate the theatre from 1931 up to the present time. Obviously, Wallace cannot buy all the product he wants because Schine with theatres far superior to the Capitol Theatre, is unable to obtain sufficient product for its own needs. Clearance between Auburn and Skaneateles has been arbitrated under Section 8 of the consent decree and 21 days was held to be reasonable by the Appeal Board.

[fol. 5172] Bellefontaine, Ohio. (Population 9,543). In 1930 Schine was induced by a group of local citizens to build a new modern theatre in Bellefontaine. This theatre was opened early in February, 1931, as The Holland Theatre. It is a new, entirely modern theatre, of what is known as the atmospheric type, seating around 1,400 people.

At the time that Schine built The Holland Theatre, Schine had just disposed of all theatres formerly owned or operated by the Circuit except those in Cortland, Lockport, Geneva, Malone, Massena, Ogdensburg, a half interest with Shea in Amsterdam and neighborhood theatres in Buffalo and Rochester (including East Rochester and Fairport). At the time that Schine started to build in Bellefontaine, there were three other theatres in the town controlled by Milton A. Mooney, who was also the Warner Branch Manager in Cleveland. The theatres were old and inadequate for the town and only The Strand was operated continuously. The Majestic (250 seats) and no sound equipment had been operated only during the Annual Fair Week and was closed entirely from 1928 to 1931. The Opera House was a seventy-five year old upstairs theatre with no sound equipment and it was never open except for an occasional stage show.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9A: Mooney lost Loew's product for 1930-31.

Finding of Fact 11A: During negotiations for the renewal of the Strand lease Lazar is claimed to have threatened to reopen the Opera House if Gutilla (the lessor) opened the Strand.

[fol. 5173] Finding of Fact 12: After Schine opened a theatre in Bellefontaine, it was arbitrarily able to keep independents from opening a theatre in the town with suitable run product.

Finding of Fact 19: Alleged refusal of MGM to sell independent in 1930-31 (this is the same as 9A).

Finding of Fact 24: Lynch wrote Fox asking that company not to sell to independent in Bellefontaine.

The Facts: When Schine opened the Holland Theatre in Bellefontaine it was the only Schine theatre in the state of Ohio, and Schine only had a few theatres in New York State. It had no circuit-buying power whatsoever. The desire of the distributors to deal with Schine was due entirely to the fact that the Holland theatre was a large, modern theatre with 1400 seats, and far and away the best outlet for their product in the town. Obviously, if the distributors could license their product to the Holland theatre (irrespective of who was operating it) it was desirable and profitable for them to do so in preference to any of the theatres which had previously operated in the town.

Lynch's request can be construed as nothing more than an attempt by Lynch to prevent fly by night operation.

[fol. 5174] Bucyrus, Ohio. (Population 10,027). Schine came into Bucyrus early in 1935, at the solicitation of a group of local businessmen who asked him to complete the construction of a theatre which had been attempted by other local interests, but abandoned because of lack of funds. The building had only the walls and steel work erected and was to be sold at a sheriff's sale. Schine purchased the property and completed a 1,100 seat modern brick and steel theatre building, with all modern conveniences, located in the heart of the city (the so-called "A" location). The theatre was opened in 1936.

At the time that Schine purchased the uncompleted Bucyrus theatre, the only other theatres in the town were the State Theatre, a small old-fashioned converted store show, which had been operated since June, 1934, by one, Milton Breyer, and the Southern Theatre, an old 450 seat house operated by Philip Charnas. Schine purchased the lease of the State Theatre in 1935 (the lease expired a few years later and was not renewed by Schine), and purchased the lease of the Southern Theatre in 1937.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9A: Independents were deprived of Paramount and Fox product for 1935-36.

Finding of Fact 9B: United Artists permitted 90 days clearance at Bucyrus.

The Facts: Charnas had refused to buy the Fox product when it was ~~offered to~~ him and was regarded as a bad account by Paramount for failure to pay bills. This was aside [fol. 5175] from the fact that Schine had just opened the new theatre in Bucyrus which was far superior to the other theatres in the town. The 90 day United Artist clearance is wholly meaningless, as it is everywhere it is mentioned in the findings.

[fol. 5176] Cambridge, Maryland. (Population 10,102). Early in 1938 the local businessmen, who owned the three theatres in Cambridge, put an ad in The New York Times offering them for sale. A representative of the Schine Circuit answered the ad, as a result of which Schine purchased the controlling stock in the corporation owning these theatres (The Arcade, The State and The Grand or Opera House). All three theatres are owned in fee.

The stockholders were local businessmen who had taken over the operation of the theatres as a matter of local pride and desired to dispose of them to an experienced operator. Schine immediately offered to purchase the stock of any other stockholder on the same terms as those having the controlling interest. (See affidavit of Brohan on motion for preliminary injunction).

Schine renovated and improved the theatres, as a result of which the attendance showed an immediate improvement.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5177] (F.M.) Canandaigua, New York. (Population 8,321.) Schine acquired the fee of The Playhouse Theatre in Canandaigua in 1924, at a time when it was only operating in seven other towns. At that time The Playhouse was the only theatre in the town and it remained so until 1939 when Schine entered actively on the construction of a theatre which had been contemplated since 1937. The new theatre (The Lake Theatre) was completed and opened in 1941. It was built because of the fact that it was proposed to construct a large Veterans Rehabilitation Hospital in Canandaigua, which Schine thought would justify the existence of another theatre in the town.

Alleged Abuse: Finding of Fact No. 10.

Schine made threats to build in "* * * Canandaigua by a signed newspaper article published and where he eventually did build."

The Facts: Schine started planning the construction of the new theatre as early as 1937 when it was first learned that the Veterans Hospital would probably be built in the town. The representative of the owners of the real estate, in which Wallace was interested, had no knowledge of Schine's plan and no such knowledge resulted in the rejection of Wallace's offer. (Testimony 4074-4079; 4626 to 4663.)

[fol. 5178] (F.M.) Corning, New York. (Population 16,212.) In 1924 (when Schine was operating in only seven other towns) Schine acquired The Liberty, State, Regent and Princess theatres in Corning, as a part of a single deal. The Princess Theatre was obsolete and was devoted to commercial use almost immediately after it was acquired.

When the deal was made with Fox-Metropolitan, Schine built the Fox Theatre to replace the Liberty, which had burned down, and sold The Regent (which was closed at the time) to Gerber, who remodeled it and operated it until 1938 when, because of poor health which shortly thereafter resulted in his death, he leased it to Schine. The only other theatre in the town is The Plaza, a small converted store theatre, operated for many years by Gaby M. Cohen.

The Theatres in Corning are subject to clearance in favor of the theatres in Elmira operated by the Warner Circuit, the Dipson Circuit and an independent.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9(A). Deprived or attempted to deprive competition of product.

Finding of Fact 9(B). Alleged unreasonable clearance.

Finding of Fact 14. Used cut-rate students tickets.

Finding of Fact 21. Bought second-run product.

Finding of Fact 22. Contracts called for lower minimum admission than did independent contracts.

The Facts: As to 9(A) and 21, the product bought by Schine was only the product needed to operate the Schine theatres in Corning. Necessarily when a given product is given to one exhibitor, such product is not available to another exhibitor for the same run in the same territory. [fol. 5179] No evidence was furnished that any coercive measures were used by Schine in order to buy product for its theatres, and no evidence is offered to show that Schine bought product for any reason other than the fact that it was needed by the Schine theatres.

As to 9(B) it is stated that R.K.O. contracts in Corning permitted ninety to one hundred and eighty days clearance and Fox contracts permitted one hundred and sixty days. There is no evidence as to the theaters over which this clearance was granted, or that it was ever actually applied, or that anyone ever complained about it. The mere fact that there may have been a provision in some isolated contracts permitting this clearance, cannot be used even as cumulative evidence to show that Schine restrained interstate trade and commerce without proof that it was actually used with such motive.

Findings of Fact 14 and 22—certainly the fact that Schine allowed students to come to the Corning Theatre at reduced prices does not constitute restraint of interstate commerce. Changes in admission prices and the use of business stimplants is common to all motion picture theatres, whether circuit operated or individually operated, when weather or business conditions in the locality seem to the particular exhibitor involved to make them necessary.

[fol. 5180] Cortland, New York. (Population 15,881.) In 1926, at the invitation of local merchants, Schine built The State Theatre, a large, modern, fully equipped theatre, having over 1,600 seats. The town badly needed a new theatre and Schine spent well over a quarter of a million dollars for that purpose. At the time there were two old, inadequate theatres, The Temple and the Opera House, in fact, the Opera House was obsolete. Schine improved The Temple at a very considerable expense, so that it could be operated as the "B" house, and leased the Opera House property to Sears Roebuck.

Cortland is located between Ithaca and Syracuse, both of which cities draw to a certain extent from Cortland.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5181] Delaware, Ohio. (Population 8,675.) In 1936 Schine acquired a half interest in The Strand Theatre, which was by far the better of the two theatres operating in Delaware at the time. The other theatre was the Star Theatre, operated under lease by John Buckman. The other fifty percent of The Strand Theatre was owned by Henry Bieberson, Jr., who originated the negotiations with Schine for the acquisition of their half interest. Buckman only had a month to month lease on the Star Theatre. He sent for Schine's representatives and arranged to sell his equipment and good will.

The Schine-Bieberson interests renovated and improved the Star Theatre and thereafter operated it at full or part time as conditions warranted (Delaware is a college town and while the college is open business is better than during the vacation periods). In 1940 Schine acquired Bieberson's remaining fifty percent interest.

The plaintiff took the depositions of Bieberson and Buckman just prior to the trial of this case but did not read either of them on the trial.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5182] Easton, Maryland. (Population 4,528.) In November, 1938, Schine bought the fee of The Avalon Theatre (616) seats, and the lease of the Music Hall, an upstairs theatre of 250 seats, as a part of a single transaction. The theatres had been operated by a group of local citizens who desired to sell, and who were told by Mayor Brohan and other Cambridge citizens that they had made a good deal with Schine (see affidavit of Wheatley on motion for preliminary injunction).

The Music Hall was operated as a "B" house for the benefit of the poorer residents of the town. The building in which the Music Hall was located was owned by the County and shortly after Schine came into the town the County arranged with WPA for remodeling and improvement thereof and asked Schine to give up its lease. Schine thereupon relinquished the lease, but saw that the town could still have a "B" theatre, acquired a new site and erected a new theatre at considerable cost to replace the Music Hall.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5183] Geneva, New York. (Population 15,555.) In 1924 when Schine was operating only seven other towns, it acquired in a single transaction the fee of the Opera House; the fee of The Temple and the lease of the Regent Theatre. These were the only theatres in the town. The Opera House burned down in 1930 and Schine then built The Geneva Theatre to replace it. The Geneva was a fine new modern theatre, having almost 1,900 seats, and was opened in 1931. After The Geneva was opened, The Temple, which was obsolete, was closed, but with the improvement of business conditions it was extensively remodeled and reopened.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: Finding of Fact 14. It is claimed that Schine cut admission prices in Geneva.

Finding of Fact 18. It is claimed that United Artists did not negotiate with De Toto for second-runs at Geneva, although Schine had bought second runs.

The Facts: As to 14. As has already been several times indicated changes in admission prices are seasonal only and are not used for the purpose of restraining interstate commerce.

As to Finding of Fact 18. United Artists offered to sell DeToto second-run product in Geneva in April, 1939, for $15 to $25 per picture, but DeToto refused to buy the product, saying the price was too high. Later in 1939 DeToto attempted to buy the 1939-1940 product for second-run, but this deal was not completed, and for this reason, as well as for the fact that the first-run in Geneva had not as yet been sold. The Branch Manager told him that it was too early to discuss the deal with him; De Toto said he would come back when the theatre was ready, but never did so.

[fol. 5184] (F.M.) Gloversville. (Population 23,094.) This is the first town in which Schine acquired a theatre. This initial acquisition was the lease of The Hippodrome Theatre, an upstairs hall in one of the main streets of the town. The acquisition took place in 1917, at which time there were two other theatres in the town, to wit: The Glove, a newly constructed theatre, and The Family, an old opera house specializing in vaudeville. The Glove and The Family were operated by the same individuals.

In 1919 Schine bought the fee of The Hippodrome and enlarged and improved the theatre. In 1920 Schine bought The Glove and The Family Theatres. The Family Theatre was an old obsolete theatre and was converted to commercial use. A large part of it is used by Schine as part of the Circuit home offices. Since acquisition the Hippodrome and Glove have been renovated and improved by Schine several times.

The Glove and Hippodrome Theatres have always had competition from the Smalley Theatre, Johnstown, operated by the Smalley Circuit (a circuit of about seventeen theatres). The Smalley Theatre is only three miles from the Glove and Hippodrome Theatres, and although Johnstown and Gloversville are separate towns, they are contiguous interrelated communities.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse:

Finding of Fact No. 17: "Gloversville got clearance of forty-five days over Johnstown.

The Facts: This clearance which had already been voluntarily reduced to 30 days was further reduced to [fol. 5185] 21 days in a clearance proceeding under Section 8 of the Consent Decree in United States v. Paramount. Schine voluntarily appeared.

In holding 21 days clearance to be reasonable, the Arbitration Board necessarily held that Gloversville and Johnstown were competitive. In the course of the argument on February 25, 1946, the following colloquy took place between defendants' counsel and the Court:

> "Mr. McClennen: Now this suggestion of your Honor's brings forcibly forward Gloversville; Here was a man with nothing, starting a theatre on a shoe string there. That operation has gone on for twenty-eight years. Is he to be charged with having put his money into that enterprise for the purpose of monopolizing trade?
> "The Court: No, I don't think so."

[fol. 5186] Herkimer, New York. (Population 9,617.) In 1925 Schine acquired a half interest in the only two theatres in Herkimer (Liberty Theatre fee and Richmond Theatre lease). This interest was acquired from local business men who were then operating these two theatres and the two theatres in Little Falls, which were acquired in the same transaction; the other fifty percent was owned by Universal Pictures, but later on when Universal Pictures decided that the exhibition business was unprofitable and was disposing of all of its theatre interest, Schine bought the other fifty percent interest,

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9(B). Clearance for Herkimer over Ilion. "Schine got clearance for Herkimer over Ilion where non-existed before."

The Facts: This finding is incorrect. The record shows that clearance for Herkimer over Ilion was instituted during the Fox-Metropolitan operation and after Schine reacquired Herkimer this clearance was reduced.

[fol. 5187] Ilion, New York. (Population 8,927.) In a transaction started in December, 1936, and culminating in May, 1937, Schine acquired from the same interests the fee of The Capitol Theatre and the lease of The Temple Theatre in Ilion, New York. They were the only theatres in the town. Ilion had been previously operated by Fox-Metropolitan but reverted to the former owners at about the same time as the Schine Theatres came back to Schine.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: Finding of Fact 15. Non-competitive agreement.

The Facts: This agreement was reasonable as to time and areas covered.

[fol. 5188] Kent, Ohio. (Population 8,581.) Schine acquired a lease on The Opera House at Kent, Ohio, in June, 1936, and operated that theatre until September, 1937, when the theatre had to be closed because of lack of product.

In December, 1937, Schine bought The Kent Theatre from the Flanagan interest, which also operated the two theatres in Ravenna (which two theatres were acquired by Schine in the same transaction).

Kent is nine miles from Akron, and is subject to fourteen days clearance from the theatres operated by the Warner, Shea and RKO Circuits, and a theatre operated by an independent.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9(B). United Artists gave ninety days clearance at Kent.

The Facts. It is assumed, since the statement appears in the opinion, that at least one contract was introduced at the trial relating to Kent, which had a ninety day clearance provision. Obviously this provision was never operative.

[fol. 5189] Lexington, Kentucky. (Population 45,736.) In 1936 Schine acquired a majority of the stock of Phoenix Amusement Company from the stockholders, who were local businessmen. At that time Schine was not operating any theatres in Kentucky. Phoenix Amusement Company operated the Ben Ali, Kentucky, Strand and State Theatres in Lexington. It also operated the only theatre in Paris and the only two theatres in Richmond, Kentucky.

Later Schine acquired the Opera House, Lexington, and the Ada Meade, Lexington (both subsequent run houses). Under the Consent Order of May, 1942, Schine agreed to endeavor to sell these two last named theatres, but the terms on which they were acquired were so favorable to the seller that they refused to take them back, and no other exhibitor was found either during the pendency of the order, or since, who was desirous of acquiring them at those terms.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9B: United Artists gave 90 days clearance at Lexington.

Finding of Fact 14: "Schine cut admission prices" in Lexington.

Finding of Fact 15: Non-competitive agreement.

Finding of Fact 19: MGM would not sell Schwartz in Lexington in 1936-37.

Finding of Fact 22. In the 1936-37 season Schine is claimed to have cut admission prices for first run showing of Fox pictures below the minimum fixed in the contract. In reply to an inquiry by Fox, J. M. Schine replied that the [fol. 5190] cuts "were quite essential and proved to be beneficial." Thereafter, Fox omitted minimum admission prices in second and third run contracts, but provided for a fifteen cent minimum evening adult admission price for Schwartz.

The Facts: The non-competitive agreement with Schwartz was reasonable both as to period of time and area involved. Any difficulty that Schwartz had in obtaining product was occasioned only by the competitive situation in Lexington and by his unwillingness to pay the prices asked by the distributors. He was always able to obtain sufficient suitable product to operate his theatre.

It will be noted that the changes in admission prices in Lexington occurred only during the summer season when the temperature is extremely high. Any benefit which Schine might have derived from changes in admission prices was necessarily also beneficial to the distributor.

[fol. 5191] (F.M.) Little Falls, New York. (Population 10,163.) In 1925 Schine acquired a half interest in the two theatres in Little Falls from the local businessmen who were operating these two theatres and two theatres in Herkimer. The other fifty percent was owned by Universal Pictures, but later when Universal Pictures decided that the exhibition business was unprofitable and disposed of its theatre interest, Schine bought the other fifty percent interest both in Herkimer and in Little Falls.

The local citizens who sold to Schine had other business interests to which they desired to devote their entire energies. During the Fox-Metropolitan tenancy the Hippodrome lease expired and was not renewed, but Schine made a new lease on this theatre in 1936 and has since operated it part time.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9B: RKO, Columbia and Universal permitted 120 days clearance, and United Artists permitted 115 days.

The Facts: There is no evidence this alleged clearance was ever operative.

[fol. 5192] Lockport, New York. (Population 24,379.) In 1922 Schine acquired The Temple Theatre, Lockport. Prior to 1922 Schine was operating in only three towns. At that time the only other theatre operating in Lockport was the Hi-Art, which was a converted store show.

In 1924 Schine purchased from the same man who had owned The Temple a large building across the street from The Temple, which had formerly been a skating rink, but which was then being used as a garage. Schine completely rebuilt the building into a large modern theatre (The Rialto) with 1,500 seats, 1,400 of which were on the ground floor. At about the same time a group of local citizens undertook the construction of a new theatre (The Palace) and in connection with the transaction in 1924 when Schine acquired a number of theatres, Schine also acquired a preliminary lease on The Palace Theatre. However, this lease was repudiated and the building was leased to Paramount, which company also held a lease on the Hi-Art, but was not operating it.

Hi-Art was remodeled and rebuilt into a much larger and better theatre so that there were then three good theatres in the town, together with Schine's Temple, which was the oldest and least suitable for a theatre.

In 1927 or '28, Schine and Paramount combined theatre operations in Lockport. At that time they closed the Hi-Art and The Temple was torn down. In 1932 the Dickinson interests, who controlled the corporation owning the Palace Theatre succeeded in ousting Paramount-Schine and immediately formed an affiliation with the Dipson Circuit to operate The Palace, which they continued to operate until 1936. When Schine lost The Palace Theatre, The Hi-Art was reopened as the Schine "B" house in Lockport.

[fol. 5193] Dickinson died in 1933 and in 1935 his executors sold The Palace Theatre at public auction. The property was purchased by the Dipson Circuit. Subsequent to this the Dipson Circuit sold The Palace Theatre to Schine at a considerable profit over what it had paid the Dickinson Estate for the property.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 11(E). Alleged statement by May immediately after ouster of Schine from Palace, "* * * If they could not lease The Palace, they would have to reopen the Hi-Art to use up product under contract." Alleged difficulty on part of independents in obtaining product from Metro, Fox, Universal and Loew's.

Finding of Fact 12: "After Schine opened a theatre within a town it was arbitrarily able to keep the independents from opening a theatre in the town provided with suitable run product as in * * * Lockport * * *."

Finding of Fact 13: Claim that Schine was able to monopolize first-run product at Lockport, although physical facilities of the independents in the town were better than Schine's.

Finding of Fact 19: Alleged refusal on the part of RKO to sell product to Lockport in 1933-34; Paramount 1933-34; Universal 1933-34.

Finding of Fact 21: Purchase by Schine of second-run product.

The Fact: When Schine was ousted from The Palace Theatre, it had already contracted for the 1932-33 product, and The Rialto was using the product of all major companies, except Metro. The only reason Schine was not [fol. 5194] using Metro product at that time was because there had been a serious disagreement with Schine, which disagreement was subsequently eliminated. Charles Dickinson, Jr. admitted that Schine was a regular customer of the eight major companies; The Palace had a franchise for Columbia Pictures, first-run, for 1934-1935 and 1935-1936, and played United Artists first-run product in 1934, 1935, and 1936. The Palace Theatre refused to buy Fox product second-run.

Findings of Fact 12 and 13 are not correct. Schine was operating a theatre in Lockport before The Palace Theatre was built and at no time after The Palace Theatre was acquired by Dickinson and Dipson Circuit did Schine use more or different product that it was using prior to such acquisition. Although The Palace Theatre was a larger theatre than The Rialto, The Rialto had a better location and more seats downstairs and was, therefore, better adapted for the showing of motion pictures.

[fol. 5195] Maysville, Kentucky. (Population 6,572). Schine leased the Russell Theatre in June, 1938. The other two theatres in town were the Washington, operated by Kaplan and Frisch, and the Hollywood operated by another exhibitor. Kaplan and Frisch acquired the Hollywood, and shortly thereafter made a deal with Schine for a part interest in all three theatres. Schine subsequently purchased a one hundred percent interest.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5196] Middlesboro, Kentucky. (Population 11,777). In January, 1939, Schine acquired the lease on the Mannering and a lease on the Brownie Theatres from the same exhibitor. Thereafter, and after Schine had made extensive improvements to each building, Schine acquired the fees.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5197] Ogdensburg, New York. (Population 16,346). In 1926 Schine leased The Strand Theatre and The Pontiac Theatre from the same individuals, who had previously operated the same, and who were also interested in the operation of two theatres in Malone. These are and always have been the only theatres in the town.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 14. Cut admission prices.

Finding of Fact 17. Warner's Branch Manager told Home Office Canton would do more business "if it were not for thirty days clearance for Schine at Ogdensburg over Canton, and if it was reduced it will make a better condition for us all • • •"

The Facts: As to 14. As there never was any other theatre in Ogdensburg, a change in the admission prices could not affect interstate commerce in any way.

As to 17. The clearance between Ogdensburg and Canton was arbitrated under Section 8 of the Consent Decree in United States v. Paramount. As a result of such arbitration, clearance was reduced to three days. In making such reduction the Board held that the towns were competitive, but that three days clearance would be adequate. Schine acquiesced in that decision.

[fol. 5198] (F.M.) Oneonta. (Population 11,731). This is the second town in which Schine acquired a theatre or theatres. Schine leased The Strand Theatre, which was a small poorly constructed theatre in 1919, very shortly after he started operating in Gloversville. At that time the best theatre in Oneonta was operated by a circuit (the Hathaway Circuit). Schine bought this theatre in 1922 (at that time Schine was operating only in Gloversville, Oneonta and Norwich).

In 1923 the Palace Theatre was built and leased to Schine (at that time Schine was operating in Gloversville, Oneonta, Norwich, Carthage and Oswego). Schine bought the fee of The Palace Theatre in 1927. When the theatres of the town were leased to Fox-Metropolitan that company refused to lease The Strand Theatre because it was obsolete and unsatisfactory for a theatre; the theatre was thereafter sold and converted by the purchaser to commercial use.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5199] (F.M.) Oswego. (Population 22,062). Schine acquired The Strand, Capitol and Richardson Theatres as a part of a single deal in Oswego in 1922. Prior to 1922 Schine was operating theatres in only three towns; the Strand and Capitol were operated full time and the Richardson was operated from time to time.

The land upon which the Oswego Theatre was built was acquired in 1937. The Oswego Theatre is a large, modern theatre costing over a quarter of a million dollars, seating over 1,700 people, and was opened in January, 1941. All of the theatres in the town were operated by Fox-Metropolitan from 1929 to 1933.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5200] Paris, Kentucky. (Population 6,204). When Schine acquired 97% of the stock of the Phoenix Amusement Company from Lexington businessmen in 1936, that company was the lessee and operator of The Bourbon Theatre, the only theatre in the town. Schine soon decided that Paris needed a new, modern theatre, and in 1937 purchased the necessary land and obtained the necessary building permit. In the spring and summer of 1938 Schine had plans drawn for and obtained bids for the construction of the new theatre which was completed and opened as The Paris Theatre in 1939.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Finds of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Findings of Fact 11B and 15: Lazar is said to have told Schwartz if he built in Paris, Schine would build a 1200 seat theatre in Lexington. When Schine acquired Schwartz's Paris and Lexington interests Schwartz signed a non-competitive agreement.

Finding of Fact 12: After Schine opened a theatre in Paris, it was arbitrarily able to keep independents from opening a theatre there with suitable product.

Finding of Fact 18: Alleged refusal of Fox, RKO and Universal to negotiate at Paris.

The Facts: As to Findings of Fact 11B and 15: Schine made no "threats" to build in Paris. He decided to build a new theatre in the town shortly after he acquired the Bourbon Theatre and went through with those plans expeditiously. The plans were initiated before there was any intimation that Schwartz contemplated building. Schine announced its intention to build in the summer of 1937 and Schwartz did not lease the property until November, 1938. [fol. 5201] There is no evidence in the record that any one ever told Schwartz that Schine would build a new 1,200 seat theatre in Lexington. As a matter of fact, the only exhibitor who would have been injured by a new theatre in Lexington would have been Schine, who then was operating all of the first-run theatres in the town.

The non-competitive agreement which Schwartz signed is believed to be wholly proper, both as to time and area, and has not been the subject of complaint from anybody except the plaintiff. Schwartz had an opportunity (under the Consent Order of May, 1942) to reacquire the theatre in Lexington which he had leased to Schine, but the terms which he had obtained were so favorable that he had no desire to take back the theatre, nor has anyone else indicated willingness to take it under these terms.

As to Findings of Fact 12 and 18: Schwartz's request for product was made in November, 1938 after the 1938-39 product had been sold. RKO and Universal told Schwartz that they might be able to sell him some product after his theatre was completed. Grady (Fox) said about the same thing in a conversation. All three mentioned the fact that Schine was building a new theatre in Paris.

Schwartz testified at the trial that his dealings with Schine were met only with courtesy and fair discussion of negotiations; that no threats were made to him; that he made his two deals for Paris and the Opera House, Lexington because he thought they were good business deals; and that Paris was not large enough for three theatres.

[fol. 5202] Piqua, Ohio. (Population 16,049). Schine leased The Piqua Theatre, The Miami Theatre and The Bijou Theatre in Piqua, Ohio, in May, 1931, as a part of a single deal. This was during the period that most of the New York theatres previously operated by Schine were being operated by Fox-Metropolitan, and Schine was in only one other town in Ohio (Bellefontaine).

Although Piqua is twenty-nine miles from Dayton, the R.K.O. theatres and a theatre operated by an independent there are given clearance over Schine's theatres.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5203] Ravenna, Ohio. (Population 8,538). In 1937, Schine bought The Ravenna and Ohio Theatres in Ravenna, Ohio. They were purchased as a part of a single transaction with the owner of The Kent Theatre in Kent, Ohio, which was purchased at the same time. The Ohio Theatre had been closed for some time prior to its acquisition by Schine, but had to be incorporated in the deal. Subsequently business conditions improved and The Ohio was renovated and opened for operation.

Ravenna is subject to clearance in favor of the Warner, Shea and R.K.O. Circuits and also an independent theatre in Akron. Ravenna has always played after Kent.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5204] Richmond, Kentucky. (Population 7,335). When Schine acquired the stock of Phoenix Amusement Company, that company owned The Madison Theatre and leased The State Theatre in Richmond, Kentucky, which were, and are, the only operating theatres in the town. Schine made improvements to The Madison Theatre.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5205] Salamanca, New York. (Population 9,011). In 1924 when Schine was operating in only seven other towns, Schine acquired a lease upon the Andrews Theatre. In 1927 Schine decided to build a new theatre in Salamanca and acquired a site therefor. When the Andrews Theatre was sub-leased to Fox-Metropolitan, Schine agreed to build and lease to Fox a new theatre on a site acquired by it in 1927. Business conditions got bad and neither Fox nor Schine wanted a new theatre in the town at the time and the agreement was cancelled.

After The Andrews reverted to Schine in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy, Schine began to consider the construction of a new theatre, but conditions did not justify such construction until 1938, at which time preparation of plans was started. These plans were completed in 1939, but due to war conditions the theatre was not completely built and opened until August, 1942.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: Finding of Fact No. 10.

> "In Salamanca, just as independents acquired a site for a contemplated theatre, through the press Schine announced its intention to build."

The Facts: As appears from the above recital, Schine intended to build a new theatre as far back as 1927. This determination was not in any way influenced by the acts of any other exhibitor. Performance was held up by bad business conditions, but when business conditions justified it the theatre was built.

[fol. 5206] Seneca Falls, New York. (Population 6,452). Schine leased the Strand Theatre in 1935, and at that time The Seneca Theatre was operated by DeToto, who had a month to month lease from the bank which owned the property and was desirous of selling the same. Schine purchased the property from the bank in 1936. At the time of the purchase, DeToto, who had been offered the property by the bank, and had refused to buy it, had removed the equipment.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Allegel Abuses: Finding of Fact 9(B). "At Seneca Falls, New York, Columbia and United Artists permitted 120 days". (clearance).

Finding of Fact 11(I). Alleged attempt to prevent DeToto from building new theatre in Seneca Falls by announcing prospective reopening of Seneca Theatre.

The Facts: It is possible that isolated Columbia and United Artists contracts contained provisions with respect to 120 days clearance, but these provisions were never operative.

As to Finding of Fact 11(I), the evidence clearly shows that DeToto never made a bona fide attempt to build a new theatre in Seneca Falls and, further, that he never had money either of his own, or others, sufficient to finance any such project.

[fol. 5207] Tiffin, Ohio. (Population 16,102). In 1932 Schine acquired a half interest in the leases on the Ritz Theatre and Grand Theatre from their then operators, who retained the remaining fifty per cent interest. In 1938 Schine and its partners acquired the lease on the Tiffin Theatre.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuse: Findings of Fact 9(B). "United Artists gave ninety days clearance in Tiffin."

The Facts: While this clearance may appear in one or more isolated contracts, there is no evidence that it was ever operative.

[fol. 5208] (F.M.) Watertown, New York. (Population 33,385). In January, 1927 Schine leased the Avon (1376 seats), and the Olympic (1649 seats). Later, after the Fox-Metropolitan operation, Schine acquired the Palace (594 seats). In 1924 Vournakis commenced to operate the Strand and in 1933 acquired the Liberty theatre. There is also the Victoria theatre, operated by Graham and Ludlow.

This is one of the town- mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9A: Independent is claimed to have lost Warner second run 1934-35 product.

Finding of Fact 9B: United Artists permitted 90 days clearance at Watertown.

The Facts: In an affidavit sworn to on September 20, 1939 Vournakis said, among other things, "that I have been in the theatre business in Watertown for twenty years and that a great portion of that time I had been operating and still operate two theatres in opposition to the Schine theatres in that city, and during the entire period, I have never experienced any unpleasantness and at no time have I had any difficulty in obtaining the pictures I wanted to buy. I have always found that their theatres were conducted in a businesslike manner on a fair competitive basis." When Vournakis testified at the trial he confirmed the truth of the statement in said affidavit.

The 90 day United Artists clearance again is meaningless.

[fol. 5209] Wooster, Ohio (Population 11,543). In July, 1931, Schine acquired a half interest in the Wooster Theatre. At that time most of the New York theatres previously operated by Schine were being operated by Fox-Metropolitan and Schine was operating in only two towns in Ohio, Bell*a*fontaine and Piqua. The only other operating theatre in the town was a converted store show, which was closed by the operator in 1932 and reconverted to commercial purposes.

In 1933, Schine and others leased the Opera House and tried to operate it, but the theatre was old and obsolete and, therefore, in 1937, a new site was acquired on which the new Wayne Theatre was constructed and opened in 1938.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5210] D

Theatres Which Were Originally Listed in the Consent Order of May 19, 1942, and Which Schine Still Owns

On page 4 of the memorandum submitted in support of its "Plan" plaintiff criticizes defendants' performance under the consent order and makes the charge that the defendants deliberately failed to comply with the order. Furthermore the plaintiff claims that this deliberate failure to comply has continued for four years after the entry of the order.

There is absolutely no basis for this charge, but it is typical of the plaintiff's attitude throughout this entire case. The plaintiff is fully aware of the fact that the consent order was originally intended to remain in force only until May 19, 1944. Thereafter it was extended by order of the Court and consent of the parties until Nov. 15, 1944, at which time it finally terminated and since which time it has been of no force or effect whatsoever. During the period that the order was in force the defendants rendered periodical reports setting forth their efforts to dispose of the theatres mentioned in the order and, during this period, although the plaintiff at times complained that not all of the theatres had been sold, no charge was ever made that the failure of the defendants to sell all of the theatres was deliberate and willful. This charge was fully answered before this Court which found that the defendants had made considerable and reasonable efforts to sell.

In this connection we deem it advisable to refer to the comment of the Court made during the argument of February 25, 1946, and appearing at page 82 of the transcript, where the Court was evidently thinking about the provisions [fol. 5211] of the consent order in relation to the sixteen theatres named therein. Lest the Court should get any impression that the defendants willingly agreed to dispose of these theatres because they felt that it would assist the competitive situation, or because there was anything improper in connection with their acquisition, we state emphatically that the order itself shows on its face that the disposition of these theatres was insisted upon by the plaintiff so as to restore the status of the Schine Circuit to what it was at the time of the institution of this action, and the order itself further shows expressly that no wrong doing of any kind was conceded by the defendants or asserted by the plaintiff.

The attention of the Court is invited to the excerpt from the transcript of the proceedings before this Court on May 19, 1942, which is noted in our brief, dated February 23, 1946, at page 5 (footnote).

It appears that there are four theatres and an interest in a fifth theatre named in the order which Schine still holds. Detailed statements regarding these situations are set forth infra. The case of the Strand theatre, Cumberland, was fully argued before the Court at the time that the Liberty theatre, Cumberland, was acquired after a hearing before this Court. The Court then ruled that the defendants should be permitted to acquire the Liberty theatre, and that they need not continue to endeavor to sell the Strand theatre. Grace Fisher, the present owner of two theatres in Cumberland, appeared at the hearing and testified that she had made an offer for the Liberty theatre to prevent its purchase by a company other than Schine. On learning that Schine was a prospective purchaser, she asked to withdraw her offer and the deposit made on it, and expressed her willingness that Schine make the purchase. Her "A" theatre is the same type of theatre, and plays the [fol. 5212] same type and run of motion pictures as the Strand and Liberty.

The interest in the Memorial Theatre, Mount Vernon, Ohio, consisted of a lease which only had a short time to run and which has now expired. As the plaintiff well knows, this building is owned by the County Commissioners of Knox County, Ohio, and the lease is put up for competitive bidding every few years, so that no one is able to guarantee long term occupancy of the building.

In the case of the Margie Grand Theatre, Harlan, Kentucky, Leon Scott the owner of the remaining 50% opposed any change in the set-up so vigorously (and without in any way being influenced by Schine) that it is not difficult to see why there was no purchaser for Schine's interest. Leon Scott appeared for this purpose at the hearing held in this Court on April 10, 1944, and stated in open court that he was very happy in his relationship with Schine and did not desire to have any one else associated with him in the operation of the theatre. This theatre is in active competition with the New Harlan, operated by Price Coomer.

In the case of the Opera House and Ada Meade Theatres, Lexington, Kentucky, and the Plaza Theatre, Malone, New York, the terms upon which Schine acquired these theatres were so favorable to the sellers that it was impossible to find another purchaser who would duplicate the terms. In Malone, Boumansour notified the Department of Justice that he had disposed of his theatre on a basis entirely satisfactory to him. The non-competitive agreement was proper as to length of time and area covered and was particularly appropriate as Boumansour entered Schine's employment at that time.

E

Suburban or Neighborhood Theatres in Rochester, New York

Out of the 10 neighborhood theatres (but not including Fairport and East Rochester) operated by the Schine Circuit in Rochester, New York, the plaintiff asks the Court to order Schine to sell either the Riviera or Liberty Theatre, and either the Monroe or Madison Theatre. The explanation of this suggestion, which appears on page 3 of the memorandum accompanying the "Plan" does not make sense. Schine admittedly does not control any first run theatres in the City of Rochester. The first-run theatres are all downtown and are operated by Loew's-Comerford and Paramount, and R. K. O. Loew's, Paramount and R. K. O. were once defendants in this case and still are in United States v. Paramount in the Southern District of New York.

The Riviera and Liberty Theatres were acquired by Schine in 1926 from different owners and during the twenty years in which they have been operated by Schine there never has been any complaint about the manner of their acquisition or their operating policy. The Monroe and Madison Theatres were acquired in February, 1939, from one, Fenyvessy, who had been operating theatres in Rochester for thirty years and who was then 84 years old and actively desirous of disposing of his theatres. They had always been operated by Mr. Fenyvessy under one manngement so that the change of ownership did not affect the competitive situation as between these two theatres. There is no reason why any of the four theatres should be sold.

[fol. 5214] The alleged abuses referred to in the Opinion and Findings of Fact relate (9A) to an isolated instance in which some exhibitor did not buy Columbia product; (11H) involving the Webster theatre, which was planned and eventually built between the State theatre (a Schine theatre) and the Plaza theatre (an independent theatre), (Schine claimed that the district could not stand a third theatre, but it was built and eventually taken over by one of the original promoters); and (12) a claim that Schine was able to monopolize first neighborhood run, although the physical facilities of the independent were better.

The fact is that the neighborhood theatres operated by Schine were far and away the best neighborhood houses in Rochester. The above complaints were not made about, nor do they affect the Riviera, Liberty, Madison or Monroe theatres which are proposed to be sold.

Incidentally in the Crescent case the plaintiff expressly excluded from the charges, from any evidence, and from any prayer for relief a large number of suburban theatres operated by Crescent in Nashville, Tennessee. There is no reason why the same policy should not apply here.

[fol. 5215]

F

Pooling Arrangements

The plaintiff lists eight towns (exclusive of Syracuse, New York), in which it asks the Court to order the dissolution of "existing pooling arrangements" by the sale of the defendants' stock in the respective corporations operating the theatres there.

The term "pooling arrangement" is universall recognized in the motion picture industry as meaning a situation where Exhibitor "A" and Exhibitor "B" each operate one or more theatres in a given locality and mutually agree to combine their operations.

Only two of the towns listed by the plaintiff (exclusive of Syracuse) fall within this definition, to wit: Fostoria and Medina.

1. In Norwalk, Schine acquired a two-thirds interest in the corporation operating the Forum Theatre. Subsequently this corporation built the Norwalk Theatre and acquired the Moose Theatre. There never was a theatre operating pool in the town.

2. In Shelby, Ohio, Schine acquired a half interest in the Costamba Theatre. Subsequently they offered to sell back this half interest to the other 50% owner who, however, did not want to buy. There never has been a theatre operating pool in Shelby.

3. In Ballston Spa, Granville, Mechanicsville and Whitehall (four small one-theatre towns in the vicinity of Albany, New York) Schine acquired as a part of a single transaction [fol. 5216] a half interest in the four theatres. There never has been a theatre operating pool in any of these towns.

This leaves Fostoria, Ohio and Medina, Ohio (in addition to Syracuse, New York) as towns in which Schine had an interest in a so-called "pooling arrangement."

4. In Fostoria, Schine was operating the Civic and Roxy Theatres and Arthur and Ural Buck operated the State Theatre. The Buck brothers testified at the trial. Arthur Buck was anxious to retire from the theatre business and the Bucks accordingly approached Schine with a view to forming a partnership in Fostoria. An arrangement was made which has at all times proven satisfactory to the Bucks, who have so emphatically expressed themselves. No evidence was offered indicating that anyone else was in any way damaged or even effected by this arrangement.

5. In Medina, Yudelevitz and Willis were operating the Princess Theatre, which was the only theatre in town. They interested Schine in the theatre and succeeded in selling Schine a 50% interest. At that time it was contemplated that they would build a new theatre in the town because the Princess Theatre had only 350 seats. They then learned that Fine and Essick, who were substantial circuit operators (they operated some twenty-nine theatres in the vicinity of Cleveland) were planning to build a new theatre in the reconstructed Masonic Lodge. As the town could not stand three theatres, the Yudelevitz-Schine interests abandoned their plans for the construction of a new theatre and made extensive improvements to the Princess Theatre. After the new Temple Theatre was open the various parties entered into an arrangement under which the two theatres were [fol. 5217] leased to a new corporation and in which Yudelevitz had 25%, Schine 25% and Fine and Essick 50%. Essick and Fine testified as to these negotiations and found no fault with the manner in which they were conducted by Schine. The operation of the town since the arrangement was made has been wholly satisfactory and no one in or outside of the town has made any complaint about it.

Other than as set forth above the plaintiff has not furnished another detail regarding the mechanics of the so-called "pools" in Fostoria or Medina.

If all of the facts regarding these so-called "pooling arrangements" were disclosed, it would immediately appear that they cannot be dissolved simply by the sale of the stock interest of the Schine Circuit in the operating corporations, if any. In each case there are rights, privileges and obligations appertaining to each party to the so-called pool which cannot be abrogated without the consent of the other party.

6. With respect to Syracuse, the plaintiff suggests that the existing arrangement should be terminated by the sale of Schine's interest in S. K. E. Operating Co. and the return of Schine's theatres to the defendants for separate operation. R. K. O., which is the other stockholder in S. K. E. Operating Co., was originally a defendant in this case, but was dismisseed as a defendant by the plaintiff. Irrespective of the merits of the proposal, it is impossible to achieve the result desired by the plaintiff without the presence before this Court of R. K. O., as would readily appear if the entire structure of the corporation and the nature of its holdings were before the Court, which they are not.

Furthermore, there cannot be any justification for seeking a dissolution of S. K. E. Operating Co., when it is in [fol. 5218] direct competition in Syracuse with Loew's, Inc., which, we believe, is unanimously conceded to be the most powerful single producer-distributor-exhibitor in the industry, and even more significantly, when Schine has nothing to do with the buying and booking for the S. K. E. theatres and when the corporation which does handle the buying and booking has been dismissed as a defendant in this case at the request of the plaintiff.

Norwalk, Ohio. (Population 8,211). In 1935 Schine acquired a two-thirds interest in the corporation holding the lease on The Forum Theatre (537 seats), which theatre had been opened in December, 1935. At that time the only other theatre in the town was The Moose Theatre, operated by The Elks, and managed by one Felter. The Moose was an old opera house, constructed in 1904 and located down an alley. In 1936 the corporation acquired The Moose Theatre and as the stockholders, after trying to operate the two theatres, found them to be inadequate for the town, the corporation built The Norwalk Theatre (1,111 seats), a large modern theatre which was completed and opened in 1941.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact No. 9(B). United Artists permitted 90 days clearance in Norwalk.

Finding of Fact No. 10(C). Just before Schine acquired The Forum Theatre in Norwalk Lazar advised that an independent to "get in with us; we are a big company; you know what it means if you are not in with us; and further stated, 'if you lease your theatre Mr. William Sellman (part owner of The Forum) will walk out of town.' "

The Facts: Finding of Fact 9(B). The isolated clearance provision in a United Artists contract is wholly meaningless and there is no evidence that it was ever operated.

Finding of Fct 10(C). This cannot be regarded as anything more than conversation on the part of Lazar, Schine having no theatre in the town at the time, obviously it would not influence the independent one iota. Furthermore, there is no proof of Lazar's authority to make the statement if he did make it.

[fol. 5220] Shelby, Ohio. (Population 6,653). In 1937 Schine acquired a fifty percent interest in the lease of The Castamba Theatre. At that time the only other theatre in Shelby was an old upstairs opera house. As a part of the deal the theatre was improved and the seating capacity increased from 476 seats to 749 seats.

There had been an article in The Film Daily that the Dipson Circuit was going to build a new deluxe modern theatre in the town. Shortly after interest was acquired by Schine in The Castamba Theatre, Kempar, a former employee of Dipson, whose letterheads represented himself as a circuit operator, converted a garage into a motion picture theatre, known as The State Theatre, with 454 seats. Kempar subsequently acquired the lease of the opera house; subsequently Kempar sold his interests to the Gregory interest who operate theatres in other towns.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

Ballston Spa, New York.	(Population 4,443).
Granville, New York.	(Population 3,173).
Whitehall, New York.	(Population 4,851).
Mechanicsville, New York.	(Population 7,449).

These are four small towns, in each of which there was one theatre. The towns are located generally in the district surrounded by Saratoga Springs, Glens Falls, Schenectady, Albany and Troy, all of which are large cities and in each of which, except Saratoga Springs and in each of which, except Saratoga Springs and Troy, there are distributor-exhibitor-circuit operated theatres. In Troy the first-run theatres are run by the Fabian Circuit.

[fol. 5221] These four theatres were formerly operated one hundred percent by William Benton, an exhibitor of long standing, who, in 1939, in a single transaction sold a fifty percent interest to Schine, with an agreement as to a division of the managerial and booking duties. Benton and Schine each put up a considerable sum of money for the purpose of improving the theatres.

None of these towns are mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

[fol. 5222] Fostoria, Ohio. (Population 13,453). In 1936 Schine acquired the lease of The Civic Theatre (516 seats) and the lease for The Roxy Theatre (280 seats) from the same individual. At that time the only other theatre in the town was The State Theatre operated by Arthur and Ural Buck and other local people. In 1937, at the request of the Bucks, Schine and the Bucks formed a corporation to operate the three theatres, in which corporation the Buck interests owned fifty percent and Schine owned fifty percent.

This is one of the theatres mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Finding of Fact 9(B). United Artists permitted 90 days clearance at Fostoria.

The Facts: There is no evidence as to when, or against whom, this isolated incident of clearance was granted, or that it was ever operated.

[fol. 5223] Medina, Ohio. (Population 4,359). In 1937 the only theatre in Medina was The Princess Theatre, which was owned and operated by Willis & Yudelevetz. Early in 1937 they asked Schine to take an interest in the theatre and also in the construction of a new theatre which they wished to build in the town (The Princess Theatre had only 350 seats). Schine thereupon acquired a 50% interest in The Princess Theatre and agreed to contribute its share toward the construction of a new theatre.

The original agreement between Schine and Yudelevetz was signed on March 18, 1937.

Some time in the same month, the Masonic Lodge of Medina, decided to reconstruct their building and to include in such reconstruction a theatre. They thereupon wrote to Schine asking Schine not to go ahead with the plan to build a new theatre. Schine and Yudelevetz then learned that the Fine and Essick Circuit (a substantial circuit operating about thirty theatres in the vicinity of Cleveland), were planning to lease the new theatre in the Masonic Building. This lease was finally made on January 18, 1938, and the new theatre was opened shortly thereafter.

When Schine and Yudelevetz became convinced that Fine and Essick actually intended to go forward with the theatre in the Masonic Building, they abandoned their plans to build a new theatre and remodeled The Princess at a considerable cost.

Before The Temple Theatre was opened, The Princess Theatre had all the first-run product that the theatre could use in Medina. The Princess Theatre and The Temple Theatre were operated in opposition to each other until April, 1939, when the operation was taken over by a corpo-[fol. 5224]ration, in which the Fine-Essick interests owned fifty percent; Schine owned twenty-five percent and Yudelevetz owned twenty-five percent.

This is one of the towns mentioned in the Opinion and Findings of Fact.

Alleged Abuses: Findings of Fact 10 and 13.

Finding of Fact No. 10: "In Medina Schine announced the making of an agreement to erect a new theatre immediately after independents started construction."

Finding of Fact No. 13: Schine was able to monopolize first-run product at Medina even though the physical facilities of the independent in that town were better than Schine's.

The Facts: Neither of the above statements is correct. As appears from the evidence Schine made an agreement with Yudelevetz before Schine knew of the intention of Fine and Essick to come into the town and, when satisfied that such intention was genuine, the plan to build a new theatre was abandoned. Construction of The Temple Theatre, although contemplated in March, 1937, was not commenced until months later.

With respect to the product situation, the evidence clearly showed that before Schine came into the town, and while the independents, Yudelevetz and Willis were the only operators, they had all the first-run product they could use from the first-run company. If product was taken away from any one by any one, it was taken away by Fine & Essick from Schine and Yudelevetz.

[fol. 5225] (F.M. as to Eckel Theatre only). Syracuse, New York. (Population 205,967). In 1927 Schine acquired a half interest in the lease of the Eckel Theatre, Syracuse. Subsequently Schine acquired a one hundred percent interest in the operation of this theatre. After the theatre reverted to Schine in the Fox-Metropolitan bankruptcy, it was in competition in downtown Syracuse with Loew's State Theatre, and The Keith Strand and Paramount Theatres operated by R.K.O.

Schine and R.K.O. formed a corporation, to which were leased or sub-leased, the Keith Paramount, Strand and Eckel Theatres. R.K.O. was the majority stockholder and did the buying and booking. When the Strand lease expired, the R.K.O.-Schine Company renewed the lease for a short period but had to give up the theatre, which is now operated by Loew's as a "moveover" Theatre.

Aside from the fact that it would be impossible to cancel any of the leases or sub-leases on these theatres without the consent of S.K.E. and R.K.O., neither of whom are parties to this action, the subsequent run situation in Syracuse would not be in any way changed by the reversion of the Eckel Theatre to Schine. The only effect would be that the Eckel Theatre with 1,200 seats and little or no product would be forced to compete with R.K.O. and Loew's.

This town is not mentioned in the Opinion or Findings of Fact.

G

[fol. 5226] Towns Within a Radius of Approximately 25 Miles from Each Other

In this category (which is "F" of plaintiff's "Plan"), the plaintiff has listed eight so-called areas in which the defendants operate in two towns, and one area (No. 7), in which the defendants operate in three towns.

Out of all the theatres now operated by the defendants in these nineteen towns, the plaintiff says that the defendants may keep only nine. The reason for this appears on page 3 of plaintiff's accompanying memorandum, where the plaintiff says that since the application of "A", "B", "D" and "E" would leave the defendants with fifty theatres out of the well and legally operated Circuit which they now have, it is necessary to devise an artificial scheme which the plaintiff choose to call "Area Competition" in order to deprive the defendants of still more theatres.

"Area Competition", according to the plaintiff, means that any two towns within a radius of twenty-five miles from each other, are necessarily competitive. No such proposition has ever been advanced, much less accepted, in the motion picture industry. Any practical exhibitor in the business knows that competition may exist within a radius of as much as seventy miles (viz., the first run theatres in Wilmington, Delaware, take clearance over theatres on the so-called Eastern Shore for a distance of seventy miles), whereas there may be no competition between theatres as close together as three to five miles.

Each one of the towns mentioned in this subdivision of the plaintiff's "Plan" is also mentioned under "B". Therefore, by the time this provision was put into effect, a situation [fol. 5227] would exist in these nineteen towns where Schine would be operating only one theatre, and some other exhibitor would be operating all of the other theatres now owned by Schine in each such town. Nothing further should be required to demonstrate the wholly unscientific, unbusinesslike and unfair nature of the proposal, and also to demonstrate that the only object which the plaintiff has in submitting this "Plan" is reduce the Circuit to a point beyond which even the plaintiff does not dare venture.

The detailed historical analysis with respect to each of these towns is covered under "B" of this Section IV. Here we shall simply set forth the facts regarding the areas designated by the plaintiff as competitive areas.

[fol. 5228] Area 1. Kent and Ravenna, Ohio. There are two theatres in each of these towns, but one of the theatres in Kent is closed. The three theatres which are now operating full time were owned and operated by the same interests for years before Schine acquired them. These two towns are suburbs of the City of Akron and subject to clearance in favor of the theatres in that city. Within the twenty-five mile radius set up by the plaintiff, there are the following towns: Bedford, Alliance, Warren, Segring, Cuyahoga Falls, Akron, Wadsworth, Barberton.

[fol. 5229] Area 2. Ashland and Wooster.

These towns are 22 miles apart. Ashland is 13 miles from Mansfield and subject to clearance in favor of the theatres there which are operated by Warner and by an independent.

Wooster is nearer Massillon and usually plays after the theatres there.

Within the 25 miles radius fixed by the plaintiff are the following towns: Mansfield, Gallion, Lodi, New London, Wellington, Plymouth, Shelby, Crestline, Loudonville, Orville, Wadsworth, Rittman, Massillon, Shreve, Barberton and Millersburg.

[fol. 5230] Area 3. Bucyrus and Tiffin.

These towns are 26 miles apart and therefore do not fall within the plaintiff's arbitrary theory of "Area Competition". Bucyrus is subject to clearance in favor of the Paramount theatres in Marion and Tiffin is nearer to Fremont and Findlay, and usually plays after the theatres there.

Within the 25 mile radius fixed by the plaintiff are the following towns: Mansfield, Marion, Gallion, Plymouth, Willard, Carey, Upper Sandusky, Cardington, Mt. Gilead, Bellview, Clyde, Fremont and Findlay.

[fol. 5231] Area 4. Cambridge and Easton, Maryland. Cambridge is a canning town on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, almost wholly dependent on the activity of the Phillips Canning Company (the owner of the trade-mark "Phillip's Delicious) for employment. It is almost entirely an industrial town. Easton is on the other side of the Choptank River, which is very wide at the point, and is about fifteen miles upstream. It is a non-commercial town and contains many summer homes owned by people living further north. The theatres in Cambridge were formerly owned by local businessmen of the town who sold them to Schine as a result of an advertisement they placed in The New York Times. The theatres in Easton were formerly owned by local business men of that town, who sold them to Schine because the Cambridge people told them they had gotten a good deal from the Circuit. Schine has materially increased the attendance at the theatres in each of these towns over the average attendance while they were separately operated.

[fol. 5232] Area 5. Lexington and Paris, Kentucky. Lexington and Paris were both formerly operated by the Phoenix Amusement Company (a company controlled by local stockholders), and when Schine acquired the stock of this company it naturally took over the operation of the two towns. At that time Paris had only one theatre, but Schine saw that the town needed another theatre and accordingly built a fine new theatre there. Lexington has a population of 45,000 people, whereas Paris has only 6,000 inhabitants. Within the twenty-five mile radius set up by the plaintiff, there are the following towns: Cynthiana, Millersburg, Georgetown, Sadieville, Frankfort, Versailles, Midway, Wilmore, Nicholasville, Richmond, Winchester, Lawrenceburg Mt. Sterling, Sharpsburg, Nichols, Mt. Olivet.

[fol. 5233] Area 6. Amsterdam and Gloversville: Although these two towns are within twenty-five miles of each other, they are not directly competitive. Amsterdam is on the direct railroad line from Albany to Chicago and on the Erie Canal, whereas Gloversville is eight miles from the railroad in the Foothills of the Adirondacks. Gloversville's competition comes from the Smalley Theatre in Johnstown (a circuit operated theatre), which is located within three miles of the two theatres in Gloversville and has always been in very close competition with them. Amsterdam's competition comes principally from Schenectady, where RKO and The Fabian Circuit operate. Within the twenty-five mile radius set up by the plaintiff there are the following towns: Schenectady, Saratoga, Scotia, Broadalbin, Northville, Johnstown, Fonda, Canajoharie, Fort Plain, St. Johnsville.

[fol. 5234] Area 7. Ilion, Herkimer and Little Falls. Prior to their acquisition by Schine in 1925, Herkimer and Little Falls had always been operated by the same interests, i.e., local businessmen. From 1929 to 1933 these two towns and Ilion were operated by Fox-Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc. When Fox-Metropolitan went bankrupt operation of Herkimer and Little Falls reverted to Schine and the operation of Ilion reverted to the former owner, who, however, apparently tired of operating theatres and sold Ilion to Schine. All three towns are close to Utica; Ilion, ten miles; Herkimer, thirteen miles; Little Falls, twenty miles; and the Warner theatres in Utica are granted clearance over Herkimer and Ilion. Within the twenty-five mile radius set up by the plaintiff there are the following towns: Fort Plain, Canajoharie, St. Johnsville, Utica, Dolgeville, Frankfort, Poland, Richfield Springs, Waterville, Oriskany.

[fol. 5235] Area 8. Auburn and Seneca Falls. Auburn already has competition within the town itself. Seneca Falls is in active competition with Waterloo which is operated by another circuit. Within the 25 mile radius fixed by the plaintiff are the towns of Syracuse, Baldwinsville, Camillus, Marcellus, Weedsport, Clyde, Lyons, Waterloo, Geneva, Moravia, Phelps, Wolcott and Penn Yan.

[fol. 5236] Area 9. Geneva and Canadaigua. These two towns have always been operated by the same interests. Prior to their acquisition by Schine they were operated by a corporation known as Associated Theatres. These theatres were acquired in 1924 when Schine was only operating in seven towns. At that time Canandaigua had only one theatre, but Schine built another theatre there in 1939 because of the contemplated construction of a large Veterans Hospital there. From 1929 to 1933 Fox-Metropolitan operated Canandaigua and Schine operated Geneva. Geneva had been included in the deal under which Fox-Metropolitan acquired Canandaigua, but Fox rejected the title to one of the Geneva theatres. Metro gives Rochester clearance over Canandaigua. Within the twenty-five mile radius fixed by the plaintiff are Waterloo, Seneca Falls, Clyde, Lyons, Palmyra, Phelps, Newark, Clifton Springs, Penn Yan, Naples.

Detailed Historical Analysis is covered under IV C (pp. 35 to 77, supra).

V

The Terms of Sale, the Proposed Appointment of a Trustee and the Proposed Powers and Compensation of the Trustee Are Unprecedented, Improper, Illegal and in Violation of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

It is believed that the plaintiff cannot cite a single instance in the history of the Sherman Act where any such wholesale destruction of a sound businesss has been ordered or permitted by the Court, irrespective of the extent or magnitude of a violation of the Act by the defendants in such case. In this case, the worst that could possibly be charged against the defendants under any construction of the evidence is, that in building up and conducting their business in the same manner as that pursued by countless others, without interference by the Government, since the industry was first started, they may have done something which may now be considered to be in violation of the Sherman Act, the recurrence of which in the future should be prevented by the Court. No proof whatsoever either of intent or motive has been offered. This is the limit for which the plaintiff can contend in this case and is not, of course, conceded by us to represent the proper or even remotely justifiable result to be arrived at from the evidence presented.

Nevertheless the plaintiff asks the Court to turn over to a so-called trustee having unspecified qualifications, a business which the defendants have painstakingly built up over a period of thirty years, starting with an original investment of only $1,500, giving to such trustee carte blanche with respect to the disposal of properties owned by the defendants with no restriction whatsoever on the terms [fol. 5238] of sale, method of sale, expenses to be incurred, or the trustee's compensation, except the approval in certain instances by the Court.

With respect to the approval of the Court the "Plan" provides that this is limited in the case of terms of sale to a disapproval by the Court of a sale which might not effectuate the purpose of the "Plan," or which might result in an unreasonable restraint of competition. There is no provision for disapproval by the Court in the event that it finds the purchase price inadequate, or the terms of sale otherwise unfair to the defendants. The whole provision is confiscatory to the nth degree. Furthermore, the Court is directed to determine the trustee's compensation based upon the number and rapidity of sales made by him. Thus, the faster he sells the property, the larger will be his compensation irrespective of the loss suffered by the owners. Every inducement is given the trustee to sell to the first rather than the highest bidder.

The visitorial power- granted to the trustee are such as to render the defendants' business, even as to such theatres as they may be permitted to retain, wholly worthless.

There is no provision for payment of any moneys to the defendants, but any such provision would probably be meaningless because under the "Plan" proposed there would be no money left for the defendants.

[fol. 5239]

VI

Booking Agencies

The plaintiff asks the Court to enjoin the defendants from buying or booking motion pictures for any theatres other than those in which they hold a financial interest.

In the Opinion and in the Findings, it is stated that at the time this suit was brought the Schine Circuit was buying and booking for twenty-seven theatres. It is not stated whether it is contended that the theatres for which Schine was booking, or any of them were or were not theatres in which Schine had a financial interest. This information was apparently obtained from the answers to Ints. 17(B) and 17(C). An examination of these answers shows that all of these booking arrangements which are still in force, cover theatres in which Schine has a financial interest, with the exception of the Rustic Theatre, at Sacandaigua Park, New York, which is a summer theatre near Gloversville, and where Schine gets $250 a season for taking care of the film service.

Furthermore, with respect to booking arrangements in force at the time the suit was instituted, but which have since expired, Schine had a financial interest in all of these theatres with the exception of Big Stone Gap, Virginia. (Incidentally the owner of the theatre defaulted in his performance of the contract.)

[fol. 5240]

VII

Restrictions on Schine Expansion

The plaintiff seeks inclusion in the final judgment of a provision that no defendant shall acquire a financial interest in any additional theatres, except after an affirmative showing that such acquisition will not unreasonably restrain competition.

We concede that there is such a provision in the Crescent decree. However, in contrast to the provision in the Crescent decree is the entirely different provision contained in the Consent Decree in the United States v. Paramount, which provided:

> "XI. * * *
> "(5) For a period of three years following the entry of this decree, no consenting defendant shall enter upon a general program of expanding its theatre holdings. Nothing herein shall prevent any such defendant from acquiring theatres or interests therein to protect its investment or its competitive position or for ordinary purposes of its business. Proceedings based on a violation of this subdivision (5) shall be only by application to the Court for injunctive relief against the consenting defendant complained against, which shall be limited to restraining the acquisition, or ordering the divestiture, of the theatres or interests therein, if any, about to be acquired, or acquired, in violation of this Section."

While this provision of the Consent Decree was still in full force and effect, some of the consenting defendants acquired numerous theatres and successfully resisted an attempt by the plaintiff, in the Court where the action was pending, to force them to divest themselves of these new acquisitions.

[fol. 5241]

VIII

Summary of the Effect of Plaintiff's "Plan"

In order to evaluate what the plaintiff is really seeking to accomplish by means of its "flexible", "only partial dissolution of the circuit" it is only necessary to summarize what would be left of the Schine Circuit if the Court were to accept the plaintiff's "Plan" (a possibility which we find it difficult to contemplate) and if the "Plan" could be put into practical operation (which we do not believe to be legally possible).

As evolved by the plaintiff this is what would be left of the Circuit.

1. Under page 2 of the plaintiff's memorandum
   - (a) 2 suburban theatres in Buffalo
   - (b) 2 theatres in Glen's Falls
   - (c) 1 theatre in Norwich
   - (d) 2 theatres in Salisbury

2. Under "A" of plaintiff's "Plan"
   No theatres

3. Under "B" & "F" of plaintiff's "Plan"
   24 theatres in 24 towns.

"B" purports to leave the defendants 34 theatres but "F" takes away 10 of these.

4. Under "C"
   No theatres

[fol. 5242] 5. Under "D"
   8 suburban theatres in Rochester.

6. Under "E"
   The Eckel Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y.—a 1200 seat downtown theatre which would be in competition with R.K.O. and Loew's.

Thus, all that would be left of a business that has taken 30 years to build, by laborious, industrious, efficient and (as we contend) wholly legal methods would be 38 theatres of which 10 would be suburban theatres and 1 (the Eckel) would be more of a liability than an asset.

The foregoing demonstrates more forcibly than any argument that we can make that what the plaintiff seeks to achieve in this litigation is not the restoration of competition in localities where it is claimed to have existed previously—but a monument to a new philosophy and interpretation of the Sherman Act—not warranted by any precedent or by the existence of any conditions disclosed by the evidence in this case. To accomplish this the plaintiff is quite willing to destroy at one blow the fruits of the labors of innocent parties accumulated over a period of 30 years.

IX

The Results Which the Court Indicates Should Be Obtained in This Litigation Can Be Attained Without Requiring the Sale by the Defendants of a Single Theatre.

A discussion of this point is, of course, without prejudice to our basic position that no violation of the Sherman Act has been proved in this case, and that no judgment against the defendants, or any of them, is warranted. Anything that we may say under this heading regarding the possibility of curing alleged abuses, or the possible fixing of certain conditions under which the defendants would continue to do business, is subject and subordinate to that basic position and subject to the arrival at a complete solution of the entire problem which will not involve any conditions other than those hereinafter discussed and which specifically would not involve the sale or other disposition of any theatres.

Keeping the foregoing always in mind, we suggest the following possible remedies for the alleged abuses referred to by the Court in its Opinion, Findings and Judgment.

[fol. 5244]

Alleged Excessive Circuit Buying Power

This alleged abuse is the one upon which the Court seems to have placed the greatest emphasis. The Court attributes this buying power to the fact that the Schine Circuit is claimed to have combined "open" and "closed" towns in its dealings with the distributors. The Opinion also states that Schine was accustomed to buying product for theatres not owned or occupied by it. This, the Court says, brought about and increased the ability of Schine to dictate terms to the distributors. The Court also stated that in one single season (1939-1940) Schine paid film rental of $1,647,000 to six film companies.

Of course, the above alleged abuses, and all other abuses mentioned in the Opinion and Findings occurred prior to May 19, 1942. No violation of the Act since that date has been claimed or could be proved. Any abuse which may have resulted from combining "open" and "closed" towns, in making deals with distributors, was eliminated by the provisions of the Consent Order of May 19, 1942, under which the Schine Circuit agreed to buy separately for its "open" towns and its "closed" towns. We repeat here the excerpts quoted on pp. 21 and 22 of our brief, dated February 25, 1946.

> "In presenting the consent order to the Court on May 19, 1942, counsel for the plaintiff said among other things:
> (Minutes of May 19, 1942, page 6)
> 'Mr. Wright: I think it goes further than the consent decree in the other case. One of the allegations [fol. 5245] in the complaint here, if your Honor recalls, is that the——
> The Court: The combination.
> Mr. Wright: Yes. In substance this prevents the Schine Circuit from combining its closed towns with these competitive situations in making film licenses.'
> It thus appears that if there had been any combined buying for open and closed towns in Schine's deals with the distributors prior to May 1942, as indicated in the Court's opinion, this practice definitely stopped with the entry of the consent order.
> At the opening of the trial on May 19, 1944, Mr. Wright stated among other things as follows:
> (Reference T. 40-41)
> 'Mr. Wright: Of course it is perfectly true that in so far as these franchise agreements are concerned, for example, you will recall that the temporary order that was entered in May, 1942, avoided those franchises, discontinued those contracts, so that in accordance with what is stated here there is no continuing conspiracy in so far as licensing contracts are concerned which have been terminated, and, we assume, of course, that during the period of our temporary order the order was obeyed. That is, that order prohibited, as you recall, the defendants from combining competitive situations and licensing film in dealing with any distributors. So that I should say it is clear from this statement and the entry of the order that the conspiracies that we rely upon between each of the distributors and Schine continued up to the date of the entry of that order on May 19, 1942.

Mr. McKay: I am not sure whether I understood you, Mr. Wright. You mean they stopped with the entry of the order on May 19, 1942?

[fol. 5246] Mr. Wright: I presume so. The purpose of the order was, of course, to preserve the status quo pending the continuance of this suit, and I assume that the order was obeyed. As it was the continuance of the conspiracies was not permitted by the order, of course, and I assume it didn't occur. But the evidence which we will offer will not go beyond that date. As we understand it, the situation was effectively, let us say, frozen or suspended as of the entry of that order, and our evidence will, in any event, be confined to the prior period. And that is what I assume he is principally interested in knowing.' "

With respect to the authority of Schine to buy and book for theatres not owned or operated by it, we have already pointed out that all of Schine's existing booking contracts at the present time are made with theatres in which it has a financial interest, with the exception of the summer theatre at Sacandaigua Park, New York, and that the same observation applies to all contracts in force at the time of the commencement of this litigation. (There was a contract with the Big Stone Theatre, Big Stone Gap, Virginia, running from May, 1940 to February, 1941. Schine had no financial interest in this theatre except an option to purchase a one-half interest. It received a total compensation of $208.36 for its services under the contract and the theatre owner defaulted in performance thereof.) It is, therefore, not a correct statement to say that Schine's buying power has been increased because it buys for theatres in which it has no financial interest.

The sum of $1,647,000, represents, we concede, a substantial film rental, but we believe that investigation will [fol. 5247] show that there is at least one single theatre in New York which pays annually a film rental in excess of this amount.

Irrespective of the extent of the buying power of the Circuit, there is no evidence in the case to show that this buying power was used to purchase pictures which were not needed by the Circuit for exhibition in theatres operated by it, or to purchase pictures at prices lower than those which a competing theatre was willing to pay. Therefore, the fact that in certain instances when Schine had a contract for product, a competing exhibitor was unable to obtain the same product for the same run, cannot, standing alone, be cited as a violation of the Sherman Act.

While the segregation of buying power as between "open" and "closed" towns, as provided by the Consent Order was entirely satisfactory from May, 1942 to May, 1944, and should be a satisfactory solution now, if it is felt that further precautions are necessary, it might be possible, subject to the reservations above set forth, further to decentralize the Circuit film buying by handling the licensing of films for the defendants' theatres separately in the exchange centers respectively serving the defendants' theatres.

Neither of these suggestions would require the sale of a single theatre with the resultant destruction of a substantial enterprise which the defendants have built up over a period of thirty years by laborious, industrious and wholly ~~honest~~ business methods.

[fol. 5248]

B

Clearance

This alleged abuse seems to be the second in importance in the Opinion of the Court and in the Findings.

As we have already pointed out in our brief, dated February 25, 1946 (pp. 13-15, 19 and 26, 27 and 28), there is no evidence in this case that any of the clearances referred to in the Opinion and Findings were in fact unreasonable.

An analysis of some of the clearances, to which reference is made, would show that they meant absolutely nothing. The Statement and Finding of Fact 9(b) that Schine got clearance from Herkimer over Ilion where none existed before is wholly erroneous. The record shows (T. 3500 to 2, Exs. 874, 878) that clearance was first granted to Herkimer over Ilion during the time when Fox-Metropolitan operated both towns. This clearance was fourteen days. Later when Schine reacquired Herkimer and Young and Whitney reacquired Ilion, the clearance was reduced to ~~ten~~ days.

Irrespective of any of the foregoing, there is now in existence machinery especially designed and effectively operating to handle all disputes regarding clearance. We refer to the arbitral system set up under the Consent Decree in the Southern District of New York and supervised by the American Arbitration Association. Reference to this system is made on pp. 26 and 27 of our brief, dated February 25, 1946.

In submitting the arbitration provisions of the Consent Decree to the Court in the Paramount case, Asistant Attorney General Hayes, representing the United States, said:

> [fol. 5249] "And I may say in that connection that it has long been felt, both by exhibitors and by distributors, ~~that~~ there is no fairer way to handle and dispose of complaints concerning clearance then to have the clearance fixed by some impartial arbitrator, and that is precisely what is accomplished by Section VIII. * * * Those of us who have worked on this decree after reviewing, as I said at the very beginning, the numerous industry problems in all their ramifications with the government representatives keeping constantly before their eyes, as was their duty, the complaints of exhibitors and the complaints of public groups, are of the opinion that the decree is a desirable forward step. We believe it will work. We believe it will produce good. We recommend the decree to your Honor."

Purely for the limited purpose of demonstrating to the Court that that system is operating effectively, we print in the Appendix hereto the testimony of J. Noble Braden, Secretary of the American Arbitration Association given in U. S. v. Paramount, and we hand the Court herewith a copy of Ex. 390, prepared by the American Arbitration Association, and submitted to the Court in that case.

As a practical matter, since the institution of this system, the Schine Circuit has voluntarily participated in the arbitration proceedings in every case where one of its theatres was involved. A formal consent by Schine to continue this practice in the future would furnish an effective and expeditious manner of disposing of all clearance disputes in which any of the Schine theatres might be involved.

In order to anticipate any objection on the part of the plaintiff that only the so-called Big Five are bound by subject to the reservation set forth above, it would be possible to provide that any clearance fixed by the arbitrators [fol. 5250] in any proceeding involving Schine and any one or more of the Big Five would be the clearance to prevail on all contracts involving the distributor parties to such arbitration, irrespective of the distributor. If this were not satisfactory, it would be possible to provide, subject again to the above reservations, that any clearance disputes between a Schine theatre and another theatre where the distributor was not one of the Big Five should be settled by arbitration under the rules of the American Arbitration Association.

C

Franchises

The Court attributes a considerable part of the advantage which it finds that Schine had over so-called independents to the fact that Schine was in the habit of making franchises (i. e., film contracts covering a period of more than one year) with the various distributors.

Although much has been said in the Opinion and in the Findings to the effect that Schine was able to obtain "concessions not obtainable by independents" because of the existence of these franchises, there does not appear in the record a single instance where a so-called exhibitor was unable to obtain the same provisions in his contract as were to be found in the Schine contracts if he had asked for the inclusion of these provisions. Nor does there appear in the record any instance where an exhibitor—a so-called independent—was unable to make a franchise agreement with a distributor for any product that was open for his theatre, if he so desired. The record shows that in making franchise agreements no distinction is made between large circuits and independent exhibitors operating only a few theatres and more franchises have been issued to the latter than to the former, (T. 2468, Exs. 741 to 744; T. 1166, 4457, 4488, 4614, Exs. D-47, D-48, D-123 to 129; T. 1170). Any failure on the part of a so-called independent to license motion pictures under franchises, or to obtain in his film contracts provisions similar to those found in the Schine contracts, was due not to his inability or to superior circuit buying power on the part of Schine, but to his own ignorance, or indifference.

Irrespective of the foregoing, all of the franchises held by the Schine Circuit were voided by the Consent Order [fol. 5252] of May 19, 1942 and, subject to the above stated reservations, it would be possible to provide that no franchises shall be made in the future. Any such provision would, of course, have to be subject to a further provision that if licensing by franchise again became prevalent in the industry, then the Schine Circuit would be permitted again to license films under franchises to the same extent as other exhibitors.

D

Other Alleged Abuses

The Opinion and Findings and Conclusions mention other alleged abuses, but these do not appear either prevalent or important, if the remedies suggested under "A", "B" and "C" are put into operation:

1. Presumably it will be conceded that business stimulants, such as Bank Nights, Bingo, Two-for-One, China Give Aways, etc., were wholly the result of the depression starting in the early 1930s, and have now almost entirely disappeared. Certainly they do not exist to such extent as to constitute them unfair competitive practices.

2. Changes in admission prices are almost entirely seasonal, or the result of unusual conditions in a particular locality. It is natural for a distributor, who has had a long period of experience with a particular exhibitor (whether the owner of a single theatre or a large circuit), whom he has found to be a capable theatre operator, to leave to the judgment of that exhibitor the question of admission prices. No instance has been shown in this case where any one was harmed by changes in admission prices made by Schine and, in any event, a very mild injunctive provision would be all that is required to eliminate this possibility in toto.

3. The Court has included in the Judgment a provision against so-called non-competitive agreements. A number of these agreements were physically introduced in evidence. but no attempt was made to analyze the same, or any of them, nor was any evidence introduced indicating that they had in any way operated to restrain competition. The obvious purpose of these agreements was to protect the good [fol. 5254] will which the Schine Circuit was buying in connection with its purchase of the land and buildings in which a certain motion picture enterprise was being operated. Such an agrement, properly limited as to scope, has always been upheld by the courts as entirely legal and proper. If, in any instance, the defendants have overstepped the bounds, this should be pointed out to them so that in the future the scope of the agreements will be properly limited. We are certain that Court did not intend absolutely to forbid the making of any such agreements at all.

A comparison of the above suggestions with the alleged abuses reference to which appears in the Opinion and the Findings of Fact shows that every alleged abuse complained of can be completely eliminated by the application of the suggested remedies without ordering the sale by Schine of a single theatre.

Thus, in the case of "evils" which are claimed to have resulted from buying power exercised by Schine by combining "towns" in making deals with distributors, the requirement that Schine buy separately for "closed towns" and "open towns" which operated successfully under the 1942 Consent Order will operate with equal success now. It has been pointed out repeatedly not only in this case, but in other litigation, that where a motion picture has been licensed by an exhibitor for a given run, it is necessarily impossible for the distributor to license the same picture for the same run to a different exhibitor. However, the segregation of buying as between "open" and "closed" towns would effectively deprive Schine of any unfair competitive advantage which it might be claimed to have had in the past. The suggestion goes even further and entertains the possibility of separate buying for separate exchange centers.

[fol. 5255] In this connection, the remarks of Assistant Attorney General Robert Sher in connection with the presentation to the Court of the Consent Decree in U. S. v. Paramount, et al. are pertinent. Mr. Sher said:

> "One of the objectives of the anti-trust law, as I see it, is to bring about competition. Now competition in the motion picture industry, the ideal competitive system, would be to have every picture individually sold to the highest bidder. That would bring about an increase in cost that would probably be prohibitive at this time. We approached that when we got to cutting down the size of the block. We did not quite get there, but we approached it, and it seems to me what most of the objections that have been presented here today involve is the objection to competition, and not an objection to the decree."

With respect to clearance, it appears that numerically more instances of claimed unfair clearance are mentioned in the opinion and findings than any other single alleged abuse. It is submitted that the system of arbitration established under Section VIII of the Paramount Decree furnishes a convenient, expeditious and impartial forum for the correction of any and all abuses in relation to clearance.

The plaintiff may now argue, reversing the position previously taken by it with respect to clearance, as indicated by the quotation from Mr. Hayes at page 117 supra, that clearance per se, is illegal. In fact, in the course of the argument in U. S. v. Paramount, et al. before the Three Judge Court, Mr. Wright stated point blank in answer to direct questions asked by Judge Hand, that although at one time he had not thought that there should not be any [fol. 5256] clearance provisions at all by anybody, he now does so think and desires to scrap the Consent Decree completely insofar as it purports to arbitrate the clearance. If the plaintiff should be successful in establishing this proposition, there would be no need to consider clearance remedies at all as far as Schine is concerned, because clearance would not exist.

The subject of franchises might properly be considered a sub-head under buying power, but this is somewhat academic at this time, as Schine has no franchises and has not had any since 1942, and would be willing not to have any unless the buying practices of the industry in general necessitate buying by means of franchise.

THE PLAINTIFF'S SO-CALLED PLAN SHOULD BE REJECTED IN TOTO.

Respectfully submitted; Edward F. McClennnen, Willard S. McKay, Samuel S. Isseks, Howard M. Antevil, Attorneys for the Defendants severally.

[fol. 5257] IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

[Title omitted]

PLAINTIFF'S REPLY TO DEFENDANTS' OBJECTIONS TO PLAN OF REORGANIZATION FILED ON FEBRUARY 25, 1946

While the procedure outlined by the court does not require the filing of any formal reply to defendants' objections to our proposed plan of reorganization, we think it would be helpful to have on file before the argument a full statement of the plaintiff's position. We are, therefore, filing in this form a statement of the reasons which make the defendants' objections untenable.

At the outset it should be noted that the objections filed by the defendants are mainly a reiteration of the argument on the merits already presented to the court by the defendants' main brief, reply brief, and brief in support of their motion to amend the findings and judgment. The defendants' fundamental position with respect to section III of the judgment is that the court may not enforce the judgment of dissolution, realignment, or reorganization that it has already entered. The defendants do not propose another form of reorganization than that suggested by the plaintiff, nor have they suggested any alternative scheme of dissolution or realignment to accomplish the objective stated by the court of restoring and maintaining fair competition between them and others. They simply insist that the court declare the most important section of its judgment a nullity.

In this respect the defendants' position is similar to that adopted by them in their July, 1943, report with respect to the limited divestiture ordered by the consent judgment of May, 1942. The defendants then assumed that they were free to repudiate all or any part of that order whenever they [fol. 5258] found it expedient to do so. They now apparently regard the lapse of time during which they have illegally enjoyed ownership of those theatres and the substantial profits resulting therefrom as having relieved them from any necessity of disposing of the properties remaining unsold under that order. We do not believe that the lapse of time makes a judgment any less binding, no matter how profitable such lapse may be to the defendants, and we see no reason to take any different view toward the present litigated judgment than we did toward the former consent judgment. In both cases the court is confronted with a defiance of its orders which falls dangerously close to the line dividing argument from contempt.

In our view the court would be fully justified, in the light of the objections filed, in simply entering an order embodying the plan of reorganization proposed by plaintiff without any further hearing. The court is under no obligation to devise a plan of its own. Traditionally, when confronted with situations of this kind in enforcing the Sherman Act, the courts have necessarily placed the burden on the parties of submitting such detailed plans as they believe will accomplish general objectives outlined by these courts. Where prior Sherman Act judgments have ordered dissolution we know of no other instance in which a defendant declined to submit any plan whatsoever when directed to do so by the court. By this course of conduct we submit that the defendants have deprived themselves of standing to object to any plan upon the ground that it will not carry out the objectives stated in the judgment. Since that is actually the only purpose of further hearings, the question as to whether or not the judgment should have been entered having already been disposed of, the April 16 hearing would appear to be superfluous under the present state of the record.

However, if the court chooses to consider the defendants' objections notwithstanding that they are in reality directed to the purposes of the court's judgment rather than the means by which it is to be carried out, we are submitting the following comments regarding the plan for the court's consideration.[1]

[1] Comments concerning individual situations referred to in the objections have been confined to an appendix attached hereto.

[fol. 5259]

I

In Making Effective a Plan of Dissolution, Realignment, or Reorganization for the Purpose of Restoring and Maintaining Competition the Court Must View the Competitive Situation as a Whole and Frame Its Judgment Primarily With Respect to Future Operations

The defendants have apparently suggested that unless a particular property has been expressly found to have been illegally acquired it may not be divested, no matter how flagrant is the monopoly power enjoyed by the defendants through possession of an aggregation of similar properties nor how widespread and repeated their abuses of that monopoly power have been.[2] Underlying the defendants' position is a false assumption that the judgment calls for the restoration of competition between particular theatres whereas it actually requires restoration of competition between the defendants' business, viewed as a whole, and other businesses. The defendants cite no authorities of any description in support of this suggestion and a reference to a few cases in which it has been expressly rejected in dissolving combinations found to have violated the Sherman Act will suffice to show that it is completely erroneous.[3]

> In fashioning the remedy decreed by Section 11 (b) (1) Congress was following a pattern set many years ago by decisions applying the Sherman Antitrust Act, Northern Securities Company v. United States, 193 U. S. 197; Standard Oil Co. v. United States, 221 U. S. 1; Continental Insurance Co. v. United States, 259 U.S. 156, and the Commodities Clause of the Hepburn Act, United States v. Lehigh Valley Railroad, 220 U. S. 257; U. S. v. D. L. & W. Railroad, 238 U. S. 516.

[3] On April 1, 1946, the Supreme Court, in sustaining the constitutionality of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, as applied to the North American Company by dissolution order unsupported by any finding that it had illegally acquired the properties divested, pointed out that:

[2] We say this is apparently suggested by their objections inasmuch as even in the situations where there are findings of specific illegal conduct attending a specific acquisition the defendants still insist that divestiture would be improper.

In United States v. Crescent Amusement Co., 323 U. S. 173, there was no express finding by the court that the acquisition of any of the stock interests there ordered divested were in themselves illegal. Each of the corporate defendants there involved was ordered to divest itself of all stock interests held in affiliated corporations, whether defendants or non-defendants, except one which had been dismissed as a defendant at the close of the plaintiff's case. Each individual defendant was compelled to sever all connection with [fol. 5260] all such corporations except one to be chosen by him.

In the Crescent case the court specifically found that the acquisition of some of the stock interests ordered divested resulted in an elimination of pre-existing theatre operating competition, as is always the case in using a stock acquisition to purchase a competitor's theatre or an interest in it. However, as to other affiliations, notably Crescent with Rockwood, there was no such finding and the court's conclusion that the defendant corporations should be separated from each other and from their affiliated non-defendant corporations as well, necessarily rested upon the combined use of all of these corporation to secure illegal film licensing advantages over competitors.

If the same standard for dissolution were applied here, each corporate and individual defendant here involved would be left in possession of only a few theatres and the result would be far more drastic than the plan proposed by plaintiff in this case. We have suggested here less rigid standards than the complete separation of the defendant corporations and their affiliates adopted in the Crescent case because we believe the flexible standards set up by our plan promise more in the way of effective future competition than application of the Crescent formula would yield.

In Standard Oil Co. v. United States, 221 U. S. 1, the test which has guided dissolution decrees ever since was laid down at page 78 as follows:

> As penalties which are not authorized by law may not be inflicted by judicial authority, it follows that to meet the situation with which we are confronted the application of remedies two-fold in character becomes essential: 1st, To forbid the doing in the future of acts like those which we have found to have been done in the past which would be violative of the statute. 2d,

> The exertion of such measure of relief as will effectually dissolve the combination found to exist in violation of the statute, and thus neutralize the extension and continually operating force which the possession of the power unlawfully obtained has brought and will continue to bring about.

The decree in that case dismembered the Standard Oil trust by complete divestiture of the subsidiaries of the New Jersey corporation without reference to the manner in which the particular stock interests involved had been acquired. The defendants' brief, filed March 7, 1910, in the Supreme Court, protested in vain that the decree there involved took away from this company "all supervision over these different refining companies, even over those which they themselves, working jointly, have absolutely created with their [fol. 5261] own joint means, and compels these refineries to stand alone, to be independent, to compete with one another." (pp. 123-124)

A dissolution decrees much broader in scope but somewhat similar in conception to the one involved here was considered in United States v. International Harvester Co., 274 U. S. 693 (1927). There a combination in restraint of trade in harvesting machinery, which had been originally formed in 1902 by combining five independent manufacturing competitors, was ordered dissolved in 1914 by separating the combination into three substantially equal parts. This decree was modified by consent decree in 1918, which provided that International should sell three harvesting machine lines made and sold under the trade names "Osborne," "Milwaukee," and "Champion," respectively, and further provided that the defendant company was prohibited from "having more than one representative or agent in any city or town for the sale of harvesting machines and other agricultural implements."

The decree also provided that if at the end of a specified period of time competitive conditions should not have been restored, the United States might move for further relief designed to accomplish this objective. In 1923 the Government filed a supplemental petition alleging that competitive conditions had not been restored and praying for further dissolution relief. The trial court found against the Government and declined to disturb the 1918 decree.

Upon the Government's appeal it argued that restoring competition meant restoring competition as it had existed in 1902, just before the combination was formed. The court rejected this argument and in affirming the District Court pointed out that substantial competition had arisen since 1918 in the towns where International harvesting machines were sold by virtue of the loss of five thousand dealers under the provision limiting International to one dealer per town. It had formerly marketed its machines under several brand-names, each one of which was handled by a different dealer on an exclusive basis.

The Supreme Court pointed out that the 1918 decree had therefore resulted in many of the dealers formerly engaged in marketing International machines being taken over by competitors and that active competition in the sale of harvesting equipment had been thereby restored. There was [fol. 5262] no finding that any of the lost dealers had been unlawfully acquired. In fact, the trial court which originally ordered the dissolution expressly found that the general conduct of International toward its competitors since the formation of the combination in 1902 had been fair. The sole basis for the entry of the dissolution decree was the merging of five competing manufacturing units with a monopolistic intent, but these could obviously never be restored to their 1902 status.

The notion that a judgment of dissolution "to restore competition" must be read as restoring conditions which existed prior to the formation of the illegal combination was thus expressly rejected by the Supreme Court when advanced by the Government. So far as we know, no defendants other than those involved in the instant case have suggested such a proposition to any court. In any event, a careful study of the dissolution decrees which have been litigated discloses none in which any court has ruled that property ordered disposed of to dissipate a monopoly or unlawful restraint of trade must be limited to the property found to have been illegally acquired.

In United States v. American Tobacco Co., the original decree entered by the trial court (1 D & J 157) contained no plan of dissolution. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that dissolution was required, 221 U. S. 106. The final decree (1 D & J 165) required the organization of several new corporations and the transfer to such corporations of specific plants and equipment of certain of the defendants which would make the new corporations effective competitors, without reference to how these assets had been originally acquired.

In United States v. Eastman Kodak Co., 226 Fed. 62 (W. D. N. Y. 1915), the Government brought a suit under the Sherman Act against the Kodak Co. of New York, the Kodak Co. of New Jersey, and a number of individuals. The final decree of this court, entered on January 20, 1916, required that the business and assets of the two defendant corporations be divided in such manner and into such number of parts of separate and distinct ownership as might be necessary to establish competitive conditions and bring about a new condition in harmony with law. A plan to effectuate this judgment proposed by the Government came on for hearing and was approved, 230 Fed. 522 (W. D. N. Y., [fol. 5263] 1916). Judge Hazel refused to approve the proposed plan of the defendants because it failed to provide for complete separation of these businesses.

An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court but was dismissed by the defendants and thereafter the parties submitted an agreed plan which became the judgment of the court on February 1, 1921. This plan required the Eastman Kodak Co. of New York to offer for sale certain real and personal property acquired by the defendant from other manufacturers. Each purchaser had to be approved by the Attorney General and had to have the purpose to make and sell the lines of goods represented by the purchase. It was perfectly clear from this provision that the plan was quite properly concerned with the creation of future competition rather than the original mode of acquisition of the property. If there were any disagreements as to price, the matter was to be settled by agreement between the Attorney General and the defendant, or in case of their failure, by the court. If the properties were not sold within two years, then on the request of the Attorney General, they were to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder but not for less than an upset price.

In United States v. E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Co., 273 Fed. 869 (D. Del., 1921), the court pointed out that control of the industry in that case (explosives) was not so much numerical as it was territorial. Therefore, in its decree (1 D & J 195) it required the creation of two new corporations and the turning over to such corporations of numerous plants in various parts of the country, in a manner designed to create competition with the DuPont company in each state where its remaining plants were located. In the instant case, Schine's control is both numerical and territorial and therefore the plan proposed by the Government is designed to diminish both types of control.

In United States v. Hartford Empire, 323 U. S. 386, the court required the defendants to make available all of their present glass-making machinery patents to all comers upon reasonable royalties, although there was no proof or finding of illegal acquisition as to the great majority of these patents. It also made the same order with respect to future patents which obviously could not have been predicated upon any theory of illegal acquisition.

The court in that case applied the doctrine stated by [fol. 5264] Judge Learned Hand in United States v. Corn Products Refining Co., 234 U. S. 964, 1018 (S. D. N. Y., 1916), appeal dismissed, 249 U. S. 621 (1919), as follows:

> In all cases where the history of the combination has been such as this, the Supreme Court has declined to rest upon injunctions alone. The difficulties of proof, the delay, the cumbersome inquiry necessary to ascertain again whether the defendants shall have actually discontinued, all make against such a limitation. It may be safely assumed that evidence such as was by chance available here of the actual purposes of those in charge will never again exist. Without it, perhaps, it is doubtful whether the case could have been proved. Yet it is a reasonable assurance to take that, when an innate proclivity has so abundantly manifested itself over a period of years, it shall be disabled from further opportunity.

The court's judgment, entered November 13, 1916 (1 D & J 433), in that case required that the factories, business and assets of the Corn Products Refining Co. should be divided in such manner and into such parts of separate and distinct ownership as should be necessary "to restore competitive conditions and bring about a situation in harmony with law." A consent judgment of March 31, 1919 provided for the sale of specified properties and the divestiture of security interests in other properties with a view to future competitive operations. No attempt was made to recreate the precise competition found to have been suppressed.

Any Sherman Act injunction of necessity looks to the future rather than to the past. Putting Schine and its competitors back in the position they respectively occupied before Schine embarked upon a program which resulted in the widespread competitive injuries revealed by the evidence, if it were possible at all, would clearly involve a far more drastic scheme of dissolution than that here proposed. It would also involve an impossible estimate of the profits illegally derived by Schine from these activities and an impossible distribution of such profits among the injured competitors and members of the public who have been paying tribute to Schine in the form of monopoly admission prices in the majority of its towns for many years. The suggestion that the existence or non-existence of particular competition in the past should be the test as to whether an opportunity to compete in the future should now be created and maintained is unsupported by precedent and wholly impractical as well.

[fol. 5265] The Plan Contemplates No Destruction or Confiscation of Property Values

The defendants' suggestion that the properties ordered divested would be sold at prices unfair to them simply assumes that the court would not administer the plan fairly, since the plan expressly provides for court approval of all sale prices. In providing the defendants with a reasonable opportunity to file objections the plan does not limit the scope or character of their objections and they may clearly object to such prices or any other terms as they choose. The action of this court in permitting the defendants to offer the properties ordered sold under the 1942 judgment at prices which were substantially greater than the maximum they had agreed to when the order was entered clearly demonstrates a willingness to protect the defendants' sale prices. The suggestion that the court will not adequately protect the defendants' rights in this respect in the future is thus wholly unwarranted.

If there is to be any criticism of the plan with reference to alleged confiscatory effects, it must be directed to the plan's failure to disturb the defendants' existing capitalization of property confiscated from competitors and the public in the past by the illegal practices described in the court's opinion. It is, of course, impossible to estimate the precise amount of money extracted from the public in the Schine towns in the form of excessive admission prices directly attributable to the defendants' suppression of competition in those situations, but it is clear enough by this time that it amounts to many thousands of dollars. Similarly, their record shown a systematic destruction of competitors' profits by illegal means in amounts impossible to compute.

The net result of these violations, insofar as they are effected by this plan, is simply that Schine is now compelled to convert the capitalized value of this past confiscation of other people's property into cash when the market is more favorable to Schine than at any time since the violations occurred. The defendants' claim of confiscation in this case is reminiscent of the defendants' argument in the Crescent case before the Supreme Court that the taxes payable upon the large profits to be realized in disposing of [fol. 5266] the stock interests ordered divested by the District Court would amount to confiscation. The Chief Justice commented that that was the kind of confiscation to which most of us would like to be subjected and his remark is equally applicable here.

The suggestion also appears in the defendants' objections that execution of the plan would so injure the rights of absent parties that it could not be made effective in any event. Among these absent parties are said to be the numerous subsidiary corporations wholly owned and controlled by the defendants, through which their various theatre operations are carried on. The suggestion that the court may not, through the defendants, exercise the same control over these corporations that the defendants themselves do, simply because its opinion recognized them as the separate legal entities which they undoubtedly are, needs no comment. The claim that divestiture could not be ordered in the absence of other stockholders and corporations which the defendants do not control was expressly rejected in the Crescent case. In any event, such objections as such stockholders might have to any particular sale must be made by them rather than by the defendants, who have standing in this suit to represent themselves and their controlled subsidiaries only.

III

The Powers Granted To The Trustee Are Clearly Proper And Necessary To Effectuate The Plan

From the defendants' objections one would suppose that the appointment of a trustee to sell property was a novel proceeding in a Sherman Act case. The Court, of course, knows that this is a well-established practice, but it may wish to refer to the following cases as instances in which other federal courts have explicitly recognized or used the power to appoint receivers or trustees to carry out a program of divestiture under the antitrust laws: United States v. American Tobacco Co., 221 U. S. 106, 188; United States v. Great Lakes Towing Co., 217 Fed. 656, 661 (N. D. Ohio), appeal dismissed, 245 U. S. 675; United States v. International Harvester Co., 214 Fed. 987, 1001 (D. Minn.); United States v. Lake Shore Ry., 203 Fed. 295, 281 Fed. 1007, 1013 (S. D. Ohio), appeal dismissed, 248 U. S. 587; United States v. New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Co., S. D. N. Y., April 15, 1916, 1 D & J 529. Unreported decrees [fol. 5267] in railroad cases have also included the appointment of trustees to hold, vote and dispose of shares of which defendants were to be divested. United States v. Lehigh Valley R. R. (S. D. N. Y., Eq. No. 11-129, November 7, 1923); United States v. Reading Co. (E. D. Pa., No. 1095, June 6, 1921).

The much litigated Swift case, 276 U. S. 311, 279 U. S. 553, 286 U. S. 106, concluded with the appointment of a trustee to take possession and dispose of Swift's holdings in Libby, McNeill & Libby. Order Appointing Trustee, United States v. Swift & Co., Supreme Court of D. C., Eq. No. 37623, July 8, 1933.

So settled is the power that the appointment of a trustee is a frequent feature of consent decrees, many of which are unreported. United States v. Columbia Gas & Electric Corp. (D. Del., Eq. No. 1099, January 29, 1936); United States v. Fox Theatre Corp. (S. D. N. Y., Eq. No. 51122, April 15, 1931 and July 10, 1931); United States v. Rand Kardex Bureau (S. D. N. Y., Eq. No. 39-14, December 9, 1926); United States v. Joseph Leibner (S. D. N. Y., Eq. No. 37-319, July 2, 1926); United States v. Borax Consolidated (N. D. Cal., Civil No. 23690-G, August 16, 1945).

Defendants' animadversions upon the powers of the trustee proposed in plaintiff's plan are astonishing, in view of the fact that all sales are subject to approval of the court, that the trustee may not pay out one cent except on order of the court, and that he is expressly excluded from participation in the management or operation of defendants' theatres pending sale. The only novel feature of this arrangement is that, unlike the numerous decrees cited above, our proposal withholds from the trustee complete possession and jurisdiction over the extensive holdings of the guilty defendants. The Borax decree, for example turned over to the receiver possession of the mining property involved to be administered and maintained pending sale pursuant to court order; and the defendants were enjoined to "cooperate fully with the receiver in effectuating the transfer."

In the Swift case the trustee was directed to sell the Libby stock "as quickly as may be at a reasonable price; the defendant to furnish all necessary assistance in locating prospective purchasers." The trustee was given the "right and it shall be his duty to examine into and give constant attention to the relations and transactions between defendant Swift & Company and Libby, McNeill & [fol. 5268] Libby and to the manner of the exercise by the defendant Swift & Company of its rights derived from the ownership of the said shares." The trustee was to vote the shares but not "so as to interfere with the management and conduct of Libby" unless the trustee thought Swift was using its ownership interest in a manner inconsistent with the decree. Compensation was ordered in such amount as the court "may consider fair and just at the conclusion of his services," and this was subsequently amended to fix $10,000 as the annual salary. In the Fox decree the trustee was allowed "reasonable compensation, the amount thereof to be approved by the court." The Rand Kardex decree ordered the trustee to sell "at public or private sale and on terms fixed by him," defendant to pay expenses and "reasonable compensation" of the trustee. The Special Master appointed under the Leibner decree was ordered to sell the property at auction, subject to a stated upset price. Sale at a "reasonable price" or at auction was expressly provided for in United States v. International Harvester Co., 274 U. S. 693; United States v. Eastmen Kodak Co., 226 Fed. 62 (W. D. N. Y., 1915); United States v. Cement Securities Co. (D. Colo., Eq. No. 7295), and there is nothing inconsistent with such sales in the plaintiff's proposal.

It goes without saying that no trustee may perform the function of selling property without the means of determining all of the facts concerning what he is selling. That is obviously all that the limited visitorial powers provided for in the plan give him. The Bausch & Lomb case, 321 U. S. 707, previously submitted, discusses at length the extent to which the Justice Department may be granted such powers. Clearly, powers given by the courts to an agent to carry out its judgment should be no less extensive.

Conclusion

The defendants assume that they have been discharged by lapse of time from their obligation to dispose of the theatres remaining unsold under the order of May, 1942. The court will recall that jurisdiction to appoint a trustee to effectuate these sales was expressly reserved at the hearing in May, 1944, pending the outcome of further efforts by defendants themselves to dispose of these thea[illegible]s. Although at that time they sought and obtained a modification of the order permitting them to sell at prices in excess of those specified by the order, to wit, the amount [fol. 5269] of their investment, due to an asserted increase in the market value of the theatres, we are now told that they have not been sold because no one would pay what Schine had invested in them. These contradictory assertions simply give further proof of the essential unreliability of the defendants themselves to carry out any commitment involving the sale of property.

We submit that regardless of the form taken by the plan put into effect to carry out the court's judgment of October 31, 1945, as amended by the final judgment filed on April 1, 1946, and regardless of whether or not an appeal is perfected by the defendants from that judgment, a trustee should be appointed at this time to sell the theatres still unsold under the 1942 judgment, even though sales may be stayed as to other theatres pending the outcome of whatever appeal may be filed from the 1946 judgment. If the defendants are permitted to continue their successful defiance of the prior judgment, they will certainly be encouraged to use the same tactics to frustrate enforcement of the later judgment, with the result that the entire suit will become a nullity.

The defendants obviously do not regard the injunctive provisions of the existing judgment as any bar to continuing domination of the motion picture business in the areas where they operate. The only threat to that position is that posed by actual competitive theatre operation in those areas. That the nature of the competition which plaintiff's plan would make possible is extremely mild apparently has no effect on the defendants' determination to prevent any competition whatsoever. Actually, the right to retain a theatre of their choice in the towns where they own two or three theatres means that the defendants may retain a dominant position in most of those situations. There are wide differences in seating capacity which permit them to retain a far larger theatre than any sold in most cases. Also, one theatre may have been closed for years and another operated part-time or as a second run house. Thus, the divestiture proposed is even less drastic in terms of control of volume of business than it is in terms of number and character of units to be disposed of.

We respectfully suggest that if any other plan could be devised which would establish substantial theatre operating competition in the territory now dominated by the defend- [fol. 5270] ants with any less extensive transfers of theatre ownership than those proposed by plaintiff, we should welcome such a plan The burden imposed on the Justice Department by any plan of dissolution is one which it undertakes only with the greatest reluctance at any time, yet that burden must be assumed here in order to discharge its obligations under the law. We submit that the defendants' failure to offer any alternative proposal is in itself the clearest recognition that the plan proposed by the Government is the minimum which may be accepted by the court, if substantial meaning is to be given to section III of its judgment.

Respectfully submitted, Robert L. Wright, Philip Marcus, Louis B. Schwartz, Special Assistants to the Attorney General.

Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney General.
George L. Grobe, United States Attorney.

We are indebted to the defendants for calling our attention to two inadvertent errors in the plan. Dolgeville and Newark, New York, should be omitted from Section I A and Newark should be included in Section I B. Van Wert, Ohio, was also inadvertently omitted from Section I B.

The plaintiff's proof in this, as in any antitrust case, was confined to that thought sufficient to establish the violations charged and point the way to the remedy required to terminate them. Likewise, the Court's opinion and findings were even more selective in embracing only what was necessary to support the judgment. Thus, the defendants' general assumption that any facts not explored by the proof or the Court's opinion were favorable to them is untenable on its face. Their further effort to supply facts which they regard as favorable to them in situations where the record is silent, by mere assertion of counsel, also requires no reply.

We have, however, set out the following comments on towns referred to in the objections which point up the inadequacy of the defendants' record references in these individual situations, even if an elaboration of their history were thought to be relevant to the problem now before the Court.

1. Ashland, Ohio.

According to the defendants' recital, on page 36 of its objections, Schine acquired the best theatre, the Palace, in 1935; it acquired the Opera House, an old theatre, in 1936; and it acquired the use of a small converted store show in 1938. Because of Schine's buying power, it has been able to obtain a clearance of 90 days over 2nd run for a first run in the "old Opera House" as well as in the "best theatre" from Paramount, Columbia, and United Artists (Exhibits P. 224, C. 181 (35), 903). Loew for the 1940-41 season was giving both theatres a 60 day clearance in the town (Exhibit 981 (47)). Paramount, Columbia, United Artists, and Warner gave clearance over various towns to both theatres (Exhibits P. 224, C. 181 (35), 903, W. 3).

2. Athens, Ohio.

Defendants on Page 37 of their objections state that Schine bought the Athens Theatre in 1935 and in 1936 acquired the Court and the Ohio which the defendants used as "converted store shows." These "converted store [fol. 5272] shows" as well as the Athens were given clearance over all theatres in Athens County by Columbia, Fox, and United Artists (Exhibits C. 181 (46), F. 184, 958).

3. Bath, N. Y.

In their "detailed historical analysis" of this town on Page 17 of their objections, the defendants fail to mention that this one-theatre town has obtained a 30 day clearance over 1 to 5 other towns (Exs. R. 4, F. 139, W. 3, Sched. E., 981 (4), 959, C. 181 (1), P. 174).

4. Cambridge, Maryland.

Although the recital in defendants' objection on Page 44 would indicate that all 3 theatres have been operated, Schine's answers to interrogatories reveal that one of these theatres has been kept closed and has been only occasionally opened and the contracts in evidence in respect to this situation cover only the Arcade and State Theatres.

5. Carthage, N. Y.

In its recital on Page 18 of defendants' objections, the inference is given that Schine never had competition in this town and a 90 day clearance given by United Artists and 120 day clearance given by RKO is said to be meaningless. The discrimination practiced by the distributors in favor of Schine with respect to Schine's opposition in Carthage in 1934 is spelled out in Exs. 176, 178, and 179. It is noteworthy that at the time of the trial Schine no longer had any competition in Carthage.

6. Cortland, N. Y.

Groton and Marathon are respectively about 12 and 14 miles from Cortland. In 1933-34 Schine's United Artists contracts did not provide for clearance over Groton (Ex. 280). Subsequently they did (Exs. 958, 959). In May of 1939, Metro's local branch manager recommended that Schine's 30 day clearance over Groton and Marathon be reduced to 14 days (Ex. 488). But Metro, Fox, Warner, Paramount, United Artists, and Columbia continued to give both the State and Temple Theatres a 30 day clearance over these towns as well as over several other towns (Exs. 618, 981 (9), F. 143, W. 3, W. 34 (1), P. 202, 959, C. 181 (61)). This is one of the towns in which Schine's theatres have been given a clearance over towns in which there was no theatre (Tully-Exs. 226-229).

[fol. 5273] 7. Gloversville, N. Y.

Since the defendants in their recital of objections on Pages 52 and 53 have seen fit to refer to an arbitration proceeding, we may call the Court's attention to the fact that in that arbitration decision (Appeal Board Decision No. 67), a copy of which plaintiff has furnished to the Court, it was found that the distributors had unreasonably given Schine's two theatres, widely varying in revenue possibilities, the same clearance over the Johnstown Theatre.

8. Hamilton, N. Y.

The defendants on Page 22 of their objections state that this town is not mentioned in the Court's findings of fact. This is true only because of what appears to have been a typographical error in the Court's opinion where it refers to Hornell taking a clearance over Earlville, as to which there had been no previous clearance. Schine does not operate theatres in Hornell but does in Hamilton and it is in respect to Hamilton that such clearance was taken. See Exs. F. 101 (12), F. 16, and F. 152.

9. Kent, Ohio.

Defendants' objections refer to two theatres, one of which Schine closed in September, 1937. Not mentioned is the fact that the lease of this closed theatre was kept renewed at a commitment of $18,000 (Ex. 947).

10. Little Falls, N. Y.

As to Little Falls, the recital of defendants' objections, on Page 59, refers to certain clearances and states that there is no evidence that the alleged clearance was over operative. It might be observed that the absence of competition to Schine in Little Falls would indicate that the clearance was quite operative. Moreover, this recital tends to give the impression that Schine had no opposition during the period in which such clearances were in operation. The record shows, however, that in 1931 and 1932 the Hippodrome Theatre was operated by an independent exhibitor by the name of Wood, see Exs. 635 D and 672 A. Since Schine did not acquire this theatre until 1936, it is fair to assume that during the interim Schine had opposition from this theatre.

During the Fox operation, the maximum clearance taken [fol. 5274] by theatres in Little Falls over Dolgeville appears to have been 15 days (Exs. 635 G, 635 R, 672 B). During the NRA days the Code Authority decided the clearance of 30 days Schine had over Dolgeville be reduced to 14 days. But in a letter dated August 31, 1934, R. S. Smith, Warner's local branch manager, wrote to his home office superior, R. Mochrie: "Lynch insisted that we go along on a 30 day basis even though the Board approved the 14 day arrangement." (Ex. 549.) Schine got the 30 day clearance (Exs. 672 E, 958, 618, C. 181 (70), 1009, 324 C, 635 I, P. 210). It was during Schine's operation that clearance was given over Ft. Plain over which clearance had not previously been given (Exs. 635 H, 635 I, 672 C, 672 D, 339 H, P. 210, 604 D, 604 E).

11. Milford, Delaware.

It is significant to note that although Schine had no opposition in this one theatre town, it was obtaining from Warner for the 1939-40 and 1940-41 season a clearance of 90 days in Milford and from Fox for the 1939-40, 1940-41 seasons a clearance of 30 days (Exs. W.4 (98), F.127).

12. Newark, N. Y.

The defendants on Page 27 of their objections say that this town is not mentioned in the opinion or findings of fact. The Court in its opinion refers to letters between Schine and United Artists with respect to this situation although the opinion does not refer to the situation by name. In this town Schine has kept the Crescent, a closed theatre, on renewal leases, at a commitment of $35,200 (Exs. 921, 922, 83).

13. Oneonta, N. Y.

According to the defendants' recitals on Page 66 of their objections, Schine acquired the best theatre in this town and also a "smaller, poorly constructed" theatre. The record shows that both the good theatre and the "smaller, poorly constructed" theatre were given clearances by the distributors over 5 to 6 towns, a number of which were a considerable distance from Oneonta, and this despite the fact that a difference in the rental possibilities of the two theatres was recognized by certain of the distributors in different film rentals for the two theatres, see Exs. W. 34 (20), U. 207 (19). For many years Schine took a clearance of 30 days over these various towns, getting 40 days from United Artists in 1933-34, as to 4 towns, see Ex. 281.

[fols. 5275-5276] 14. Oswego, N. Y.

In defendants' objections, on Page 67, they do not refer to the fact that Schine has kept the Richardson, a closed theatre, renewed at a commitment of $58,500 (Exs. 982, 983, 984, 985).

15. Piqua, Ohio.

The defendants' objections do not refer to Schine's renewals of a lease on the Bijou, a closed theatre, at a commitment of $13,220 (Exs. I. A. 17 (a), 18, 23 P. 14, Exs. 911, 912, 913, 914).

16. Wooster, Ohio.

Defendants in their objections do not refer to the fact that Schine has kept renewed a lease on the closed theatre, the Opera House, at a commitment of $16,000 (Exs. 962, R. 3851).

[fol. 5277] IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

[Title omitted]

TRANSCRIPT OF HEARING

Proceedings before the Honorable John Knight, United States District Judge for the Western District of New York, Justice presiding, at the U. S. Court House, Buffalo, New York, Tuesday, April 16, 1946, at 10 o'clock a. m.

APPEARANCES:

Robert L. Wright Esq., Special Assistant to the Attorney General, appearing in behalf of the United States.

Willard S. McKay, Esq., appearing in behalf of the Defendants.

[fol. 5278] PROCEEDINGS

The Court: You were just speaking to me about this motion and the question of some postponement of it.

Mr. McKay: Yes, your Honor, I received on Friday what is called a plaintiff's reply to the objections filed by the defendants to the plan originally submitted by the plaintiff. As I say I got it Friday. It consisted of 25 pages. It raises points that seem to be new to me. I was obliged to send it immediately to the mimeographer first, because I had to have copies for Mr. Antevil and Mr. Schine and other people who had not been furnished it, so that I did not even have the benefit of Friday to look at it. I did write to your Honor on Friday, with a copy to Mr. Wright. I don't know when he got the letter, but I especially came in to New York to dictate it on Friday.

The Court: Why did you not call him by phone?

Mr. McKay: Well, I unfortunately did not hear from Mr. Penney after I talked to him the first time until last night I saw him when I came in here.

This new paper raises, as I say, a lot of new matter which requires study before the argument. I think they take a new theory on some of their points. They say that [fol. 5279] we have not submitted a plan. Well, we have not submitted a formal plan, but we did submit in our objections certain suggestions which were drawn from the consent order of 1942, which probably could be implemented into a formal plan if any indications were given that such a solution would be desirable.

There are 16, I believe, towns mentioned in this paper where they are citing some exhibits that are not referred to either in the opinion or the findings. I have not copies of the exhibits in the case. That does not mean that the defendants have not got them, but I haven't them. I depend on Mr. Antevil for that work. He had not received the copy I sent him as late as Saturday noon. I know he has it now, but he got it after noon on Saturday, and I think it would be profitable from every standpoint if we were allowed the same amount of time which the government had after the receipt of our objections to prepare an answer to this new paper, for which there is no justification, your Honor, even under the old judgment.

In the new judgment the provision about submission of a plan and submission of objections is stricken, and I have [fol. 5280] a motion—the filing of the motion I concede was not timely. I had about decided not to make the motion when I received this new paper, and if I am able to get the adjournment I will withdraw the motion. I simply want to protect my right to make a study of these new contentions of the plaintiff before arguing this very important matter. I consider this matter of the utmost importance to the defendants and they should not be forced on to argue today after receiving this very voluminous document. I do not want to talk about a lot of ancient history, but I want to remind your Honor that our motion for an amendment of the findings was made on November 10th, and it was submitted for argument on December 7th. I could have argued that motion on the 7th of December, but at Mr. Wright's request I consented to a two-months' adjournment. If it had not been for that adjournment, that motion would have been disposed of in December before the time within which the plan was to be submitted ran out. I gave Mr. Wright that two-months' adjournment, and unfortunately right after New Year's I was taken ill. I do not believe I have been out of the house on more than five occasions [fol. 5281] since that time. I am still under the constant care of a physician. It was with extreme difficulty that I persuaded him to let me come up here today, and I do not see how an adjournment of two weeks to give me time to study the plan and to consult with Mr. Schine about the possibility of implementing the suggestions contained in our objections can be objected to, where I say that the objectives sought by the Court can be obtained without divestiture, which I take it to be your Honor's desire if such a result can be reached, and when those objections are drawn directly from and go beyond the consent order which was satisfactory to the Government in 1942, and which apparently worked from 1942 to 1944. I frankly do not see who is going to be hurt by a two-weeks' adjournment of this hearing.

Mr. Wright: If the Court please, our plan, as your Honor may recall, was filed last February with a supporting memorandum. They were supposed to file under the plan set forth in the order objections within 30 days. Then they were given an extension until April 1 to file their objections by a stipulation which expressly provided that the extension to April 1st was made with the assurance that the [fol. 5282] hearing on the plan would still occur on April 16th, as previously set by your Honor. That was stated in that stipulation. This paper that Mr. McKay is now seeking to use as a basis for further delay is simply a statement of what we proposed to say to your Honor here at the hearing on the plan and objections. In other words, we were good enough to serve him in advance of the argument with a full statement of what our position would be here at the argument. Now, far from being an excuse for any delay the receipt of that paper by him simply put him in a more advantageous position than he would ordinarily have been had we not undertaken to advise him at all prior to today of the points and authorities on which we would rely in the course of this argument. So that there is no basis whatsoever for any continuance of this hearing because we had given him the benefit of a statement of our position prior to the hearing.

Now, in so far as he wants to reply further to anything that is in our reply, I suppose your Honor would entertain whatever memoranda or collection of authorities he might wish to submit in that connection, although it is rather late date for him to do that. They filed their objections and [fol. 5283] the appropriate time to file whatever material they had to support their objections I should have thought was on April 1st, when they filed the objections. This whole proceeding has reached the point where I think it is perfectly clear from Mr. McKay's speech today and his entire conduct that what the defendants are interested in here is delay as such regardless of the merits of the particular procedural device that they use to get it. There certainly is no merit in any of the reasons he has suggested here today for further postponement and consideration of this plan and how your Honor's final judgment shall be implemented.

The Court: This paper was only served on Friday. I have gone through it. It relates solely to what you would say on the argument. You served the notice of appeal yesterday?

Mr. McKay: Yes.

Mr. Wright: I might say in connection with the notice of appeal, your Honor, that I do not believe yet there is any appealable order entered in so far as Section 3 of the judgment is concerned. I do not think you get a final order until there is an actual approval of a plan of dissolution and [fol. 5284] re-organization or realignment. Any appeal is clearly premature as to that portion of the judgment.

The Court: What do you say to that, Mr. McKay?

Mr. McKay: The judgment as entered now does not say anything about a plan. It does not indicate the submission of a plan. All references to a plan are cut out from the judgment. All it says is that we shall be dissolved, re-organized and re-aligned so as to restore competition.

Mr. Wright: Obviously the only reason that the judgment as entered in March does not refer to a procedure for hearings on the plan is that that procedure had already been carefully outlined by a series of orders in the court. The effect of those orders is exactly the same.

The Court: You mean the proceedings with reference to the trusteeship and the possession of the property is not concerned in this appeal?

Mr. Wright: I say it is concerned. Mr. McKay's point is this, if I understand it—and if it is a point. You will recall the original judgment entered in October in accordance with your opinion provided certain periods within which both sides were to submit plans, and then periods for [fol. 5285] objections. Then he says now because of the amended judgment entered in March after your Honor had entered other orders relating to the plan when the plan was to be filed, because that does not contain the old time limitations in it, then he says there is no basis for a further plan. That is ridiculous on its face.

The Court: Not considering it from that standpoint, but considering it from the standpoint of the appeal, that is all.

Mr. Wright: I say from the standpoint of an appeal there is no appealable order as to Section 3 until there is an actual plan approved by the Court.

The Court: That may be so, but the appeal itself will bring up the question of the validity of the findings and the violation, will it not?

Mr. Wright: Yes, sir. It is purely a matter of time in the appeal line.

The Court: As rapidly as possible the matter ought to be disposed of, but assuming that the defendants were successful on appeal that would vitiate everything that is done under the plan, of course.

Mr. Wright: Yes.

The Court: Then the inquiry would be if we should not wait for the determination of that appeal pending any [fol. 5286] further motion.

Mr. Wright: My point is, your Honor, that you do not have an appealable order. You cannot constitute an appeal until there is actually a final judgment, and you do not have final judgment as far as Section 3, which provides for dissolution of the circuit, until there is an approved plan of dissolution.

The Court: That does not answer my question. I say, waiving that question for the present, they do have a right to appeal, an appealable order, on the judgment itself except as to Section 3 of the appeal.

Mr. Wright: I think that is quite possible.

The Court: An appeal and a reversal would obviate the necessity of any appeal from the plan.

Mr. Wright: If the Court please, I think in the interest of over all expedition of the matter that the case should be divided up for the purpose of disposition in the Supreme Court on a series of successive appeals. In any event, no appeal could be heard prior to the next term. I assume that your Honor will have taken final action on the plan within the next few weeks or at least in time so that their appeal from the entire judgment or such appeal as they wish to prosecute may be consolidated and heard together. [fol. 5287] Such appeal as we might want to take in connection with the plan could also be taken and the entire matter could be disposed of next Fall.

Mr. McKay: We have just been charged by Mr. Wright with seeking delay. We filed this appeal 16 days after the entry of the amended judgment. We could have waited 60 days. So that by filing this appeal at this time we have expedited the possibility of a hearing before the Supreme Court.

The Court: How will your appeal as now taken affect the matter in so far as the laying down of any plan by and by? There will be another appeal, will there not?

Mr. McKay: Yes, but that might not be for some time.

The Court: Supposing you were to make a plan or adopt a plan within three or four weeks, or something like that, then you would still have a right to appeal from that?

Mr. McKay: I think we would. But I think your Honor will agree that that judgment which your Honor signed on the 29th of March is a complete final judgment as it stands and does not require any explanation or elucidation.

The Court: Then you think on the appeal the Supreme Court would not have before it the plan at all?

[fol. 5288] Mr. McKay: They would not know what steps were going to be taken to dissolve or reorganize or re-align the circuit. But I wish to point this out to your Honor, that in either in the judgment or the conclusions—I think it was in the conclusions your Honor stated that whatever method of dissolution or re-alignment or re-organization was to be followed would be determined after discussion by such discussion as the Court might desire with counsel. Right up to now we have not had any such discussion. And I also point this out to your Honor: We had this motion pending for amendment of our findings of fact. The motion was made in good faith and it covered substantial points. We had the right to hope at least and maybe expect that it would be granted, that a substantial part of it would be granted. If it had been granted substantially, it would not materially change whatever plan might have been submitted, and I submit that the submission of any plan prior to your Honor's decision on our motion would have been premature, and your Honor decided the motion on the 11th of March, and the reason it was not decided until the 11th of March was because the plaintiff, not the defendants, asked for two months' adjournment. We would have argued [fol. 5289] that motion in December, and the only reason we had to ask for an adjournment after February 4th was that I was sick, and then after I had given them two months voluntarily he restricted me to 21 days.

Mr. Wright: If the Court please, I call your attention to the fact that Mr. McClennen announced in open court six weeks ago that the defendants proposed to file no plan whatsoever. Mr. McKay's statements today are completely irresponsible. He is now saying that they do want to file a plan. At some point there has to be some counsel that can speak with sufficient authority for the Court to rely on it. You have had completely contradictory statements from both of them.

Mr. McKay: Mr. Wright has got onto another siege of making charges againts counsel. Last time he charged Mr. McClennen with making a gross misstatement of fact, which was proven to be completely incorrect. Now he says I am irresponsible. I am the attorney of record in this case and I am responsible. What I have said about a plan is that I have submitted suggestions in line with the consent order that was entered in May, 1942, which was satisfactory to the Government at that time, which the Government ad- [fol. 5290] mitted in 1944 had not been violated. We have gone further than that, beause we have agreed to adhere to the clearance system. We have not changed our position at any time through the case, and Mr. Wright changes his every time he turns around. We do not know where we stand with him from one day to the next, and I have said that if I had had any indication that such suggestions that I had made would be satisfactory as a solution of this problem, we would endeavor to implement them. I have said so not only here, but in the brief which is signed by Mr. McClennen. We went down, your Honor, within the week after this judgment was signed, the original judgment in November, we went down, Mr. Isseks and I went down to Washington and we talked to Mr. Ernest Myers, who is an assistant attorney general, as I understand it, in the Decree Department. The purpose of our discussion with him was to see whether a plan could be arrived at. Mr. Myers called a man by the name of Meyer in, and the two of them told us point blank that if we had any idea of presenting to this Court any kind of a plan that was like the Crescent decree we might as well stop wasting our time. So that what kind of encouragement was that to work with the Government in agreement on a [fol. 5291] plan. Then we concentrated on our motion. The motion was not decided until the 11th of March, because the plaintiff got an adjournment of two weeks. Now we come along and ask for two weeks to present this case fully to the Court and we meet with an objection by the plaintiff.

The Court: In the Crescent case, what course did that take?

Mr. Wright: The present status of that is that the defendant——

The Court: I mean on the appeal in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Wright: The decree there was self-executing. The decree itself provided that the defendants should sell all their stock interest in the affiliated corporations.

The Court: How about these other cases where you have a comparable situation here as to a plan?

Mr. Wright: The traditional method has been that both sides have been invited to submit plans, and in every case both sides have submitted plans, and then the Court has made a choice between them, or modified one or the other, and then entered final judgment embodying that plan.

The Court: Is there any case where the appeal had been prosecuted prior to the adoption of the plan?

Mr. Wright: I know of no case where there has been an [fol. 5292] appeal prosecuted prior to the adoption of a plan. In almost every case the hearings on the plan occur, and then a final judgment is entered embodying the final plan approved by the Court, and an appeal taken from the judgment as finally written with the plan set forth.

The Court: I would like to have what the defendants may call their ultimate proposal, the plan of re-alignment or re-organization.

Mr. Wright: I assumed that you had it in the form of those objections, and you certainly had Mr. McClennen's statement before that they were not going to propose a plan.

The Court: I am speaking of the present.

Mr. Wright: I suppose as far as they are concerned if they can keep your Honor from entering any kind of a final plan in this case that is their desire.

The Court: The Court will have to take care of the question of delay.

Mr. Wright: I mean that it seems to me that the past history of the thing indicates that this is a pure delay device.

The Court: As counsel has pointed out, I think that is true that you asked for an adjournment of a couple of months while you were on a case in New York City. We cannot [fol. 5293] charge that against him.

Mr. Wright: If there was a good faith intention upon the part of these defendants to submit any kind of a plan which would accomplish any of the objectives that your Honor outlined in Section 3, they certainly have had ample opportunity to make that intention known to the Court or the Department in some tangible form before this, and they have submitted nothing, either to your Honor or to us, at any time.

The Court: That is very true. I am speaking as of the present. What have you got in mind, Mr. McKay, as far as this memorandum submitted by the plaintiff is concerned? I think you should be given time to answer that. Can't we proceed somewhat today with the matter before us?

Mr. McKay: Your Honor, I would like to present our case completely at one time. I note that while the memorandum consists of 25 pages and is supposed to be a reply to our paper, it does not say what is wrong with the suggestions we have made. Now I am asking for two weeks in which to study the memorandum and find out what portions of it require attention. I undertake in that two weeks to see what can be done about implementing our suggestions, so [fol. 5294] as to possibly formalize them. I cannot make any guarantee as to how far that will go, but I will say this: That if at the end of two weeks I am able to present the Court with some kind of a definite prospect of submitting a plan, I will not ask any further time.

I want to say this also to your Honor: There was a time, I will concede, early in the course of this case when occasionally we asked for time, but since this case was tried, in the proceedings since the close of the actual trial, the only delay that we have been responsible for is the 21 days that I asked for because I was sick. We filed our briefs ahead of time. Mr. Wright filed his behind time. He has been the man who has been delaying this case ever since the close of the trial, and he does not have any standing to come here and say that we are trying only to delay. The mere fact that we filed this appeal 45 days ahead of time shows whether we are trying to delay it or not, and my request for a two weeks' adjournment I submit is a very modest one.

The Court: Why can you not answer this in writing as well as to come here again?

Mr. McKay: I think, your Honor, that the presentation of it orally might be more effective. Sometimes discussion [fol. 5295] opens up avenues that you do not see in your formal exchange of briefs, and if I were asking for any substantial length of time I would feel possibly that——

The Court: Would you reply be limited to answering, or do you propose to submit any plan?

Mr. McKay: What I would undertake to try to do would be to show your Honor how these suggestions that I have made in the objections could work. Your Honor, in your opinion, pointed out that apparently the principal evil was that we had buying power which resulted from the combined buying of open and closed towns. When your Honor started to discuss things that were wrong with the circuit that was your opening gun, and I propose to show your Honor that that can be eliminated by substantially the methods that were used in 1942. The way the thing stands now I will try to show you the machinery that would be used to put that sort of thing into effect. The 1942 consent order did not try to do anything about clearance, but we have proposed that we would come in and agree that any clearance complaints against us we would consent to arbitration, just the same as is done under the decree in the [fol. 5296] Southern District. I handed your Honor with my memorandum a synopsis showing the way that clearance system has worked and showing that any exhibitor who felt aggrieved could get quick and expeditious relief. We have said in those objections that we were not making any more franchises. We cut out the franchises in 1942. We will agree that we will not make any more, with the proviso that if buying by franchise becomes the general method of buying in the industry, then we can go back to it. I do not think anybody could object to that saving clause, and I feel that with the addition of a certain amount of machinery to those suggestions we can show your Honor that everything that your Honor wanted to accomplish in this action can be accomplished along those lines.

It is a strange thing, but in the four cases affecting this industry, by that I mean the case in the Southern District and the Crescent and the Griffith cases and this case, this case is the only case where the plaintiff is really pressing to have the defendants get rid of some theatres.

The Crescent case was decided by the Supreme Court about a year ago, I think, finally, before your Honor's decision was handed down anyway, and as Mr. Wright says, [fol. 5297] the plan in that case was so simple that it could be written right into the judgment. Nevertheless, simple as that plan is, the Government consented that no action need be taken on it until next July, and that consent was signed by Wendell Berge, Mr. Wright's superior.

The Court: No action was taken on it?

Mr. McKay: No, the Crescent people did not have to put that dissolution or divestiture into effect until July 8th, I think.

The Court: There may have been certain reasons for that.

Mr. Wright: The reasons are recited in the stipulation. There were some people who were to buy these interests who were having difficulty in raising capital to buy them. We gave them additional time on that basis. Their position is wholly different from that of these defendants.

Mr. McKay: In this case, when it was started, Mr. Thurman Arnold came out in a public statement and said that it was supplementary to the Paramount case in the Southern District. He said that the main case was the Southern District case, and that this case is a supplement to it, and so is the Griffith and the Crescent case. Nothing has hap- [fol. 5298] pened to the five defendants in the Southern District who own probably nearly 4,000 theatres. They were started long before us and yet they say that we make delays.

The Court: I should think that this whole matter could be submitted on paper.

Mr. McKay: We would like an opportunity to argue, your Honor.

Mr. Wright: You have your opportunity today.

Mr. McKay: We had expected to argue it, but you surprised us. I do not think that a two weeks' adjournment is a very long one.

The Court: I think you will accomplish the same result by submitting it in writing.

Mr. McKay: I do not like to give up the prospect of oral argument without consulting with Mr. Schine and Mr. McClennen. They did not get in here until quite late last night, some time after midnight, and I only saw them for just about a minute before I left to come here. Would your Honor be disposed to grant any adjournment at all, even if only for a week? We do want to argue this.

The Court: If Mr. McClennen is here why had we not better go ahead?

Mr. McKay: Mr. McClennen and I have not had an op- [fol. 5299] portunity to talk except once since we were here back in February.

The Court: What do you say ~~to a~~ two weeks' delay, Mr. Wright?

Mr. Wright: We would object, if the Court please. There was no excuse, as I see it, for the way this attempted adjournment has been handled at all. As your Honor pointed out he could very easily have called us last week, and we might conceivably have made arrangements to postpone this. The futility of any postponement is this: It is apparent from what Mr. McKay has said here that they do not propose to present to your Honor at the end of two weeks or any other time any plan of carrying into effect this Section 3 of your Honor's judgment. They just want to argue for the third time that there should not be any dissolution here at all, that Section 3 should be declared a nullity and some other kind of negative injunction provisions should be substituted. Those questions, it seems to me, were finally decided by the opinion of March 11th, and I do not see why they should be continually given the opportunity to cover the same ground.

The Court: Why do we not go ahead today, and then you will have an opportunity also to submit a brief further? [fol. 5300] Wouldn't that meet all the exigencies of the situation?

Mr. McKay: It is not the way I would like to handle it.

The Court: You can hear what Mr. Rice has to say and then you can answer it, and submit a brief also.

Mr. McKay: Then I make this suggestion, your Honor, will you hold this until 2 o'clock and allow me an opportunity to consult with Mr. Schine and Mr. McClennen, because I want their opinion as to whether it would be preferable to submit the thing on brief or argument?

The Court: I will give you a chance to do both. You can argue today and submit anything you want.

Mr. McKay: They may prefer to submit the entire thing on brief rather than to have a half of an argument.

The Court: We could finish it this afternoon, could we not?

Mr. McKay: I think so. Supposing you make it one o'clock?

The Court: I cannot do that. I have to be away at that time.

Mr. McKay: I think if we decided to argue we can finish in a comparatively short time.

The Court: We can make it half-past one. I will hold it until that time.

(Whereupon a recess was taken until 1:30 o'clock p. m.)

[fol. 5301] After Recess, 1:30 o'clock P. M.

Appearances: Same as before noted.

Mr. McKay: Your Honor, after consulting with my colleagues, we have decided that we prefer to submit this matter on briefs, in reply to this brief. However, we have one waiver, and I think a more important suggestion, and that is that we have decided in view of what has been said this morning, that we will, if the opportunity is given to us, submit a plan of re-alignment. That, of course, will require more time than the 14 days we would need for a brief, but I think the time would be profitably spent, because we are not going to enter into the preparation of such a plan without in good faith doing our part to work out a plan that we think will be accepted, and at this point I want again to emphasize the fact that we have never arbitrarily stated that we did not intend to submit a plan. We did, as I told your Honor this morning, go to Washington in the hope that we could start discussion looking toward the submission of a plan, and we were discouraged there. Mr. Wright this morning said that Mr. McClennen—in fact he said it twice, that Mr. McClennen had declared that we [fol. 5302] would not submit any plan. Well, I looked up the transcript of the hearing before your Honor, and the interchange occurs at pages 77 to 82, and there is no statement there by Mr. McClennen that we would not submit a plan. What he was pointing out to your Honor was what our position was, and still is, that the submission and consideration of a plan should await the determination of the Supreme Court on the merits of the case. Your Honor ruled against us on that, and so we now say if your Honor will fix a reasonable time within which to give us an opportunity to submit a plan of re-alignment, we undertake to do so.

The Court: What have you to say about it, Mr. Wright?

Mr. Wright: If the Court please, in so far as submission of a plan is concerned, at any time, of course, they can always come in with a plan, even after an appeal is perfected and pending. There is nothing to prevent them by anything that is done today or at any other particular time which would foreclose them from submitting a plan that they think would be acceptable to your Honor and to us.

The Court: You want it to be presented before adoption by the Court?

By Mr. Wright: I say that there never will be a plan [fol. 5303] submitted by these people that amounts to anything until and unless there is a final judgment of dissolution which actually puts or approves a scheme for a dissolving, re-aligning and re-organizing of the circuit, and it is important I think that there be no further delay in actually implementing the judgment that has been rendered with whatever the Court views as a proper plan to implement it with. On the timing of it I see no reason at all why, if they have anything they want to submit to your Honor, it cannot be submitted within a couple of weeks, within the same length of time that it would take them to answer our reply. Whatever they want to file they are perfectly at liberty to include suggestions of any nature whatsoever, and I suppose they will do it, but in no event should that be made the excuse for deferring the entry of a final appealable order in the case. That I think should be done within the next, say, four or five weeks, so that we do not have any docketing of appeals there in the Supreme Court, so that we can have the matter heard of and disposed of on their appeal from the entire judgment and such cross-appeal that we might elect to take all at one time. There should be no further delay, it seems to me, in actually [fol. 5304] getting a final order. That is the only thing we are concerned with. So far as their submitting a plan to your Honor, they can, of course, do that at the time that they file this memorandum that they say they want to file, and anything we have to say about it, I suppose, could be communicated to your Honor in writing.

I think your Honor has already indicated that there is no occasion for any further hearings before we get to an order.

The Court: That we have and will have is sufficient. The only question I can see now is—of course, you and your associates are very familiar with the whole situation here, and with the examinations you have made of the proposed plan and the prior proposals, it would not be like going into something new, to organize your proposal, so that it can be done, I think, in a reasonable time.

Mr. McKay: It will be done as expeditiously as possible, but in examining that situation from the research Mr. Schine pointed out that a comprehensive plan will require a very considerable amount of work by accountants to determine just how the financial adjustments between the various [fol. 5305] theatres are to be made. What Mr. Wright has said to your Honor presupposes that if we do not put in a plan your Honor is going to approve the plaintiff's plan.

The Court: I do not know what he presupposes, but, of course, the Court has the final say about it.

Mr. McKay: We feel that your Honor will be in a much better position to determine what plan should be adopted if you have before you a plan submitted by us.

The Court: What time do you figure you would want?

Mr. McKay: I think we should have the same time that was provided in the original judgment, and which, I think, should have been carried over into this judgment, and that is 60 days.

The Court: No, I do not think the question of the original judgment has anything to do with the time.

Mr. McKay: The judgment allowed 60 days for the preparation of a plan, and I think——

The Court: We have had that 60 days already, and we still have the matter under consideration. The amendment would not affect it at all.

Mr. McKay: During that time we were considering other matters. We were considering then the question of these amendments to the findings of fact, which we felt had to be disposed of before we could consider what would be the [fol. 5306] next step, and we felt then and still feel that it would be preferable to have the ruling of the Supreme Court on the merits, and the indication of how far the Supreme Court felt we should go before any plan was submitted. Your Honor has ruled against us on that, so that we say——

The Court: You can protect your rights. There could not be any carrying out of the plan before the disposition by the Supreme Court. It could not be carried out.

Mr. McKay: That is true.

The Court: One suggestion that was made, as I recall, by Mr. Wright was that in the event of any delay here that the Court should carry out the provisions of the 1942 decree directing the sale of the balance of 16 theatres that had not been sold.

Mr. McKay: There is no 1942 decree or order any more. That we do not need to discuss any more.

The Court: I suppose the situation is the same now as it was then?

Mr. McKay: Yes, I believe it is. I mean as far as the ownership of the theatres. I would not want to say so definitely, but——

The Court: It seems to me that the question of the plan is a very important thing, that is true. You have known [fol. 5307] of this so long, and you know pretty definitely what you should do I should think in the making of some plan. You could present it in every detail.

Mr. McKay: This is a rather unusual type of case for a plan of this kind, and we would be very reluctant to say to your Honor that we will come in with a plan unless we felt when we did come in with a plan it would be one at least that represented our best judgment as to how these theatres could be re-aligned. It is a very important proposition. I do not think that 60 days is any great length of time. I think in the long run time will be conserved by giving us additional time.

The Court: It will be in the Supreme Court this Fall. That ought to be considered.

Mr. McKay: We have indicated our willingness to expedite the bringing of the case to the Supreme Court by filing the notice, which your Honor now has before you for an allowance.

Mr. Wright: These accounting details that counsel has referred to are nothing that would concern the Court at this time in any event. All the embodying of the plan would be to outline the character of the dissolution. It would not attempt to settle all of those details. I want to [fol. 5308] make myself clear on what I said this morning about when this order became appealable. I do not say that you have to work out all the details before there is an appealable judgment, but you have to have a judgment——

The Court: Some order on it, anyway?

Mr. Wright: Yes; which indicates the kind of dissolution which is to occur. I took the trouble this morning to examine the files in the Eastman Kodak case here in this court, and I noticed the original opinion there which was rendered in November, 1915, did spell out, as your Honor's opinion did here, simply in general terms a dissolution of the monopoly, to create competition, the defendants were then given 30 days to submit a plan which would effectuate that purpose. Otherwise the Court said it would appoint a Receiver. They came in with a plan which was not acceptable to Judge Hazel within the period, and then in January, 1916, he did enter with an opinion which we referred to in our memorandum a judgment which specified that these two companies should be separated, naming them, but that judgment, of course, then, gave the defendants a further time in which to actually submit a plan for the purpose of accomplishing the mechanics of the dissolution, and that, of [fol. 5309] course, was stayed pending an appeal. Here I would assume that the actual execution of any plan that might be decreed would, of course, be stayed pending the appeal to the Supreme Court. So that there is no occasion for your Honor at this time to concern yourself with these accounting problems which might arise in the course of executing such plan as the Court might outline.

The Court: I will give you three weeks on this. Today is the 16th. I will give you three weeks in which to submit your argument on this motion here, and also if you wish to submit any tentative plan at that time that may be done.

Mr. McKay: That does not involve any commitment on my part.

The Court: That you shall submit a plan? No. You want a week to answer that, Mr. Wright?

Mr. Wright: Yes.

Mr. McKay: When is there going to be an end to this, your Honor. We ought to come in on equal terms.

The Court: We came in today for a proposed argument. I think he should have time to reply. He might want to ask you something.

Mr. McKay: Then if we find anything new in that answer, we will be obliged to ask you for more time.

[fol. 5310] The Court: It would be the same as though you spoke here today. If you spoke he would have an opportunity to reply.

Mr. McKay: We are to submit our brief within three weeks?

The Court: Yes; and also any tentative proposal. If the Court sees merit in your proposals, I would be disposed to give further time to counsel.

Mr. McKay: That is satisfactory, because we will know by three weeks——

The Court: That will be the 7th of May, and you have until the 14th to answer, Mr. Wright.

Mr. Wright: One thing more, if the Court please: I assume this petition for appeal has simply been filed; no order was entered allowing it?

The Court: No. I did not decide whether I should or not.

Mr. Wright: I think the signing of the order should be deferred until after there is a final order entered, and the thing I wanted to point out was that I noticed their petition asked for a stay of the entire judgment, and we would, of course, oppose any stay except as to Section 3 of the judgment, the dissolution.

The Court: You want to file a notice of appeal now? Can you not wait until after the——

Mr. McKay: I am not sure whether we can safely delay [fol. 5311] the filing——

Mr. Wright: They have that 60 days.

Mr. McKay: We are not making a request for supersedeas at this time. Is not the allowance of the appeal automatic?

Mr. Wright: I think the mere filing of the petition stays the time as far as worrying about the 60-day interval. I think the filing of the petition brings them within the time.

The only other thing, I did want to mention a couple of points that were not covered in the written memorandum, and I might as well call them to your Honor's attention so that they will be in the transcript. One point which we did not stress in the typewritten reply, and which I want to make now, had to do with the defendants' assumption that there is no future competition as a possibility in the one theatre communities that are now controlled by Schine, even if those theatres were operated by somebody else. We want to point out that there is no way in which the Court can possibly undertake to determine what the competitive possibilities are in any community, except by creating conditions which make motion picture theatre operat- [fol. 5312] ing conditions possible. As far as this record is concerned, it appears in Medina, Ohio, a town of less than 5,000 people, was one which Schine apparently thought would be a profitable location for a third theatre, although there were already two operating there. And the Town of Perry, New York, you will recall was served by one sizable theatre, and was also regarded by Schine as a likely location for the erection of another theatre. Of course, the existing operators in both those towns were independent. From common experience we know that almost no town is too small to invite competition as a spot for another theatre, providing only that the existing operator is so firmly entrenched as to be able to freeze out prospective competition by the sort of film buying control that you saw in this case. Only the other day we got a letter——

Mr. McKay: I object to any statement about correspondence.

Mr. Wright (Continuing): —about a town in West Virginia, a little town with less than a thousand people in it. This fellow said somebody had just opened a theatre there and had come in against him.

Mr. McKay: This has nothing to do with the Schine Circuit. It should not go in this record.

[fol. 5313] The Court: That is simply an illustration. The Court has had several communications from people that wanted to buy theatres.

Mr. Wright: It has always been apparent in every community there are enough films for two theatre operations if the operators are willing to operate with comparative profits. You can always make a great deal more money if you have the only theatre in the town, but it is absurd to assume, as the defendants apparently do, that merely because a town has only had one theatre in the past that it is always going to have one theatre in the future, regardless of what other conditions are present.

The other thing that I wanted to emphasize is the—of course, one other reason that some of these one-theatre towns have continued to be one-theatre towns in Schine's hands were the threats which were in evidence in this record, such as you had in Salamanca and Canandaigua; when somebody threatened to come into town they were intimidated by Schine in a threat to put in an additional theatre, which preserved the one-theatre monopoly.

The other point I wanted to say a little bit more about was this question of the defendants' opposition to divesti-[fol. 5314] ture of stock interest in corporations where they are not the sole owners, that is corporations which are partly owned by non-defendants. We pointed out in our memorandum, of course, that they did not have standing to make whatever objections that these other non-defendant interested people might want to make. I wanted to point out in addition now that in the Crescent case after the mandate came down from the Supreme Court petitions were heard in a couple of cases filed by the other stockholders in these corporations that the Crescent Company divest itself of stock in praying that the divestiture not be carried out, and the District Court denied those petitions in that case.

As I say I do not want to repeat here anything that is said in the reply that we filed, and I think there is nothing more I have to add than that we are here to answer any questions that your Honor might wish to raise on your own motion, and I would like to do that if there is any.

The Court: I will do that after further consideration. I would not want to do it now.

Mr. Wright: That is entirely agreeable.

[fol. 5315] Mr. McKay: I am not going to argue this case any further now, as I told you, but I do want to state that what Mr. Wright has said about Medina and Perry is not so, and we will so demonstrate in our reply. And what he has said about Salamanca and Canandaigua is not so. Those are two-theatre towns, not one-theatre towns.

The Court: I see in running over this you call some attention there with reference to Hornell. It should be Hamilton, as you pointed out. That is the name of the place.

Mr. McKay: We called that to the plaintiff's attention some months ago.

The Court: I do not think that is of any significance whatsoever. Hamilton was mentioned.

DEFENDANTS' ASSIGNMENT OF ERRORS—December 28, 1945, April 15, 1946

Each of the defendants, Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., Schine-Lexington Corporation, Schine Enterprises Corporation, Schine Circuit, Inc., Chesapeake Theatre Corporation, J. Myer Schine, Louis W. Schine and John A. May, assigns as the errors in the record and proceedings in the above entitled case, on which the defendants intend to rely in briefs and argument in the Supreme Court of the United States, the following:

First Assignment

The Court erred in decreeing November 1, 1945 and March 29, 1946 that the defendants and their affiliated corporations be dissolved, realigned or reorganized in their ownership or control so that fair competition between them [fol. 5319] and other theatres may be restored and thereafter maintained; because this decree was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Second Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Chain Theatres, Inc. has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Third Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Theatrical Co., Inc. has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Fourth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine-Lexington Corporation has monopolized and at- [fol. 5320] tempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Fifth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Enterprises Corporation has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Sixth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Circuit, Inc. has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Seventh Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Chesapeake Theatre Corporation has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Eighth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that J. Myer Schine has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Ninth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Louis W. Schine has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were [fol. 5322] not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Tenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that John A. May has monopolized and attempted to monopolize the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and the business of operating motion picture theatres in various towns in violation of the aforesaid statute; because this judgment and these conclusions were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Eleventh Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

[fol. 5323] Twelfth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Schine Theatrical Co., Inc. has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Thirteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Schine-Lexington Corporation has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Fourteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Schine Enterprises Corporation has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Fifteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Schine Circuit, Inc. has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Sixteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Chesapeake Theatre Corporation has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Seventeenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant J. Myer Schine has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Eighteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant Louis W. Schine has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Nineteenth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that the defendant John A. May has maintained a combination with the other defendants and contracted, conspired and combined with them to monopolize, and for the purpose of monopolizing the licensing of the exhibition of motion picture films in various cities and towns in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, and with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by each of the film corporations described in various towns and cities in violation of the aforesaid statute; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twentieth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Columbia Pictures Corporation and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-first Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-second Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Loew's Incorporated and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were [fol. 5328] not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-third Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Paramount Pictures, Inc. or Paramount Film Distributing Corporation and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that R. K. O. Radio Pictures, Inc. and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that United Artists Corporation and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the [fol. 5329] effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Universal Pictures Company, Inc. or Universal Film Exchanges, Inc. and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Twenty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. or Vitagraph, Inc. and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

[fol. 5330]

Twenty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Chain Theatres, Inc. had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Twenty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirtieth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine-Lexington Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-first Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Enterprises Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not [fol. 5331] warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-second Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Circuit, Inc. had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-third Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Chesapeake Theatre Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that J. Myer Schine had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Louis W. Schine had, as a means of monopolizing con- [fol. 5332] trary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that John A. May had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Thirty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from monopolizing the supply of major first run films in any situation where there is a competing theatre suitable for first run exhibition thereof, and from monopolizing the supply of second run films in any situation where there is a suitable theatre for second run exhibition thereof; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Thirty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from demanding or receiving clearance over theatres operated by others, which unreasonably restricts their ability to compete with a theatre owned or operated by a defendant or [fol. 5333] corporation controlled by it and from attempting to control the admission prices charged by others by agreement with distributors, demands made upon distributors, or by any means whatsoever; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Thirty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from conditioning the licensing of films in any competitive situation outside of Buffalo, New York upon the licensing of films in any other situation and from entering into any film franchise; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Fortieth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from selling or acquiring any theatre interest, pending the further order of this Court; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Forty-first Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from enforcing any existing agreements heretofore entered into [fol. 5334] (1) not to compete or (2) to restrict the use of any real estate to non-theatrical purposes; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Forty-second Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from using any threats or deception as a means whereby a competitor is induced to sell; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Forty-third Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from continuing any contract, conspiracy or combination with each other or with any other person which has the purpose or effect of maintaining the exhibition or theatre monopolies of the defendants or of preventing any other theatre or exhibitor from competing with the defendants or any of them, and from entering into any similar contract, conspiracy, or combination for the purpose or with the effect of restraining or monopolizing trade and commerce between the states; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

Forty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in entering findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment drafted and submitted by plaintiff's attorneys without affording to defendants' attorneys any opportunity to present objections thereto or to propose changes therein or pertinent additions thereto, or any opportunity to be heard thereon, and notwithstanding the fact that said findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment were not warranted by the facts found and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Forty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in not granting in its entirety the defendants' motion filed November 10, 1945 to amend the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law entered by the Court on or about November 1, 1945, and in the several particulars in which it was not granted.

Forty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in granting in part the plaintiff's motion filed on or about February 1, 1946 to amend the findings of fact and conclusions of law and the judgment entered by the Court on or about November 1, 1945 and in the several particulars in which said motion was granted.

Forty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in making findings of fact and quotations based exclusively on the papers erroneously admitted in evidence and described in the forty-eighth assignment of [fol. 5336] errors. These findings and quotations are set out in the Findings of Fact drafted by plaintiff's attorneys and entered by the Court on November 1, 1945, particularly in paragraphs 17, 8 and 9 thereof particularly as to clearance.

Forty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred, at the close of the evidence for plaintiff, in admitting in evidence by a single ruling, and in denying defendants' motion to strike out and to limit the effect so that they would not be taken as evidence of the truth of the statements contained in them, the exhibits listed below, notwithstanding the fact that all that had appeared as to who fabricated them was that in compliance with a subpoena the respective distributor corporations, not defendants, had directed a search of files in their respective home, district and branch offices and had produced them by a designated officer or employee who had no further knowledge concerning the papers produced. There was no evidence as to who, if any one, dictated them, who wrote them, who, if any one, signed them, or that they were uttered, sent or received by any one. There was no evidence that any opinions stated in them were those of a qualified person or within the scope of the duties of any person. There was no opportunity to examine or to cross examine any witness concerning the papers or the opinions or other statements in them. There was no evidence that any of these papers had gone from or to any of the defendants or were known to them. Most of the papers were framed like internal memoranda within the respective distributors. There was no evidence that any one of these papers was [fol. 5337] an act in furtherance of any conspiracy. On the contrary, many of them disclosed non-cooperation and competitive antagonism. The defendants' objections covering all these matters, and separately as to each paper, were summarized and stated at length in the record at typewritten pages 3285-3288, 3589-3610, 3424-3458, 3941-3963. The ruling is at typewritten pages 3610, 3612, 3955-3964.

Respectfully submitted for each defendant separately, Edward F. McClennen, Willard S. McKay, Attorneys for Defendants.

[fols. 5338-5339] IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

[Title omitted]

DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR A STAY

The defendants, severally, move the Court to stay any and all acts or proceedings herein taken or attempted to be taken pursuant or purporting to be pursuant to the second and third sentences of Paragraph III of the Judgment entered herein on the 1st day of November, 1945, on the ground that said provisions of said Judgment were stricken and eliminated therefrom by the Amended Judgment, entered on the 29th day of March, 1946, and that there now exists no warrant or authority for any action under said provisions or either of them.

Respectfully submitted, Willard S. McKay, Attorney for the Defendants-Severally.

Dated: New York, New York, April 5, 1946.

[fol. 5340] IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

[Title omitted]

Transcript of Hearing

Proceedings before Honorable John Knight, United States District Judge for the Western District of New York, May 8th, 1946, at 9:30 o'clock a.m., Buffalo, New York.

Appearances: Honorable George L. Grobe, United States Attorney for the Western District of New York, by R. Norman Kirchgraber, Esq., Assistant U. S. Attorney, appearing for the United States.

[fol. 5341] Proceedings

Mr. McKay: I have, with Mr. Isseks, who has had a lot of experience, and Mr. Ferguson, who has been our accountant for 25 years, been doing the best I could to work out what I think is a workable plan. We have been somewhat handicapped, No. 1, because Mr. Isseks is recently in the case and, No. 2, Mr. Ferguson's father has undergone a serious operation which kept him in Washington and unavailable for a week, and he is going under another one today or tomorrow, but I do honestly feel what I gave you last night represents something that will accomplish what I think you want to accomplish in this case, and what I would really appreciate is any suggestions you might have, where you see some places where it could be improved upon, or any objections, so that I can try and bring it more in line, if possible. When I told you we were trying to work out a plan, I meant that exactly, and we were going to do everything possible to arrive at a result to accomplish what, in your opinion, you said you wanted to accomplish, of course, always reserving the right to appeal on the merits.

The Court: The one thing, of course, that suggests itself to me and naturally to you, is that you are retaining the [fol. 5342] same control all the way through, through a family division. While you say it is an independent interest, "Present beneficial owners"—you divide them into two groups, the wives of the two principal owners at the head of the other group.

Mr. McKay: That is true, and as I told you yesterday, that is in line with the re-organization approved by the Supreme Court in the Crescent case. In that case the principals were Mr. Sudekan, his son-in-law, and his wife, and there has been no disturbance of the stock ownership, except the son-in-law is to own all the stock in one, Mr. Sudekan is to own all the stock in another, and the wife in another, and incidentally just about a week ago Mr. Sudekan dropped dead, and that is going to seriously complicate that plan, but that hasn't anything to do with this case. I take it, particularly in line with the cases that the Government cited, in no case was the ultimate stock ownership disturbed. It was simply the management or control that was segregated. In our case, we have provided for separate control of the theatres in New York by one individual, we have provided for separate control of the theatres in Ohio by another individual, and separate control in the remainder of the theatres by the two other individuals which I think complies with what the courts have [fol. 5343] decided in the past and your decision, and particularly so when it is combined, not only with the injunctive provisions in the judgment, but with the suggestions we have indicated our willingness to have.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Yesterday after this was submitted to our office, I called Mr. Wright in Washington, and, as well as I could over the phone, explained to him the two proposed re-alignments on this, plan 1 and 2, so I merely tried to explain to him, which is a difficult job, just what they had in mind on the change, and Mr. Wright said as far as he could see it did not materially alter the present situation, and he would like to have a week or ten days to look this over before making any formal objections, but he said tentatively it would not change the present situation.

Mr. Isseks: If your Honor will look at Chart III, which is the proposed re-alignment plan 2, you will note that it divides the present theatres into three different companies, based on the different localities from which they buy their products. Of course, I am new in this thing, but as I read your Honor's opinion, your Honor was primarily trying to break up this so-called large buying power, film buying power, the Schine Circuit. This breaks that effectively. [fol. 5344] You have separate corporations, with separate buying power. Secondly, this plan is on a traditional basis following the tobacco case and the Standard Oil case. I realize in those cases they had hundreds of stockholders, if not thousands of stockholders. What they did there—take the tobacco case, the American Tobacco Company had bought out ten or twelve different tobacco companies. Along came the Government and said "That is a monopoly." The Supreme Court said it was. They said "You have to break it up into four companies", but, they said, "The stockholders in the present company will each be entitled to the same beneficial interest in the four companies". We have provided here that the present beneficial owners shall be the same beneficial owners in these three new companies. Your Honor says that the control will be the same. We have provided that there will be no interlocking officers or directors or voting trustees in either company. The only place where there would be united control would be through the beneficial owners. Mr. McKay said he was willing to adopt any suggestions or modifications that your Honor has in mind with regard to that problem of the control, but we have provided here that there shall be no interlocking control. The [fol. 5345] only control would be through the fact a person retains stock interest. If your Honor has any other suggestions in mind, I gather from Mr. McKay, he would not only be willing to consider them, but propose to adopt them, but this is traditional.

The Court: Under that plan, of course, a voting trust agreement could be changed at any time.

Mr. Isseks: No, sir.

The Court: By a majority.

Mr. Isseks: No, sir. It is within your Honor's supervision. You have to have a ten-year voting trust under the New York law. It could be clear and unequivocal and, of course, we did not make it clear—we intended to, that it can be subject to your Honor's approval.

Mr. McKay: That was definitely intended.

The Court: You would not string this along under the supervision of the Court.

Mr. Isseks: Let me make another suggestion. Apparently Mr. Wright, whom I know very well, wants some time to consider this thing. That is fair enough. During that period of time why don't we try to meet any objections your Honor has by submitting something to you and to Mr. Wright.

[fol. 5346] The Court: I know nothing about Mr. Wright, except as just stated. The fundamental question, it seems to me, is the question of retention of family control. You point out the Crescent case, but there, there was a greater separation. I am not clear about that myself, but that is the thing that immediately struck me.

Mr. Isseks: We had in mind, your Honor, while the beneficial ownership would be in the present two stockholders, that by separate voting trusts for a period of, let us say, ten years, which we did not spell out here, you would have a separate control of each unit in the trustee, but there again I think we had in mind to consider any suggestions made either by your Honor or the Government.

Mr. McKay: The beneficial owners, as such, would have nothing except the right to get dividends. They have no control under their character as beneficial owners.

Mr. Isseks: As your Honor knows, in these various cases in the Supreme Court and elsewhere, the courts have made it clear that there is no intention to penalize in any decree under the Anti Trust Laws, the beneficial owners, or no intent to penalize them. They are the only two beneficial [fol. 5347] owners. Your Honor's point is that they should not be able to control. We recognize that. We do not dispute it. That is why we set up voting trustees. We could, during this interval that Mr. Wright wants to consider the plan, perhaps, amplify the question of control——

The Court: You say nothing here about any ten-year provision for continuation of the trust control or the control of the Court at all, do you, in this proposal?

Mr. Isseks: No, we did not.

Mr. McKay: This was gotten up under considerable pressure, and that is why it was put in as a tentative proposal. We know there are plenty of things that need to be supplied, and we are entirely conscious of that.

The Court: I have not examined his plan much at all. I just looked roughly through the provisions of the way it is treated, but what I wanted to do first was to set these all down separately and show just where they are in each state and also show just what relation the various corporations have to these various situations. You have divided it first into the real estate corporation and leasing corporation, operating corporation, buying and booking corporation, service corporation. That is the present setup.

Mr. McKay: There will be more than one operating [fol. 5348] corporation in the present setup. Those are the categories in which they fall.

The Court: Does this first list include any of those in the 1942 decree?

Mr. McKay: He has a separate paragraph, your Honor, as to the 1942 decree in his plan. Nearly all of the theatres in the 1942 decree have been disposed of already except about four, and we have explained those in our objections. Of course, the 1942 decree, that was simply a method of bringing our status back to the status at the beginning of this suit.

The Court: That brings me to an inquiry, and the point of my inquiry is the question—I don't recall what the effect of the 1942 decree is—it was generally applicable to all of the theatres, wasn't it, so far as any continuation of clearance and things of that kind?

Mr. McKay: The provisions of the 1942 decree applied to the whole circuit. That is my understanding, that that decree was an order, so designated, a "Temporary Order," that ran out on November 15th, 1944. It had no further effect after that date, and at that time we had disposed of all of the theatres except Cumberland, where your Honor had stated, when the Department allowed us to acquire one [fol. 5349] theatre in Cumberland—your Honor said he could not see the logic of disposing of one and acquiring another. In Mount Vernon the lease expired, and there was half interest in Harlan, where the other half owner came in and testified that he was very much opposed to anybody being in business with him. He did not want the half interest back, and there were two small theatres in Lexington and one in in Malone we were not able to sell, as we reported the day after the expiration of the order.

The Court: What is the status of the Paramount case?

Mr. McKay: Nobody knows when that will be decided, and on that I might point out I have read—I cannot say I have read all the briefs, but I have most of it, and as far as I can see the Government in that case is not asking that anything happen to these theatres except that they be separated from distribution. In other words, if I am correct—I am not making it as a definite assertion— I am saying that is as far as I have been able to see in my examination so far —what happens if the Government gets what it wants in that case would be that these five circuits the present distributors have would still remain as circuits, but they would be separated from the distribution part of the business, but each one of these circuits is much larger than the [fol. 5350] Schine Circuit, so it would seem funny that those units which are very much more powerful than we are could continue to operate as circuits when we could not. Mr. Schine from the very start of the case has always taken the position that he is perfectly willing to conduct his business in the same manner as the rest of the industry does, if there is a standard set. They tried to set a standard back in 1933 under the N.R.A., and he subscribed to that standard, and it was thrown out. During the period that that was effective, he signed what they called the Motion Picture Industry Code, and conformed to the practices of the Code, and he would do it again if it were standard, but it does seem to be unfair that he should be singled out and asked to do business on a basis that nobody else in the eighteen thousand theatres in the United States does.

The Court: What is his idea, to let you pick out one theatre out of this group?

Mr. McKay: What he says is, every town where we have two theatres, we can keep one and we have to sell the other, and we can choose the one we want to keep.

The Court: There are two in each of these towns?

Mr. McKay: At least two.

[fol. 5351] The Court: That is not so. There aren't two in Perry.

Mr. McKay: Those are the one-theatre towns that you are reading (referring to papers).

The Court: Yes, you are right about that. I had forgotten about that.

Mr. McKay: He says where there is only one theatre in a town we have to give up the town.

(Court reads from plan).

Mr. McKay: The only towns of these single theatre towns that were mentioned in the opinion or findings—I have not attempted to read the 4700 pages of the record—but the only towns mentioned in the opinion or findings were Perry, and there was one other, I believe—all of that is analyzed completely—Carthage was mentioned. Those were the only ones.

The Court: East Rochester was mentioned.

Mr. McKay: Not East Rochester, just Rochester.

The Court: Wasn't East Rochester mentioned?

Mr. McKay: No, East Rochester as a suburb of Rochester was not mentioned. If you throw East Rochester into the Rochester neighborhood houses, as we think it should be, then you might say it was mentioned in connection with Rochester, but what was objected to in Rochester was those Madison, Webster and Monroe Theatres, and as to [fol. 5352] those he suggests we give up two of those houses.

The Court: There is a separation as to what you call East Rochester and suburban.

Mr. McKay: Yes, and also Fairport is in the same category.

The Court: Perry and Carthage, as you say. Also Milford and Laurel.

Mr. McKay: I don't think Milford was mentioned and Laurel was mentioned indirectly. I think there was a mention of Laurel in Ayre's testimony. I don't think that was in the findings of fact. There was only casual mention of it.

The Court: Is there any change in the situation of any of those theatres since the trial?

Mr. McKay: The biggest change happens in Carthage. The theatre that was there when the trial was had burned down, and he has just about finished a new theatre which is much nicer. Under this plan we have to take the theatre and turn it over to somebody else.

The Court: In the list of the two-theatre cities is there any change?

Mr. McKay: In the two-theatre towns I don't think there is any change. The theatre has burned down in Salisbury.

The Court: Do you have both theatres in Salamanca?

Mr. McKay: Yes, we have both theatres in Salamanca.

[fol. 5353] The Court: Have you looked this over to determine what you would concede could be done to meet the plan in so far as it relates to the divestiture of any of these theatres?

Mr. McKay: Our reply deals separately with each town, and in our opinion we don't think that the sale of any of these theatres should be ordered. We don't think that it is called for by the opinion or the decision. We feel that by a plan such as we have suggested, embodying a separation of control and the injunctive provisions, you will get everything that you want to assure you that the Act will be complied with. We pointed out several times after the consent order was signed in 1942, there hasn't been any complaint about the conduct of our business. Nobody has made any complaint, and no evidence was offered at the trial, which was two years later, so that—and Mr. Wright, at the opening of the trial, said he assumed that the consent order had been performed. That leaves us to the natural thought, if we not only take the provisions of that consent order, but elaborate on them and add this separation of control we have suggested, we are going to present to your Honor a plan that will go far beyond anything that has ever been accomplished in an anti-trust case so far.

[fol. 5354] The Court: Of course, the consent decree was made after the action was brought.

Mr. McKay: Yes, but as you very correctly stated and as Judge Hand repeated about two weeks after your opinion—Judge Hand said practically the same thing, that this dissolution remedy is very harsh, and he said the Court probably would not apply it—you said the Court should not apply it, or words to that effect.

The Court: I said "re-alignment."

Mr. McKay: I think this is proper re-alignment, and particularly so when it embodies everything and more than was in the consent order, which obviously worked, because it did away with all complaints from 1942 through to the start of the trial. I don't believe there have been any complaints since. I have not heard any.-

The Court: Of course, even that might involve disposition of some theatres. Some situation might be more aggravated than others.

Mr. McKay: I have yet to see any such situation that I could call really aggravated. Even the people who testified here at the trial, most of them, admitted that they had not been harmed. Nobody has come in here and showed any damage to that particular person resulting from any con- [fol. 5355] duct by Schine. Their complaint was primarily that they could not get what they wanted. Nobody can get what he wants. We don't get what we want, either.

The Court: Of course, you have to take a long range view, you might say.

Mr. Isseks: As Mr. McKay pointed out, these injunctive provisions, your Honor, provided for in the judgment and in your opinion, would prevent in future any kind of a situation that your Honor found reprehensible. The question on the re-alignment could be handled on traditional methods, the way they did in the tobacco and Standard Oil case and the duPont case and International Harvester case. In none of those cases, and those are the well known monopoly cases, did they direct the sale of any of the properties. It was suggested when the Government applied for modification in the International Harvester case that there be some sale of properties, but the Supreme Court said "No." They said "When you realign the properties" as they did there. Our situation here is we have three companies. The only question your Honor raised is whether the control would still be the same. As to that we thought we would avoid that by having separate voting trusts and [fol. 5356] provisions that there be no interlocking directors or officers or even having the same kind of office space in the building, and we would have separate independent booking which your opinion indicates was the thing most improper and tended most to restrain trade so far as independent theatres were concerned. Under this plan we have in mind no one unit would be very large, and there would be many more independent units larger than any one of these units. I think if Mr. Wright wants some time, and we be given some time to work out details, perhaps your Honor would indulge us a period of time for all of us to be here and perhaps we could do what your Honor indicated, that the parties sit down and see what we could work out. We would then be in a position to take up every item in their plan which we found goes beyond the decided cases, and we could discuss the two plans and perhaps come up with a third plan.

The Court: I think the way to handle it now in view of what Mr. Kirchgraber said would be to let Mr. Wright submit in writing what he wants to submit in a week, to answer the plan, and then I will determine the question of whether we have to get together to consider the matter [fol. 5357] further. When he gets that in, I will see what he has.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Will your Honor hold it for some particular date for Mr. Wright to get in whatever he would like to get in?

The Court: You said a week.

Mr. Kirchgraber: I think he will be able to get it in a week; a week from today?

The Court: I will give you what time you want, any reasonable time.

Mr. Isseks: You said ten days.

Mr. Kirchgraber: I think ten days would be better.

The Court: I have not done much with it because of the fact that you were going to submit something. Time was given to submit something.

Mr. Isseks: The 17th or 18th.

The Court: A week from next Monday would be all right. That would be the 20th.

Mr. Isseks: Will your Honor consider tentatively at least setting down a hearing for the 28th, and we could come in with Mr. Wright. I think if we had him here and had his objections we could come back on the 28th or the 27th, either one, and we could all sit down and perhaps suggest something to your Honor that would be feasible.

The Court: All I had in mind was that perhaps there [fol. 5358] might not be any necessity of that, if we had your papers in here. I don't know as it makes much difference.

Mr. Isseks: We don't mind coming back the 27th or the 28th.

The Court: What is your idea?

Mr. Kirchgraber: I would submit this to Mr. Wright, and I think perhaps by that time he would be able to come up here, by the 28th.

Mr. Isseks: Why not set it down for the 28th?

The Court: We will hold this. Let him submit his memorandum by the 20th.

Mr. Kirchgraber: And we come back on the 28th?

The Court: That would be the 27th. I guess you better make it the 28th.

Mr. Isseks: The 27th is on a Monday. The 28th is on a Tuesday. 10 o'clock?

The Court: Yes. In the meantime—I have not examined your brief much because I have been waiting to get these cases that you discussed in your brief, the Harvester case——.

Mr. Isseks: Your Honor, that is in the new briefs that we are going to file today.

The Court: I mean the one you filed before.

Mr. McKay: Those have not been cited before, but this brief discusses each town very carefully. Would your Honor want some extra copies?

[fol. 5359] Mr. Kirchgraber: Have copies of that been served?

Mr. McKay: Yes, you have those. I will leave one extra and send a couple more up.

The Court: That is already filed here?

Mr. McKay: Yes.

Mr. Isseks: This is the reply brief that discusses all the cases.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Mr. Wright has a copy?

Mr. Isseks: No.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Then would you give me two, please?

Mr. Isseks: We will get their brief on the 20th, and we will be here on the 28th with as much as we can possibly work out on our plan, and we will try to meet the objections your Honor has raised today.

The Court: I think you ought to go into as much detail as you can, unless you have it sufficiently clear.

Mr. McKay: I don't think it is.

Mr. Isseks: No, it is not. We will have something for your Honor.

The Court: Are they still operating under this consent decree, I mean, the arbitration provisions?

Mr. McKay: The arbitration provisions of the decree, the last I saw, were extended for six months.

The Court: To what date?

Mr. McKay: I think it runs until about November.

[fol. 5360] The Court: This year?

Mr. McKay: Yes, and the defendants were willing to continue that provision indefinitely. In the appendix to that brief I have included a report from the arbitration association. That shows how it has worked. Mr. Wright before the Three-Judge court took a slightly different position. He now says there should not be any clearance at all.

The Court: That is what he stated in here. You said here (reading from papers), and then you go on and say here referring back to what Mr. Hayes says, "The plaintiff may now argue, reversing the position previously taken by it with respect to clearance, as indicated by the quotation from Mr. Hayes at page 11 supra, that clearance per se is illegal."

Mr. McKay: He supported the arbitration provision, but in the answer to an inquiry from Judge Hand on the argument before the Three-Judge Court, Mr. Wright said that clearance should be abolished entirely. That was last January.

The Court: He said "In that connection it has long been felt both by exhibitors and by distributors that there is no fairer way to handle and dispose of complaints concerning clearance than to have the clearance fixed by some impartial arbitrator."

[fol. 5361] Mr. McKay: That is what Hayes says.

The Court: "Those of us who have worked on this decree after reviewing, as I said at the very beginning, the numerous industry problems in all their ramifications with the Government representatives keeping constantly before their eyes, as was their duty, the complaints of exhibitors and the complaints of public groups are of the opinion that the decree is a desirable forward step." Where do you say Mr. Wright has taken the position now that he is in favor of abolition?

Mr. McKay: That is exactly what he did in arguing to Judge Hand. That is the statement of Mr. Wright.

The Court: That he had not thought that there should not be any clearances, but now so thinks.

Mr. McKay: He now thinks that there should not be any clearances. One time he had not thought that there should not be any clearances. Now he does think that there should not be. That is what he told Judge Hand. I don't know whether he will take that position here or not, but he did, in answer to a specific inquiry from Judge Hand, state that there should not be any more clearance.

The Court: I don't know whether he was correctly understood in that statement or not.

[fol. 5362] Mr. McKay: It was regarded so significant that it was published in headlines by all the trade papers.

The Court: It was?

Mr. McKay: Yes, I will be glad to send you a copy. It was considered in the industry as a very significant statement.

The Court: Your situation is that you don't need anything of that kind.

Mr. McKay: My suggestion is, even though we were not bound by the Southern District decree, we have submitted every case that came up, and we are willing to continue it. Back in the N. R. A. we had arbitration about clearances, and we submitted every dispute that there was then. We have never refused to arbitrate a clearance dispute with anybody, and we think that is probably a cheap, inexpensive and quick way of getting a determination of what is a fair clearance.

The Court: When was the Paramount case finally submitted?

Mr. McKay: The briefs were submitted around the first of January. It was argued for about four days. I think it ended January 16th or 17th.

The Court: There ought to be an opinion pretty soon.

Mr. McKay: I understand none of the judges,—Judge Goddard, Judge Bright and Judge Hand—none of them [fol. 5363] have taken any assignments, so they must be working on their opinion.

The Court: Judge Hand has taken assignments.

Mr. McKay: Not within the last month. That is Augustus Hand.

The Court: That might be so.

Mr. Isseks: It is pretty clear neither Judge Goddard nor Judge Bright have sat since then in a district, and it apparently clear Judge Augustus Hand has not sat since then.

The Court: We will leave the matter. Is there anything else you want to discuss today?

Mr. McKay: I wanted to ask your Honor a couple of questions about the record. I spoke to Mr. Wright last night. We filed a precipe and Mr. Wright has filed a counter precipe, and Miss Sickmon is concerned about the amount of work involved in preparing this record to be sent to the Clerk of the Supreme Court. You know that the record is actually printed by the Clerk of the Supreme Court. What the clerk here does is certify the record and send it down and then he takes charge of the printing. We have supplied copies of practically everything that we had designated in our precipe and we will supply the rest.

[fol. 5364] The Court: What is his proposal? Don't you agree on that?

Mr. McKay: Mr. Wright has designated a lot of papers in addition to the ones we have designated. It seems to me some of them are unnecessary, but I will try to work that out with Mr. Wright, and I don't know what the forum is in which it can be determined. I suppose if either side were to contend a certain paper should be printed, he would be entitled to have it printed. How could you know you had a fair record before the Supreme Court unless it was printed? There is a penalty for unnecessary papers that are printed. The offending party has to pay the cost. That is all the penalty there is.

The Court: I don't know why there should be any confusion about it. It seems to me your stenographic record and papers would show.

Mr. McKay: We designated the entire stenographic record and asked to have all the exhibits sent to Washington without copying, because we have got to arrive at some method to handle those exhibits. There are three thousand exhibits, most of them printed contracts. Your Honor can see that it would be impossible to hand up a record with every one of those contracts printed, but in Mr. Wright's counter precipe he has designated what I would consider [fol. 5365] collateral and interlocutory matters not a part of the actual trial or the controlling decision.

The Court: Motions you mean?

Mr. McKay: Interim reports that were filed with regard to the consent order. We designated the consent order, but he designated interim reports.

The Court: It would not make any difference to you if it were put in.

Mr. McKay: Except I think the printer in Washington is pretty expensive. I tried to give the job to the man up here, but I found I could not. I do understand, however, if there is any real dispute, your Honor, this Court is the forum to which we should bring it. If I cannot agree with Mr. Wright, I have no reason to think that I cannot agree, I will submit what I think should be eliminated.

The Court: There should not be any trouble about it. The only question is whether they are material.

Mr. McKay: That is the whole thing. I think some of these things have no bearing on the ultimate result, and I think it would be advisable to leave them out of the record.

DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR ORDER TO TAKE FURTHER TESTIMONY

The defendants move the Court for an order decreeing that prior to the approval or adoption by the Court of any method of compliance with Paragraph III of the amended judgment, hearings be held at which testimony may be taken relevant, pertinent and necessary to the consideration of the method of compliance with Paragraph III of the said judgment and of plans submitted by the respective parties or any amendments or modifications thereof, and in the Court's discretion that a Master be appointed for the purpose of such hearings.

In making this motion the defendants do not waive their right to claim that any further order of this Court with respect to the performance of paragraph III of the amended judgment herein prior to the determination of the appeal herein by the Supreme Court of the United States is premature, which claim has been heretofore made and is now specifically reserved.

Respectfully submitted, Willard S. McKay, Attorney for the Defendants.

Arthur Garfield Hays, of Counsel.

Dated: New York, New York, May 22, 1946.

[Title omitted]

SUPPLEMENTAL AFFIDAVIT OF ARTHUR GARFIELD HAYS

ARTHUR GARFIELD HAYS, being duly sworn, says:

This affidavit is submitted to supplement the motion papers previously served and filed herein.

Under the amended judgment of March 29, 1946, no provision was made for the submission of plans by either party. The plan of the plaintiff was filed pursuant to the provisions of the original judgment. That has been superseded by the amended judgment, which makes no provision for the submission or consideration of any plan whatever.

In view of the fact that an appeal to the Supreme Court has been taken and allowed, which defendants are prosecuting with all reasonable speed, no procedure looking towards the adoption and enforcement of a plan of any kind should be taken until after that appeal has been determined.

However, defendants, without prejudice to their contentions as aforesaid, and without prejudice to their contention that they have not violated the law, are willing to cooperate in an endeavor to explore the possibilities of a plan of realignment even while the appeal is pending. They be- [fol. 5370] lieve, however that a consideration of any such plan is not proper on the basis of the facts now before the Court, and that it is essential to take testimony in order to determine what plan would properly conform with the terms of this Court's judgment (if it should, contrary to defendants' contention, be sustained by the Supreme Court) and at the same time protect the legitimate interests of the defendants. The reasons why defendants ask for this hearing of testimony as to the facts are in short as follows:

At the trial, the testimony was confined to the plaintiff's endeavor to show that there had been a violation of law in the past, to wit: during the period preceding May 19, 1942. That testimony, as the Government readily admits, did not attempt to cover all of the localities or all of the theatres involved. The findings and opinion deal with only a limited number. Any plan must concern itself with the specific conditions affecting each of the theatres and each of the localities which would be affected by the plan.

As appears from the opinion of the Court, the case of the Government rested on these main considerations: circuit buying power, clearance, franchises, and the manner in which the various theatres had been acquired and operated. Particularly with reference to clearance and franchises, the testimony taken at the trial in no way reflects the present existing situation. Moreover, in order to understand the effect of circuit buying presently it is necessary to understand the relationship of defendants' theatres to the industry as a whole, as of the present time.

As stated, the plan proposed by the Government deals [fol. 5371] with circumstances in about 70 different localities. It is obvious that more than half of these were not discussed in detail at the trial at all. The Court, therefore, is wholly without information concerning the present day situation in these localities. As an illustration—the plaintiff's plan proposes that in order to carry out the purposes of the judgment that Theatre A in Town B should be sold. It is the only theatre in the town, or in the near vicinity. There never was competition there and there is no competition today. Why did the Government choose this particular theatre? What are the facts? None appear in the record. No plan of realignment or reorganization can be intelligently arrived at except after factual presentation relating to such plan and its effects upon competition. The testimony at the trial was in no way directed to this end.

Actually, the formulation of a plan should first be preceded by an examination into the facts upon which any conformity with the Court's judgment rests. It is easy just to submit a plan. The plaintiff's plan proposes the selling off of theatres arbitrarily. This, the Court has already characterized as a harsh remedy which should be avoided. It would work a hardship on the defendants without accomplishing any legitimate purpose intended by the judgment—in letter or in spirit.

Defendants are not seeking to retry the case. They realize that their remedy on this score is in the Supreme Court. But the generality of the testimony which was adduced at the trial in an attempt to show that there had been illegal restraints can in no wise now be adopted and enlarged upon to show that such restraints will continue unless the [fol. 5372] drastic alleged remedy proposed by the plaintiff in this plan be adopted. Plaintiff is acting like a witch doctor who is trying to exercise the devil by killing the patient.

In amplification of the foregoing, defendants refer particularly to the discussion of the individual situations contained in the objections to plaintiff's plan previously filed by defendants on April 1, 1946. The facts stated in those objections are hereby incorporated into and made a part of this application. Commencing on page 17 and continuing through page 104, there is a brief discussion of each of the localities in which defendants are operating a theatre or theatres, approximately 70 localities in all. The facts set forth indicate the nature of the evidence which should be produced at hearings and which is appropriate for the Court's consideration of any proposed plan. We submit that either the Government admit the facts therein stated and others that defendants wish to show, or preferably that defendants have an opportunity to prove them and make them a part of the record. The mere statement of the Government that these facts do not throw light upon the plan should not prevent the defendants from making them a part of the record.

It is obvions, as the Government itself admits in the appendix to the Reply to Defendants' Objections, that the only evidence produced at the trial concerned facts tending to establish a violation and to "point the way" to the remedies required to correct them. Therefore, since the evidence at the trial merely pointed the way, it is obvious that the proper remedy cannot be determined until that evidence can [fol. 5373] be brought up to date and supplemented. No better example can be given of this than the position taken by the Government in its Reply to Defendants' Objections which states in the appendix:

> "The plaintiff's Proof in this, as in any antitrust case, was confined to that thought sufficient to establish the violations charged and point the way to the remedy required to terminate them. Likewise, the Court's opinion and findings were even more selective in embracing only what was necessary to support the judgment. Thus, the defendants' general assumption that any facts not explored by the proof or the Court's opinion were favorable to them is untenable on its face. Their further effort to supply facts which they regard > as favorable to them in situations where the record is silent by mere assertion of counsel, also requires no reply."

We are not attempting to quibble over what facts were or were not in the record at the trial. The approach to the problem is entirely different now because the problem is different: There, the Court and the parties were concerned, as the Government readily admits, with facts tending to show violations of law. Here, we are concerned with not merely "pointing the way" to a remedy but with laying down the facts upon which conformity with the amended judgment must soundly rest. The ready analogy which comes to mind is that of a criminal prosecution. The prosecutor establishes a record to show violations of the law; after conviction it is the duty of the Court to pass sentence. The Court as a matter of practice never refuses to hear all of the facts bearing on the question of sentence. This is not obviated merely because a record has been established as to the violation of the law itself.

It is submitted that the defendants should not be deprived of the opportunity of supporting any plan proposed by them with testimony directed to the relevant, pertinent [fols. 5374-5375] and necessary facts. In like regard, a factual basis should be afforded for the consideration, if any, of the plaintiff's plan. For example, under the plaintiff's plan, an effort is sought to compel defendants to get out of certain towns entirely. But opportunity should be afforded to establish the facts with regard to the present conditions existing in those towns or to the competitive situation in and concerning these localities.

In conclusion, therefore, the defendants contend that without the taking of further testimony it will be impossible to make a direction to carry out the terms of the Court's judgment which would be related to the actual facts and protect the public and defendants alike. Defendants suggest that, as has been done in similar cases, the Court consider the advisability of appointing a Master to take this testimony and to render his report thereon.

On the foregoing considerations, we submit that the defendants' motion should be granted.

Arthur Garfield Hays.

Sworn to before me this 27th day of May, 1946.

[Title Omitted]

Transcript of hearing.

Proceedings before Honorable John Knight, United States District Judge for the Western District of New York, at the U. S. Court House, Buffalo, New York, Tuesday, May 28, 1946, at 10 o'clock.

Appearances: Honorable George L. Grobe, United States Attorney for the Western District of New York, and James R. Privitera, Esq., Assistant U. S. Attorney, of counsel, for the United States of America.

Willard S. McKay, Esq., and Hays, St. John, Abramson & Schulman, by Arthur Garfield Hays, Esq., and Seymour M. Heilbron, Esq., and Howard M. Antevil, Esq., of counsel, for the Defendants.

[fol. 5377] PROCEEDINGS

The Court: There seems to be no appearance on the part of the Government. What is the status of the matter?

Mr. McKay: I was in Washington yesterday, your Honor, and I phoned Mr. Wright's office, I tried to reach Mr. Wright, he was in the building, but not in his office, and I told his secretary that I wanted to be sure that Mr. Wright understood that Mr. Hays and I would be present this morning pursuant to the hearing that had been previously set and to the notice of motion which was served last week, and the secretary said that Mr. Wright so understood. I didn't speak to Mr. Wright personally. He wasn't in his office at the time I called.

Also Mr. Hays yesterday sent a telegram to Mr. Wright——

The Court: There is no change in the date, then?

Mr. McKay: No change in the date, no, sir.

The telegram reads, "Re U. S. vs. Schine Judge Knight will hear argument at hearing tomorrow, May 28th at 10 a.m., Buffalo, as heretofore noted. Arthur Garfield Hays."

The Court: Well, a little while ago I called up Mr. Kirchgraber, who had some contact heretofore with the matter. [fol. 5378] He is the first Assistant District Attorney. I don't know whether he wants to appear or not. He had not had any advice to appear.

Mr. McKay: ~~Of course~~, our information was that Mr. Wright had previously said he would leave the matter to Mr. Kirchgraber. And Mr. Penney, who was in communication with your Honor yesterday, informs me that on talking to Mr. Kirchgraber, Mr. Kirchgraber simply said that he would rely on my having notified Mr. Wright, which I had promised to do, and which I did.

The Court: I called him. He said he was tied up with some people there. I don't know whether he is coming up or not.

(Subsequently Mr. George L. Grobe and Mr. James R. Privitera appeared in person in the court-room).

The Court: Your discussion today is to be directed to some specification of the plans in the outline heretofore laid down or submitted by you?

Mr. McKay: We have two matters to take up with your Honor today. The first is that we have here in final form our proposals regarding re-organization, re-alignment, [fol. 5379] which was submitted previously only tentatively. We are now making a formal submission, subject, of course, to the reservations which we have stated regarding the jurisdiction.

The Court: Yes.

Mr. McKay: And I will hand a copy to your Honor and a copy to the Clerk. (Presenting copies to the Court and to the Clerk). I have here a copy for the other side, and I will see that it is delivered to Mr. Kirchgraber.

In this plan we have not withdrawn either of the two plans previously submitted, but we have added a third alternative in which we have split up not only the control and management of the separate corporations, but the beneficial ownership, so that under Plan 3, which appears on Chart 4, at Page 9, of the proposal, the separate corporations would be separately owned—not only separately controlled, but separately owned—one by J. Meyer Schine, one by Louis Schine, one by the two wives.

Now, this plan 3, in our opinion, falls squarely within the re-alignment which was approved by the Supreme Court in the Crescent case. In that case the ownership of the circuit [fol. 5380] was split up into circuits, one of which was owned by Tony Sudekum, the founder of the circuit, another by Kermit Stengel, his son-in-law, another by Mrs. Sudekum, and another by a man by the name of Rosenbaum, who had formerly been a partner of Mrs. Sudekum, and I think that, as far as the physical setup of this circuit permits, we have met the Crescent decision, and we have gone beyond the Crescent decision, because in our proposals with respect to arbitration of clearances, we have taken care of what seemed to us to be one of the most troublesome questions before your Honor on the trial of this case. We have proposed that we will come in under the arbitral system now in operation under the Paramount decree, and thereby afford any exhibitor who feels he has a grievance with respect to clearance enjoyed by us a speedy and inexpensive forum for fixing what is fair clearance.

The Court: Well, assuming the effect of the Paramount decree were taken away in some way, supposing that decree were vacated, or you might say died, or went out of existence, what would you provide in that event?

Mr. McKay: Well, we have suggested in this proposal, your Honor, that with respect to cases not falling under the [fol. 5381] Paramount decree we are willing to abide by arbitration under the rules of the American Arbitration Association, which we think to be the fairest forum that exists, aside from the forum set up under the Paramount decree for the determination of such disputes.

Obviously we, as a small circuit, are not in a position by ourselves to establish and maintain the machinery that has been established and maintained under the Paramount decree.

The Court: Of course, that wouldn't be necessary as long as that decree continues, probably.

Mr. McKay: No. But we are hopeful that system will continue. Your Honor will have noted in the discussion contained in the arguments before the three-judge court that it was continued subject to the further order of the Court.

The Court: It probably will continue in that or some other form.

Mr. McKay: Yes. Now, your Honor, you have also before you at this time a motion made last week about the possibility of taking extra testimony, and if I may, I would like to defer further consideration of this present submission until you have heard Mr. Hays on his motion.

[fol. 5382] The Court: All right.

Mr. Hays: If your Honor please, this is a motion to have testimony taken either by your Honor or by a Special

Master, of evidence which we deem to be necessary in connection with the approval of any plan.

I have been in this case, your Honor, only about ten days, but I have read most of the material that has been supplied to the Court recently, and the first matter that confused me was how any Court could make any decree on facts that were proven as to the situation as it existed in 1942, whereas the decree must be, in fact, of today and have to do with the future.

The Government proposes a plan by which Schine is to be divested—they use the euphonious word "divestiture", but actually it seems to me more like a confiscation—to be divested by about 70 per cent of its circuit. I don't see any provision in the opinion or the judgment by which such action is to be justified, but anyway, if there is to be a restoring to competition, it seems to me that we ought to have some facts upon which to base it.

Even a Government official, clothed with the power and [fol. 5383] authority of the Government, can't say, for instance, "Here, you do this to restore competition", and competition will be restored.

In various towns Schine has one theatre, and the Government blithely says "Our purposes will be carried out if you sell that one theatre." Where this prophecy comes from, I don't know, that if Schine sells the one theatre in a town in which there is only one theatre that competition will be restored.

The Court: Well, it isn't solely a question of restoration of competition. The question is, perhaps, a question of punishment. The Court has found a violation of the Anti-Trust Law. Assuming that the evidence pertaining to a single theatre town, the theatre owned by Schine, disclosed that as a result of their conspiracy or their actions somebody has been wiped out of existence, it wouldn't simply be a question of competition; it would be a question of penalizing the defendant under those particular circumstances because of his acts.

Mr. Hays: Your Honor, I would have more patience with the Government's plan if they had said "Wherever you have destroyed the competition we want you to sell the theatre and restore competition." If the Government had [fol. 5384] limited their plan to those towns where the evidence shows that we have destroyed competition——

The Court: Well, there are those towns, of course, concerning which the evidence was not concerned, that is very true.

Mr. Hays: Yes. And the Government in its plan proposes to sell theatres in various towns to which the evidence didn't refer at all.

The Court: That is very true.

Mr. Hays: I think the evidence referred to some 32 towns at the most, and the Government has proposed that we sell theatres in a number of towns where there is only one theatre in the town and concerning which no evidence has been taken. Besides, it seems to me, your Honor, the cases do not support the theory that the decree should be based on the ground of penalty, and I don't think the Government makes the argument they should be sold as a penalty. I think their claim is that it is remedial and their argument is that they should be sold to restore competition.

The Court: Well, of course, I am speaking of those single theatre towns in which the evidence showed competition had been eliminated by the acts of the defendant. It could be [fol. 5385] restored there. I am not saying anything now about those towns concerning which no evidence had been given.

Mr. Hays: Well, that would apply only to a small number of theatres. But, as I say, even there they don't base the plan on that theory. They simply make the statement that where there is one theatre in a town, that theatre must be sold, and I don't know what their theory is.

The Court: Well, they don't do it in all the single theatre towns?

Mr. Hays: Not all, but practically all. They leave us only about 30 per cent of the theatres we had before. If Schine sells the only theatre in a town where the population couldn't support more than one theatre, how would that have any effect in restoring competition? You may have a town where there is one theatre owned by Schine, and within another town a short distance away there may be other theatres in competition with him. How will the sale of that theatre by Schine restore competition?

For instance, in the section where I live, your Honor, in New Rochelle, there is one theatre. In Mt. Vernon there are perhaps two. Those cities are about five miles apart. [fol. 5386] In between are Pelham and Larchmont, each with one theatre. Certainly, no restoration of competition would be effected by the sale of the one theatre in New Rochelle, if New Rochelle has never supported more than one theatre.

In this motion all I am asking your Honor to do is before you approve a plan to have some testimony taken not only as to whether the plan in general is sound, but specifically whether it is feasible in the light of conditions existing at present.

For instance, the Government has suggested another category of towns where there are two or more theatres owned by Schine. No evidence has been taken to prove whether the other theatres in those towns are competitive with the two theatres he owns. A good example is in Eastern Maryland, where you have the negro problem. One theatre may be for white, one may be for negroes. Those theatres are not in competition. Where do we have a record of such facts on which we could argue on appeal that the plan is unsound? There is no record.

The Court: The point is, haven't we gone all over this on the trial, the very question you raise? It is true, if you [fol. 5387] had two theatres, one for colored, one for white, they wouldn't be in competition. But that would apply in the South only; it wouldn't apply here. Weren't those things all brought out on the trial of the case itself? We went over this question of competition, the factors involved, clearances, and so forth.

Mr. Hays: Oh, I don't want to raise that again. My point is that you can't arbitrarily say that because there are three theatres in a town that those theatres necessarily would be competitive, and, therefore, Schine should be compelled to sell one of them; that it takes evidence before you can come to that conclusion. My point all the way through is that you have a very different problem in connection with the decree than you have in connection with the trial of the case itself.

The Court: Well, that might be so. You bring up a broad question, whether the Court has power to just separate these theatres in any way it wants to without any proof regarding the question of competition, location, and things like that. And you bring up the point, in the single theatre towns where there is no evidence of any competition and where there is nothing in the record bearing on the question of [fol. 5388] the necessity of eliminating those towns from the circuit, whether that should be done without taking evidence. I look at it broadly. But if you have a situation in a town of say three theatres owned by Schine, and the proposal by the Government is that Schine be left one and sell the others, and we have the evidence in the case—I am assuming we have; I am not speaking of those cases where we haven't the evidence—we have evidence showing the conditions in that town, you wouldn't want to take evidence on that situation, would you?

Mr. Hays: No, I shouldn't in such cases, except where we have conditions in 1946, which are different than they were in 1942.

The Court: Well, that is another question.

Mr. Hays: But my point is that unless you have the facts, it is impossible to tell whether or not we have a fair plan.

May I read this statement by the Government? It makes my argument very clear. In speaking of the case, the plaintiff said, "The plaintiff's proof in this, as in any anti-trust case, was confined to that thought sufficient to establish the violations charged and point the way to the remedy re- [fol. 5389] quired to terminate them. Likewise, the Court's opinion and findings were even more selective in embracing only what was necessary to support the judgment. Thus, the defendants' general assumption that any facts not explored by the plaintiff or the Court's opinion were favorable to them, is untenable on its face. Their further effort to supply facts which they regard as favorable to them in situations where the record is silent, by mere assertion of counsel also required no reply."

Well, the Government is right in that where we in our brief state that things are so, you merely have the assertion of counsel. How are we going to establish the fact to prove that the Government's plan is unfair and confiscatory and not, as they claim, that it is the object to restore and maintain competition? We can't do it unless we have a basis of fact. And, if we go up on appeal, not only from the judgment but also from the approval of a plan, what facts have we in the record to show whether or not the plan worked out is an equitable one? What we want to do is to prove those facts.

In your Honor's opinion you refer, for instance, to the [fol. 5390] situation of clearances having been changed. Well, we want to show and prove how the situation has been changed. I think I have made a note here of your Honor's statement about that in the opinion. Your Honor said, "The violations herein are alleged to have occurred prior to the date of the Consent Decree. There is now no method by which either party can compel arbitration. The action taken in the adoption of the Consent Decree and the present availability of arbitration by agreement, however, do have a bearing on the extent of the judgment or decree to be made herein."

Now, there is nothing in the record showing what the present arbitration situation is, or what has happened in that respect, and that is one of the features on which your Honor laid a great deal of stress. There is no evidence in the record, for instance, as to the franchise situation today. I understand there are no franchises any more. There is no evidence in the record of many of the evils you referred to. There is no record, largely because of the action of the Government against the big companies.

The Court: Assume we have found these violations and [fol. 5391] practices have ceased since the trial commenced. That wouldn't lessen the liability of the defendant?

Mr. Hays: If it is a matter of penalty, no.

The Court: Well, I know, but there is a charge of violation of the Sherman Act. Of course, the mere observance of the Sherman Act after the event wouldn't excuse what went on before, would it?

Mr. Hays: Well, your Honor, if the Government had said that in those towns where the Court found unfair competition something has to be done, I could understand the basis for that. But the Government in its plan proposes nothing of the kind, and that is what troubles me, because if they did, then we would know on what the Government based its desire that certain theatres be sold. Now we don't know at all.

The Court: Of course, there might be some force in that argument.

Mr. Hays: May I refer your Honor to Hartford-Empire Co. vs. United States, 323 U. S. 386, where Mr. Justice Roberts said, "We may not impose penalties in the guise of preventing future violations."

And in the Aluminum Company case Judge Learned Hand said, "Dissolution is not a penalty but a remedy; if the in- [fol. 5392] dustry will not need it for its protection, it will be a disservice to break up an aggregation which has for so long demonstrated its efficiency."

I have thought throughout these cases that there was no question of penalty here; that the question was one of remedy: How one would do away with competition which violates the law or how one would create a setup which restored competition. So I never thought of the plan as a penalty. But if the Government had said "We want certain theatres sold because you gained those theatres by illegal means", it wouldn't be in accordance with these cases, and I might protest against it, but at any rate I would know what the basis was on which the Government wanted the theatres sold. As it is, I don't know.

For instance, after they get through divesting us the Government still feels we have too many theatres left, so they have under "F" a plan by which if there are theatres within 25 miles of each other that are owned by Schine they must be sold. There may be dozens of towns in between and dozens of theatres in those towns. Conditions may indicate that the[illegible]s a great deal of competition and that that com- [fol. 5393] petition should stand. But the Government attorneys blithely say, "We want those theatres sold because we don't like the situation." They give us no reason for it, nor do they give facts.

What has always troubled me, your Honor, is that we lawyers are inclined to be reasonable men, but as soon as any of us get into Government employ we acquire an aura of authority and power and think our prophecies are sacrosanct. Who are these men who so blithely would take away property which had been built up over a period of thirty years without even giving a reason and apparently, as they oppose this motion, say, "We don't want you to put the facts in evidence?" How is it that men suddenly become omniscient and infallible when they come into Government employ? When the authority is stripped of them they are just lawyers. How can they say, "We don't want evidence"?

I notice up there (indicating) this sign which says "Justice". I have been in this case ten days, and I am so fed up with hearing in reply to every suggestion I make, "You are trying to delay this case. Delay! Delay! Delay!"

Well, I know that totalitarian methods don't delay, but [fol. 5394] they rarely work out justice. Democratic methods do.

I am saying right now to your Honor that if there is evidence taken in this case it won't be for the purpose of delay. There won't be any time taken that I don't think is necessary for the protection of my client. After all, that sign should read "Justice", not "Speed".

What are we asking for here? We are asking that evidence be presented before your Honor signs a decree that a great many theatres should be sold whether that sale accomplishes a purpose or not—theatres picked out at random because the Government says, "You should lose just so and so many. You shouldn't own more than 30 per cent of what you now have."

And what do we come down to? Today conditions are very different than they were in the thirties, when business was bad. In the thirties you had a buyer's market, where there was an oversupply of product and the buyer could dictate terms and take advantage of his competitors. Today you have not only a seller's market, where the terms are dictated by the sellers, but you have a situation in this [fol. 5395] business where the big companies are wary of government attack. They don't show favoritism. There isn't any danger of the situations and abuses as they existed before returning under these conditions.

There is no evidence on any of these points because when the Government tried this case they just pointed the way to the fact that we have violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. And yet they go far beyond the facts to penalize us, even though the Courts say that the purpose of the law is not one of penalty, but the purpose is one to restore competition. As a matter of fact, if it were a question of penalty, you could fix a fine. You might fix a fine of a hundred dollars, a thousand dollars, or a hundred thousand dollars. The property involved may be worth millions of dollars. Is there any basis of fact in the record for that? Does it depend on past violations? Not at all. "We think you should be just as big and no bigger."

Now, the other violations that existed before 1942, because of the change in the industry, most of them have been done away with. The only one that can't be met is possibly buy- [fol. 5396] ing power. I submit the only plan to correct that situation is the one that we have submitted, and that is to divide up this corporation into three corporations, which we have proposed to do, and manage those three corporations separately.

The Government says, "Nonsense. It is merely a sham. These people still own their property.". But the Government fails to realize that competition comes about through management, not through stock ownership. When the big corporations were divided up in the past, time and again the new corporations were set up through the same stockholders, and it was found that by separate management, by the zeal of one management to show its superior ability over the others, was competition brought about—not in one week, not in two weeks, but over the course of years.

A few years ago I was in Russia, your Honor, where at the beginning everybody said lawyers won't be needed in twenty years; ownership is all in the Government; competition will be eliminated. Yet I found industry A competing with industry B. They were all fighting among themselves. Everybody had the zeal to show the unique ability of his management over the others.

[fol. 5397] In this plan we have created the situation where we have divided up our buying power. And, after all, that is some sacrifice to us. But it will do a great deal to restore competition. It isn't necessary to take away from us and compel us to sell a great deal of our property. But whatever the final outcome is, even assume our plan is approved, it will require evidence to support it—not a mere statement of what we intend to do, but evidence upon which to base it in fact.

All I am asking for in this motion is a thing which I should think would be granted without very much consideration, and the Government's absence here today leads me to believe that they don't feel very seriously opposed to it. All this motion amounts to is a request that testimony be taken from which your Honor can determine should a theatre here be sold and should a theatre there be sold.

I would suggest that your Honor personally take the testimony, except that it might be advisable to have a Master who can go to one town or another and thereby make it possible to explain the situation and make it more clear to [fol. 5398] the Court.

We are ready to take this testimony at any time, and I hope that after almost a lifetime at the Bar I have at least established a good enough reputation so that the Court will realize my sincerity when I say that neither this nor any other motion we make will have in it any purpose of delay. But I don't see how we can present this situation or how the Court can consider a plan, how we can have an appeal, unless the Court will consider the evidence, and that is what I ask the opportunity to do.

The Court: Of course, so far as many of these situations are concerned, evidence has been taken to show conditions there. There are, as you have pointed out before, certain smaller towns where there are single theatres and concerning which there is no proof. I remember the first town listed, I think, in the Government's proposed re-organization plan. That starts out with Bath. Was there any evidence whatsoever concerning that town, Mr. McKay, to show how the theatre there was controlled?

Mr. McKay: The evidence was such, apparently, as to not warrant any mention in either the opinion or the findings.

[fol. 5399] The Court: I know, but I am going back of that. Is there any evidence in the record?

Mr. McKay: There was apparently no evidence, except such as was furnished by answers to the interrogatories, which simply stated that we bought the theatre, The Babcock Theatre, in 1944.

The Court: It doesn't say how it was purchased, what the conditions were, or what else there is about it?

Mr. McKay: There was no evidence offered. This information is obtained from our answers to the interrogatories, and that is all the evidence in the case.

The Court: Well, I spoke of that only because it was named first there and because of its being included as a single theatre town, and I have noted what you have said in your brief. I didn't recall any testimony with reference to the conditions at Bath.

Mr. McKay: There was no testimony.

The Court: Supposing you were to have a reference to take proof on the conditions at Bath. What more would you know than you know now?

Mr. Hays: You would know the character of the community, you would know whether the community supported more than one theatre, you would have evidence concerning comparable towns to find out if they supported more than one theatre.

[fol. 5400] The Court: The question isn't whether the community can support more than one theatre, is it?

Mr. Hayes: No, except that the theory of the Government is that in single town theatres if the theatre is sold it would restore competition.

The Court: It occurs to me that in cases like that there would be no need for the taking of proof, because the inclusion of such towns must be based upon the whole record in the case. You may say that as a result of the finding of violation of the Act the sale in such towns is proposed as more of a re-organization or divestiture. But it doesn't look to me as though we are concerned in towns like that with the single factor of competition as a reason for the sale. I am not saying I am against the inclusion of such towns.

Mr. Hays: Let me read what the Government says, "The proposed sale of the theatres listed in Section I, in paragraph 'a' ", that is one-theatre towns, "divests the defendants of established monopolies in one-theatre closed towns by opening these towns to competition in the only sense possible."

In other words, the only basis they give for selling the theatres in 'a' is that if the defendant sells the theatres in [fol. 5401] the one-theatre towns, it will open competition. How?

The Court: They assume that if the defendant continues there he will drive others out. The Government assumes he will monopolize.

Mr. Hays: If Schine sells his theatre and somebody else comes in you will still have one theatre. How does his selling the theatre restore competition?

The Court: Leaving Schine in Bath today doesn't prevent some other theatre going in there.

Mr. Hays: It would prevent some one else from going in there?

The Court: No, it wouldn't.

Mr. Hays: No, it wouldn't. But suppose Bath is a community that would sustain only one theatre, and suppose you could show comparable towns of that kind in the vicinity that, with or without Schine, can't support more than one theatre?

The Court: Well, I mean you can presume that Bath is a town that supports one theatre.

Mr. Hays: And could support only one?

The Court: I say, assume that.

Mr. Hays: No. I want to prove the facts to show whether that is so or not, because certainly no competition is restored by Schine selling the one theatre unless he was [fol. 5402] preventing another theatre from setting up there.

The Court: Well, my feeling is that the Court would be justified in eliminating that town without such proof, irrespective of any other result of the judgment, because there is no proof now, standing alone, except the bald fact that here is a town of one theatre, and the population of the town is shown.

Mr. Hays: I don't think the Court should eliminate that theatre. I think the Government should put in its evidence supporting the rationality of its plan. I don't feel that we can take the chance that your Honor will eliminate a theatre in a town like that when there is no evidence. We want to put in the evidence to show this plan wouldn't work out.

The Court: My argument is along the line of your own, but the sense of it is that under the general provisions of the law and the findings of the Court, the Court would have the right, in order to re-align and re-organize the corporation, to do what you say it shouldn't do without taking any proof of the conditions there.

Mr. Hays: I don't see how the Court could do it. The Court has the power, but I don't see how the Court can take the responsibility without having before it the conclusions [fol. 5403] of fact. I feel the Court should of its own motion ask for evidence before it takes a position that might destroy the value of a great deal of property, because, mind you, under the Government's plan not only are we compelled to sell; we are compelled to sell under the most onerous conditions. We don't have a free market. The consideration will not be the price; it will be the effect on competition. Not only that, the sales must be speedy, and the Government suggests an agent should sell our property under conditions that are the most audacious I have ever seen. The whole thing seems to me outrageous and so contrary to all known theories of disposing of property, that we should have an agent to sell our property and his commission should depend upon his speed in disposing of our property. And why? "Because you didn't observe the Consent Order of 1942."

Now, I have read the briefs on that. There is a conflict of fact as to what happened. Mr. Schine's position is that he did observe that decree so far as it was possible for him to do so. When I go up on appeal the higher court may have one attitude or another toward whatever pressure [fol. 5404] was put on Schine to sell the theatres provided for in the decree. But a great deal will depend upon whether he observed the order of 1942 in good faith, and I have no evidence on which to argue that.

The Court: Didn't that decree include a stipulation that those theatres be sold, and wouldn't that have some bearing on the question?

Mr. Hays: Oh, yes. The whole thing, all the facts I would like to prove could be proved by stipulation.

The Court: I am speaking about a past stipulation. There was a stipulation made on which these 16 theatres were directed to be sold. That was done, I suppose?

Mr. Hays: Well, I suppose. They sold 12 or 13 of them. They had difficulty getting rid of the others.

Mr. McKay: 11 of them.

Mr. Hays: 11 of them, and it has been a matter of record here. But I don't know whether the record on appeal would show those facts if we wanted to present them to the higher court. I do know there is no record on any of the disputed facts that appear in the Government's brief and ours.

The Court: You would have the benefit of that on appeal. If it were necessary to have shown in this case the necessity of selling those five theatres you would have the benefit of [fol. 5405] it, if it were necessary to be shown, and it was not shown on the trial.

Mr. Hays: How would I have the benefit of it?

The Court: Because of the lack of proof.

Mr. Hays: But the Government claims that my client has been contumacious in not living up to an order. My client's claim is that he acted in good faith. There is no record on it one way or the other. Is the higher court going to assume that my client is lying or that the Government is wrong, when there is nothing in the record showing one way or the other?

The Court: Well, it wouldn't be perhaps strictly a question of being contumacious. The question in my mind is whether they, having stipulated to sell these theatres, it is not consistent with the status of the matter today that that stipulation should be carried out.

Mr. McKay: If I may interrupt for a moment on that point, your Honor. The Consent Order to which we stipulated required in effect that we use our best efforts to carry it out. At the time of the starting of the trial Mr. Wright conceded in open court that the order had been observed. The order was about to expire and your Honor extended [fol. 5406] the order for six months, during which time we got rid of four additional theatres, and your Honor provided at that time for a final report, and your Honor reserved to the plaintiff the right to renew its motion for a trustee if it appeared that we hadn't used our best efforts to get rid of these remaining theatres.

We filed our final report the day after this order expired, and nothing happened. The plaintiff did not make any attempt to renew its motion, and we were entitled to assume at that time that we had done everything that we were required to do under the order which expired and was of no further effect after November 15, 1944.

Fifteen months later the plaintiff comes along and is using the fact that there were remaining a few theatres that we weren't able to sell under the terms of the order, and doing everything possible to persuade your Honor to impose confiscatory terms on us, not only as to those theatres but as to every other theatre that we have.

His last paper filed in this case is based almost entirely on a wholly fallacious claim that we didn't observe or re- [fol. 5407] spect the terms of this order. And I want to say on that point, your Honor, that I stood here in open court when that order was presented to your Honor and stated that we were only entering into that order at that time not because of any wrongdoing, but because we felt, and the Government agreed with us, that after just having entered into the most serious war that we had ever become involved in, our time and the Government's time and the Court's time should not be taken up by this case.

That was the basis on which this order was entered, not because we admitted we were wrong in taking over those theatres. The plaintiff got the benefit of an injunction pendente lite to maintain the status quo, which it had previously tried to get from your Honor on a motion and which the Court had denied. And then he comes along, months later, and says that we are contumacious and have not observed the order.

Mr. Hays: You see, your Honor, my difficulty is that in reading these briefs I find these statements of fact concerning which there is no evidence in the record. All the evidence that was taken on the trial was not taken to point the way toward what should be done to curing a situation [fol. 5408] the Government alleged was illegal.

If your Honor will permit me just two further comments: At one time the Government apparently had the same theory as is in your Honor's mind today, that something should be done to compel the defendants to sell theatres in those specific instances where the defendants were found to have violated the Anti-Trust Act. I quote the Government's brief of November 26, 1944, "It may be necessary to order the sale of specific theatres in each town where the defendants were shown to have eliminated previously existing competition to the end that such competition may be restored."

Now, then, if they had made a plan on that, at any rate, I might be able to argue to the Court that the plan should not be based on that theory; that the purpose of the law is not one of imposing penalties. In any event, I would know that we have a pure question of law. But obviously the Government has gone much further, and has changed its mind, and is asking for a so-called divestiture in any number of towns concerning which there is nothing whatever in the record.

And then finally, in support of my argument, I should [fol. 5409] like to quote from a statement Mr. Wright made on April 16th. A question arose at that time as to whether an appeal could be taken from the judgment or whether the appeal should be taken from the judgment and decree fixing the plan, and your Honor asked Mr. Wright whether there were any cases where an appeal had been prosecuted prior to the adoption of a plan. Mr. Wright said, "I know of no case where there has been an appeal prosecuted prior to the adoption of a plan. In almost every case, the hearings on the plan occurred, and then a final judgment was entered embodying the final plan approved by the Court, and an appeal taken from the judgment as finally written with the plan set forth."

In other words, in almost every case the hearings on the plan occur before final judgment is entered. Now, the "hearings" must also involve the taking of facts if an attorney wants the Court to consider that in good faith. The facts taken on the trial show the situation as it existed up to 1942. The trial of the case was devoted to determining whether or not there was a violation of the Anti-Trust Law, and later your Honor is called upon to determine [fol. 5410] what should be done in the future. The facts of 1946 should be considered, particularly in an industry where practices have changed so much as they have in the movie industry. You must have evidenec to determine what should be done. That is the purpose of my motion.

The Court: It seems to me that in the instance of many towns and cities the facts were gone over and the situation in reference to the operation of the theatres, the other theatres in the towns, population, and all those things, were certainly thoroughly established. I am not speaking of the single-theatre towns now, and there are perhaps other situations that were not covered. But I can see where a reference as to certain of these towns would be a duplication, going over, of the same subject matter considered on the trial.

Of course, we have had the plans previously submitted by you and the plan being heard now. The hearing on those plans would be an observance of the declaration of Mr. Wright in reference to holding a hearing after the plan is submitted. The Government has submitted a plan here, the defendant has submitted objections to it in great detail, and the defendant has submitted a plan, and you [fol. 5411] are today submitting a modification, another plan. Now, I don't know whether it is contemplated that you should go over this same ground.

Mr. Hays: I don't want to do it, your Honor. We haven't any time to waste here. But where does the record show, your Honor, the changes that have taken place in the situation of clearances?

The Court: Well, assume that today clearance has been wiped out entirely. That doesn't make any difference.

Mr. Hays: Well, it would make a difference in the situation in these various towns. If all the abuses that were found in this record here were wiped out in 1946, then your remedy wouldn't be nearly as drastic as if they still existed.

The Court: No. But assuming the law has been violated, I don't see how the fact that the situation was changed today, or a little earlier, affects the right of the Court to order re-organization or some change.

Mr. Hays: Well, your Honor has already granted injunctions that protect the Government and protect the public.

The Court: That is very true, but that is an entirely different situation.

Mr. Hays: Let me put it this way: When you restore com- [fol. 5412] petition in towns A, B, C and D by compelling

Schine to sell his theatres there, and state what the facts in each of those towns are, I would say that is restoring competition and not penalty, if your Honor so stated. Then I would have a question of law that I could raise to a higher court, whether your judgment is correct or not. But the Government doesn't make any statement. They submit a plan not based on this law. They base it on the statement that 70 per cent of the theatres owned by Schine must be sold, even if in 90 per cent of the 70 per cent there was no violation of law found. They don't care. They say we may not operate in two or more towns within 25 miles of each other. We say "Why 25 miles? Why not ten miles? Why not thirty miles?"

The whole business is arbitrary, and before anything like that is done I say the Court must have facts, and, before I can argue that the plan is arbitrary and unfair, I must have facts to base my argument on.

For instance, today I don't know—and I don't know whether your Honor knows or not—I don't know how many of the towns where they would like us to sell theatres are [fol. 5413] towns where there were any practices that were alleged to have been illegal and in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. I don't know whether your Honor knows. I don't believe there was any evidence of that in the record here.

The Court: Well, you can go through the record and point it out. That is true, in certain of these towns there is no evidence concerning them at all. It simply brings up the question of whether the Court can find there were elements of monopoly in the one-theatre towns and that competition was suppressed as a basis for the judgment eliminating them, without having something in the record to show it.

Mr. Hays: Then your Honor knows there were many towns here where the Government proposes to sell our theatres where there was no evidence in the record?

The Court: That is true.

Mr. Hays: On what basis do they present such a novel proposition?

The Court: Well, the basis, as I construe it is on the large basis that the Court has authority to reorganize the whole setup of the corporation.

Mr. Hays: Well, your Honor, so far as the record shows, and so far as your knowledge goes, the 30 per cent of [fol. 5414] our circuit that they are leaving to us might be the 30 per cent of the theatres that are all losing money. In other words, you might be sending us to ruin, so far as you know. In other words, so far as you know, the Government may be saying "Well, all right. Sell all the good theatres; you keep the bad ones." Have we a right to show that to your Honor and prove that that might be the fact? And how about expert testimony? If the purpose here is to work out a plan to restore and maintain competition, certainly, these lawyers in Washington, new to the business, haven't as much knowledge to do it as men in the business.

They say blithely, "Sell this theatre. That will restore competition." Why? I don't know. There is no evidence in the record of what will restore competition. In other words, on this new problem that exists today, the evidence in the case is not at all conclusive. Not only that, but when I see the briefs on all sides, the briefs of the Government and the briefs of Mr. McKay and see that they are about split on questions of fact which are not questions of fact that were tried in the case, but are questions of fact upon the determination of which a proper plan has to be [fol. 5415] based, how is anybody going to argue before you as to whether these facts are right or wrong? As the Government says, they are assertions of counsel; as we say, they are assertions of Government counsel. Thank heavens, in this country we still stand on the same footing. But they are questions of fact. How are we going to resolve these issues, when every two briefs bearing on what happened since 1942 differ? How is your Honor going to determine who is right on these statements of fact? Or are you going to say, "I don't care. This is what he wants, so I am going to enter a decree without evidence?" How can you do it?

The Court: Statements of fact with reference to what particular things do you mean?

Mr. Hays: Clearances; franchises, the Consent Order of 1942.

The Court: Well, we did go over that before, that is, concerning those towns about which we have taken testimony. That is the point I make. If there is any merit to your motion, it seems to me it should be applicable only to those town concerning which there is no evidence. And that again brings up the question of whether the Court is justified in eliminating those towns where there is no evidence to show the conditions.

[fol. 5416] Mr. Hays: Now, your Honor, another thing I don't understand is that your opinion and judgment refer to re-organization or re-alignment or dissolution to restore competition. Well, isn't it necessary to have the facts to find out whether any judgment will restore competition?

The Court: Well, we must make our judgment on the evidence of the conditions in the certain localities. We must take each situation where we can say that restoration of competition can be got by the elimination of a single theatre in a large town based on all the facts. But I can't see what we gain by going back over that same ground again.

Mr. Hays: I don't, either, and I shouldn't take the time to do it if I felt the record contained the facts that I wanted.

The Court: Well, I had particular reference to many of these towns where you say you think facts should be shown and where sufficient evidence has already appeared as a basis for some plan or some arrangement whereby competition will be restored.

Mr. Hays: But the evidence, your Honor, taken in the record was not taken for that purpose, to throw light on what would restore competition, and the question today is what will restore competition.

[fol. 5417] The Court: In the Crescent case there was no such application made that I know of.

Mr. Hays: I am not sure. I think the judgment included the plan.

Mr. McKay: In the Crescent case, your Honor, the divestiture was embodied in the judgment. There was no need for further application of a plan, and it didn't require any further elucidation. If your Honor will bear with me, I think I have here what the judgment said in the Crescent case.

The Court: Well, I suppose the judgment in this case could have done the same thing. But, at least, I don't recall the defendants in that case requested the opportunity to take further proof.

Mr. Hays: Let me present this analogy to your Honor: Suppose a company files a petition under the Chandler Act, the old 77-B, and a re-organization is required.

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: The fact is determined by the filing of the petition that they can't get along in business. But certainly the Courts hear evidence in connection with the formulation of a plan for re-organization. And what would you think about having thrust on you as a Judge the burden [fol. 5418] of reorganizing the company without hearing evidence as to the status of the company in the industry?

The Court: Well, you have begged the question there, as to the status in towns where evidence has been taken. We have taken evidence in many of these towns to show how competition has been eliminated, and in those particular towns I think the Court is in a position to say what change should be made in order to restore competition.

I am not going so far as to say that that applies to all the towns in this record, but I am speaking of the cases where there is evidence showing, as I pointed out before, the operations of the defendant. Assuming by his method he has forced two or three theatres out of business and in different ways has eliminated competition, in those cases where the evidence is all here, I can't see the sense of duplicating it.

Mr. Hays: Your Honor, where it is all here there is no sense, and I hope you realize that we, as lawyers, are observant of that. We are not trying to put in duplicate evidence. But in many cases that is not shown.

Let me say this: Suppose the company had sixty theatres, [fol. 5419] and then they acquired one more theatre, the sixty-first theatre, by forcing out a competitor, doing something illegal, and the Court found that they did. On what basis can the Government come in and say "We want you to sell 40 of your 60 theatres"?

The Court: Well, that is different. That is based on conspiracy.

Mr. Hays: I know, but you have a claim of conspiracy in the analogy I make. Is it possible to sell 40 theatres because a person is found wrong in the acquisition of one theatre?

The Court: Well, that wouldn't rise to the dignity of a conspiracy. This is a conspiracy between a group of corporations organized under a single head.

To go back to this town of Bath: There is nothing in the record shown about that, except that there is a theatre there, a single theatre owned by Schine. Supposing we opened up the testimony. What would you want to show about Bath? I take that town by illustration because that is the first one named.

Mr. Hays: Well, your Honor, my difficulty is I am not familiar with these specific theatres. I have been in this case such a short time.

[fol. 5420] The Court: Well, what is your general idea of what you want to show?

Mr. Hays: Well, my general idea is to show it is a town of 5,000 people.

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: And before Schine came there there was one theatre; that Schine came there; that there is still one theatre.

The Court: That he bought that theatre out?

Mr. Hays: That he bought that theatre out and there is still one theatre; that surrounding towns of the same character and population, 5,000, don't support more than one theatre; that in the vicinity there are perhaps fifteen towns with one motion picture theatre. Then I would say how would it bring about the restoration of competition, that the Court desires, to make Schine sell that theatre.

The Court: Well, that, of course, is based on the theory that competition had been eliminated. But the point with me is—and I am arguing, perhaps, along the line of your arguments—there is nothing to show about that here now whether it is a one-theatre town or whether it could support more than one theatre, is there?

[fol. 5421] Mr. Hays: Not that I know of. I know of nothing in the record as to many of these towns. I don't know about this specific town.

The Court: Well, then, the question is whether the Court, by and large, in the absence of any testimony as to competition or anything else, has the right to include that town in the whole plan of reorganization.

Mr. Hays: But even in your opinion your Honor stated in one of the discussions that the remedy of dissolution is a harsh one and that if the restoration of proper conditions could be brought about otherwise you didn't intend to resort to that harsh remedy. And the opinion of Judge Hand said, too, that if it could be accomplished in some other way, it would be a disservice to break up an organization by dissolution. I think perhaps your Honor would like to hear evidence on that point, just what we propose to do.

The Court: Well, I have pointed out here, perhaps as in the Crescent case where they re-organized different groups under the same corporations, you might say, separated, that on the face of it the question might arise whether you accomplish much by simply transferring the ownership from a [fol. 5422] father to a son, or a husband to his wife.

Mr. Hays: You wouldn't accomplish anything, your Honor, if it were not done in good faith and if it was a sham. I was a little prejudiced against it myself from the beginning, and then I thought it through, and I realized that competition comes through management and not through stock ownership, and then I realized also that a great many of our big corporations in preceding anti-trust cases have been divorced in management, but they issued new stock for the old to the same stockholders, and that was the way they were dissolved. Sometimes it took several years before they restored competition as it was intended to be restored, and yet ownership wasn't the problem that concerned the courts at all.

The Court: Of course, this plan doesn't prevent one party from holding any stock ownership in any other corporation.

Mr. Hays: Yes, it does, your Honor.

Mr. McKay: Plan 3, your Honor, has separate ownership of the three corporations.

The Court: Of all of the stock?

Mr. McKay: Plan 3, yes, that is, Chart 4. It provides that J. Meyer Schine will own all the stock of I; Louis [fol. 5423] Schine will own all the stock of II; and the wives will own all the stock of III and IV, so there is absolute divorcement of ownership. Chart 3, Plan 2, provides separate control without separate beneficial ownership; Chart 4, Plan 3, separate both ownership and control.

I would like, in this connection, your Honor, in line with what Mr. Hays has been saying as to the necessity of testimony to support our plan, to state that just a little over a week ago in Washington I had a talk with Mr. Wright, and I asked at that time if there was any possibility of our agreeing on a plan which would be short of requiring us to dispose of some theatres. Mr. Wright said no. Mr. Wright then added that if the Court approved our plan the Government would appeal from that order approving our plan.

Now, as Mr. Hays points out, we may be in the position of the respondent on this feature of the case, and if we are able to persuade your Honor that this plan we are submitting is the kind of plan that should be adopted, we certainly want to be able before the Supreme Court to support your Honor's decision to show why this plan we are submitting is a good plan, why it will accomplish the [fol. 5424] purpose of the judgment.

This application isn't limited to showing what a foolish thing the plaintiff's plan is; we want to show how our plan is the proper plan, so that if we come to that phase we will be in a position of having the facts to support the plan.

The Court: Well, won't your answer be simply that the Government's plan is a divestiture?

Mr. McKay: We feel that that should be sufficient, but we are faced with the definite statement by Mr. Wright that there will be an appeal.

Mr. Hays: The evidence that I would want to show in that connection, your Honor, is the difference that our plan will make in buying power, where the film comes from, and so on.

The Court: Well, they would be independent corporations, but whether they would act together or not is another question. Your plan is to separate them by towns in New York and Ohio?

Mr. Hays: Your Honor, may I recall to you a statement you made in your opinion, "The consent decree, therefore, brings up the question of whether the harsh determination of dissolution as urged by the Government should be compelled, or whether some adjustment or re-organization can [fol. 5425] be agreed on or fixed by the Court which will, as definitely as possible, prevent future violations."

That is why I am a little surprised that your Honor should bring up the punitive side of this thing.

The Court: Well, I used that word not in the ordinary sense, not in the nature of a penalty by fine, but in the nature of a remedy to which the Government is entitled.

Mr. Hays: Well, my point is that if it is a remedy then it must be based on conditions today and on evidence as to what will maintain future competition.

The Court: Well, you say we can do that just by stopping any further violations of the Anti-trust Laws, and leaving the organization as it is?

Mr. Hays: That may be in some cases. But I would want evidence to show that.

The Court: Well, we would have no lawsuit then at all. Just put the defendants on probation for a while.

Mr. Hays: As a matter of fact, these changes in practices in the past few years have changed the whole character of the industry.

Now, Mr. Heilbron has been handing me notes. I wonder [fol. 5426] if your Honor would let him say what he has to say instead of putting it through me.

The Court: Surely.

Mr. Heilbron: The analogy that I wish to make is one showing the difference in approach: After a defendant in a criminal proceeding has already been convicted, you have a record that he has committed an assault, let us say, for example. And yet the Courts, when defendants come before them for sentence, universally say, "I want to hear counsel so that I may know what the man's present occupation is, what he is doing now, and so forth.

It is true that there is a volume of testimony here. However, every word of that testimony was directed toward what the Government says in its reply "We only put in testimony here to show violations."

The thing that I can't get away from is your Honor's own judgment, which speaks of the purpose, the limited purpose, for the re-alignment, and that limited purpose is to restore and maintain competition. There are facts which are necessary to be introduced to show whether or not that purpose can be accomplished by any of the plans submitted. [fol. 5427] Your Honor is perfectly right when you say we may not and should not simply repeat where a theatre is located when that is already in the record, but we believe it is necessary to show what the impact of present conditions in the industry is on that theatre.

For example, let us go back to Bath: There are experts in the industry whom we may call. If the Government wants to call counter-experts, it may do so. An expert may take the stand and say that the purchasing power of the defendants—that which the Government so glibly calls "Excessive cir-uit buying power" and—that the purchasing power of an exhibitor in a town like Bath—and you prove it by distributors and by people who know the industry—cannot be exercised by one, necessarily, who has a circuit, because surrounding Bath there are these other towns, and various other circumstances. For instance, you would also show this—which is very important and is done in every industry—you would show a clocking, and you would take advantage of surveys available to show the number of theatre-goers from place to place——

The Court: Well, in Bath it seems to me it wouldn't be [fol. 5428] necessary to show the surrounding territory, the contiguity of towns on the outside, because there, in the absence of any proof whatsoever, the question is where the burden, if any, rests, whether the Court by reason of the fact that there is no such proof should exclude that town.

Mr. Heilbron: That is well phrased, your Honor, but we are at the point now where there are two plans before the Court, and the hesitancy of the defendants is brought about by this: If they remain silent then the Government says "We are free to take any inferences which you have left uncontested." As soon as we contest their allegations they state this—and Mr. Hays has referred to it, "You cannot supply facts by the assertion of counsel." And supposing your Honor agrees with us that we can, and then we go up on appeal and the Appellate Court says, "No, no, Mr. Hays, Mr. McKay. If you wanted to protect the rights of your client you should have gone before Judge Knight and insisted that you be permitted to supply those facts, not by assertion of counsel, but by calling your witnesses and putting those facts in the record. If you did not insist upon that, then you have been derelict in that respect. We can't [fol. 5429] consider it."

Furthermore, it is not only the plaintiff's plan that is in question here. The defendant has a plan, about which we claim it is a matter of right to show in every detail which the plaintiff has discussed that this defendants' plan covers the purpose and the letter and the intendment of the Court's judgment, and that that intendment was what your Honor said in his judgment, to restore and to maintain competition.

Now, to restore competition there must be facts to show what the condition was prior thereto. And we are not in disagreement as to the towns that weren't mentioned in the record, and I think probably we could get started on our way to take the testimony there.

The only reason that I am taking up more of your Honor's time—with which you have been very liberal so far—is because, as I see it, the focus of the testimony taken on the trial, as the Government admits, and now emphasizes, was not on what would happen competitively in the future; it was an attempt to show that there had been a violation. And I say that you cannot look at a plan in that light, and with [fol. 5430] as little repetition as possible, and for the benefit of both sides, mostly the defendants', because they are presently under attack, there should now be given, under your Honor's direction, the right to take testimony to deal exclusively with the problem of what should go into the plan, without dragging into that plan the consideration of what the Government did or didn't show with respect to those violations.

The Court: Well, I will look over these papers. It seems to me at the moment that so far as your motion to take proof is concerned, we have gone all over the various theatres in the New York area, and the theatres in Ohio and some of the other areas. So I would say on first blush that so far as your proposal to take testimony is concerned, we have got the situation before us in many of these towns from which we would be able to determine whether the plan is a right one or not.

We have also here the question as to your proposed plan, and that is simply a separation of the circuit into three corporations.

Now, take one of these towns, say, in Kentucky, that is proposed to be put under the ownership of the wives: In [fol. 5431] instances where there—two or three theatres in one town, you wouldn't want to go into the question there of whether there should be an elimination? What you are proposing broadly is that you include Kentucky and Maryland in one corporation. You don't propose to offer proof to show that in any of those towns you are justified in continuing your modus operandi there now, do you?

Mr. McKay: What we think about that, your Honor, if your Honor accepts our suggestion, we feel that we owe a duty to your Honor to support your Honor's decision before the higher court. Now, we in support of our suggestion would not have to offer the same detailed sort of testimony that we offer in opposition to the plaintiff's suggested plan. Our testimony in support of our plan would be confined more to demonstrating to your Honor the very small buying power that these separate corporations would have.

The Court: Well, take one corporation, for instance, New York: What do you want to show there? We have the evidence as to the theatres there, we know what they are.

Mr. McKay: We would like to show your Honor what has happened to the buying power since we have been buy- [fol. 5432] ing for open and closed towns separately as we agreed to do in 1942. We would like to show that since that time there has not been a single complaint that anybody was being deprived of product.

The Court: That is under the present organization or in this plan?

Mr. McKay: The plan would separate the New York theatres.

The Court: ~~Well, we have~~ the whole picture here. You wouldn't propose, after the testimony is taken, to have the Court finally cut out some of those theatres?

Mr. McKay: Absolutely not. Under no circumstances.

The Court: Well, I will look over these papers.

Mr. Heilbron: May I interrupt just a moment? This is still in answer to what your Honor asked Mr. McKay about the overall considerations here: The question of clearances would still present itself under the defendants' present proposed re-alignment, without any further proof in the record.

The Court: But what effect would that have on the plan?

Mr. Heilbron: Well, in the absence of proof, your Honor, it might have a great deal of effect. Where a plan is presented the proponent should have the right not only to show [fol. 5433] that the particular plan solves the problems which appear on the face, but also the lack of necessity of solving others. Now, Mr. Antevil sent me down from Gloversville a statement, and I was really amazed to see it.

The plaintiff stated that this question of clearances has not been one of arbitration. I find that in a number of cases Schine has been the complainant. Now, that is not in the record.

The Court: But in my mind, you have got a plan for the inclusion of all these theatres. Are we going to consider on the question of whether this plan should be approved where there has been or where there is not a conspiracy to effect unnecessary clearances and then say that that town should be taken out of this plan? You have submitted a plan here that comprehends the retention of all these theatres in New York, that is all there is to it.

Mr. Heilbron: No. Your Honor might say all right, but the Court on appeal might say "That is fine. You have cut down your buying power, but Judge Knight in his opinion said, 'One of the most troublesome questions in this case is that of clearances'. What have you put into the record as to the situation on clearances as it presently [fol. 5434] exists?" And we will have to say we didn't put anything in.

The Court: Well, supposing we find that there is a town where today you are exercising clearances unjustly and improperly. Would you cut that town out of the circuit under your proposed plan?

Mr. Heilbron: Well, we would rather find that out now than have the Government say that there is that particular town, without our even having a chance to show all the factors and take up all the questions to which your Honor referred. For instances, as to franchises: We shouldn't leave it to guesswork, if this goes on appeal, to have the Government say this plan does not eliminate the opportunity of the defendants to get franchises. We want to show what the present condition is as to admission practices, bank night, Bingo, and china give-aways. There is nothing in the record on any of those questions except the statements of counsel.

The Court: Well, it would be a re-trial of the issues as of today, by and large. That is what it would amount to.

Mr. Heilbron: No. It would just be supplementing with respect to a plan.

The Court: Well, what I mean is this: The plan propos- [fol. 5435] ing these things in detail speaks for itself, you might say. Here is a plan by which the groups are concentrated into three different organizations, and if under that plan certain orders in relation to clearances, and so forth, are carried out, well, that is sufficient rather than going to the extent of taking evidence all over again as to conditions as they exist today in distinction from conditions at the time of this trial. I certainly don't think any plan ought to require going to that extent.

Mr. Hays: May I make a suggestion, your Honor? Suppose you permit us to take testimony and provide in your order that we should not duplicate testimony that has already been taken?

The Court: Well, that would be pretty hard to follow.

Mr. Hays: That is right, but we would do our best.

The Court: The only way to eliminate duplication at all, it seems to me, would be to take testimony, if any, only as to towns concerning which there has been no evidence given as to conditions.

Mr. Hays: Suppose your Honor presently made that order, that we could take testimony as to those towns, without prejudice to our later making a further application. [fol. 5436] And you could determine later whether we should go any further.

The Court: Well, I am not deciding one way or the other. I am simply making the statement as a matter of argument. But I don't think it is material if you state today that you won't engage in clearances hereafter.

Mr. Heilbron: Well, may I point out that your Honor said we shouldn't take testimony as to towns that haven't been already considered? I say that you have to, because in each one of those town-, if you go back to the plaintiff's reply, they argue questions of clearance that date back to 1935, which are outdated, and even though this is in connection with a plan for the future. I say that you cannot fairly consider a plan if clearance is the thing to be emphasized, without considering what the clearance situation is in every town, and you can't take the record as it was taken at the trial because it is outmoded. I have gone over the analysis of the testimony and I find any number of clearance situations that were proved as of 1935 and 1936.

The Court: Well, of course, that again begs the question. You may today strictly be observing the provisions of the [fol. 5437] law in all respects as to clearances, cumulative buying, and things of that kind. But the Court has found the fact to exist that there has been a conspiracy here and has made some directions in regard to it.

Mr. Heilbron: But as your Honor said in the judgment, the purpose of the plan is to restore and maintain competition.

The Court: That is true.

Mr. Heilbron: Well, you can't say that a plan will restore competition merely because you have shown violations bearing on 1930 facts.

The Court: Well, there is no question in those towns where there has evidence been given to show that competition has been eliminated. The divide is on the question of where we start, whether now at this time we should take testimony as to present conditions as bearing upon the question of competition.

Mr. Heilbron: Only where there has been a change, and that is so because if there has been no change we can't offer any additional testimony. We don't gain anything by duplication.

The Court: Only where there has been a change in what, you mean?

Mr. Heilbron: Change in the conditions. We don't gain [fol. 5438] anything by duplication. But after all, if the Court is after the truth, that truth must speak as of today, if you are looking at competition.

The Court: Well, in certain towns if you have sold two theatres since the judgment or since the trial of this case, then, of course, a changed condition might exist.

Mr. Heilbron: Then is that the only circumstance under which a changed condition might exist? Why, a town may have become a war town since that time, and its population and whole trend may have gone up to a three-theatre town instead of a one-theatre town. I think that we should have an opportunity in every town to show and get into the record whatever changes there may be as to clearance, population, adjoining territory, anything else.

Mr. Hays: I have just looked at the plan of the plaintiff. It provides that we sell all theatres in seventeen towns, without regard to whether or not there have been any changes in them.

The Court: Well, I have looked at the plan.

Mr. McKay: Your Honor, I am handing up a memorandum that is in page proof form. It will be completed to-[fol. 5439] morrow. I particularly ask you to consider the jurisdictional statement as it relates to the function of the Court at this time, the appeal having been allowed and citation issued, as to whether the Court is not now necessarily required to await the return of the mandate from the Supreme Court before approving any plan.

The Court: But you aren't going to suggest any unnecessary delay?

Mr. McKay: We are not suggesting any unnecessary delay. That is why we are here urging this motion on your Honor.

The Court: Well, it seems to me you are urging it even though you say I have no right to consider it.

Mr. McKay: If the Court will permit us to take testimony we will proceed with the taking of testimony, so that upon the return of the mandate there will be a plan ready as to which there will be complete evidence.

The Court: If you are right in your position that we can't take any testimony in reference to the plan now, then our time is ill spent here.

Mr. McKay: Well, we made our position very clear at the very outset.

The Court: The point is if you have to await the position [fol. 5440] of the Court on the judgment as entered, of course, we lose all of our time here.

Mr. McKay: Well, we were hopeful that your Honor would permit us to start the taking of testimony.

The Court: Well, I don't know. The Supreme Court might take that view later on.

Mr. McKay: Well, we don't want to let the point pass without directing your Honor's attention to it. It is a serious matter for us. This is only a lawsuit to the plaintiff, but it is a very serious matter to us.

Mr. Heilbron: I would like to ask leave to submit a supplemental affidavit by Mr. Hays and also a memorandum of law and argument in support of the motion.

[fol. 5441] In the District Court of the United States

Defendants' Proposals Regarding Realignment of Schine Circuit

At the conference with the Court in Chambers on May 8, 1946, the defendants informally disclosed to the Court two tentative plans of possible realignment of the Schine Circuit, and the defendants promised that at the next hearing they would endeavor to elaborate and improve upon these plans. Without withdrawing either Plan 1 or Plan 2, the defendants now submit on Chart IV a further plan, designated Plan 3.

In submitting these plans, the defendants reserve all objections which they have heretofore made with regard to the formulation, adoption or approval at this time or at any time prior to the determination of the appeal in this case by the Supreme Court, of any plan for the dissolution, reorganization or realignment of the Circuit.

The defendants' position on this point is set forth at length in the memorandum submitted herewith, and although [fol. 5442] not repeated here is incorporated at length herein by reference. Anything that we may say infra regarding possible realignments or regarding the possibility of curing alleged abuses, or the possible willingness of the defendants to agree to certain conditions under which they would continue to do business, is subject and subordinate to that basic position and subject to the consent of the defendants and each of them to a complete solution of the entire problem which will not involve any conditions other than those hereinafter discussed and which specifically would not involve the sale or other disposition of any theatres.

In connection with our submission of this proposal, we point out to the Court that in the plaintiff's reply to our objections, there is no criticism, constructive or otherwise of the suggestions advanced by us on pages 111 to 124 of the objections, and that in the "plaintiff's comments on defendants' plan", the princip*le* criticism is that the plan is too simple, and the only suggestion is that the Court should not hold the hearing now fixed for May 28, 1946, to which the plaintiff's representative agreed at the time the date was fixed.

We submit herewith four charts.

[fol. 5443] In considering these plans, and particularly with reference to Plan 3, we direct the attention of the Court to the following feature which has not heretofore appeared in this case. Under Plan 3, the ownership, operation and management of the New York theatres is wholly separated from the ownership management or operation of theatres in any other state. This presents an entirely different aspect of the applicability of the Sherman Act to the operation of motion picture theatres from any heretofore presented in any antitrust case which we have been able to find.

In holding that the motion picture business is interstate commerce, and therefore, subject to the Sherman Act, the Courts have universally relied upon the case of Binderup v. Pathe Exchange, Inc., 263 U. S. 291. In the matter of United Artists v. Taylor, 273 N. Y. 334, the Court of Appeals was called upon to decide whether a transaction between a distributor located within the State of New York and a theatre also located in the State of New York constituted interstate commerce. The Court clearly distinguished such a situation from the situation which in the Binderup case, the Supreme Court had ruled to be interstate commerce, saying at page 339:

> "Probably by the sale to this appellant in this State by the producer in California of films manufactured in that State and elsewhere outside New York, and their transportation to this State is included within the operation of interstate commerce. (Binderup v. Pathe Exchange, Inc., 263 U. S. 291.) After those positive and negative prints have reached New York they have come to rest here. No longer do they continue a part of interstate commerce any more than oranges grown in [fol. 5444] Florida, automobiles built in Michigan, or textiles spun in Massachusetts. A new intra-state transaction occurs when this appellant, as distributor in New York, who has acquired the right to possession of the films and the license to transfer possession of them for purposes of exhibition in this State, makes contracts in this State for marketing them here. The facts herein differ materially in principle from those in Binderup v. Pathe Exchange, Inc., (supra), upon which appellant places strong reliance. There the distributors in New York contracted with the exhibitor in Nebraska and delivered in Nebraska. In this case, as far as the Appellate Division has held the transaction taxable, the distributor in New York city contracts with the exhibitor in New York city for delivery in New York City. In so far as this appellant deals with exhibitors in New Jersey and other States, that phase of the case is governed by the Binderup case."

It will be noted that in making this distinction, the Court of Appeals was not influenced in any way by the fact that this case involved taxation. What it decided was that when a distributor in New York State makes a contract with a theatre in New York State under which the distributor licenses the exhibition by an exhibitor of a motion picture in New York State, and delivers the print in New York State, the transaction is intra state.

Following this reasoning, it conclusively appears that the operation of New York State theatres by the New York corporation provided for either in Plan 1, Plan 2 or Plan 3, including the contractual arrangements under which these theatres obtain prints from the distributors does not in any way constitute interstate commerce and does not affect interstate commerce, the operation of said theatres having [fol. 5445] been completely separated from the operation of theatres without the state. Under Plans 1 and 2, the management and control is separated, although there is common beneficial ownership of extra-state theatres, but in Plan 3, even the ownership is separated. The only possible basis for the inclusion of the New York theatres in this litigation in the first instance had to be that the operation of the New York theatres in conjunction with the operation of theatres outside of the state, resulted in the use of the buying power of the New York theatres to affect transactions relating to theatres outside of the state, and thereby effecting interstate commerce. This has been completely eliminated by the proposed realignment.

We are confident that there is no decision in any reported motion picture case in conflict with the above position, and we submit that the motion picture industry is such a unique industry that no analagous case can be found.*

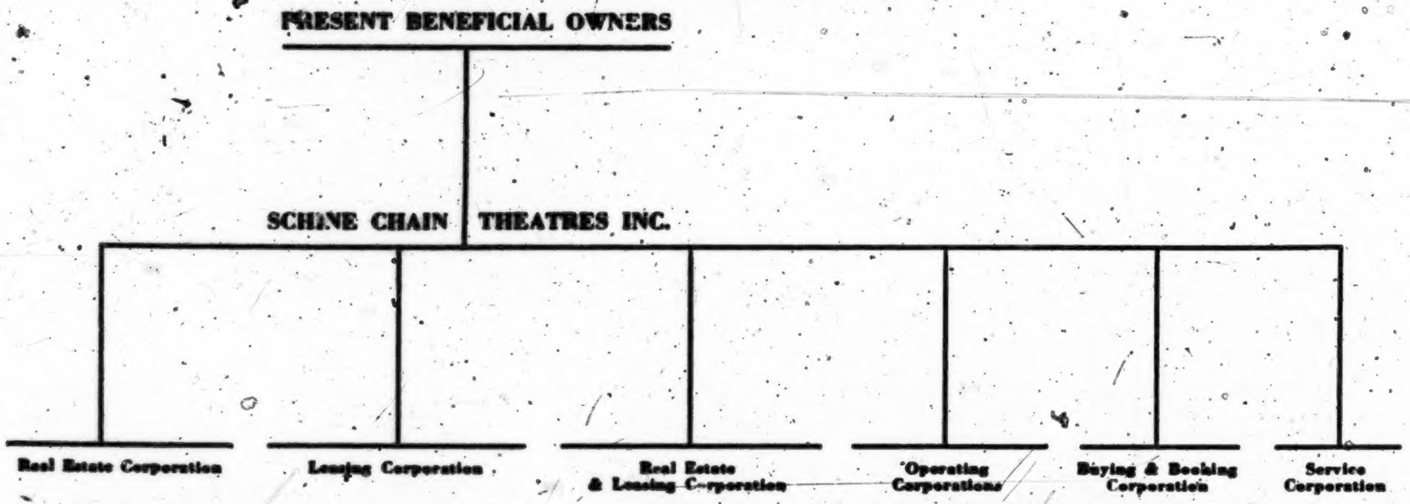
J. Theatres, Inc.* v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, 265 App. Div. 994, and Peekskill Theatre, Inc. v. Advance Theatrical Co., 206 App. Div., 138, although dealing with the Donnelley Act do not pass squarely upon this point.

CHART I

SCHINE CIRCUIT—PRESENT ALIGNMENT

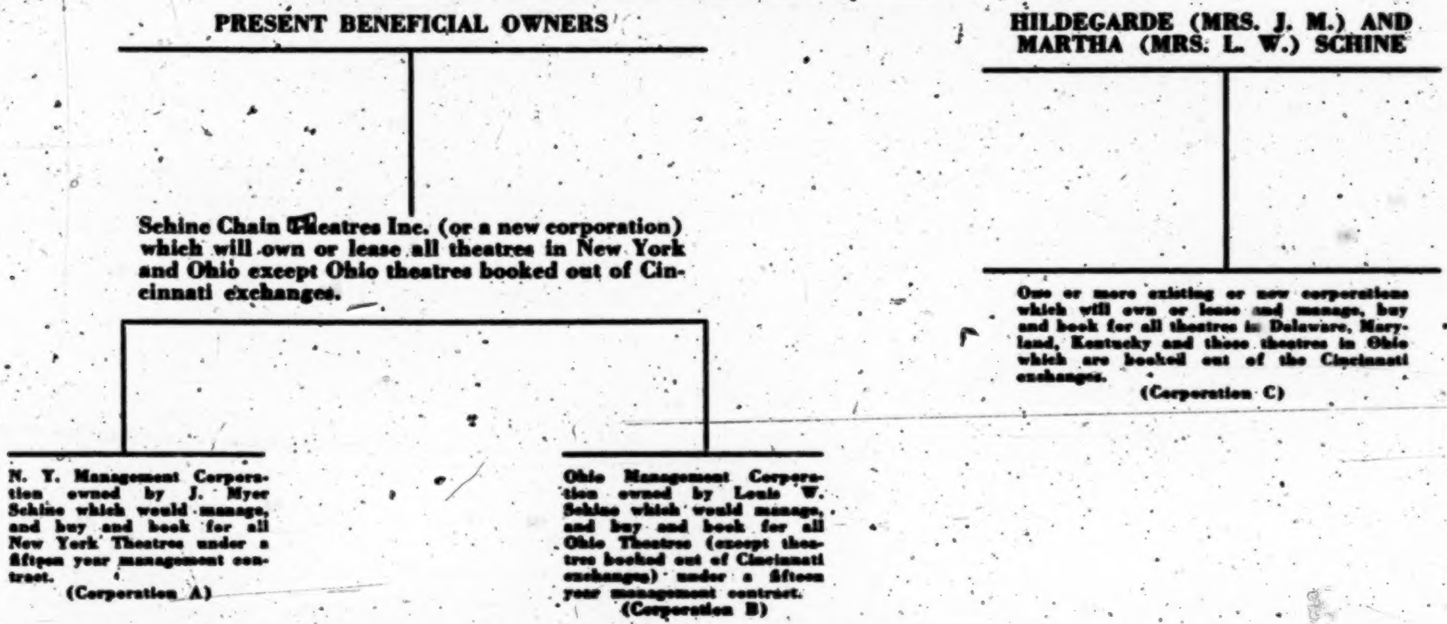


PRESENT BENEFICIAL OWNERS
SCHINE CHAIN THEATRES INC.
Real Estate Corporation
Leasing Corporation
Real Estate & Leasing Corporation
Operating Corporations
Buying & Booking Corporation
Service Corporation

1. The present beneficial owners are J. Myer Schine and Louis W. Schine. John A. May has no legal or beneficial ownership, either directly or indirectly.
2. All of the corporate defendants are included in one or more of the above categories.
3. In some cases a subsidiary is both a leasing and operating corporation or a real estate and operating corporation. In some cases a corporation may both own and lease theatres.

CHART II

SCHINE CIRCUIT—PROPOSED REALIGNMENT (PLAN 1)



PRESENT BENEFICIAL OWNERS

Schine Chain Theatres Inc. (or a new corporation) which will own or lease all theatres in New York and Ohio except Ohio theatres booked out of Cincinnati exchanges.

N. Y. Management Corporation owned by J. Myer Schine which would manage, and buy and book for all New York Theatres under a fifteen year management contract.
(Corporation A)

Ohio Management Corporation owned by Louis W. Schine which would manage, and buy and book for all Ohio Theatres (except theatres booked out of Cincinnati exchanges) under a fifteen year management contract.
(Corporation B)

HILDEGARDE (MRS. J. M.) AND MARTHA (MRS. L. W.) SCHINE

One or more existing or new corporations which will own or lease and manage, buy and book for all theatres in Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky and those theatres in Ohio which are booked out of the Cincinnati exchanges.
(Corporation C)

1. No officer, director or stockholder of Schine Chain Theatres Inc., or of Corporations A or B may, at any time, be an officer, director or stockholder of Corporation C.
2. No officer, director or stockholder of Corporation A may, at any time, be an officer, director or stockholder of Corporation B.

[fol. 5448]

CHART III

SCHINE CIRCUIT—PROPOSED REALIGNMENT (PLAN 2)

PRESENT BENEFICIAL OWNERS

Corporation No. 1 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all New York Theatres.

Under a voting trust agreement J. Myer Schine shall be the sole voting trustee subject to the limitations contained in said agreement.

Corporation No. 2 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all Ohio Theatres (except theatres booked out of the Cincinnati exchanges).

Under a voting trust agreement Louis W. Schine shall be the sole voting trustee subject to the limitations contained in said agreement.

Corporation No. 3 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all theatres in Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky, and the theatres in Ohio which are booked out of the Cincinnati exchanges.

Under a voting trust agreement Hildegarde (Mrs. J. M.) and Martha (Mrs. L. W.) Schine shall be sole voting trustees subject to the limitations contained in said agreement.

1. No officer, director or voting trustee of Corporation 1 may at any time be an officer, director or voting trustee of Corporation 2 or 3.
2. No officer, director, or voting trustee of Corporation 2 may at any time be an officer, director or voting trustee of Corporation 1 or 3.
3. No officer, director, or voting trustee of Corporation 3 may at any time be an officer, director or voting trustee of Corporation 1 or 2.
4. With respect to Corporation 3 it may be necessary to have two or more corporations but for the purposes of this plan they shall be treated as a unit.
5. The terms of the voting trust agreements provided for above, are to be subject to the approval of the Court, so as to assure independent management of each corporation, by the sole voting trustee or trustees. The voting trust agreements shall be for a term of ten years, subject to renewal at the discretion of the Court.

[fol. 5449]

CHART IV

SCHINE CIRCUIT—PROPOSED REALIGNMENT (PLAN 3)

Corporation No. 1 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all New York Theatres.

J. Myer Schine shall own all of the stock of Corporation No. 1.

Corporation No. 2 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all Ohio Theatres.

Louis W. Schine shall own all of the stock of Corporation No. 2.

Corporation No. 3 which will own or lease and manage, and buy and book for all theatres in Delaware, Maryland, and Kentucky.

Hildegarde (Mrs. J. M.) and Martha (Mrs. L. W.) Schine shall be the owners of all of the stock of Corporation No. 3.

1. No officer, director or stockholder of Corporation 1 may at any time be an officer, director or stockholder of Corporation 2 or 3.
2. No officer, director, or stockholder of Corporation 2 may at any time be an officer, director or stockholder of Corporation 1 or 3.
3. No officer, director, or stockholder of Corporation 3 may at any time be an officer, director or stockholder of Corporation 1 or 2.
4. With respect to Corporation 3 it may be necessary to have two or more corporations but for the purposes of this plan they shall be treated as a unit.

[fol. 5450] As part of either Plan 1, Plan 2 or Plan 3, the defendants suggest the following additional provisions:

1. Wherever, the interest presently owned by the defendants in any theatre is less than one hundred percent, such interest shall be included with the one hundred percent owned theatres in the area in which such partially owned theatre is located.

2. The injunctive provisions of the present judgment shall be binding upon the new corporations, provided for under either Plan 1, Plan 2 or Plan 3, except that there shall be no injunction against the acquisition or sale of theatres, the necessity for such injunction having been eliminated by the adoption of either plan.

Obviously there is no need for any injunctive provision against the sale of theatres. No such injunction was prayed for in the complaint, and what the plaintiff has been seeking to accomplish is exactly the opposite. With respect to the acquisition of theatres in the future, we submit that after either of these plans go into effect, there is no compelling reason for an injunction against the acquisition of additional theatres, except that possibly the Court might feel it advisable to prohibit the acquisition by one corporation of any theatre in the territory in which one of the other corporations was operating.

3. Corporations A, B, and C in the case of Plan 1, or corporations 1, 2 and 3, in the case of Plan 2 or Plan 3 shall maintain separate office facilities for the conduct of their respective business operations.

4. Each corporation shall license the motion pictures used by such corporation separately.

[fol. 5451] 5. The defendants shall have at least two years in which to put into operation the realignment suggested.

It will take two years to put a plan of realignment into operation, because there are numerous problems involved in connection with arriving at a fair valuation of the various properties, as between the present owners and the new owners, and there are also problems involved in connection with obtaining necessary consents and other authorizations required for the transfer of some of the properties. There are also serious personnel problems arising out of the necessity of organizing new competent management staffs. More importantly, there are extensive financial arrangements which will have to be made between the individuals arising out of separate instead of combined ownership. Since all of the earnings of the enterprise have been plowed back into the enterprise itself, the individual beneficial owners have no extensive independent financial resources aside from their ownership of the enterprise itself. The Court will recall that at the hearing of April 16, 1946, when the undersigned directed attention to the length of time which it had taken to put into operation the decree in the Crescent case (the decree in the Crescent case was handed down in March, 1943, the affirmance by the Supreme Court was in October, 1944, and no realignment has as yet been accomplished, the plaintiff having expressly consented to the last postponement which expires in July) counsel for the plaintiff stated that this was because of the fact that the various individuals involved had to make financial arrangements in order to arrange for the separation of their interests and the Court accepted this explanation as entirely logical.

6. There shall be included the following suggested remedies, discussed in the "defendants' objections to plaintiff's [fol. 5452] so-called plan of reorganization", filed on April 1, 1946, none of which were criticized or objected to in any way in the plaintiff's reply brief, or in the "Comments on Defendants' Plan", to wit:*

A

Alleged Excessive Circuit Buying Power

Schine will agree to continue the segregation of film-buying as between "open" and "closed" towns provided for by the Consent Order of May 19, 1942.

This alleged abuse is the one upon which the Court seems to have placed the greatest emphasis. The Court attributes this buying power to the fact that the Schine Circuit is claimed to have combined "open" and "closed" towns in its dealings with the distributors. The Opinion also states that Schine was accustomed to buying product for theatres not owned or occupied by it. This, the Court says, brought about and increased the ability of Schine to dictate terms to the distributors.

* The following suggested remedies are paraphrased and summarized from pages 112 to 124 inclusive of our objections, filed April 1, 1946, but are repeated here for the convenience of Court and Counsel.

Of course, the above alleged abuses, and all other abuses mentioned in the Opinion and in the Findings of Fact occurred if at all prior to May 19, 1942. No violation of the Act since that date has been claimed or could be proved. Any abuse which may have resulted from combining "open" and "closed" towns, in making deals with distributors, was eliminated by the provisions of the Consent Order of May 19, 1942, under which the Schine Circuit agreed to buy separately for its "open" towns and its "closed" towns. (See our brief dated February 25, 1946, pp. 21-22.)

[fol. 5453] With respect to the authority of Schine to buy and book for theatres not owned or operated by it, we have already pointed out that all of Schine's existing booking contracts at the present time are made with theatres in which it has a financial interest, with the exception of the summer theatre at Sacandaigua Park, New York, and that the same observation applies to all contracts in force at the time of the commencement of this litigation. (There was a contract with the Big Stone Theatre, Big Stone Gap, Virginia, running from May, 1940 to February, 1941. Schine had no financial interest in this theatre except an option to purchase a one-half interest. It received a total compensation of $208.36 for its services under the contract and the theatre owner defaulted in performance thereof.) It is, therefore, not a correct statement to say that Schine's buying power has been increased because it buys for theatres in which it has no financial interest.

Irrespective of the extent of the buying power of the Circuit, there is no evidence in the case to show that this buying power was used to purchase pictures which were not needed by the Circuit for exhibition in theatres operated by it, or to purchase pictures at prices lower than those which a competing theatre was willing to pay. Therefore, the fact that in certain instances when Schine had a contract for product, a competing exhibitor was unable to obtain the same product for the same run, cannot, standing alone, be cited as a violation of the Sherman Act.

The segregation of buying power as between "open" and "closed" towns, as provided by the Consent Order was entirely satisfactory from May, 1942 to May, 1944, and should be a satisfactory solution now. The buying power of these theatres has been further decentralized under each [fol. 5454] of the plans of realignment by dividing up the theatres as indicated in the plans.

With respect to this segregation of buying power, Mr. Wright in presenting the Consent Order of May, 1942, to the Court, stated at page 6 of the transcript of that date:

> 'Mr. Wright: I think it goes further than the consent decree in the other case. One of the allegations in the complaint here, if your Honor recalls, is that the——

B

Clearance

Schine will agree to arbitration of all disputes regarding Clearance.

This alleged abuse seems to be the second in importance in the Opinion of the Court and in the Findings.

As we have already pointed out in our brief, dated February 25, 1946 (pp. 13-15, 19 and 26, 27 and 28), there is no evidence in this case that any of the clearances referred to in the Opinion and Findings were in fact unreasonable. An analysis of some of the clearances, to which reference is made, would show that they meant absolutely nothing.

In any event there is now in existence machinery especially designed and effectively operating to handle all disputes regarding clearance. We refer to the arbitral system set up under the Consent Decree in the Southern District of New York and supervised by the American Arbitration [fol. 5455] Association. Reference to this system is made on pp. 26 and 27 of our brief, dated February 25, 1946.

In submitting the arbitration provisions of the Consent Decree to the Court in the Paramount case, Assistant Attorney General Hayes, representing the United States, said:

> "And I may say in that connection that it has long been felt, both by exhibitors and by distributors, that there is no fairer way to handle and dispose of complaints concerning clearance then to have the clearance fixed by some impartial arbitrator, and that is precisely what is accomplished by Section VIII. * * * Those > of us who have worked on this decree after reviewing, as I said at the very beginning, the numerous industry problems in all their ramifications with the government representatives keeping constantly before their eyes, as was their duty, the complaints of exhibitors and the complaints of public groups, are of the opinion that the decree is a desirable forward step. We believe it will work. We believe it will produce good. We recommend the decree to your Honor."

As a practical matter, since the institution of this system, the Schine Circuit has voluntarily participated in the arbitration proceedings in every case where one of its theatres was involved.* A formal consent by Schine to continue this practice in the future would furnish an effective and expeditious manner of disposing of all clearance disputes in which any of the Schine theatres might be involved.

[fol. 5456] In order to anticipate any objection on the part of the plaintiff that only the so-called Big Five are bound by arbitration proceedings under the Paramount Decree the Schine Circuit will agree (subject to the reservations herein set forth) that any clearance fixed by the arbitrators in any proceeding involving Schine and any one or more of the Big Five shall be the clearance to prevail on all contracts affecting the situation under arbitration, irrespective of the distributor. If this is not satisfactory, the Schine Circuit will agree to arbitrate clearances, not covered by the arbitration system under the Paramount decree, under the Rules of the American Arbitration Association.

It appears that numerically more instances of claimed unfair clearance are mentioned in the opinion and findings than any other single alleged abuse. It is submitted that the above suggestion furnishes a convenient, expeditious and impartial forum for the correction of any and all abuses in relation to clearance.

The plaintiff may now argue, reversing the position previously taken by it with respect to clearance, as indicated by the quotation from Mr. Hayes at page 11 supra, that clearance per se, is illegal. In fact, in the course of the final arguments in U. S. v. Paramount, et al., Mr. Wright stated point blank in answer to direct questions asked by Judges Hand and Bright, that although at one time he had not thought that there should not be any clearance provisions at all by anybody, he now does so think and desires to scrap the Consent Decree completely insofar as it purports to arbitrate the clearance.* If the plaintiff should be success- [fol. 5457] ful in establishing this proposition, there would be no need to consider clearance remedies at all as far as Schine is concerned, because clearance would not exist.

* The records of the defendants to indicate that since May 19, 1942 they have participated in 16 arbitrations under this system, in 9 of which they have been respondents and in 7 of which they have sought relief from alleged excessive clearance granted other exhibitors over Schine Theatres.

C

Franchises

Schine has no franchises now and subject to the reservation hereinafter set forth will not enter into any in the future.

The Court attributed a considerable part of the advantage which it found that Schine had over so-called independents to the fact that Schine was in the habit of making franchises (i.e., film contracts covering a period of more than one year) with the various distributors.

Although much has been said in the Opinion and in the Findings to the effect that Schine was able to obtain "concessions not obtainable by independents" because of the existence of these franchises, there does not appear in the record a single instance where a so-called exhibitor was unable to obtain the same provisions in his contract as were to be found in the Schine contracts if he had asked for the inclusion of these provisions. Nor does there appear in the record any instance where an exhibitor—a so-called independent—was unable to make a franchise agreement with a distributor for any product that was open for his theatre, if he so desired. The record shows that in making franchise agreements no distinction is made between large circuits and independent exhibitors operating only a few theatres and more franchises have been issued to the latter than to the former (T. 2468, Exs. 741 to 744; T. 1166, 4457, 4488, 4614, Exs. D-47, D-48, D-123 to 129; T. 1170). Any failure

* (See p. 2572 "Arguments", U. S. v. Paramount, et al., previously furnished the Court. Note also Judge Hand's comment at p. 2702.)

[fol. 5458] on the part of a so-called independent to license motion pictures under franchises, or to obtain in his film contracts provisions similar to those found in the Schine contracts, was due not to his inability or to superior circuit buying power on the part of Schine, but to his own ignorance, or indifference.

Irrespective of the foregoing, all of the franchises held by the Schine Circuit were voided by the Consent Order of May 19, 1942 and, subject to the above stated reservations, it would be possible to provide that no franchises shall be made in the future. Any such provision would, of course, have to be subject to a further provision that if licensing by franchise again became prevalent in the industry, then the Schine Circuit would be permitted again to license films under franchises to the same extent as other exhibitors.

D

Other Alleged Abuses

The Opinion and Findings and Conclusions mention other alleged abuses, but these do not appear either prevalent or important, if the suggestions made above are adopted.

1. Presumably it will be conceded that business stimulants, such as Bank Nights, Bingo, Two-for-One, China Give Aways, etc., were wholly the result of the depression starting in the early 1930s, and have now almost entirely disappeared. Certainly they do not exist to such extent as to constitute them unfair competitive practices.

2. Changes in admission prices are almost entirely seasonal, or the result of unusual conditions in a particular locality. It is natural for a distributor, who has had a long [fol. 5459] period of experience with a particular exhibitor (whether the owner of a single theatre or a large circuit), whom he has found to be a capable theatre operator, to leave to the judgment of that exhibitor the question of admission prices. No instance has been shown in this case where any one was harmed by changes in admission prices made by Schine and, in any event, a very mild injunctive provision would be all that is required to eliminate this possibility in toto.

Furthermore, although until the submission of its brief in reply to our objections, the government always contended that the admission prices charged by Schine in certain towns were too low, the government now claims that Schine overcharged its customers (plaintiff's reply brief, page 12).

3. The Court has included in the Judgment a provision against so-called non-competitive agreements. A number of these agreements were physically introduced in evidence, but no attempt was made to analyze the same, or any of them, nor was any evidence introduced indicating that they had in any way operated to restrain competition. The obvious purpose of these agreements was to protect the good will which the Schine Circuit was buying in connection with its purchase of the land and buildings in which a certain motion picture enterprise was being operated. Such an agreement, properly limited as to scope, has always been upheld by the courts as entirely legal and proper. If, in any instance, the defendants have overstepped the bounds, this should be pointed out to them so that in the future the scope of the agreements will be properly limited. We are certain that the Court did not intend absolutely to forbid the making of any such agreements at all.

Conclusion

As we have already stated, the plaintiff did not criticize any of these suggestions either in its reply brief or in its "comments". Nor did the plaintiffs make any suggestion as to the possibility of improving upon any of them, a fact which, we submit, justifies us in assuming that their incorporation in either Plan 1, Plan 2 or Plan 3 will result in a satisfactory solution of the problem before this Court, without invoking a remedy which the Court has already criticized as "harsh" and which Assistant Attorney General Hayes, when speaking only of divorcement of exhibition from distribution, a much milder remedy, characterized as "chaos" (Arguments, p. 2715).

Either of the Plans submitted herewith will bring about three separate management units, each with a very limited buying power. There are today many independent theatre circuits all over the United States, not subject to government attack, with much greater buying power than any one of the units suggested under the three Plans.

• • • • • • •

The separation of beneficial ownership provided for under Plan 3 takes care of the question of inter-family control, which the Court mentioned at the discussion in Chambers on May 8th. Plan 3 is entirely consistent with the realignment provided for in the Crescent case and approved by the Supreme Court. In the Crescent case the Court was not at all concerned by the fact that the separate units provided for by the decree would be owned in whole or in part by an individual, the wife of the individual and the son-in-law of the individual. If the Court, upon fur- [fols. 5461-5462] ther study, should still feel that there may be "aggravated situations" as suggested during the course of the discussion on May 8th, this question can be cleared up by the taking of testimony with respect to those situations as prayed for in defendants' motion to be presented concurrently herewith.

Respectfully submitted subject to the above reservations,
Willard S. McKay, Attorney for the Defendants.
Arthur Garfield Hays, Howard M. Antevil, of Counsel.

DEFENDANTS' MEMORANDUM OF MAY 28, 1946

As a part of this memorandum we are resubmitting bodily "Reply Brief for Defendants", dated May 7, 1946. We are also including a concise chronological statement of the defendants position regarding the jurisdictional situation in this case, as it has developed since the opinion was handed down, together with what we hope will be a final statement regarding the Consent Order of May 19, 1942.

We are also dealing briefly with other matters touched upon in the "Plaintiff's Comments on Defendants' Plan", served since service of our reply brief. Defendants are also submitting concurrently herewith their proposals regarding possible realignment of the Schine Circuit, which were tentatively presented to the Court on May 8, 1946, and also offered to plaintiff's counsel for the sole purpose of studying the same and commenting thereon. In these proposals we have concientiously endeavored to meet the suggestion made by the Court regarding inter-family control of the [fol. 5464] separate corporations. Since the plaintiff has offered no constructive criticism of our tentative proposals, either as to the machinery set up or the suggestions previously embodied in our objections to the plaintiff's plan, except the assertion that our plan of realignment is too simple and should have been submitted long ago, we have addressed ourselves only to the suggestions of the Court.

We have not dealt in this memorandum with our motion for the taking of testimony, which is to be presented concurrently herewith, and which is covered in separate affidavits and memoranda.

I

The Jurisdictional Situation

The opinion in this case was handed down on October 8, 1945 and the Court suggested that new findings be submitted by counsel in the light of the opinion. In its haste to obtain the entry of a judgment, the plaintiff did not prepare any new findings but simply split up the factual parts of the opinion into numbered findings of fact and sent these along together with new proposed conclusions of law and a proposed judgment. Counsel urged the Court that the judgment be entered immediately and stated that any questions which the defendants desired to raise could be raised under Rule 52B. The Court adopted this suggestion and refused the request of defendants' counsel, who had been ill, for ten days in which to complete new proposed findings. So hasty was the plaintiff in procuring the entry of a judgment that it even carried over from the opinion into the new findings a mistake regarding clearance between Hornel and Earlville, which, months later, it characterized as a [fol. 5465] typographical error and said that the town mentioned should have been Hamilton. The mistake itself was unimportant, but its adoption by the plaintiff typifies the blind haste which has characterized the plaintiff's attempt to enjoy immediately the fruits of its victory.

The judgment was entered on October 31, 1945 and on November 9, 1945 an order was entered on consent extending the time to move under 52B to December 7, 1945.

Plaintiff's counsel particularly desired this extension because he was then engaged in the trial of the case of U. S. v. Paramount, et al. in the Southern District of New York, although this engagement had not prevented his taking time out to prepare and procure the entry of the findings and judgment.

Although the defendants had until December 7th to make their motion under 52B, the motion was made on November 10th, which was within the original ten days allowed by the rules, so that the extension was of no benefit to the defendants. This motion was noticed by the defendants for hearing on December 10th. On November 28th the plaintiff requested the defendants for further time within which to move to amend the findings of fact and for a postponement of the defendants' motion to amend which was then set for hearing on December 10th. This request was granted by the undersigned attorney and the hearing of the motion and the time to move to amend the findings was adjourned to February 4, 1946.

On December 6th the defendants made a motion returnable on December 17th to stay the execution of, or any proceedings to enforce, the judgment pending final determination of the defendants' motion under Rule 52B. The plaintiff thereupon requested that this motion likewise be [fol. 5466] postponed to February 4, 1946, and the undersigned counsel granted that request.

At this time in discussing the matter with plaintiff's counsel, the undersigned took the position that the pendency of the defendants' motion under 52B would suspend the operation of the judgment until the determination of said motion and cited to plaintiff's counsel in support of this position, Moore's Federal Practice, Vol. 3, page 3120, reading as follows:

> "In the April, 1937, Draft it was provided that 'the pendency of the motion (to amend the findings or make additional findings) does not affect the finality of the judgment or suspend its operation.' This provision was stricken on the theory that the motion should have such an effect.
> "It must be made not later than 10 days after entry of judgment. The motion may be made with a motion for a new trial. As to whether the time for the motion to amend can be extended, see Sec. 607, supra."

The defendants' motion under 52B was postponed from February 4, 1946 to February 25, 1946, because of the illness of the undersigned attorney and was argued on that day. A few days prior to the argument the plaintiff filed a "Plan" under paragraph III of the judgment.

Upon the argument defendants' counsel (Mr. McClennen) argued that no plan should be considered or adopted until the Supreme Court had determined the defendants' appeal. The Court at that time seemed impressed with defendants' contention, but was more impressed by the contention advanced by the plaintiff that there should not be more than one appeal in the case and thereupon set a hear- [fol. 5467] ing on the plaintiff's plan for April 16th, with the requirement that defendants' objections be filed on March 25th. It should be borne in mind that at that time the parties and the Court were operating under the original judgment which expressly provided for a plan.

While the defendants were preparing their objections the Court on March 8, 1946 handed down a decision on the respective motions of plaintiff and defendants under Rule 52B, allowing each in part and denying each in part. However, among the plaintiff's requests granted were requests for amendments to the Conclusions and Judgment.

With the same haste that had characterized the submission of the original judgment, plaintiff now submitted to the Court a proposed amended judgment which contained not only the amendments granted by the Court in response to the motion, but which eliminated from paragraph III of the original judgment the second and third sentences which were the only sentences in the judgment relating to the submission or adoption of a plan. No request for this amendment was before the Court on the motion.

When this came to the attention of defendants' attorney, he directed the Court's attention to this fact and requested that the Court withhold entry of the new judgment until time had been afforded to check all of the provisions of the judgment with the Court's decision and ascertain whether there were any further discrepancies. A few days later the Court was advised that defendants' counsel had found no other discrepancies and that as to the elimination of the two sentences in question defendants' counsel did not take any position. In all frankness, at that time we had not had time to give serious consideration to the probable effect of [fol. 5468] the elimination, but felt that we had discharged our duty to the Court by calling it to the Court's attention.

The Court thereupon signed and entered an amended judgment eliminating the two sentences. Therefore, the amended judgment, which is the only judgment now operative, contains no provisions whatsoever regarding the submission or adoption of a plan, and while it might have been argued that the original judgment was interlocutory and appealable only when it had been implemented by the adoption by the Court of a plan, no such argument can be made regarding the new judgment which is complete on its face and can be read and passed upon by the Supreme Court without any further implementation by the District Court.

It is not at all strange that the Court signed the judgment as presented by the plaintiff. In the first place, the Court undoubtedly felt that the plaintiff, as the successful party, should be given, so far as possible, the kind of a judgment that it requested. In the second place the Court was undoubtedly influenced by the quasi-judicial status which the Department of Justice is expected to and has traditionally occupied in litigation conducted by the Department. Unfortunately in this case, the plaintiff has disregarded this tradition and chosen rather to adopt the "hurry, hurry, hurry" attitude of the circus barker. Under these circumstances certainly no one but the plaintiff can be held responsible for the situation which presently exists.

The amended judgment was entered on March 29, 1946. The defendants' Objections to Plaintiff's Plan were completed and mailed from New York on March 29th before defendants knew that the amended judgment had been entered and before defendants knew that the references to the submission of a Plan had been deleted. On pages 8 and 9 [fol. 5469] of the Objections we discussed the situation as it existed at the time the Objections were being prepared and specifically reserved our rights in the premises. Shortly before the hearing on April 16th the plaintiff, without authorization under either the original judgment or the amended judgment, filed a "Reply to Defendants' Objections." Upon receipt of this paper the undersigned filed a motion noticed for hearing on April 16th, asking the Court to stay any further action under the second and third sentences of paragraph III of the original judgment, in view of the fact that these sentences had been eliminated from the amended judgment and that there was no further warrant for any action thereunder.

On April 15, 1946, defendants filed their notice of appeal from the amended judgment. The situation, therefore, at the time the undersigned appeared before this Court on April 16th was that an appeal had been filed from the amended judgment, but no order allowing the same had as yet been made.

This appeal was the subject of colloquy between the Court and counsel, appearing at pages 7, et seq., of the transcript of April 16, 1946. During this colloquy the undersigned flatly stated to the Court that the defendants' position was that the judgment on its face is complete and that there are no references therein to any plan requiring any action by the parties or the Court prior to the appeal. The position of the plaintiff was stated to be that there was no appealable order in the case and that there could not be an appealable order until there was an approved plan of dissolution. The defendants' position was put squarely before the Court at that time by the statement by the undersigned that the appeal which had just been filed did not [fol. 5470] require the consideration by the Supreme Court of any plan, that the amended judgment of March 29th is a complete final judgment as it stands and does not require any explanation or elucidation; and the question having been raised by the Court, the undersigned stated that when any plan was approved there would be another appeal.

The question was again raised on page 34 of the transcript and the Court in answer to an inquiry by plaintiff's counsel stated that as yet no order had been entered allowing the appeal. The undersigned thereupon (p. 35) pointed out that the allowance should be automatic.

On April 17th the Court signed the order allowing the appeal and subsequently a citation was issued, dated as of the day of the order.

It is the position of the defendants that with the allowance of the appeal and the issuance of the citation the jurisdiction of the case passes from the District Court to the Supreme Court and that the District Court has no further jurisdiction until the return of the mandate from the Supreme Court except to perform the ministerial acts provided for by the Rules of Civil Procedure and the Supreme Court Rules.

Plaintiff's counsel in effect conceded the correctness of this position when he argued that the amended judgment was not appealable until it had been implemented by the adoption of a plan and in counsel's letter of April 22, 1946, addressed to Edward F. McClennen, Esq., which states among other things as follows:

> "Since the record that we should like to have incorporated in any appeal has not yet been completed, and since we would also wish to file a statement opposing jurisdiction until a plan to effectuate Section [fol. 5471] III of the judgment has been approved by the Court, we think the record on appeal would be simplified if the order of allowance were postponed until approval of such a plan."

The statement opposing jurisdiction to which counsel refers is provided for in paragraph 3 of Rule 12 of the Supreme Court Rules and we respectfully submit that if the plaintiff contends that the appeal has not been properly taken to the Supreme Court and that jurisdiction is not now vested in the Supreme Court, the only way that the question can be raised is under the above mentioned rule and a motion under Rule 7, paragraph 3.

Notwithstanding what we consider our very strong position on this point, we have consistently indicated our willingness to cooperate with the Court in endeavoring to arrive at a plan, but we have invariably been met by claims on the part of the plaintiff impugning our good faith, questioning our motives, charging that we are seeking only delay and, most recently, a Gromyko-like attitude of indicating an unwillingness even to attend a hearing which was fixed by the Court after consultation with counsel representing both sides.

The defendants have consistently reserved all of their rights with repect to jurisdiction and a continuance of plaintiff's arbitrary and unfair attitude may conceivably force us to give up our efforts to cooperate and to stand on our legal jurisdictional rights. If this should result in a confused situation, or in delay, which we are certainly not seeking, there will be nobody to blame but the plaintiff.

II

The Consent Order of May 19, 1942

We thought that our discussion of the consent order in this case, which appears at pages 18 to 21 of "Reply Brief for Defendants", dated May 7, 1946 (which is included infra) had completely laid the ghost of this order. However, when we received "Plaintiff's Comments on Defendants' Plan" we found that plaintiff places its main reliance, in endeavoring to persuade the Court to accept and approve its harsh and illogical plan, upon this order which was entered upon consent in May, 1942 for the avowed purpose of avoiding a trial of this case at a time when the country had only recently become involved in the most destructive war in its history, and which order expired on and was of no further force or effect after November 15, 1944. In using this order as an argument to prejudice the Court against the defendants at this time plaintiff wholly disregards the plain intendment of the order as set forth in paragraph II, subdivision 1, relating to jurisdiction, and the statement of defendants' counsel at the time the order was presented to this Court, which appears in the record of May 19, 1942, at page 8, as follows:

> "The defendants in this case, the exhibitor-defendants, have consented to the entry of this order and they are motivated very largely by consideration of the fact that under the conditions as they exist now the time of this Court, the time of Government attorneys, and the time of their own attorneys and their executives should not be taken up for a period which we estimate at six months in the trial of this case.
> [fol. 5473] "For that reason we have made what we consider very substantial sacrifices, and for that reason we have consented, subject to your Honor's approval, to the entry of this order."

The misuse which the plaintiff has made of this order, and its misrepresentations regarding the same both orally and in writing since the entry of the original judgment herein, are nothing short of outrageous.

The plaintiff in all of its proposals regarding the adoption of a plan has urged the Court to enforce the consent order as if it were still in effect, when at the very start of the order it is plainly provided that it "shall be in effect from the date hereof (May 19, 1942) to and including May 19, 1944." This date was subsequently extended to November 15, 1944, at which time it expired for good and all, and the defendants thereupon, on the very next day, filed a report showing five theatres still undisposed of and stating that notwithstanding repeated efforts they had not been able to dispose of the same. The fact that all the defendants were required to do was to use their best efforts to dispose of the theatres named in the order is clearly shown by the next to the last paragraph of paragraph II, subdivision 4, of the original order and paragraph 4 of the order of May 31, 1944. The plaintiff never exercised the privilege granted to it under said last mentioned order to renew its motion for the appointment of a trustee, which privilege could be exercised only after "* * * the exhibitor-defendant shall fail to have made reasonable efforts to comply with said order, or shall have been unable at the expiration of six months from May 15, 1944 to dispose of said theatres." Nevertheless the plaintiff has consistently claimed that the failure of the defendants to dispose of these theatres was [fol. 5474] contumacious and justifies the Court now in entering a confiscatory decree for the dissolution and disruption of the remainder of the circuit.

Plaintiff states that by the acceptance of the six months extension provided for by the order of May 31, 1944, the defendants avoided the appointment of a trustee for the sale of the theatres. The opinion of the Court, dated May 4, 1944, provided that if Schine did not notify the Court in writing that it would accept the six months extension, a trustee would be appointed (not for the purpose of selling the theatres, but) for the purpose of making a survey of the theatre properties and advising the Court as to what action should be taken with regard to them. Furthermore, during the six months period, the defendants did succeed in disposing of four theatres, and upon the filing of the report of November 16, 1944, the Court and even the plaintiff, at that time, were apparently satisfied that the defendants had done everything possible to comply with the order. The plaintiff's reckless charges made for the first time with the submission of its plan four months after the entry of judgment and fifteen months after the final report fairly illustrates the willingness of the plaintiff to go to any lengths to destroy the Schine Circuit.

The plaintiff's statement that no disclosure as to Mount Vernon was made to plaintiff until the filing of our objections is untrue. This situation was discussed at length in Washington with representatives of the Department of Justice early in November, 1945, at the time that the lease was about to expire. The argument advanced by the plaintiff in the paragraph beginning at the bottom of page 4 of its "Comments" is particularly unfair and unwarranted. Here the consent order is treated as an admission of wrongdoing, whereas in entering into the stipulation covering the [fol. 5475] order the plaintiff expressly agreed that no violation of the Sherman Act was admitted. Furthermore, the injunctive provisions of the order do not presuppose or admit that the defendants were currently violating the law or engaging in the practices covered by the order, whether legal or illegal, but simply stated that the defendants would not in the future engage in any such practices without dealing with the legality or illegality thereof. We are frankly unable to understand how the Department of Justice, in the exercise of its quasi-judicial functions, can bring itself to suggest to the Court that the consent order can be used as evidence of any violation of the Act or of the existence of any "specific conspiracies" as indicated in the fourth line of the paragraph now under discussion. We frankly state to the Court that it is our honest belief that after reading the plaintiff's "Comments" the Court cannot possibly have any confidence in any of the contentions advanced by the plaintiff on the subject of implementation of the decree.

The plaintiff in the introductory paragraph of its "Comments" in addition to erroneously referring to the consent order as a "Plan to prevent the defendants from continuing to violate the Sherman Act in the conduct of their film business", states that the plaintiff's part of the agreement was the continuance of the suit for a two year period. The fact is, that both the plaintiff and the defendants desired to avoid the trial of this case during the critical period in which the country had only recently found itself. The defendants' statement to that effect was made by the undersigned counsel in open court and the plaintiff's statement to that effect was made by Mr. Thurman Arnold, the Assistant United States Attorney General, to the undersigned in Mr. Arnold's office in Washington, D. C., on the Saturday before the entry of the order when, in discussing [fol. 5476] the order, Mr. Arnold stated in the presence of Mr. Wright, in substance, that he had other matters in which he could more profitably use Mr. Wright's efforts and that he would be very glad to avoid the trial of the case at that time.

Mr. Wright himself stated to the Court at the opening of the trial in May, 1944:

> "The purpose of the order was, of course, to preserve the status quo pending the continuance of this suit and I assume that the order was obeyed."

III

In Re Plaintiff's Comments on Defendants' Plan

On page 2 of the "Comments" the plaintiff attacks our contention that there is no evidence indicating that the defendants have eliminated competition by the use of methods which are violative of the Sherman Act. We have reviewed the Findings and Conclusions and are unable to find any Finding or Conclusion to that effect.

The plaintiff refers several times throughout the Comments to the individual owners; i.e., J. Myer and Louis W. Schine, as having violated the Act and being "guilty", but a review of the Opinion, the Findings and the Conclusions reveals no reference to the individuals as such. This is quite different from the situation in the Crescent case where, notwithstanding specific findings against the individuals, Sudekum, Stengel and Rosenbaum, they were permitted to remain as owners of circuits so long as no two of them were interested in the same circuit. This same result is accomplished under Plan 3.

On pages 3 and 4 the plaintiff now admits that it has changed its position regarding the remedy to be applied, as we contended in our objections, but now says that the plan [fol. 5477] proposed by the plaintiff is not as drastic as that outlined in its main brief. Plainfiff further says that the divestiture suggested at page 60 of its main brief was that approved by the Supreme Court in the Crescent case. We claim that our Plan 3 comes as close to the remedy applied in the Crescent case as is possible under the physical setup of the theatres embraced in the Schine Circuit.

The plaintiff's claim that the record of the Schine defendants in suppressing particular theatre operating competition was considerably less favorable to them than that made by the Crescent defendants, is wholly untenable. The Crescent case was the first of the four cases involving a motion picture industry to be tried, and it was tried first because the plaintiff wanted to puts its best foot forward. The findings in the Crescent case consist of 187 Findings of Fact covering 144 printed pages. Contrast this with the 32 findings prepared by the plaintiff in this case, which consist of nothing more than a paraphrase of the Court's opinion.

The plaintiff's whole attitude is typified by its characterization of the judgment in this case as "the Court's dissolution judgment" (italics ours). This in spite of the fact that the use of the words "dissolution by the Court" was in its classic rather than punitive sense and that the Court plainly indicated its unwillingness to apply this harsh remedy.

Even when the plaintiff was arguing the Paramount case in the Southern District, it said to the Court, when discussing what it would do in the case of Twentieth Century-Fox if it had its way, that it would dissolve National Theatres Corporation, which is a holding corporation forming the link between Twentieth Century-Fox, as distributors, and "five large circuits in which National owns all of the stock, all of the National stock being owned by [fol. 5478] Twentieth Century-Fox Film", and that "in short, we submit that the law requires that each of the theatre operating affiliates of each of these defendants must be made to stand on its own competitive feet by dissolution measures of the kind that have already been applied to much smaller units in the industry." (See arguments in United States v. Paramount, et al., a copy of which has been supplied the Court, at page 2577, et seq.

Note that counsel referred to "positive dissolution measures". Further note, that the only cases counsel could have had in mind were the Cres-ent case and this case. In the Cres-ent case the separate circuits were not disturbed, except to be put under non-interlocking control, and that is what the plaintiff was arguing for in the discussion above referred to when it contended that each of the five large Fox Circuits should be made (and, of course, permitted) to stand on its own feet. At the time of this argument the plaintiff had not as yet even submitted a plan in this case.

After reading the "comments", page 5, we are now puzzled as to why the plaintiff cited the authorities referred to, in the first place. We had been under the impression that these cases were cited in the "reply to defendants' objections" to indicate the nature of the remedy customarily applied in anti-trust cases, but, after our analysis of these cases (pp. 13 to 17 of reply brief for defendants, dated May 7, 1946), showing that the realignment or reorganization ordered left the beneficial ownership unchanged, plaintiff, now, "comments" that the remedy discussed with approval by plaintiff in its "Reply" is not suitable or adequate here. Why? We know of no cases and certainly none are cited by plaintiff where a more drastic remedy has been adopted.

[fol. 5479-5512] The plaintiff's statement that if the decree in this case was not intended to divest the defendants of any theatres of any kind or description, then the trial of this suit was a nullity, because the plaintiff had already obtained by consent a limited theatre divestiture and the main purpose of the trial was to determine the extent to which further divestiture should be ordered, verges on the ridiculous.

The purpose of the trial was to prevent alleged violations of the Sherman Act, and if this can be accomplished by injunction, the remedy should be so limited. The divestiture provided for by the consent order was simply a concession made by the defendants as to the theatres which they had acquired since the trial started thereby voluntarily giving the plaintiff the benefit of an injunction pendente lite which it had sought from the Court, but had been denied. What the plaintiff is trying to do here is to apply to the small circuit operated by the defendants a special rule, while permitting the rest of the 17,000 motion pictures theatres in the United States to continue to operate as they did in the past and in the same manner as did the defendants prior to this law suit.

The plaintiff's plan should be rejected in toto.

If any realignment is necessary the proposals submitted by the defendants are sufficient to accomplish the purpose of the judgment.

Respectfully submitted, Willard S. McKay, Attorney for the Defendants. Arthur Garfield Hays, Howard M. Antevil, of Counsel.

DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR STAY

The defendants move the Court for a stay of all proceedings in connection with consideration, approval or enforcement of any plan or plans of dissolution, realignment or reorganization, said stay to continue until the determination by the Supreme Court of the United States of the Plaintiff-Appellee's motion to dismiss Defendant-Appellant's appeal, which motion is presently pending before it, and in the eve-t of the denial by the Supreme Court of the said motion, the stay to continue until final disposition by the Supreme Court of the present appeal itself.

Respectfully submitted, Willard S. McKay, Attorney for the Defendants.

Arthur Garfield Hays, of Counsel.
Dated New York, N. Y., June 7, 1946.

Transcript of Hearing

Proceedings had before Honorable John Knight, United States District Judge for the Western District of New York, at the U. S. Court House, Buffalo, New York, Monday, June 17, 1946, at 10 o'clock.

APPEARANCES:

Honorable George L. Grobe, United States Attorney for the Western District of New York, by Robert M. Hitchcock, Esq., Special Assistant U. S. Attorney, of counsel, for the United States of America.

Willard S. McKay, Esq., and Hays, St. John, Abramson & Schulman, by Arthur Garfield Hays, Esq., and Seymour M. Heilbron, Esq., and Howard M. Antevil, Esq., of counsel, for the Defendants.

[fol. 5516] Mr. Hitchcock: Your Honor, such opposition as there is to this motion is contained in a letter which was just handed to me by Mr. Grobe. It refers to a lett that was sent to you by the Government in reply to o which was sent to you by the attorneys for the defenda and states that the Government's position is fully stat in that letter to you.

I suggest that if Counsel want to be heard in argume if your Honor cares to do so, you could hear their argume then if Counsel for the Government want to submit an thing in opposition that they be given a limited time t do so.

The Court: This is a motion to stay——

Mr. Hitchcock: This is a motion to stay all proceeding I am not familiar with it. And as I understand it, th have no objection to a stay of execution but they do ha objection to the stay of all proceedings.

The Court: It isn't a question of staying execution; is a question of whether a plan be submitted and approv now. Is that it?

Mr. Hays: I might make it clear, your Honor, that in o argument we are not going to ask for a stay in the heari of evidence.

[fol. 5517] The Court: No. That has already been a gued. I will hear you.

Mr. Hays: If your Honor please, since we were last b fore this Court the Government filed a motion asking t Supreme Court to dismiss our appeal on the ground th the judgment appealed from was not a final one.

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: In other words, they left to the Supreme Cou the question of whether our appeal is sound or not; a we think that pending that nothing should be done in t case except perhaps the hearing of evidence as we ask before so that we can get all the evidence on the recor Then, if the time comes when a plan is presented, yo Honor will have all the evidence before you upon whi to base a plan.

One thing we feel sure of is that our appeal is not prem ture, and our reason for asking this stay is this: Ev today, with these suggestions of a plan which might bri about divestiture of theaters, we get constant inquiri about the prospects of change in our business. Our e ployes naturally wonder what is going to happen, natura [fol. 5518] discuss the matter with competitors, natura have in mind that certain theaters are going out of busine

As a result, any plan promulgated at the present time would be harmful to us. Now, we haven't brought this motion before the Supreme Court; the Government brought the motion. All we ask is that these proceedings be stayed except for the taking of evidence.

The Court: How does the appeal have anything to do with it? If the appeal were sustained we would be right back here with a plan. Why, in the meantime, while the matter is still pending before the Supreme Court, shouldn't a plan be submitted so that if the appeal is finally sustained it will be submitted with the whole case?

Mr. Hays: Because, your Honor, one very important thing is the continuity of our business, the stability of our business, and we are afraid of what will happen to our business if rumors get around that we are being required to divest ourselves of theatres.

The Court: Well, that is the situation now. But even if you are sustained in your appeal from the judgment, you would still go along, the plan would be submitted, and it [fol. 5519] would necessitate another appeal, doubtless.

Mr. Hays: But your Honor, that would do us a great deal of harm.

The Court: Well, how are you going to obviate that?

Mr. Hays: Why, by taking up this appeal and finding out whether we are right or wrong. We claim that this Court has no jurisdiction at this time, and that that was the situation before the Government came along and made its motion in Supreme Court to dismiss the appeal. We now ask that until the Supreme Court determines whether our appeal is proper that this Court shouldn't make any further orders.

The Court: Well, that is the same question we had before.

Mr. Hays: Yes, and we hesitated to come before the Court and make a motion on it. Now the Government has done that very thing. And, let me add, your Honor, that a great deal of water has passed under the bridge since we were here last: The Paramount decision seemed to me very, very important.

The Court: I don't know. I have examined that decision several times. It seems to me they criticise the very same things that this Court criticized, exactly.

[fol. 5520] Mr. Hays: That is true. But the decision in the Paramount case brings about a complete change in the industry. The chief argument of the Government here was that the Schine buying power restrained competition. Now that argument no longer exists because the whole industry is changed. The decision in the Paramount case finds that the moving picture companies violated the Anti-trust Law but deals with the situation by injunction and re-arranges the whole industry.

The Court: Will it require the separation of different companies in the Paramount case?

Mr. Hays: In the Paramount case no divestiture of any kind is ordered.

The Court: Oh yes, where two companies are held together——

Mr. Hays: You mean one is to sell out to the other?

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: A situation that I don't understand exists in our case. The chief impression I got from the Paramount case decision is that the Court decided, as it did, against any divestiture because of public interest. That is, instead of compelling theatres to be sold to other people, they said no; that these theatres were successful because of the [fol. 5521] energy and zeal of the operators, and that, because of public interest, they would not direct a divestiture if they could accomplish a restoration of competition otherwise.

The very first time I went to Washington on this case I was met by the never-ending cry of "Delay". I told Government Counsel that if they were fair they would wait to see what light the Paramount decision would throw on the situation. Now the Paramount decision has come down. There is no longer any danger in a group which has a large buying power monopolizing the industry, because from now on pictures are to be sold competitively, one by one.

But all that has to do with a plan—which I am not arguing now. I am trying to lay stress on the fact that here we have today a situation which is completely changed. There are so many other things in this Paramount decision that I think are particularly important: The whole question of clearances is solved; the whole question of franchises is solved.

The Court: How are clearances solved, and franchises? There is still nothing in the law that says they can't obtain [fol. 5522] them. There is nothing obligatory in the law, as far as clearances are concerned, that says what you shall do.

Mr. Hays: The Court directs, as I understand it, arbitration, and lays down certain standards under which clearances are to be determined.

The Court: That hasn't been done in this case.

Mr. Hays: No.

The Court: I realize that.

Mr. Hays: Another thing which is almost exactly in point on my argument here is that in the Paramount case the Court directs that proceedings shall be stayed pending the appeal. In other words, the Court allowed just what we are asking here, that pending appeal nothing further be done.

Now, the Government in its letter suggests that I have abandoned my plan of taking evidence. I haven't abandoned that at all. Even if this case is reversed, before any plan is promulgated I would still ask to take evidence. As I have told your Honor before, I am not trying to delay things, and I would be ready to take any evidence we can in the interim so that no time is lost whatsoever. What I am trying to persuade your Honor to do is not to enter any orders pending the appeal in Supreme Court.

[fol. 5523] The Court: I assume if there is a reversal of the judgment by the Supreme Court it would be a reversal of the plan that goes with it. You have your whole case there. I think you should go ahead with the case. If the outcome of the appeal affects the plan, the plan should be submitted too.

Mr. Hays: Suppose your Honor were right, and suppose we go to a final order here. Then suppose the Supreme Court, on this present motion the Government makes, refuses to dismiss, on the ground that this is an appeal from a final order. In that case your Honor has no jurisdiction. Now, the Government is raising that question in the Supreme Court——

The Court: Refuses to dismiss? You mean——

Mr. Hays: They have made a motion to dismiss, and we ask your Honor to do nothing further until that motion is decided.

The Court: I know, but I don't see how that has anything to do with it, because if your appeal is sustained then you will go right ahead and submit a plan, and then the plan and the whole case will go before the Supreme Court.

Mr. Hays: Well, I haven't made myself clear then, your [fol. 5524] Honor. As I understand, the Government's present motion is to dismiss our appeal on the ground that we are not appealing from a final order. Now, if the Supreme Court refuses to grant that motion to dismiss the appeal, that means we are appealing from a final order and it means this Court has no jurisdiction until our appeal is heard and determined by the Supreme Court.

The Court: Why do you say we have no jurisdiction if the appeal is sustained as being one from a final order?

Mr. Hays: You mean if our right to appeal is sustained?

The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: You have no jurisdiction, as I understand it, because we having appealed, all jurisdiction is now in the Supreme Court, and not in this Court at all.

The Court: I think this Court retains jurisdiction to pass upon a plan that is in accordance with the judgment itself.

Mr. Hays: I think that having taken our appeal, this Court has no further jurisdiction, and the whole matter is in the hands of the Supreme Court. And if the Supreme Court takes a position affirming your Honor's judgment, [fol. 5525] then I think a plan would have to be determined by you. But I can't see how anybody would lose anything by your Honor's granting our motion for a stay if, for instance, you were to permit us to take evidence in connection with these theatres before any plan is promulgated. We can do that in the meantime. All I am asking is, while this motion before the Supreme Court, and the appeal, is pending——

The Court: Well, this case is pending for seven years—since 1939. Of course, perhaps a considerable portion of that time was justifiable delay. But I think it ought to be closed up before long.

Mr. Hays: May I ask your Honor if the passage of time hasn't been helpful, as a matter of fact? The whole of the motion picture industry is involved, and we are simply a small segment of it. I think the Paramount decision ought to be very helpful to your Honor in determining what should be done in connection with any plan.

The Court: I think that decision is helpful to some extent, that is true. I think there are features of it that are important here.

Mr. Hays: Well, let me make this statement as to the Paramount decision: We certainly are entitled to equal [fol. 5526] justice with the other companies, and without discrimination. And where you have a decision of that sort, that remodels the whole industry, makes it do business on an altogether different basis, it seems to me that must be taken into consideration in connection with what we are to be required to do under a like judgment that we had violated the Antitrust Law. I think it gives us all an opportunity to consider the whole industry together, and for that reason any delay that has occurred up to the time of the Paramount decision, I should think, your Honor would regard as quite helpful.

The Court: The Paramount decision might have bearing along the line of suggesting changes as far as the dealings with the major companies or distributor companies are concerned, but it wouldn't go to the question of the monopolistic practices within the Schine organization in the acquisition of theatres.

Mr. Hays: Well, it takes away the only argument of the Government that the buying power in the Schine organization has put them in an unfair competitive position, and that is the only reason for which they say they want to [fol. 5527] divest Schine of theatres. And it also makes clear the fact that the Government is not trying to punish the violators but is trying to bring about a situation where there will be fair competition between them. For these reasons I should think it would be a relief to the Court to know that we can be treated in a fair manner.

But that is not what I am asking for here. My argument here is that, the Government having seen fit to make a motion to dismiss our appeal, where there is such an issue between the Government and us on that matter, I can't understand why we are not entitled to a stay until that matter is heard.

They didn't come to this Court; they went to the Supreme Court. They say this is not a final order. If it is a final order, it is an appealable order, and we are asking that we be permitted to go to the Supreme Court just as fast as we can to have that question determined, and while it is being determined all we ask your Honor to do is to stay these proceedings and not hurt our business.

We would agree to a stay of execution pending appeal, but a great deal of harm will have been done in the mean-

[fol. 5528] time. Letters come in by the hundreds, day by day, from people talking about the insecurity of our organization. We feel that—if this is a final order and if this appeal is heard—we are entitled to have things remain as they are, and now particularly, since the Government has put the matter up to the Supreme Court and taken it out of the hands of this Court.

The Court: Of course, you have to make a distinction between the Paramount case and the Crescent case. The Supreme Court decision is superior to the Three-Judge Court decision—I don't argue that for a moment. But I do say that the Crescent case involves the very questions that are here, while only some of the questions involved in both cases, clearances and other things, were decided in the Paramount case.

Mr. Hays: All that the Paramount case did was to find that these practices pointed out in the decision are in violation of the law. That is all. Then it provides for injunctions and grants a stay pending appeal. And here, where we ask the very thing which the Court granted there voluntarily, we are met with opposition. I don't understand why we should be in one position and the big com-[fol. 5529] panies in another, because these practices weren't developed by one small chain; they were developed by the whole industry. All I ask is that my client be treated as well as the others.

Of course, it is difficult, your Honor, to argue here without an opponent, and with the rather contemptuous attitude of the Government of just paying no attention to what we say. How can they come before this Court and say they want to do something to correct the situation by promulgating a plan that may cause our business a great deal of harm, and at the same time ask the Supreme Court to decide that my appeal is not proper?

The Court: When they say your appeal is not a proper one, they assume you can appeal when the plan is in and submit it as part of the whole record. Then, of course, certainly, there would be an appeal, so you wouldn't be deprived of any rights.

Mr. Hays: I think that was so at one time, your Honor, when the judgment here was interlocutory. But then the Government, perhaps in haste, or for some other reason, made it what we regard as a final order.

The Court: I don't see how a great deal of harm can [fol. 5530] result as far as your rights are concerned, because the whole question will come before the Supreme Court eventually. The purpose of your motion, as you have pointed out, is to stay the action pending the decision on the one question.

Mr. Hays: May I point out, your Honor, there is a great difference in life between legal rights and business conditions. I say that any judgment that would have to do with disposition of theatres or would jeopardize our owning of theatres pending appeal would hurt our business tremendously. We want to be in a position of having certain continuity of business, without orders of the Court, pending our opportunity to get to the Supreme Court to determine our rights.

But where would there be any delay, your Honor, if you would grant a stay pending a determination by the Supreme Court? I am hopeful that your Honor will permit us to put in evidence here, and I get a great deal of comfort from the Paramount decision where they show the changes in the industry for every year. For instance, under that three-year stipulation, you will remember that every time a theatre wanted to do anything, buy a new theatre, it had [fol. 5531] to show the changes in the conditions. I feel that all the way through we should be permitted to show what the changes in the situation are before your Honor works out a plan in order to develop a situation where you will maintain competition.

I am perfectly satisfied to put in evidence on that question in the meantime, and I am willing to except that from the stay. I can't see how the Government loses anything thereby, and it will save a situation that is very unfortunate for us, and burdensome, and causes us a loss of money. Perhaps the Government attorney can tell me where there will be harm in such a procedure, but I can't see it.

The Court: I have given this matter a great deal of thought, and have seriously considered what I would do—and I am not changed by your argument, because I think these matters can all be taken care of at the proper time. I am going to deny your motion to take additional evidence, and also deny this motion for a stay.

I see no reason for taking any additional evidence. We have had sufficient evidence before the Court, it seems to me, from which to determine some type of plan to be [fol. 5532] adopted. I think that plan should be submitted promptly so that the matter can be disposed of. That is my idea about this case.

Mr. Heilbron: If your Honor please, we have prepared a memorandum on this motion. Wouldn't your Honor want to read that memorandum before taking action about it? We have taken the trouble of printing it so that our position would be stated more clearly than anything that might be said in an exchange of letters, which is the only opportunity we have had of stating our position thus far. May I present to the Court this memorandum before the determination of the motion is made? I have already given the United States Attorney a copy of it.

The Court: I don't know about that. I know able Counsel here has covered the ground very thoroughly. He is capable of doing it.

Mr. Hays: Apparently not very effectively, though, your Honor.

The Court: Well, sometimes we don't see behind the effect.

Mr. Heilbron: I know that your Honor would not want to disrupt and ruin a thirty-year old business, if your Honor happens to be wrong and the Supreme Court reverses you.——

[fol. 5533] The Court: I don't see why you say, 'disrupt your business' before the plan is submitted. There can be no disposition of theatres pending that.

Mr. Heilbron: You don't ruin somebody's business merely by saying, "You have to sell a theatre." But I have in my hand a copy of a newspaper published in Carthage, and here is what is happening: This circuit has employes. Your Honor signs an order for a plan that does these things. If we lose an employe who is in the assistant bracket and who is looking for promotion we can't replace him because we are regarded as a business in liquidation. There is nothing to be gained, if your Honor happens to be reversed, in destroying a business pending a decision of the Supreme Court. All we ask here is that before that decision comes down from the Supreme Court we be permitted to remain in status quo. I think that Judge Hand, and the other judges on the Expediting Court, had that in mind when they wrote a direction for stay into the opinion in the Paramount case. They didn't even wait for the defendants to come into court and say, "Grant us a stay." They wrote, inherently, into the opinion a direction that a stay should be written into the decree. Here is what they said—[fol. 5534] and I am reading from Page 66 of the printed copy of the Paramount decision:

"Proceedings under the decree to be entered shall be stayed pending appeal."

They don't stay execution; they stay proceedings pending appeal. That is what we are asking for here. I don't see any difference between our case and the Paramount case from the standpoint of proceedings being stayed.

The Court: Was there any stay in the Crescent case?

Mr. Heilbron: No. But I am coming to that, if your Honor please, because you have referred to the Crescent case. The Supreme Court of the United States does not choose the cases to come before it. The Government, however, chooses the cases that it will bring before it. This Paramount case, in the interest of orderly procedure, is the case that should have been presented to the Supreme Court first. As a matter of fact, Attorney General Clark in 1942, in this very case, asked for a six month adjournment so that the whole thing could be readjusted in the light of conditions in the industry. And if your Honor will read through your own opinion, you will see there is [fol. 5535] not one element in your opinion that does not depend on the determination of the Paramount case. Why do I say that? Because everything with which these defendants are charged is basically——

The Court: Well, you are in error about that.

Mr. Heilbron: In what respect?

The Court: In respect to the methods employed by these defendants in the acquisition of theatres, the elimination of competition. Those things do not appear in the Paramount case.

Mr. Heilbron: I recognize that, and I can say this: That it would have been useless for one exhibitor to go to another and say, "I'm going to build a theatre," unless he was previously armed with franchises, with clearances, and with the ability to get product. As the Court says, merely to build a theatre is not an act of unfair competition, or merely to say that you are going to build a theatre, unless that act or that statement is coupled with and has a direct relationship to the getting of product.

The Court: That is very true, but you are begging the question there. You don't state the record as it appears [fol. 5536] in this case as to the acquisition of certain of these theatres.

Mr. Heilbron: Then we are back on the same question of penalty we had here before.

The Court: In other words, the record in the Paramount case doesn't show efforts on the part of any of these companies or their subsidiaries to eliminate competition, or acts committed by the representatives of those companies.

Mr. Heilbron: Under the law, we are considering not the imposing of penalty here; we are considering a plan.

The Court: That is very true. We are considering the question of restoring competition.

Mr. Heilbron: Yes. And in the Paramount decision they lay down the only sensible method by which that can be done, because you must treat the problem, as that Court says, upon a nationwide scope.

The Court: How do you read it from your standpoint as being consistent with the Interstate case?

Mr. Heilbron: The answer is easy. The Paramount case wasn't decided at that time. I would like to have Mr. McKay answer that, your Honor.

Mr. McKay: If your Honor please, the Interstate case was not a divestiture case.

The Court: That is true. The Crescent case is.

[fol. 5537] Mr. McKay: In the Crescent case there was not the kind of divestiture that the Government is suggesting in this case.

Mr. Heilbron was in error when he said there was no stay granted in the Crescent case. In the decision in the Crescent case there was a stay of one year, which stay has been continued, as I have previously pointed out to your Honor, so that the action is now stayed until July.

I venture to predict to your Honor that there will now be a motion made in the Crescent case to remand it to the District Court for modification of the decree to make it consistent with this Paramount decision.

Now, your Honor, what has happened in this Paramount case is something that could have happpened right here in this Court, if the Government hadn't dismissed the distributors from this case. If they had been here, before your Honor, you could have done exactly what the Expediting Court did down in the Southern District.

I have pointed out in my memorandum that we don't cite this case to your Honor because it is binding on this Court. We cite it because it is binding on us—not only on us but on [fol. 5538] every exhibitor in the industry. From now on every exhibitor in the industry will be required to do business according to the decree in the Paramount case.

If your Honor will note the paragraph here on divestiture in the Paramount opinion—which I sent you the minute I could get hold of it——

The Court: I have read it.

Mr. McKay: —you will note that the Court deals with the various companies and points out that they own maybe four per cent or three per cent of the theatres—I roughly figure that the Schine theatres amount to eight-tenths of one per cent—and the Court says that that is insignificant and cannot effect a monopoly. Right in the same paragraph it refers to the Crescent case and says there is no reason for taking these theatres away.

The Court: It ignores the fact that numbers do not necessarily create a monopoly. The holding may be only half of one per cent, but at the same time that half of one per cent may be a monopoly because of the monopolistic efforts of the half of one per cent.

Mr. McKay: It is entirely possible, your Honor, that [fol. 5539] they might create a monopoly when coupled with practices in the industry which were common at the time these lawsuits were started.

Now, I have asked your Honor to bear in mind in this case that this motion picture industry is a young industry. It has had to feel its way, and practices that have been indulged in in the industry have been arrived at by trial and error. The Paramount case is the first case where any court has actually had the chance to take the problem as a whole and deal with it at its source.

Your Honor would have had that chance, but the Government took it away from you when they took the distributors out of this case. I think that your Honor probably would have arrived at the same conclusion, because it is significant that the same practices which you cited in your opinion are the very practices that the Expediting Court, having before it the sources of the business, took out by their roots. You could have done that, but the Government took the distributors away and deprived you of that opportunity, and they took them away over our objection.

[fol. 5540] I don't believe your Honor wants to hurt this circuit. You have said so many times. You have said all you want to do is to see that the law is enforced.

Here is the first time we have had an opportunity to know exactly how this business can be conducted so that there will be no danger of violation of the Act.

How can there be any buying power when each picture gets put on the auction block and every exhibitor in the competitive area has a chance to bid for it? It doesn't make any difference that these exhibitors are not parties to the Paramount decree; they are bound by it just the same.

The same thing applies to clearances. Last time we were here your Honor asked what would happen to clearance assuming the effect of the Paramount decree were in some way taken away, and you predicted to me right then that some method would be found whereby this clearance arbitration system would be continued. That is exactly what has happened.

What difference does it make if a distributor, no matter [fol. 5541] how strong, wants to give forty days clearance, when Paramount and Metro and Fox are permitted to give only ten days because ten days is all the arbitration system will allow?

The arbitration system has been extended to cover other disputes, so that an exhibitor has the right to have considered such questions as whether his bid was fairly considered.

Franchises, under this decision, are thrown out completely.

Now, I take your Honor back to the filing of objections: When we filed those objections we endeavored in one part, at the end of our objections, you will remember, to meet by practical suggestions the abuses which your Honor had pointed out in your opinion. We stated there what we would do and what we were willing to do in that regard.

Your Honor has never indicated any feeling about that matter, but it is entirely possible that there may be in your Honor's mind the thought that we being such a small circuit, a simple injunction against us would not provide an effective remedy.

But now you have an injunction against the people from [fol. 5542] whom we have to get our pictures, and, therefore, I say, your Honor, with that in view, the objection ceases to exist. That injunction answers the whole problem. It does away with any possibility of a recurrence of those abuses.

As far as the Crescent case is concerned, I say that this case is right in accord with the Crescent case with respect to divestiture. In the Crescent case, where there was an interlocking ownership, where two circuits had been operating separately and then came together within the Crescent circuit, the Court made those two circuits separate. And that is all it did.

The Court: Well, the same question wasn't involved there, the association of several companies in one circuit.

Mr. McKay: I feel that these questions need very careful study by your Honor, because, I say to your Honor in all frankness, there isn't a man in the motion picture industry today who can prophesy the methods which are going to be applied in the industry after this decision is fully understood and assimilated.

It is going to revolutionize the industry, but it is going [fol. 5543] to revolutionize it into what looks to be like sort of a public utility, so that anybody will be able to come in and buy any picture that he can pay for. That is why the Court said that an ownership of three per cent of the theatres in one company constitutes no danger.

The Court: Of course, numbers are not necessarily controlling; the question is how they operate.

Mr. McKay: Well, there was some testimony here as to admission prices. That is about the only thing I recall concerning which there was actual complaint. We can't do even that any more. Minimum admission prices are abolished, franchises are abolished, by this opinion.

The Court: Well, the question of admission prices was only one feature of this case.

I will be glad to look over your papers and consider it further. But I have given the whole matter a great deal of thought in the light of the motion itself, and it isn't a matter of first impression, as you might say. As I look at it, this whole question might best go up on appeal together.

So far as the plan is concerned, it isn't my view that [fol. 5544] every theatre involved must be sold. I believe it can be accomplished in three ways: By dissolution in part, reorganization in part, and re-alignment in part.

Mr. McKay: May I ask your Honor this: If, after consideration of our memorandum and the entire problem, you still feel that some plan should be promulgated by proof before this Court, may I ask that there be not a formal, but informal, conference with Counsel so as to try to work whatever plan you feel you may want to approve into the picture of the entire industry as indicated in this opinion?

The Court: Well, I will consider that question. I haven't any definite ideas in mind about this matter that I have formulated.

Mr. Hays: Your Honor, what arouses me is that I think the Government is unfair to the Schine circuit. They are exercising pressure, they are ignoring our motions, while, I notice, in the Paramount case they never asked for divestiture of theatres except where they were used unreasonably to restrain commerce.

In the opinion in the Paramount case the court refers to the fact that divestiture would be damaging to the public [fol. 5545] interest as well as to the defendants, and would not accomplish any purpose at the present time. Now, why should the Government exercise pressure to hurry our case and ask the Court for orders which will injure our business——

The Court: I don't think it hurries. Instead of having two appeals you would have one; that is all.

Mr. Hays: I know, but we have an appeal now on a question of law whether we violated the Antitrust Law. What the Government wants is for you to approve a plan before that question is determined.

The Court: Then you would appeal from the plan as proposed all in one appeal.

Mr. Hays: Well, all I can say, your Honor, is to repeat it will do a great deal of harm.

The Court: It would make two appeals otherwise, wouldn't it?

Mr. Hays: I am hopeful it wouldn't make two appeals, because I am hopeful we would reverse.

The Court: If the judgment were sustained there would be another appeal?

Mr. Hays: If the judgment were sustained there would be another appeal, yes, sir, from the plan. But why they should trouble anyone, or harrass anyone, I don't [fol. 5546] know, because it seems to me the whole situation is being cleared up these days because of the changes brought about in the industry by this Paramount decision.

Another thing I don't understand is when the Government comes before the Supreme Court and makes a motion to dismiss our appeal, why the other questions before this Court shouldn't be held until the Supreme Court determines whether we are wrong or not. In the meantime, things are going to happen that will hurt our business.

Mr. McKay: Your Honor, I hope you weren't unduly impressed by the offhand statement that does appear in the record to the effect that this Schine circuit is one of the largest independents in the United States. As I recall, it was made by one of the distributors, and we didn't consider it important enough to go into at that time. But if your Honor has that in mind, the Schine circuit has 150 theatres out of 18,000.

The Court: Oh, no, I didn't have that statement in mind. As a matter of fact, I didn't know whether it was first, second, or third.

[fol. 5547] Mr. McKay: And I might also say, your Honor, if there is any importance attached to the prospect of there being one appeal or two appeals, it appears to me that if we are not successful on our first appeal, and the plan is something that we feel is improper, there doesn't seem to be any way of avoiding two appeals. Our first appeal will reach the Supreme Court in October, and any second appeal wouldn't be reached until some time after that.

The Court: You might like my plan.

Mr. McKay: We might, that is true.

Mr. Hays: That would settle everything.

Mr. McKay: Except, of course, if it is found that we are not violating the Act, then we would not have to do anything.

Mr. Hays: Wouldn't it be helpful to file a memorandum as to the effects of the Paramount decision on this case?

The Court: No, I don't think so. We have been seven years with this case on the calendar.

Mr. McKay: The Paramount case was eight years on the calendar. May we have the opinion in the Paramount case considered as part of Mr. Hays' affidavit?

[fol. 5548] The Court: Yes.

Mr. Hays: I think from the seven years you ought to eliminate the War years, your Honor.

The Court: Oh, yes.

Civil No. 223

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff,

v.

SCHINE CHAIN THEATRES, INC., et al., Defendants

Appearances:

Robert L. Wright, Louis B. Schwartz, Special Assistants to the Attorney General; Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney-General; George L. Grobe, United States Attorney; for plaintiff; Willard S. McKay, of New York City, for Defendants; Arthur Garfield Hays, of Counsel.

Opinion of John Knight, U.S.D.J.—July 5, 1946

Knight, District Judge:

The Decision of this court in this suit directs "the entering of a decree adjudging that the defendants and their affiliated corporations be dissolved, re-aligned or reorganized in their ownership and control, so that fair competition between them and other theatres be restored and maintained; and that the determination of the question of the dissolution, re-alignment or reorganization of the parties aforesaid and the method to be employed in the accomplish- [fol. 5552] ment of the same be left to be fixed by this court after further consideration with the parties."

Pursuant to the foregoing direction, the court, together with the parties, has had under consideration the adoption of several different plans. The general features of the plan submitted, by the plaintiff have been adopted. The principal difference is that the plan as approved does not include the divestiture of the interests of the defendants in numerous towns where the defendants' now own or control the only theatre.

The plan as approved directs these things:

1. That the defendants' interests in theatres located in certain towns, except in one theatre selected by them be sold.

2. That defendants' interests in theatres located in certain towns, except in two theatres selected by them, be sold.

3. That the defendants' interests in the Riviera or Liberty and in the Monroe or Madison theatres in Rochester, N. Y., be sold.

4. That the existing pooling arrangements be made in the manner and at the time directed.

5. That the theatre interests of the defendants remaining and undisposed of under the consent order of May, 1942, be sold.

6. That a trustee as an agent of the court be appointed to make the aforesaid sales; that no defendant shall acquire any financial interest in additional theatres except after affirmatively showing that such acquisition will not unreasonably restrain competition; and that no defendant shall buy or book films for any theatre other than those in which the defendant owns a financial interest.

The decree herein also provides that its provisions may be stayed pending a final determination of any appeal. This is conditioned upon the diligent prosecution by the defendants of such appeal, so that the ultimate enforcement of this order may not be prejudiced.

[fol. 5553] The defendants submitted three so-called "Proposed Re-alignment" plans. No one of these is acceptable. The so-called proposed Re-alignment plan No. IV has been specially urged on the court. This plan contemplates the division of Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., and its subsidiaries, into three separate corporations, in one of which J. Myer Schine would own all of the stock of the New York theatres, in another of which Louis W. Schine would own all of the stock of the Ohio theatres, and the third of which Mrs. J. Myer Schine and Mrs. Louis W. Schine would own all of the stock of the Delaware, Maryland and Kentucky theatres. It proposes that J. Myer Schine own or lease and manage, buy and book for all New York theatres; Louis W. Schine own or lease and manage and buy and book for all Ohio theatres; and Mrs. J. Myer Schine and Mrs. Louis W. Schine to own or lease and manage and buy and book for all theatres in Delaware, Maryland and Kentucky. This plan does not include the divestiture of ownership in any theatre, other than would be caused by the organization of the three corporations and by the holding of the stock interests as aforesaid. The fatal objection to this plan, aside from the question of divestiture, as it appears to me, is that as a practical matter the type of violations of the law found in this suit and condemned by this Court could readily be pursued by a continuation of the three interests. The entire present interests in all this great chain of theatres would be continued in the two Schines, brothers, and their wives. Were this plan proposed with the inclusion of divestiture of the theatres of which the defendants are directed to be divested, it would justify favorable consideration. But the plan adopted by the court is more favorable to the defendants herein than such a division of the corporation together with such divestitures would be. The plan adopted by the court is not a re-alignment in the sense intended in the Decision. The direction was in the alternative. It is now made to appear that a re-alignment is not feasible.

[fol. 5554] The purpose of this and like suits by the government, under its announced policy, is not for the purpose of penalizing defendants but rather the "Restoration of free enterprise and open competition amongst all branches of the motion picture industry.". In order to effectuate this policy the divestiture of theatres, as hereinbefore stated, is deemed necessary.

John Knight, United States District Judge.

ORDER—July 5, 1946

Upon consideration of the plans heretofore filed herein by the plaintiff and the defendants for the purpose of effectuating Section III of the amended judgment heretofore entered herein, the objections filed to said plans by the said parties, and the argument of counsel with respect thereto, it is hereby Ordered, that the following plan should be and it is adopted for said purpose:

I.

Theatre Interests to Be Divested

A. All of the defendants' interests in theatres located in the following towns, except in one theatre to be selected by them, shall be sold in the manner hereinafter outlined:

Amsterdam, New York
Ashland, Ohio
Athens, Ohio
Bellefontaine, Ohio
Bucyrus, Ohio
Cambridge, Maryland
Canandaigua, New York
Corning, New York
Cortland, New York
Delaware, Ohio
Easton, Maryland
Geneva, New York
Herkimer, New York
[fol. 5556] Ilion, New York
Kent, Ohio

Little Falls, New York
Lockport, New York
Malone, New York
Maysville, Kentucky
Middlesboro, Kentucky
Newark, New York
Norwalk, Ohio
Ogdensburg, New York
Oneonta, New York
Paris, Kentucky
Piqua, Ohio
Ravenna, Ohio
Richmond, Kentucky
Salamanca, New York
Seneca Falls, New York
Tiffin, Ohio
Watertown, New York
Van Wert, Ohio

B. All of the defendants' interest in theatres located in the following towns, except in two theatres to be selected by them, shall be sold in the manner hereinafter outlined:

Auburn, New York
Lexington, Kentucky
Oswego, New York
Wooster, Ohio

C. In Rochester, New York, the defendants shall sell all of their interest in the Riviera or Liberty Theatres and in the Monroe or Madison Theatres in the manner hereinafter outlined.

The names of the theatres which the defendants elect to retain in the towns named in paragraphs A, B, and C above shall be filed with the court within 30 days after the defendants shall have received a copy of this order.

D. The existing pooling arrangements at Fostoria and Medina, Ohio, and Syracuse, New York shall be dissolved. Such dissolution in Syracuse may be effected pursuant to the decision rendered in United States v. Paramount Pictures, Inc. et al., on June 11, 1946, and consideration of such further orders as may be appropriate in this suit in this [fol. 5557] connection is reserved until after final judgment shall have been entered in that case. Such dissolution in Fostoria and Medina may be effected either by dissolution of the respective corporations through which the defendants' theatre interests in these towns are jointly held with non-defendants and return of the theatres involved to the respective stockholders who owned them prior to the formation of the corporation or by a sale of the defendants' stock in such corporations. In the event that said corporations have not been dissolved as outlined above within one year from the entry of this order, the defendants' stock therein shall be sold in the manner hereinafter outlined.

E. The following theatre interests remaining undisposed of under the consent order of May 19, 1942, and more particularly described therein, shall also be sold in the manner hereinafter outlined:

Strand Theatre—Cumberland, Maryland
Ada Meade and Opera House Theatres—Lexington, Ky.
½ interest in the Margie Grand Theatre—Harlan, Ky.

II

Method of Sale

The theatre interests described in Section I hereof shall be sold as rapidly as possible upon such terms and to such purchasers as this court may approve, to the end that the theatres disposed of may operate in competition with theatres retained by the defendants. A trustee is to be appointed herein as the agent of the court for making such sales and is hereinafter designated as the trustee. Within thirty (30) days from the entry of this order the parties hereto may designate the name of a person to be appointed as trustee. In the event of their failure to agree upon the person to be so designated, the court will appoint a trustee. [fol. 5558] The trustee is hereby authorized:

(1) to examine such books and records of the defendants and make such inquiries of their employees as may be necessary to ascertain the value of the theatre interests in question;

(2) to take such action and to employ such assistance as may be necessary to negotiate and close sales of such interests, including real estate brokers, accountants, and legal counsel.

The defendants shall at all times provide the trustee with free access to the theatres to be sold, for the purpose of showing them to prospective purchasers and shall cooperate with the trustee to facilitate said sales, while continuing to maintain and operate said theatres in the ordinary and usual manner. The trustee shall present sales to the court for approval as they are negotiated and shall give reasonable notice to the defendants and the plaintiff of the terms and purchasers involved in such sales as he desires to submit for approval, to the end that they may have a fair opportunity to bring to the attention of the trustee and the court such objections as they deem appropriate.

The sales provided in Section I-E above shall be completed within six months and the remaining sales shall be completed within two years from the entry of this order, subject to such extensions with respect to specific interests as the court may grant, for good cause shown, upon the petition of the trustee or any party.

The trustee shall be compensated and his expenses paid in such amounts as the court may from time to time approve, from the proceeds of sales made by him. Said proceeds [fol. 5559] shall be deposited by him in a special account created for this purpose and disbursed only upon further orders of this court.

III

Restrictions on Future Theatre Acquisitions

No defendant shall acquire a financial interest in any additional theatres except after an affirmative showing that such acquisition will not unreasonably restrain competition. Such showing shall be made before this court upon reasonable notice to the Attorney General at Washington, D. C. No defendant shall buy or book films for any theatre other than those in which the defendant owns a financial interest.

Stay

The provisions of this order may be stayed pending a final determination of any appeal taken therefrom. Such stay shall be conditioned upon the diligent prosecution by the defendants of such appeal as may be allowed them and the maintenance and operation by them of the theatres here involved, pending such appeal, in a manner which will not prejudice the ultimate enforcement of this order.

*Entered this 2d day of July, 1946.

Transcript of Hearing

Proceedings before Honorable John Knight, United States District Court Judge, at Buffalo, New York, July 22, 1946.

Appearances: Honorable George L. Grobe, United States Attorney, by R. Norman Kirchgraber, Esq., Assistant U. S. Attorney, appearing in behalf of the Government:

Willard S. McKay, Esq., 630 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y., appearing on behalf of the Defendants.

[fol. 5563] Mr. McKay: If the Court please, I don't imagine there is anything controversial about this. It is a matter about which I spoke to your Honor in Chambers last week. I want to state first for the record that the defendants do, in fact, intend to appeal, and that they intend to prosecute the appeal vigorously. As a matter of fact, I now have in the course of preparation my assignments of error. This motion simply is designed to clarify what was the apparent intent of the Court, to-wit, that the stay provided for in the order entered July 5th applies to all parts of the order and is effective so long as we diligently prosecute our appeal. The other point is whether that order was intended to be a final judgment or whether a final judgment should be entered on the order. I might say as to that, I am indifferent. All I want to clarify is that either one or the other is the fact. At first I thought that it was your Honor's intention that judgment be entered on the order, particularly because the order may lack some of the elements of a judgment, but I note it has been docketed in the Clerk's office as a judgment, and as such it probably complies with the provisions of 54-A of the Rules of Civil Procedure with respect [fol. 5564] to judgments. It is not supported by any findings of fact, because your Honor denied our motion to take additional testimony, but that question can be adequately raised on appeal, and I am not even asking that our time to appeal shall run from today. I am not trying to get any time advantage. I am perfectly satisfied to have your Honor designate that order as a final judgment, and that our time to appeal will run from that date. I don't imagine there will be any opposition on the part of the Government. I have not had any indication of any, and I prepared a proposed order which I would like to hand to your Honor simply stating what I have just said to you.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Appearing for the Government, your Honor, I think our views are expressed in a letter under date of July 18th—if you haven't received a copy—you have a copy of that?

Mr. McKay: I certainly have not. I have had nothing from Mr. Wright.

The Court: This letter I have says "A copy of this letter has been sent by Special Delivery to Mr. Grobe, Mr. McKay and Mr. Hays."

(Reading) "We have received a copy of the motion filed [fol. 5565] by the defendants on July 15 and desire to express the following views with respect thereto:

Insofar as the provision for the designation of a trustee is concerned, we do not believe that a stay would seriously prejudice the plaintiff, although we think it would be desirable to complete the exploration of all possibilities of agreement as to the person to be appointed prior to the final disposition of the appeal.

We think a stay as to the operation of the provision requiring the defendants to name the theatres they wish to retain until final disposition of their appeal might seriously prejudice the plaintiff in the ultimate enforcement of the order as this would make it difficult to detect during this period any manipulation of the policies of specific theatres designed to depreciate their ability to offer competition to Schine when ultimately placed in the hands of independent purchasers. We think that such a stay might also deprive the order of the finality which it should have in order to permit a proper appraisal by the Supreme Court. We do not see how the defendants can sustain any prejudice as the result of making such an election prior to the time the case [fol. 5566] is docketed in the Supreme Court and if it should appear upon final disposition that prejudice had resulted, we assume that the Court would permit the defendants to make another election upon an appropriate showing by them.

Insofar as the question raised as to the appealability of the order is concerned, we see no need for any further formal judgment. We think it is perfectly clear from the terms of the order itself that it is a final disposition from which an appeal lies and assume that the time for taking an appeal will commence to run from the date on which disposition of this motion is made.'"

Mr. McKay: I don't care about that fifteen days, your Honor——

The Court: I supposed a stay applied to all of the proceedings, Mr. Kirchgraber. He asks or suggests that a stay should not be operative as to the designation of the theatres which the plaintiff intends to retain.

Mr. Kirchgraber: Has there been an application for such a stay?

Mr. McKay: A stay was provided for in the order. This order simply clarifies it. This order may come up for interpretation by some one other than your Honor.

The Court: Let me see my order. There was a final [fol. 5567] clause in the order as I remember it. "The provisions of this order may be stayed pending a final determination of any appeal taken therefrom. Such stay shall be conditioned upon the diligent prosecution by the defendants of such appeal as may be allowed them and the maintenance and operation by them of the theatres here involved, pending such appeal, in a manner which will not prejudice the ultimate enforcement of this order."

What do you want an order for now? That is part of the judgment. That covers the whole ground as far as you are concerned.

Mr. McKay: It is sufficient for me, if your Honor rules from the Bench that that applies to the entire order and that all of the order is now stayed.

The Court: I think so.

Mr. McKay: That is what I have understood all along, but you see Mr. Wright is again absent, and I have not received a letter from him.

The Court: Let me see your proposed order?

Mr. Kirchgraber: I suppose that whole latter paragraph is a conclusion.

Mr. McKay: You mean our time to run?

Mr. Kirchgraber: No, I question whether or not it is a final order within the meaning of an appealable [fol. 5568] order.

The Court: That is merely declaratory of what was done. I construe this stay as applying to all of the provisions, of the paragraphs of the plan. I think that is the way—as I understood the Government to understand it at that time. The plan they submitted included a stay, and I take it pending an appeal.

Mr. McKay: That is entirely satisfactory to me, and I take it you also construe the order entered July 5th as a final order.

The Court: Yes.

Mr. McKay: That is also satisfactory.

The Court: I think that is the way to handle it.

Mr. McKay: It would be nice some time if, when Mr. Wright wants to oppose our motion, he would be here, do us the courtesy to come up.

The Court: I think he has clarified it.

Mr. McKay: I did not get any such letter.

The Court: They should have sent it earlier. They sent it the 18th. That was Friday. If Saturday is a holiday in New York——

Mr. McKay: My office is closed, and Mr. Wright knows it. I know it was not there by 5:30 Friday.

Mr. Kirchgraber: I think he is probably correct. I think [fol. 5569] ours came in this morning.

The Court: That is the answer to it.

Mr. McKay: There is another matter I wanted to take up with you on these theatres that are closed. From time to time leases on the theatres expire. I suppose that if we are able to renew those leases and thus preserve the status quo, that would be in accordance with your Honor's order. Of course, there may be some we are unable to renew, but if we are able to, it is our understanding that we go ahead and renew them. That will mean the status will be the same as it is now.

The Court: Your lease might run for a length of time—why shouldn't you apply to the Court for authority to renew the lease?

Mr. McKay: Well, as I see it, if we have the lease at the time the Supreme Court passes on it, and if the Supreme Court sustains your order, we will have to sell the theatre anyway. If we don't renew the lease that theatre might go out of existence. I think possibly your Honor might feel we had allowed the theatre to go to rack and ruin if we had an opportunity to renew the lease and had not done it.

The Court: It ought to be kept alive.

[fols. 5570-5571] Mr. McKay: As far as we are able to do so.

The Court: I should think so. That would be my view about it. I don't see why you should not. The Government could not be in any worse position than now if the opinion is sustained.

Mr. McKay: We have to sell it. If the opinion is reversed, we will have what we have.

The Court: I think it ought to be protected.

Mr. McKay: Thank you.

DEFENDANTS' ASSIGNMENT OF ERRORS—August 26, 1946

Each of the defendants, Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., Schine-Lexington Corporation, Schine Enterprises Corporation, Schine Circuit, Inc., Chesapeake Theatre Corporation, J. Myer Schine, Louis W. Schine and John A. May, assigns as the errors in the record and proceedings in the above entitled case, on which the defendants intend to rely in briefs and argument in the Supreme Court of the United States, the following:—

First Assignment

The Court erred in making and entering the order and judgment filed herein on July 5, 1946, directing the divestiture of certain theatre interests and providing for the appointment of a Trustee for such purpose because the Court at the time of the making of such order was without jurisdiction to make the same.

[fol. 5573]

Second Assignment

The Court erred in making and entering the order and judgment filed herein on the 5th day of July, 1946, directing the divestiture of certain theatre interests and the appointment of a Trustee for such purpose without having specially found the facts and without having separately stated its conclusions of law thereon supporting the entry of such order.

Third Assignment

The Court erred in making and entering its order and judgment, filed July 5, 1946, for the avowed purpose of effectuating section III of the amended judgment herein, without giving the defendants an adequate opportunity or any opportunity at all to comply with said section 3 without such order.

Fourth Assignment

The Court erred in making and entering its order and judgment filed July 5, 1946, for the avowed purpose of effectuating section III of the amended judgment in the absence of any evidence or finding that such order was in any way necessary to effectuate said section III.

Fifth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of the theatre interests described in the order entered herein on July 5, 1946 and directing the appointment of a Trustee for such purpose because such order was not warranted by any findings of fact herein or by the evidence and was contrary thereto.

[fol. 5574]

Sixth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the sale of the theatre interests described in Section I of its order of July 5, 1946, by a Trustee without allowing the defendants an opportunity for a reasonable time to sell said interests without the intervention of a Trustee, in the absence of any showing that the defendants would be either unwilling or unable to make such sale.

Seventh Assignment

The Court erred in adopting and approving by its order entered July 5, 1946 the plan of dissolution proposed by the plaintiff and designated as a plan of re-organization without having before it any evidence as to the propriety of such plan.

Eighth Assignment

The Court erred in that in and by its order of July 5, 1946, it directed a divestiture of the properties described therein in a manner which would constitute a deprivation of property without due process of law in violation of the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

Ninth Assignment

The Court erred in denying defendants' motion to take further testimony, dated May 22, 1946.

Tenth Assignment

The Court erred in that in and by its order of July 5, 1946, which avowedly sought the "restoration of free en- [fol. 5575] terprise and open competition amongst all branches of the motion picture industry," it ordered the divestiture of certain theatre properties without giving any consideration whatsoever to any of the following factors, to wit:

(a) The question of whether or not there had, at the time said properties were respectively acquired by the defendants, or at any other time, been any competition in said respective localities.

(b) The question of whether or not the theatre properties acquired by the defendants had been acquired for the purpose of eliminating competition or for other reasons including the desire in good faith of the previous owners to dispose of the same.

(c) The existence or non-existence, at the time of the making of the order of July 5, 1946, in the respective localities involved (including cities, towns or villages adjacent to those actually named) of any theatres other than those operated by the defendants.

(d) The probable effect upon the localities involved, of the carrying out of the divestiture directed by said order of July 5, 1946 with particular reference to the different policies, runs, admission prices, type, quality and diversity of entertainment offered, differences in character of population and the general character of the several theatres operated by the defendants in each locality affected; and without having received any evidence or made any findings with respect to any of the above factors.

[fol. 5576]

Eleventh Assignment

The Court erred in rejecting and refusing to approve the plans of realignment submitted by the defendants as not acceptable without having taken evidence with respect thereto as requested by the defendants in their motion to take further testimony, dated May 22, 1946.

Twelfth Assignment

The Court erred in rejecting the plans of realignment submitted by the defendants on the ground that, as a practical matter, the type of violations of law found in this suit and condemned by the Court could readily be pursued by a continuation of the three interests involved in said plans, without having received any evidence as requested by the defendants as to the feasibility of said plan, and without having given any consideration to the injunctive provisions of the amended judgment herein, or to the further injunctive provisions proposed by the defendants as a part of said plan or realignment, or to the effect of the decision in the case of United States v. Paramount, et al., in the Southern District of New York (which decision was before the Court in connection with defendants' motion for a stay, dated June 7, 1946).

Thirteenth Assignment

The Court erred in rejecting and refusing to approve the plans of realignment submitted by the defendants as not feasible and in substituting therefore the remedy expressly designated by the Court as harsh without having received any evidence as requested by the defendants as to [fol. 5577] whether or not realignment was in fact feasible, in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

Fourteenth Assignment

The Court erred in directing the divestiture of any of the theater interests of the defendants as necessary to prevent future violations of the anti-trust laws in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

Fifteenth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to hold that the injunctive provisions contained in the amended judgment herein, dated March 29, 1946, were sufficient in and of themselves to prevent any future violations of the anti-trust laws by the defendants or any of them in view of its express finding [fol. 5578] that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

Sixteenth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to hold that the injunctive provisions contained in the amended judgment herein, dated March 29, 1946, were sufficient, together with alternative remedies suggested in defendants' objections to plaintiff's plan and defendants' proposed realignment plans to prevent any future violations of the anti-trust laws by the defendants or any of them, in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

Seventeenth Assignment

The Court erred in rejecting the injunctive provisions contained in the amended judgment herein, dated March 29, 1946, as insufficient, together with the alternative remedies [fol. 5579] suggested in defendants' objections to plain-tiff's plan and defendants' proposed *re*alignment plans, and together with the changes in the method of doing business in the motion picture industry provided for in the decision in United States vs. Paramount et al. (which decision was before the Court as a part of defendants' motion for a stay, dated June 7, 1946), to prevent any future violations of the anti-trust laws by the defendants or any of them in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

Eighteenth Assignment

The Court erred in that in and by its order of July 5, 1946, it ordered a divestiture of the properties described therein as a penalty, rather than as a remedy for any alleged violations of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Nineteenth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to consider in arriving at a plan of dissolution, reorganization or re-alignment, the effect of any part of the decision in United States v. Paramount, et al., (which decision was before the Court in connection with defendants' motion for a stay dated June 7, 1946) except the limited but admitted effect of said decision [fol. 5580] with respect to the defendants theatre interests in Syracuse, New York.

Twentieth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the sale within six months of certain theatre interests in the Strand Theatre, Cumberland, Maryland; the Ada Meade and Opera House Theatres, Lexington, Kentucky, and the Margie Grand Theatre, Harlan, Kentucky, for no reason other than the fact that these interests were mentioned in a certain consent order dated May 19, 1942, because said order expired by its terms on November 15, 1944 and has, and has had, no further force or effect since said date.

Twenty-first Assignment

The Court erred in making an order for the sale by a trustee of the theatre properties described in Section 1 of its order of July 5, 1946, because there is no evidence to show that the parties actually owning said properties are now or ever have been parties to this action, or that the Court now has or ever had the power through a trustee, or otherwise, effectively to transfer title to said properties.

Twenty-second Assignment

The Court erred in making an order for the sale by a trustee of the theatre properties described in Section 1 of its order of July 5, 1946, because there is no evidence to show who, at the date of the entry of the original judgment herein, on November 1, 1945, or at the date of the entry of said order of July 5, 1946 or at any time between said [fol. 5581] dates, were the legal owners of said properties, or that the Court had at any time acquired such jurisdiction of said properties, or the owners thereof, as to enable the Court through a trustee, or otherwise, effectively to transfer title thereto.

Twenty-third Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the sale, of the theater interests of the defendants in the Strand Theater, Cumberland, Maryland, in view of the fact that the Court had, by its order dated May 31, 1944 permitted the acquisition by the defendants of another theatre in Cumberland, Maryland, to wit, the Liberty Theatre, and excused the defendants from making any further efforts to sell the said Strand Theatre under the terms of said consent order dated May 19, 1942.

Twenty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any of the theater interests of the defendants in the absence of any evidence or findings showing any causal connection between the acquisition of such interests by the defendants and the alleged wrongful conduct of the defendants as set forth in the findings of the Court.

Twenty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Amsterdam, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or [fol. 5582] the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Twenty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Ashland, Ohio in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Twenty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theater interests in Athens, Ohio in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Twenty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Auburn, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or [fol. 5583] has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Twenty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Bellefontaine, Ohio because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Thirtieth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Bucyrus, Ohio because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act [fol. 5584] or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Thirty-first Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Cambridge, Maryland, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Thirty-second Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Canandaigua, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Thirty-third Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Corning, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the de-[fol. 5585] fendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Thirty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Cortland, New York, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Thirty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Delaware, Ohio, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Thirty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Easton, Maryland, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

[fol. 5586]

Thirty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Geneva, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Thirty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Herkimer, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

[fol. 5587]

Thirty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Ilion, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Fortieth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Kent, Ohio, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Forty-first Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Lexington, Ky. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in [fol. 5588] any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Forty-second Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Little Falls, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Forty-third Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Lockport, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman [fol. 5589] Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Forty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Malone, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Forty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Maysville, Kentucky, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Forty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Middlesboro, Kentucky, in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

[fol. 5590]

Forty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Newark, N. Y. in view of the failure of the plaintiff to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality and the failure of the Court to make any findings of fact with respect thereto.

Forty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Norwalk, Ohio, because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Forty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in ordering the divestiture of any theatre interests in Ogdensburg, N. Y. because the plaintiff failed to introduce any evidence with respect to said locality showing or tending to show that the acquisition by the defendants of any such interest in said locality, or the maintenance and use by the defendants of any such interest in said locality was or is the result of, or pursuant to [fol. 5591] or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants, or any of them, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act or that divestiture thereof or of any part thereof is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act.

Eighty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that R. K. O. Radio Pictures, Inc. and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of [fol. 5606] the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Eighty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that United Artists Corporation and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Eighty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Universal Pictures Company, Inc. or Universal Film Exchanges, Inc. and the defendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Nin-tieth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. or Vitagraph, Inc. and the de- [fol. 5607] fendants have contracted, conspired and combined with each other with the effect of suppressing competition and monopolizing exhibition of films distributed by said distributor corporation in various towns and cities, in violation of sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act; because said conclusions and judgment were not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

Ninety-first Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Chain Theatres, Inc. had, as a means of monopolizing ~~contrary to sections~~ 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-second Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-third Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine-Lexington Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

[fol. 5608]

Ninety-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Enterprises Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Schine Circuit, Inc. had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Chesapeake Theatre Corporation had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that J. Myer Schine had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

[fol. 5609] Ninety-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that Louis W. Schine had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

Ninety-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in its conclusions and judgment that John A. May had, as a means of monopolizing contrary to sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, used predatory practices; because this judgment was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto.

One Hundredth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from monopolizing the supply of major first run films in any situation where there is a competing theatre suitable for first run exhibition thereof, because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred First Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from monopolizing the supply of second run films in any situation where there is a suitable theatre for second run exhibition thereof; because this injunction was not warranted by [fol. 5610] the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Second Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from demanding or receiving clearance over theatres operated by others, which unreasonably restricts their ability to compete with a theatre owned or operated by a defendant or corporation controlled by it; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Third Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from attempting to control the admission prices charged by others by agreement with distributors, demands made upon distributors, or by any means whatsoever; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Fourth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from conditioning the licensing of films in any competitive situation outside of Buffalo, New York upon the licensing of films in any other situation; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was [fol. 5611] contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Fifth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from entering into any film franchise because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Sixth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from acquiring any theatre interest, pending the further order of this Court; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Seventh Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from selling any theatre interest pending the further order of this Court; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy, and further, because this injunction was not among the remedies sought by the plaintiff in any of the pleadings herein, and was directly contrary to the remedies sought by the plaintiff herein.

[fol. 5612]

One Hundred Eighth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from enforcing any existing agreements heretofore entered into (1) not to compete or (2) to restrict the use of any real estate to non-theatrical purposes; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Ninth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from using any threats or deception as a means whereby a competitor is induced to sell; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

One Hundred Tenth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from continuing any contract, conspiracy or combination with each other or with any other person which has the purpose or effect of maintaining the exhibition or theatre monopolies of the defendants or of preventing any other theatre or exhibitor from competing with the defendants or any of them, and from entering into any similar contract, conspiracy, or combination for the purpose or with the effect of restraining or monopolizing trade and commerce between the states; because this injunction was not warranted by the findings of fact and by the evidence, and was contrary thereto, and was too general and indefinite in terms and in excess of any appropriate remedy.

[fol. 5613] One Hundred Eleventh Assignment

The Court erred in entering findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment drafted and submitted by plaintiff's attorneys without affording to defendants' attorneys any opportunity to present objections thereto or to propose changes therein or pertinent additions thereto, or any opportunity to be heard thereon, and nothwithstanding the fact that said findings of fact, conclusions of law and judgment were not warranted by the facts found and by the evidence, and were contrary thereto.

One Hundred Twelfth Assignment

The Court erred in not granting in its entirety the defendants' motion filed November 10, 1945 to amend the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law entered by the Court on or about November 1, 1945, and in the several particulars in which it was not granted.

One Hundred Thirteenth Assignment

The Court erred in granting in part the plaintiff's motion filed on or about February 1, 1946 to amend the findings of fact and conclusions of law and the judgment entered by the Court on or about November 1, 1945 and in the several particulars in which said motion was granted.

One Hundred Fourteenth Assignment

The Court erred in making findings of fact and quotations based exclusively on papers erroneously admitted in evidence and described in the one hundred fifteenth assignment of error. These findings and quotations are set out in [fol. 5614] the Findings of Fact drafted by plaintiff's attorneys and entered by the Court on November 1, 1945, particularly in Findings of Fact 9, 11, 17, 23, 24, 25 and 26.

One Hundred Fifteenth Assignment

The Court erred in admitting in evidence, and in denying defendants' motion to strike out and to limit the effect so that they would not be taken as evidence of the truth of the statements contained in them, the exhibits listed below, notwithstanding the fact that all that had appeared as to who fabricated them was that in compliance with a subpoena the respective distributor corporations, not defendants, had directed a search of files in their respective home, district and branch offices and had produced them by a designated officer or employee who had no further knowledge concerning the papers produced. There was no evidence as to who, if any one, dictated them, who wrote them, who, if any one, signed them, or that they were uttered, sent or received by any one. There was no evidence that any opinions stated in them were those of a qualified person or within the scope of the duties of any person. There was no opportunity to examine or to cross examine any witness concerning the papers or the opinions or other statements in them. There was no evidence that any of these papers had gone from or to any of the defendants or were known to them. Most of the papers were framed like internal memoranda within the respective distributors. There was no evidence that any one of these papers was an act in furtherance of any conspiracy. On the contrary, many of them disclosed non-cooperation and competitive antagonism.

[fol. 5615] Defendants' objections to this type of evidence was first noted with respect to the introduction of exhibits P10 and P11, which were received in evidence at page 288 of the typewritten stenographic minutes. Defendants' objections to the receipt thereof and of similar exhibits appears at page 276 to page 288 of the typewritten stenographic minutes.

At the close of the plaintiff's case, the Court admitted by a single ruling, the following listed exhibits. The defendants' objections covering all these matters and separately as to each paper were summarized and stated at length in the stenographic minutes at pages 3284 to 3288, 3424 to 3458, 3589 to 3610 and 3937 to 3963. The blanket ruling appears at page 3955 and other rulings appear at pages 3610, 3612 and 3964. The exhibits are described at pages 3983 to 3989.

[fol. 5617] One Hundred Sixteenth Assignment

The Court erred in directing the entry of judgment herein on November 1, 1945 without having specially found the facts herein and stated separately its conclusions of law thereon.

One Hundred Seventeenth Assignment

The Court erred in directing the entry herein on March 29, 1946 of an amended judgment without having specially found the facts herein and stating separately its conclusions of law thereon.

One Hundred Eighteenth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to dismiss the complaint herein in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them, or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws, since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19, 1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

[fol. 5618] One Hundred Nineteenth Assignment

The Court erred in enjoining the defendants from continuing any contract, conspiracy or combination with each other or with any other person which has the purpose or effect of maintaining the exhibition or theatre monopolies of the defendants or of preventing any other theatre or exhibitor from competing with the defendants or any of them, and from entering into any similar contract, conspiracy or combination for the purpose or with the effect of restraining or monopolizing trade and commerce between the states in view of its express finding that there was no evidence of any acts committed by the defendants or any of them or any course of conduct pursued by them in violation of the anti-trust laws since prior to the commencement of the trial of this case, to wit, since prior to May 19,1942, and in view of the further fact that there was no evidence of any likelihood that any such acts would be committed or such conduct pursued by the defendants or any of them in the future.

One Hundred Twentieth Assignment

The Court erred in holding that the corporate defendants in this case were not in essence a single exhibitor and as such incapable of conspiring among themselves.

One Hundred Twenty-first Assignment

The Court erred in drawing an inference unfavorable to the defendants from the failure of the defendants to produce as witnesses upon the trial of this case all of the [fol. 5619] persons employed by the distributors who were formerly defendants herein, as sales managers or branch and exchange managers during the period in question in view of the fact that the failure to produce such persons was directly due to the voluntary dismissal by the plaintiff of said distributors as defendants in this case.

One Hundred Twenty-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to draw an inference unfavorable to the plaintiff from the failure of the plaintiff to call as witnesses more than a small percentage of the persons named by the plaintiff in its bills of particulars and answers to interrogatories as having been injured by the alleged wrongful acts of the defendants, and as being prospective witnesses.

One Hundred Twenty-third Assignment

The Court erred in attempting to determine for itself what constitutes reasonable or unreasonable clearance (Findings of Fact Nos. 8, 9(b), 17, and Conclusions of Law Nos. 4(b) and 5(b)) in the absence of any testimony on that point by any person properly qualified so to testify.

One Hundred Twenty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in attempting to determine what constitutes reasonable or unreasonable clearance on the basis of hearsay declarations by persons not properly qualified and not produced as witnesses upon the trial of this case.

[fol. 5620] One Hundred Twenty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in attempting to determine what constitutes reasonable or unreasonable clearance without taking into consideration or requiring any evidence with respect to factors admittedly determinative of such reasonableness or unreasonableness and without giving any consideration to the plaintiff's express admissions of facts relating thereto.

One Hundred Twenty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in holding (Finding of Fact No. 16) that the defendants, because of their great buying power, were able to obtain concessions not obtainable by independents in view of the absence of any evidence to such effect and in view of the uncontradicted testimony of the sales managers of the distributors to the contrary.

One Hundred Twenty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in holding (Finding of Fact No. 16) that the defendants, by reason of franchise agreements entered into prior to May 19, 1942 (voided thereafter), were able to reap benefits unavailable to independents and utilize the same against independent operators as a means of restraint, in view of the absence of any evidence to such effect and in view of the uncontradicted testimony of the sales managers of the distributors to the contrary.

One Hundred Twenty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in holding (Finding of Fact No. 7) that the defendants, because of their great buying power, were [fol. 5621] able to exert pressure on distributors to obtain prefe-nces, in view of the absence of any evidence to such effect and in view of the uncontradicted testimony of the sales managers of the distributors to the contrary.

One Hundred Twenty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in holding (Finding of Fact No. 7) that the defendants, because of their great buying power and by combining the open and closed towns in deals with distributors, were enabled to dictate terms to the distributors, in view of the absence of any evidence to such effect and in view of the uncontradicted testimony of the sales managers of the distributors to the contrary.

One Hundred Thirtieth Assignment

The Court erred in holding (Finding of Fact No. 7) that the alleged ability of the defendants to dictate terms was further increased by the authority of Schine to buy product for theatres not owned or operated by it in view of the absence of any evidence to such effect and in view of the further fact that, as shown by defendants' answer to plaintiff's interrogatories, all but one of the theatres for which the defendants bought product were theatres in which the defendants had a financial interest.

One Hundred Thirty-first Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 3 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Par. I (1) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

[fol. 5622] One Hundred Thirty-second Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 4 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (2) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Thirty-third Assignment

One Hundred Thirty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 6 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (4) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Thirty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 7 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (5) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Thirty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 8 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (6) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Thirty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 9 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I(7) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

[fol. 5623] One Hundred Thirty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 10, 11b and 11f instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (8a, b, c, d, e, and f) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Thirty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in making findings of fact No. 11a, 11e, 11h and 11i instead of the findings requested by defendants in Paragraph I(9a, b, c and d) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Fortieth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding No. 12 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (10) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-first Assignment

The Court erred in making finding No. 13 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (11) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-second Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 15 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (12) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-third Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 16 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I(13) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

[fol. 5624] One Hundred Forty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 17 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (14) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 20 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (15) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 21 instead of finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (16) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 22 instead of the finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (17) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 27 instead of finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (18) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

One Hundred Forty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in making finding of fact No. 28 instead of finding requested by defendants in Paragraph I (19) of their motion pursuant to Rule 52(b).

[fol. 5625] One Hundred Fiftieth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"There is no evidence that J. Myer Schine, acting as an individual, committed any act or pursued any course of conduct in violation of the Anti-Trust laws."

One Hundred Fifty-first Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"There is no evidence that Louis W. Schine, acting as an individual, committed any act or pursued any course of conduct in violation of the Anti-Trust Laws."

One Hundred Fifty-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"There is no evidence that John A. May acting as an individual, committed any act or pursued any course of conduct in violation of the Anti-Trust laws."

One Hundred Fifty-third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"J. Myer Schine acted in connection with any matter involved in the issues in this case, as an officer, director or agent of the corporate defendant Schine Chain Theatres, Inc."

[fol. 5626] One Hundred Fifty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"Louis W. Schine acted if at all in connection with any matter involved in the issues in this case, as an officer, director or agent of the corporate defendant Schine Chain Theatres, Inc."

One Hundred Fifty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "John A. May acted in connection with any matter involved in the issues in this case, as an officer, director or agent of the corporate defendant Schine Chain Theatres, Inc."

One Hundred Fifty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "For the past 15 to 20 years the normal method of licensing the exhibition of copyrighted motion picture photoplays in the United States of America, including the states of New York, Ohio; Kentucky, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, has been on a so-called run basis, to wit:—For a first run to a theatre in a local competitive area with such exclusive exhibition rights and clearance privileges, if any, as may be appropriate to the successful exploitation of said copyrights in said area; for such subsequent runs in said area, and with such exclusive rights and privileges, if any, as may be [fol. 5627] appropriate to the successful exploitation of said copyrights in said area."

One Hundred Fifty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "It has been the usual and customary practice for the distributor to agree with its licensees that it will not exhibit or grant a license to exhibit its photoplays for exhibition in conflict with the run licensed the exhibitor, or prior to the clearance period agreed upon with the exhibitor."

One Hundred Fifty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The motion picture industry has developed under the existence of clearance and runs. It is by such a system with initially large receipts from prior run exhibitions and successive reduction of license charges that satisfactory revenue can be derived by the producers and distributors so that costly feature pictures can be made available to the whole public at varying admission prices."

One Hundred Fifty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In each competitive area under normal business conditions of free competition each distributor desires to license its films for successive runs in such area [fol. 5628] under such clearance terms as will yield the maximum total license revenue from the area. In determining which theatre shall have which runs its past business relations with the theatre, the skill and character of its management, its size, location, equipment and drawing power are all features which among others may influence such decision."

One Hundred Sixtieth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Motion picture are works of art and are the subject of copyright. They have no uniform or market value and the revenue which an owner of a copyright can derive from any picture or group of pictures depends upon the ability of the distributor to market them in different situations to the best advantage."

One Hundred Sixty-first Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In a competitive area, where there are opposing possible theatres, to which films may be licensed, the distributor generally licenses the picture and determines the rental in accordance with the box office grossing ability of the picture at the theatre to which the distributor decides to license the picture."

One Hundred Sixty-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> [fol. 5629] "The cost of the original production of a picture to the point where the negative is ready, so that positives for showing can be made, at times runs into millions of dollars. Each positive taken from the negative costs approximately $185 or more in addition, and if it is in technicolor the cost of the positive runs much higher."

One Hundred Sixty-third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "For the average picture Fox makes about 300 positive prints of an 'A' picture and on an especially good picture as high as 360-370 such prints."

One Hundred Sixty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "There are in operation in the United States, equipped for sound, in excess of 17,000 theatres."

One Hundred Sixty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "A very good picture distributed by Fox would play approximately 14,000 of those theatres.

One Hundred Sixty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "A single print would be called upon to serve from 40 to 50 theatres."

[fol. 5630] One Hundred Sixty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "An ordinary tour of a print from the time it leaves the exchange to go to one theatre, through transportation time, time of exhibition at the theatre, transportation time on return of the print, and inspection requires several days before the print can start out for its next theatre."

One Hundred Sixty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Fox serves that print over about a year of time to cover all the theatres in which that particular print is exhibited."

One Hundred Sixty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Fox has 31 exchange centers, each serving an area in which from 450 to 500 theatres on an average are located."

One Hundred Seventieth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The prints are served in a sequence of time, starting generally to play first the larger theatres in the larger cities and towns, because those are the theatres that [fol. 5631] do the biggest business and the distributor regards them as a show window for the entire exchange territory, and in that show window the picture is well advertised, in the newspapers and sometimes in radio programs and in lobby displays and in front of the theatre."

One Hundred Seventy-first Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The effort of the distributor and of the exhibitor is to have the selection of the theatres to show at a particular time, so made that they will be spaced in areas so that the pictures are shown in the different theatres in such a way that a particular picture showing in one theatre will not draw directly away from another theatre playing the same picture that day."

One Hundred Seventy-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"In determining the runs and the period and area of clearance the distributor figures that there is a certain amount of money that an individual of the public has to spend for motion picture entertainment during a given week, and that there is competition for that sum because what is spent to see it in the first run house will leave so much less to be spent in the second run house, so that the first run house and the second run house playing later are in competition with each other or with any other theatre and the distributor desires to have as [fol. 5632] much go into the first run house because the distributor can get more money out of that theatre than out of subsequent run theatres."

One Hundred Seventy-third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"The plan of clearance came into the industry as a means of protecting the prior run theatre whose capital cost is very large, running in a medium size town in the early days from $75,000 to $100,000 up to an investment of a million dollars or more in later days, which needed the protection for the investment by playing the first run of the picture a sufficient length of time before a second run in the same competitive area, so that the expectation that the picture might be seen in the same competitive area too soon would not detract from the attendance at the first run theatre and the consequent box office receipts there.".

One Hundred Seventy-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

"In determining the film rental, whether a percentage rental or a flat rental, the distributors aim at 35% of the gross box office receipts as the index in pricing."

One Hundred Seventy-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> [fol. 5633] "It is the custom of the industry, if the box office receipts fall below the expectation on which the flat rental was based, to make subsequently a reduction in that rental to the point where the exhibitor can at least break even or show a small profit."

One Hundred Seventy-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In determining the rental in the first place the distributor endeavors to estimate how much money the theatre could gross on the particular picture."

One Hundred Seventy-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In the normally successful downtown city theatre, with a seating capacity of 1600, conducting a matinee and two successive evening performances, it is estimated that in the course of the three performances there will be in the aggregate 1600 admissions, so that if the average admission price was 25 cents, the gross to be expected would be $400 a day, or for a 4-day showing of $1600."

One Hundred Seventy-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "At 35% of this estimate the asking price would be something like $550 for a flat rental for the picture."

[fol. 5634] One Hundred Seventy-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "It is customary to allow a deduction for the cost of a second feature if the theatre is showing double features, and for the cost of outside attractions at the theatre while showing the picture before applying the 35%."

One Hundred Eightieth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The effort of the distributor is to get the percentage of gross receipts at a second or subsequent run theatre in the same way as at a first run theatre."

One Hundred Eighty-first Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Where there is only one theatre in a particular competitive area, the principal competition to supply pictures to that theatre is among the ten larger companies—Columbia, Fox, Metro, Monogram, Paramount, Republic, RKO, United Artists, Universal and Warners—and of these, Fox, Metro, Paramount, RKO, and Warner are sometimes spoken of as the Big Five, producing the larger number of pictures which are box office attractions in the cities, but the Western and action pictures, in which Republic and Monogram [fol. 5635] have specialized, are most popular in the little towns of the South and West and more preferred on that account by exhibitors."

One Hundred Eighty-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Where there is more than one theatre that is a possibility for the distributor to sell, the distributor in selecting the customer to be obtained, if possible, takes into consideration the ability of the customer to gross, the operation of the theatre, the people conducting the business, the more substantial business man of the two, the theatre itself, in view of the distributor's desire to play its pictures in the nicest theatre with comfortable seats, a theatre showing a good clear picture on the screen, one that is well ventilated and well managed all the way through, with a desire to play the picture in the theatre charging the higher admission price, and there are other elements to be considered."

One Hundred Eighty-third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In selecting a second run in a competitive area the distributor takes into consideration first a protection of the film rental that is expected to come out of the first run and then the distributor makes sure that the operation of the theatre and the playing of the picture there will not harm the possibility of that picture doing its full amount of business, the full amount of business it is capable of doing at the first [fol. 5636] run house, and the distributor also takes into consideration the condition of the house itself, the projection, sound, ventilation and location of the theatre, with an inclination toward a busy corner or a location where more people are closer to the theatre, rather than one that is around the corner and off the beaten path."

One Hundred Eighty-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "At times a picture after playing a first run in a theatre will be moved over to another theatre, operated in common interest with the first, and this is ordinarily done without any interval of time between the end of the showing in the one theatre and its opening up in the other, and this is called a move-over run, which is treated as a part of the first run, as an entire run, and not as a second run."

One Hundred Eighty-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The foregoing policies are in general the policies of each of the distributors."

One Hundred Eighty-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Distributors consider that clearance is one of the most important things that they have to sell."

[fol. 5637]

One Hundred Eighty-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "If a customer is a solid customer, who pays his bills and gives an honest count, and the distributor has been dealing with him over a long period of time, they don't get a guarantee from him on the percentage pictures."

One Hundred Eighty-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The distributors considered the Schine Circuit terms to be very satisfactory terms and the deals made with that Circuit were comparable with the deals made with anybody else."

One Hundred Eighty-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In selling a group of pictures to the Schine Circuit there might be some pictures sold at 35%, some sold for lesser terms, and some on flat rental, dependent on the quality of the picture in general and the distributor's ability to get the price."

One Hundred Ninetieth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "The effort of the distributor is to get a price which is fair both to the distributor and to the exhibitor, and [fol. 5638] to take into consideration the effect on subsequent sales to him."

One Hundred Ninety-first Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In fixing a price to one theatre consideration is not given to the price charged to another theatre, but to the expectation of the gross box office receipts of the particular theatre."

One Hundred Ninety-second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Size of theatre alone does not determine, as amount of playing time and ability to fill the house must also be considered."

One Hundred Ninety-third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "It is to the advantage of the distributor to have the first run theatre also play the second run."

One Hundred Ninety-fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "In issuing licenses for more than one season's product, which the plaintiff has described as a franchise, no distinction is made between large circuits and inde- [fol. 5639] pendent exhibitors operating only a few theatres, and more franchises have been issued to the latter than to the former."

One Hundred Ninety-fifth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Such a franchise to independent small exhibitors and to circuits is advantageous at times both to the distributor and to the exhibitor as it gives the distributor an assured outlet in the town, saves the expense of going back and selling the town each year, and it gives the exhibitor an assured supply."

One Hundred Ninety-sixth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Independent exhibitors and affiliated exhibitors regarded clearance as of much importance and sought and believed that it improved the receipts of the theatre having it."

One Hundred Ninety-seventh Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Distributors in the general course of their sales policy send out salesmen to solicit theatres which the distributor desires to sell and to bring in applications for contracts, if they can be obtained, to the branch managers, who consider them. If they disapprove, they send the salesman back to see whether a better contract [fol. 5640] can be obtained, or if the branch manager thinks the contract an advisable one, he forwards it with his recommendations either to the home office of the distributor or to the district manager, who in turn if he favors the contract forwards it to the home office. No contract is made until the general manager at the home office has approved the contract, and no one except such manager has authority to approve a contract."

One Hundred Ninety-eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "It is estimated that about 1% of Paramount's film rental revenue came from the Schine Circuit."

One Hundred Ninety-ninth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "It does not appear that in negotiating with the Schine Circuit any distributor has pursued any abnormal policy."

Two Hundredth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "To the knowledge of the general sales managers of the respective distributors, Fox, Loew's Paramount, RKO, United Artists, Universal and Warners, there has not been any conversation with any of the defendants or their executives or employees not to deal with any competing exhibitors or to restrict the terms of such dealings."

[fol. 5641] Two Hundred First Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "Schine did not in the course of negotiations for the acquisition of any theatre at any time say to the prospective seller that if he did not sell to Schine he would have difficulty in getting product for his theatre. Schine did not say to any such person that if he did not sell to Schine he would open up another theatre in the town. Schine has not told any one else to make any such statements in negotiating for theatres for Schine. Schine was at the time of any such negotiations aware that any one had made any such statements. Schine has not said to any one that he approved of their making or having made any such statements. Schine has not asked any distributor to suggest to any person with whom Schine was negotiating for a theatre, or for any interest therein, that unless the theatre or an interest therein was sold to Schine, it would be difficult for the theatre to obtain product. Schine has not in any conversation with any employee of Columbia, Fox, Loew's, Paramount, RKO, United Artists, Universal or Vitagraph said that any one of them should not deal with a competing exhibitor to Schine. Schine has not written any such statement to any of them. Schine has not said to any one of them that if they made such a sale Schine would not buy from them elsewhere in the Schine Circuit. Schine has not for the acquisitions of theatres made any threats or misrepresentations."

[fol. 5642] Two Hundred Second Assignment

The Court erred in failing to find as requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) that:

> "No competent or properly qualified witness was produced by the plaintiff upon the trial to testify as an expert, as to what constituted reasonable or unreasonable clearance, or as to the factors which must be considered in determining whether clearance is reasonable or unreasonable."

Two Hundred Third Assignment

The Court erred in failing to make the findings requested by the defendants in "Defendants' Request for Findings" dated January 24, 1945, the error being hereby assigned with respect to each failure to make each respective finding requested.

Two Hundred Fourth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to make the conclusions of law requested by the defendants in their motion under Rule 52(b) under Paragraph V, 1 to 9 inclusive.

Two Hundred Fifth Assignment

The Court erred in its failure to strike and eliminate from its findings of fact, the statements and language constituting or involving conclusions of law as requested in defendants' motion under Rule 52(b), Paragraph III, 76 to 84 inclusive.

[fol. 5643] Two Hundred Sixth Assignment

The Court erred in denying defendants' motion to strike all that part of the second amended complaint which deals with any theatres located in the State of New York or operated in the State of New York (which motion and ruling appears at pages 95 and 96 of the typewritten stenographic minutes).

Two Hundred Seventh Assignment

The Court erred in holding that the defendants had illegally stifled competition or monopolized the theatre business in different locations in the absence of any proof of any motive on the part of the defendants so illegally to stifle competition or to monopolize the theatre business and in the face of direct evidence to the contrary.

Two Hundred Eighth Assignment

The Court erred in failing to dismiss the complaint because the evidence introduced by the plaintiff failed to prove the allegations of the complaint as amended and as modified by plaintiff's bills of particulars.

Wherefore the defendants severally pray that said judgments and each of them, may be held erroneous and accordingly reversed and for such other and fit relief as the Court may deem just and proper.

Respectfully submitted for each defendant separately, ~~Willard S.~~ McKay, Attorney for Defendants.

Arthur Garfield Hays, of Counsel.

[fol. 5646] IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

PETITION FOR APPEAL AND ORDER ALLOWING THE SAME—August 26, 1946

The defendants, Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., Schine-Lexington Corporation, Schine Enterprises Corporation, Schine Circuit, Inc., Chesapeake Theatre Corporation, J. Myer Schine, Louis W. Schine and John A. May, having heretofore separately appealed from the judgment entered in the above entitled cause on November 1, 1945 and from the amended judgment entered herein on March 29, 1946, which said appeal was duly allowed by order dated April 17, 1946, and now separately alleging that each is aggrieved by the order and judgment entered herein on July 5, 1946 and designated "Order Setting Forth Plan [fol. 5647] Effectuating Judgment" and by the proceedings upon which said order and judgment is based, do each separately hereby pray an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Pursuant to Rule 12, Paragraph 1 of the Revised Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States, the defendants present to this court herewith a statement showing the basis of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to entertain an appeal in this cause.

The particulars wherein the defendants consider the action of the Court erroneous are set forth in the assignment of errors accompanying this petition and to which reference is hereby made.

Defendants Pray that their appeal may be allowed and that citation be issued as provided by law, and that a transcript of the record, proceedings, documents and papers upon which said decree was based, duly authenticated be sent to the Supreme Court of the United States under the rules of said Court in such cases made and provided.

Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., Schine-Lexington Corporation, Schine Enterprises Corporation, Schine Circuit, Inc., Chesapeake Theatre Corporation, J. Myer Schine, Louis W. Schine, John A. May. By their attorney (for each defendant separately) Willard S. McKay.

Arthur Garfield Hays, of Counsel.

[fols. 5648-5649] The above named defendants having duly filed the foregoing petition for appeal and also having filed their assignment of errors and prayer for reversal, and a jurisdictional statement pursuant to Rule 12, Paragraph 1 of the Revised Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States, and having in all respects conformed to the statutes and rules in such cases made and provided,

It is therefore ordered, that the said appeal be and the same hereby is allowed as prayed for.

[fol. 5650] IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

STATEMENT OF POINTS ON WHICH THE APPELLANTS INTEND TO RELY, AND DESIGNATION OF THE PARTS OF THE RECORD WHICH THEY THINK NECESSARY FOR THE CONSIDERATION THEREOF, PURSUANT TO RULE 13, PARAGRAPH 9—Filed October 22, 1946

The appellants, Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., et al., intend to rely upon each of their formal assignments of error, and adopt the same as their statement of points to be relied upon, but for convenience and brevity propose to group the discussion of said points as follows:

1. The Order and Judgment of the District Court, dated July 5, 1946, was improper and without force or effect, for the reasons assigned in the First, Second and Eighth Assignments of Error (Defendants' Assignments of Error, dated August 26, 1946, Case No. 572).

2. The Divestiture Order of July 6, 1946, was improvidently, improperly and prematurely made and entered for the reasons assigned in the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Assignments of Error.

[fol. 5651] 3. The District Court's Divestiture Order of July 6, 1946, was unscientific, illogical, punitive, rather than remedial, in its purpose and effect. It was without any precedent in law, and not based upon any evidence or findings showing the necessity therefor, or that it would have any tendency whatever to correct the alleged evils in the motion picture business, or create, maintain or restore competition in the motion picture industry, or that it would benefit the public, or that it would have any effect whatsoever except to penalize and punish the defendants by inflicting severe financial loss without corresponding benefit to the public.

4. All other considerations aside, the plans of realignment submitted by the defendants should not have been rejected by the District Court in favor of divestiture without having taken any evidence with respect to their probable efficacy, or without giving any consideration to the proven efficacy, up to the date of trial, of the injunctive provisions of the temporary order, dated May 19, 1942, or to the probable effect upon the motion picture business generally of the decision of the District Court of the Southern District of New York in United States v. Paramount, et al., 16 Fed. 323 (which decision, although not binding upon the Court was before the Court in connection with the defendants' motion for a stay, dated June 7, 1946), as more particularly set forth in Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Nineteenth Assignments of Error.

5. In ordering the sale within six months of the properties referred to in paragraph I-E of its Divestiture Order, the District Court went outside of the testimony in the case and ordered the sale of said properties, for no reason except for the fact that on May 19, 1942, the defendants had voluntarily agreed to endeavor to sell said properties but [fol. 5652] had been unable to do so prior to the expiration date of the order of May 19, 1942, as extended, and in the face of the further fact that with respect to the Strand Theatre, Cumberland, Maryland, the defendants had been relieved by the Court from making any further efforts to sell said property.

6. As a corollary to Point 10 in Case No. 571, there is nothing to show that the District Court at any time had before it the parties whose compliance would be necessary to enforce the sale of the theatre properties referred to in the Divestiture Order.

7. In making an order that the theatre properties of the defendants in certain named localities should be sold by a trustee, the District Court acted as to certain properties without any evidence whatsoever with respect thereto, and as to certain other properties without any evidence showing, or tending to show, that the acquisition by the defendants of their-theatre interests in said localities and/or the maintenance and use by the defendants of such theatre interests was, or is, the result of, or pursuant to, or has resulted in any conduct on the part of the defendants or any of them in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act, or that the divestiture thereof, or of any part thereof, is otherwise warranted by Sections 1 and 2 of the Sherman Act. The errors of the Court in this respect are more particularly set forth in the Twenty fourth to the Sixty third assignments of error, inclusive.

8. There is no reason whatever for including the individual defendants in the Divestiture Order, yet the Court addressed its said order to all of the defendants, including the individual defendants, without assigning any reason for so doing.

[fol. 5653] Said appellants hereby designate as considered necessary for the consideration of the points on which the appellants intend to rely, the following parts of the transcript of the record as certified by the Clerk of the United States District Court for the Western District of New York:

[fols. 5655-5656] This statement and designation is being filed concurrently with a similar statement and designation for Case No. 571. Upon the assumption that these two cases will be argued and submitted either concurrently or consecutively, the appellants state that all points relied upon in Case No. 571 will also be relied upon in Case No. 572, and vice versa, and that all portions of the record designated as necessary to print for consideration of Case No. 571, shall also be a part of the record in Case No. 572, and vice versa.

The appellants respectfully reserve the right to amend and/or supplement the foregoing statement and designation after the determination by the Court of appellee's motion to dismiss or affirm in Case No. 571 now pending before the Court.

Dated: New York, October 18, 1946.

Respectfully submitted for each appellant separately, Willard S. McKay, Attorney for Appellants.

[fol. 5686] However, it is stipulated, consented, and agreed that in printing the group of exhibits starting with P-14 just above listed, the Clerk of the Court shall print, unless otherwise designated above, only the following portions thereof:

Name of Distributor:
Season:
Contract date:
Approval date:
Theatre:
Schedule of Pictures licensed and terms:
No. of pictures offered:
No. of pictures licensed:

All printed portions containing blanks whether filled in or not, e. g., admission prices, clearance, approval dates and signatures, also all typewritten or written matter whether or not included in blanks in printed provisions.

It is stipulated, consented, and agreed that there be printed as part of the record on appeal, the annexed printed film license agreement forms, and it is hereby stipulated and agreed that said forms are to be deemed, as to the distributor concerned, to set forth such portions of the above listed exhibits as not printed. However, where the provisions of any film license agreement in evidence differ from the form of agreement so printed, either party hereto may refer to such different provision and in so doing shall print the actual provision of the agreement referred to as an appendix to its brief.

It is stipulated, consented, and agreed that the parties hereto may refer in their briefs and on oral argument to any portion of the record on appeal in this case on file in the office of the Clerk whether or not said portion is included in the printed record on appeal, and it is further stipulated and agreed that either party may print as an appendix to its brief such portions of the record on file in [fol. 5687] the office of the Clerk as are not included in the printed record on appeal.

[fols. 5690-5692] APPENDIX TO STIPULATION

Columbia—1936-37

Form S—14—A

License Agreement

Branch .... Date .... Contract No. ....

Salesman Name .... Exhibitor's Name ....

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Columbia Pictures Corporation, a corporation (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor), party of the first part, and the Exhibitor (hereinafter named and referred to as the Exhibitor, operating the theatre hereinafter designated), party of the second part, as follows:

License

First. The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts, a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures embraced in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit publicly said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each such motion picture a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said [fol. 5693] copyrighted musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

Term and Warranty

Second. (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the date or dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim [fol. 5694] shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third. (a) Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Percentage Bookings

(b) If the rental of any of such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date.

Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and figures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said [fol. 5695] theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor makes certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purposes any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant.

Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings

(c) If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each date any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion pictures should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to exhibit any of said motion pictures; provided that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such [fol. 5696] percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five (65%) per cent of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

(d) If the rental of any such motion pictures is to be determined upon the admission receipts but with a minimum guaranteed rental, then the Exhibitor agrees to pay such minimum guaranteed rental in accordance with the provision of Sub-division (a) hereof. Any additional monies to be paid to Distributor as a percentage of the admission receipts shall be paid by the Exhibitor to Distributor in accordance with Sub-division (b) hereof.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth. (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show," "tryout," "preview," or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture, but only in such territory. A "pre-release" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor in the exchange territory in which said theatre is located.

The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, sub-[fol. 5697] ject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions (a) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the Distributor and the Exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty-day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Sixth hereof, excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

[fol. 5698] (e) Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such prints, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange, transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor.

Loss and Damage to Prints

Fifth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print, lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay, or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the Exhibitor for any loss or stolen print, upon the return of such loss or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after [fol. 6599] the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor and delivery thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft or destruction of or damage or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Playdates

Sixth: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available [fol. 5700] date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the exhibitor.

Clearance and Run

Seventh: The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period" if any in the Schedule specified at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Description of Pictures

Eighth: The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, or old negatives retitled excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Ninth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other exhibitor having the right to a prior run thereof. Nothing in this Clause shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group, but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided.

[fol. 5701] (b) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be roadshown by the Distributor and not excepted and excluded from this license, until after the completion of such roadshowing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(c) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Acceptance by Distributor

Tenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located East of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located West of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Eleventh: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings, and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modifi- [fol. 5702] cation may be consented to in writing, but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served, provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion picture specified in the Schedule.

Assignment of Contract

Twelfth: In the event the Exhibitor sells said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor shall have the right to assign this license to the Purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor provided the Exhibitor or such assignee shall deliver to the Distributor, in form acceptable to Distributor, a written assumption of all the obligations of the Exhibitor hereunder duly executed by the assignee. Any such assignment, however, shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Except as herein provided, the Exhibitor shall have no right to assign this agreement. The Exhibitor agrees that Distributor shall have the right to assign this agreement to any person, firm or corporation without the written consent of the Exhibitor.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand a tax fee or any other charge, now and/or hereafter levied, imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to Distributor and/or the rental of the rights herein granted by Distributor to Exhibitor hereunder and/or any other reason whatsoever. In the event the Exhibitor fails or refuses to pay upon demand such tax fee or charge, then the Distributor shall have the right at its option to C. O. D. delivery of any print of the motion pictures licensed hereunder and include the amount of such tax fee or other charge in said C. O. D.

[fol. 5703] In the event such tax shall be declared invalid by final judicial decree, the Distributor shall not be liable to the Exhibitor for the return of such taxes, fees or other charges paid by Exhibitor to Distributor if the Distributor shall have paid same over to the governmental agency designated to receive or collect same. If such taxes, fees, or other charges shall not have been paid over to such governmental agency and said tax shall be declared invalid by final judicial decree, then the Distributor agrees to return to Exhibitor such sum or sums as Distributor shall have received from Exhibitor but not paid over to such governmental agency.

Prevention of Performance

Fourteenth: If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

First Run Exhibitions

Fifteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature mot-on pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said schedule date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and [fol. 5704] the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Second Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this [fol. 5705] Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen-day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be accepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Remedies

Sixteenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or of his said interests therein, making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults should cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

Cutting or Alteration of Prints

Seventeenth: The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the Distributor.

Roadshows

Eighteenth: (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at [fol. 5707] any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

[fol. 5708] (d) The inadvertent omission to send to any of such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Midnight Shows

Nineteenth: The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule shall not include the right of exhibition at any time previous to dawn of the first licensed and booked date of exhibition without securing express written permission hereunder.

[fol. 5709]

Admission Prices

Twentieth: The Exhibitor during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder agrees to and shall charge for admission to said theatre the prices listed in the Schedule.

If during any such period less than said admission prices listed in the Schedule is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right (a) to immediately terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited, by written notice to such effect to the Exhibitor and upon the giving of such notice, the license of such motion picture shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor; or (b) provided the Exhibitor is granted herein a period of "Clearance to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the motion pictures thereafter deliverable hereunder; or (c) provided no period of "clearance" is specified in the Schedule to withhold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each motion picture thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor; and as to each such motion picture the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such motion picture after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determined as provided in Clause Sixth hereof.

Breach of Other Agreements

Twenty-first: If the Exhibitor shall breach any other agreement between the Exhibitor and Distributor made prior to, simultaneously with or subsequent to the making of this agreement, then any such breach under such agreement shall be deemed to be a breach and a default under this agreement and in any such case the Distributor shall have all the rights and remedies herein provided as well as those at Law, in Equity or otherwise, to the same full force and to the same extent as if such breach had been committed hereunder.

Right to C. O. D.

Twenty-second: It is agreed that the Distributor may at its option deliver to the Exhibitor C. O. D. any motion picture [fol. 5710] deliverable hereunder and may add to said C. O. D. the amount of any past indebtedness owing under this or any other agreement by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. Such indebtedness may include monies due from the Exhibitor to the Distributor for unplayed pictures, played pictures or for any other indebtedness whatsoever.

Moneys in Trust

Twenty-third: Where this agreement calls for the payment of a fixed and definite rental for any motion picture (that is to say, not based upon a percentage of the gross receipts) then in case payment is not made in advance of the exhibition of any such motion picture and credit is extended to the Exhibitor, in consideration therefor, the Exhibitor agrees that the Distributor shall receive its rental for any such motion picture with respect to which credit has been so extended, out of the first admission receipts from the patrons paying admissions during the exhibition of any such motion picture up to the amount due the Distributor and such admission receipts shall belong to and be the property of the Distributor when they are paid by the patrons and shall be held in trust for the Distributor until paid to the Distributor and the ownership of said trust fund by the Distributor shall not be questioned whether the moneys are physically segregated or not and the Exhibitor agrees to keep such portion of the gross receipts as are payable to the Distributor hereunder, in a separate and distinct fund. In the event the admission fees received during the exhibition of said motion picture are not equal to the amount of the license fee and/or rental due to the Distributor on account of such motion picture, the Exhibitor shall nevertheless remain and continue to be liable for the balance of the amount due and payable to the Distributor after the moneys kept in trust for the Distributor shall have been paid to the Distributor.

In the event any motion picture herein embraced is based upon a percentage of the Exhibitor's gross receipts derived from the exhibition of such motion picture the Distributor's share of the gross receipts due to the Distributor hereunder shall belong to the Distributor and shall be held in trust for the Distributor until paid to the Distributor; and the ownership of said trust fund by the Distributor shall not be ques- [fol. 5711] tioned whether the moneys are physically segregated or not, and the Exhibitor agrees to keep such portion of the gross receipts as are payable to the Distributor hereunder, segregated and in a distinct fund.

Advertising and Accessories

Twenty-fourth: The Exhibitor agrees to advertise and announce each motion picture herein embraced as designated in the main title including the designation of the motion picture as a Columbia Pictures Corporation production. The Exhibitor further agrees that in all newspaper advertising and publicity issued by the Exhibitor relating to any said motion picture, the Exhibitor shall adhere to the date of announcement contained in the advertising matter issued by the Distributor.

All advertising accessories used by the Exhibitor in connection with the exhibition of the motion pictures herein embraced, shall be leased from or through the Distributor and same must not be sold, leased or given away by the Exhibitor, but shall be returned promptly to the Distributor after use by the Exhibitor in connection with the exhibition of the particular motion picture.

It is further agreed that the use of the accessories by Exhibitor hereunder is under a license under the respective copyrights relating to such accessories and such accessories shall not be used in any other theatre than the one designated in the Schedule unless otherwise specifically agreed upon in said Schedule.

Twenty-fifth: The following Schedule and all of the written and printed parts thereof are a part of this license:

Schedule for 1936-37 Season

	Theatre	Town and State	Minimum admission price				Seating capacity
			Matinee		Evening
			Adults	Children	Adults	Children

Group W—4-5-6

(A) There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the sound photoplays of feature length (exclusive of the so-called Western group of photoplays hereinafter referred to [fol. 5712] and exclusive of any and all Frank Capra productions) or such or so many of them as may be specified hereunder under the heading "Special Feature Attractions," embraced in the Distributor's group of pictures to be known as "W-4" not less than thirty (30) and not more than forty (40), which shall be generally released by the Distributor for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States during the period commencing September 1, 1936, and ending September 30, 1937, and embraced in said group "W-4" (except such photoplays as Distributor is required by contract to obtain the consent or approval of the producer or director thereof or other party to the terms and conditions of licensing the exhibition thereof) and identified by designation numbers running from 7001 to 7040. The "road-showing," "preview" and/or "pre-releasing" of any photoplay during the said period above mentioned shall not be deemed a general release of said photoplay.

(B) There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the sound photoplays of the so-called Western group of photoplays or such or so many of them as may be specified hereunder under the heading "Western Feature Attractions," embraced in the Distributor's group of pictures to be known as "W-5" not less than eight (8) and not more than sixteen (16), which shall be generally released by the Distributor for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States, during the period commencing September 1, 1936, and ending September 30, 1937, and embraced in said group known as "W-5." and identified by designation numbers running from 7201 to 7216.

(C) There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the sound one-reel and two-reel motion pictures known as Short Subjects or such or so many of them as may be specified hereunder under the heading "Columbia's Single and Two Reel Attractions" and/or "Court of Human Relations," embraced in the Distributor's group of pictures to be known as "W-6," not less than fifty-two (52) and not more than one hundred and four (104) one-reel and not less than thirteen (13) and not more than twenty-six (26) two-reel which shall be generally released by the Distributor for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States, during the period commencing September 1, 1936, [fol. 5713] and ending September 30, 1937, and embraced in said group known as "W-6."

For the license to exhibit each of said photoplays and shorts the Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor the following:

Playing Arrangement: The Exhibitor agrees to play and/or pay for at least Court of Human Relations subjects every commencing the day of , 193 , if and as available and in order of availability until all motion pictures licensed hereunder are exhibited and/or paid for.

[fol. 5714] Designation.—It is agreed that the license fees herein specified apply to each respective photoplay and to each respective short subject, licensed hereunder according to the classification thereof by the Distributor, and such license fees are not average license fees regardless of the number of such photoplays or short subjects that may be released by the Distributor, embraced in Group W—4-5-6, within the period hereinabove specified. The Distributor agrees to classify each such photoplay and/or short subject at or before the time of the giving to the Exhibitor of the notice of availability of such photoplay or short subject. Nothing in this paragraph contained shall be deemed to prevent the Distributor from exercising its right of re-application contained in the next paragraph hereof.

Re-Application.—The Distributor shall have the right to apply the rental terms (including the license fee or minimum guaranteed rental, percentage of gross receipts, minimum playing time and other rental terms specified in the Schedule) of any motion picture to any other motion picture listed in the Schedule, provided, however, that the Distributor shall at no time increase the total number of motion pictures to which the same rental terms apply beyond the total of such motion pictures specified in the Schedule.

In case the Distributor desires to change the rental terms of any motion picture as above provided, the Distributor shall notify the Exhibitor of the motion picture affected and the terms to be applied to such motion picture, in the notice of availability sent to the Exhibitor relating to such motion picture or prior thereto.

Playing Arrangement: The Exhibitor agrees to play and/or pay for at least special feature attractions (Group W-4) every and at least western feature attractions (Group W—5) every and at least single reel short subjects (exclusive of Court of Human Relations subjects) every and at least two-reel short subjects every , commencing the day of , 19 .., if and as available and in order of availability until all motion pictures licensed hereunder are exhibited and/or paid for.

[fol. 5715] The Exhibitor agrees to pay for all the short subjects licensed herein, including the Court of Human Relations subjects, the sum of .... to be paid on a weekly basis of $ .... per week, for a period of consecutive weeks, starting .... The weekly sum herein specified to be paid by the Exhibitor shall be paid irrespective of the number of short subjects which the Exhibitor may play hereunder during any week from among those licensed hereunder.

It is agreed that wherever motion pictures hereunder are to be exhibited on a percentage arrangement, said percentage or percentages have been fixed by the Distributor in reliance upon the agreement and representation by the Exhibitor that the policy of the theatre will be a .... policy. In the event said policy is changed by Exhibitor then the percentage or percentages designated in the Schedule shall be increased by 25% of the original percentage terms unless the Schedule expressly otherwise provides.

Run—Clearance and Additional Provisions

Run: If the Exhibitor is granted hereunder a second or subsequent "run", the Distributor shall have the right in its sole discretion to grant the Exhibitor in respect to any of the motion pictures herein embraced, a "run" prior to such second or subsequent "run" by giving notice in writing to such effect to the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit any such motion picture in accordance therewith.

(End of Schedule)

In witness whereof, ... the Exhibitor operating the .... Theatre, located at No. Street .... City .... Form La. 838

Standard License Agreement

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Twentieth Century-Fox Distributing Corporation, a corporation (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor), party of the first part, and the Exhibitor, (hereinafter named and referred to as the Exhibitor, operating the theatre hereinafter designated), party of the second part.

Witnesseth: The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First: The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit publicly said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each of such motion pictures a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said copyrighted musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

Notwithstanding the number of days of exhibition specified for each motion picture in the Schedule, the license hereby granted to exhibit such motion picture shall auto- [fol. 5723] matically be limited to, and shall not include any right of exhibition at any time or by any means other than respectively: (a) the date or dates either expressly specified herein or selected pursuant to paragraph sixth hereof and confirmed in writing by the Distributor; and (b) the print of such motion picture designated and furnished by the Distributor for such date or dates.

Term and Warranty

Second: (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the date or dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures except for such as may be excluded as provided in Clause Fifteenth and Nineteenth hereof. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages—Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, excepting those which may be eliminated as provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof, or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof or shall deliver to the Exhibitor a print of any motion picture which print shall be determined was not in condition for exhibition and for the reproduction of sound as provided in Clause Second, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in [fol. 5724] Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third: Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor at its main office in New York City. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Percentage Bookings

(b) If the rental of any of such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date. Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and fig- [fol. 5725] ures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The Distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect to this license.

Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings

(c) If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each day any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Dis- [fol. 5726] tributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety (90) day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty (30) operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion picture should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to exhibit any of said motion pictures: provided that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five percent (65%) of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth: (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show," "tryout," "preview," or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "pre-release" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor in the exchange territory in which said theatre is located. The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only [fol. 5727] upon the following conditions (a) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the Distributor and the Exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Sixth hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

(e) Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder, with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served [fol. 5728] or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such print, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall have the right to participate in any compromise of or intervene in any arbitration or legal proceeding based upon any claim for such damage asserted against the Distributor by another exhibitor; notice of which shall be given the Exhibitor by the Distributor.

Loss and Damage to Prints

Fifth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print, lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the Exhibitor for any lost or stolen print, excepting "news reels" upon the return of such lost or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have [fol. 5729] been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor and delivery thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft or destruction of or damage or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Play Dates

Sixth: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

[fol. 5730] 3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor.

Clearance and Run

Seventh: The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period," if any, in the Schedule specified at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Reissues, Foreign Pictures, and Advertising Matter

Eighth: The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled or foreign produced by a foreign producer, excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further, that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Ninth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of the said motion pictures the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other exhibitor having the right to a prior run thereof. Nothing in this Clause shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided.

[fol. 5731] (b) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be roadshown by the Distributor and not excepted and excluded from this license, until after the completion of such roadshowing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(c) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor, unless arbitration is herein provided for and immediately upon the receipt of any such notice of exclusion the Exhibitor by written notice given to the Distributor shall deny breaching any of the provisions of this Clause, in which case the question of fact raised by such denial shall be determined by arbitration.

Acceptance by Distributor

Tenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located East of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located west of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Eleventh: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings and agreements [fol. 5732] in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modification may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served, provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion pictures specified in the Schedule.

Assignment on Sale of Theatre

Twelfth: This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the Exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor may assign this license to the purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless a written acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the Exhibitor shall be delivered to the Distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax, fee or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee or other like charge paid or payable by the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

Prevention of Performance

Fourteenth: If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

Option to Exclude if Group Licensed

Fifteenth: If the total number of feature motion pictures offered to the Exhibitor by the Distributor, at one time, shall have been licensed by the Distributor hereunder and the license fees of all thereof average not more than Two hundred and fifty ($250.00) dollars, the Exhibitor shall have the right to exclude from this license not to exceed ten (10%) percent of the total number of feature motion pictures so licensed hereunder; provided (1) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, and (2) shall have fully complied with all of the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said feature motion pictures at specified intervals. Such right of exclusion may be exercised only upon the following terms and conditions:

(1) The Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice of the Exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures within fourteen (14) days after its general release date in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served.

(2) The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture out of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in the license agreement provided he has paid for the other nine (9) of such group.

(3) If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (2) above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such [fol. 5734] tenth or succeeding tenth motion picture, as the case may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (2) above.

If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege to exclude shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion pictures but one in such group.

(c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege or exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fees of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in the license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of such license agreement.

(2) If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

(e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (3) hereof shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture excluded.

(2) If no feature motion pictures of the Distributor were [fol. 5735] exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture excluded.

(f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half (½) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

First Run Exhibitions

Sixteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

[fol. 5736]

Second Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) day period, the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor having been granted the second run immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed [fol. 5737] waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other exhibitor prior to September 1, 1933, the provisions of this Clause shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

Remedies

Seventeenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this [fol. 5738] license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or of his said interests therein making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults should cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

It is agreed, that in the event of the failure or refusal of Exhibitor to exhibit or pay the license fees of any one or more of the photoplays covered by this contract, Distributor may, at its option, declare such failure or refusal a breach of the entire contract, entitling Distributor to recover from Exhibitor as damages therefor, the amount payable as license fees in respect to all photoplays not theretofore exhibited and/or paid for, pursuant to the provisions of this contract.

Cutting or Alteration of Prints

Eighteenth: The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or [fol. 5739] authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the Distributor. The Exhibitor however may cut the print of a news reel, and in such case shall completely restore all parts cut therefrom, prior to the return thereof to the Distributor or shipment elsewhere if so directed by the Distributor, in the same condition as received by the Exhibitor.

Roadshows

Nineteenth: (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion pictures in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles, or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los [fol. 5740] Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

(d) The inadvertent omission to send to any of such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Clause Fifteenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen (14) days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such ~~other motion~~ picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor [fol. 5741] and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Twentieth: The following Schedule and all of the written and printed parts thereof are a part of this license:

Exchange .... Date .... Salesman ....

Schedule of exhibition contract

Theatre	Exhibitor	Location of Theatre

Group K-4

There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the sound photoplays of feature length, not to exceed fifty-six (56), and not less than forty-five (45), including a maximum of four (4) English produced photoplays, which shall be generally released by the Distributor for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States during the year commencing August 1, 1936 and ending July 31, 1937, except such photoplays as Distributor is required by contract to obtain the consent or approval of the Producer thereof or other party to the terms and conditions of licensing the exhibition thereof and except the photoplay "As You Like It" and except reissues of photoplays starring Will Rogers and except photoplays based on stories by Harold Bell Wright and Zane Grey, which photoplays will be licensed under separate contract. The "road showing," "pre-view" and/or "pre-release" of any photoplay during the said year shall not be deemed a general release of said photoplay.

For the license to exhibit each of said photoplays, the Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor the following:

[fol. 5742]

	Consecutive Days Run	Minimum Guaranteed License Fee per Photoplay	Distributor's Share of Gross Receipts per Photoplay	Gross Receipts per Photoplay in Excess of Which Distributor Shares	Recording Charge per Photoplay Which Is in Addition to All Other License Fees

Number of Photoplays Offered .... Number of Photoplays Licensed ....

It is agreed that the license fees herein specified apply to each respective photoplay licensed hereunder according to the classification thereof by the Distributor, as above provided, and such license fees are not average license fees, regardless of the number of such photoplays that may be released by the Distributor during the year commencing August 1, 1936, and ending July 31, 1937.

It is agreed that in case any photoplay excluded under Exhibitor's "Option to exclude if group licensed" shall have been designated by Distributor to play on percentage terms specified under items A, B, or C in the Schedule hereof, then upon its exclusion such designation shall be deemed to be thereby rescinded and Distributor may designate a different photoplay to play on such specified percentage terms, it being the intent of the parties hereto that Exhibitor shall exhibit hereunder upon the respective percentage terms set forth in said Schedule the number of photoplays specified in said items A, B, and C.

It is further agreed that said option to exclude shall apply only in respect of the photoplays covered by this license agreement.

Of the photoplays hereby licensed the respective number set forth below shall be exhibited on the days specified below:

.... photoplays as selected by Distributor on ....

.... photoplays as selected by Distributor on ....

[fol. 5743] The Exhibitor during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the photoplays exhibited hereunder agrees to and shall charge for admission per person to said theatre the following prices:

Evenings: Adults, Orchestra .... Balcony ....
Children, Orchestra .... Balcony ....
Matinees: Adults, Orchestra .... Balcony ....
Children, Orchestra .... Balcony ....

If during any such period less than said admission prices is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right: (a) to immediately terminate the license of the photoplay then being exhibited, by written notice to such effect to the Exhibitor and upon giving of such notice, the license of such photoplay shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor; or (b) provided the Exhibitor is granted herein a period of "clearance" to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the photoplays thereafter deliverable hereunder; or (c) provided no period of clearance is specified in the Schedule to withold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each photoplay thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and as to each such photoplay the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such photoplay after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determined as provided in Clause Sixth hereof; if Distributor does not elect to terminate the license of the photoplay then being exhibited, as provided in Clause (a) of this paragraph, the Exhibitor shall account for all admissions to said theatre during the exhibition of such photoplay on the basis of the admission prices hereinabove stipulated.

Exhibition Arrangement

Clearance—Run ....

The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule shall not include the right of exhibition [fol. 5744] at any time previous to dawn of the first licensed and booked date of exhibition without securing express written permission hereunder.

If, with respect to any photoplay licensed hereunder, the date or dates of exhibition selected, designated, or otherwise agreed upon shall be a number of days less than the maximum number specified in the Schedule hereof, then the license hereby granted for such photoplay shall be automatically limited to the number of days or dates of exhibitions so selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, regardless of the number of days specified in said Schedule.

The Exhibitor agrees to lease from the Distributor or the Distributor's authorized agent for use only in connection with the exhibition of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder and agrees not to sublease or sell the following advertising accessories:

The Exhibitor agrees to run photoplays as delivered without alteration, excepting with the written or telegraphic approval of the Distributor, subject to requirements of duly authorized public authorities necessitating any change. The Exhibitor also agrees to advertise and announce each photoplay as "A Twentieth Century-Fox Production." In all newspaper advertising and publicity issued by the Exhibitor relating to said photoplays the Exhibitor shall adhere to the form of announcement contained in the advertising matter issued by the Distributor.

Optional Arbitration Clause

The following Clause is optional with the parties hereto. If it is desired to make such Clause a part of this license, the Exhibitor and the duly authorized representative of the Distributor shall sign their respective names where indicated immediately following this paragraph and unless so signed the said Clause shall be deemed excluded from this license agreement.

It is agreed by and between the parties that the following [fol. 5745] Clause, providing for voluntary arbitration of disputes arising hereunder, shall be included as a part of this License.

Representative of the Distributor duly authorized to agree to the following Clause.

....

Exhibitor.

Arbitration

The Exhibitor and the Distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceeding in any court by either of them, to determine, enforce, or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration to an Arbitration Board (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators) which shall consist of four members, each of whom shall be engaged in the motion picture business, and two of whom to be appointed by the Exhibitor, and the remaining two to be appointed by the Distributor.

Upon the written request of the Distributor or the Exhibitor for the arbitration of any dispute or controversy arising hereunder, the party making such request shall name therein two arbitrators stating the business address and business or business connection of each and shall designate therein the date, time, and place of the hearing of such controversy. The date of such hearing shall not be earlier than seven (7) days from the date of the sending of such notice, unless it shall be claimed in such notice that irreparable injury will result unless there is a speedy determination of such controversy in which case such hearing may be designated to be held earlier than said seven (7) day period.

Within five (5) days after the mailing of such request for arbitration, the party upon whom such request is made shall name two arbitrators in a written notice mailed or delivered to the other party, stating therein the business address and business or business connection of each arbitrator. If either party fails or refuses to name the arbitrators as herein provided or if any arbitrator so named shall fail or refuse to act, or be unable to serve or shall be challenged [fol. 5746] and others are or another arbitrator qualified and then available to act is not then appointed, others or another arbitrator may be appointed by the other party as the case may be.

No member of the Arbitration Board shall hear or determine any controversy in which he has an interest direct or indirect and any member having such interest shall be disqualified to act.

If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to reach a decision, then they, or a majority of them, shall immediately select an umpire who shall not be engaged in the motion-picture business. In such case the hearing before the umpire shall be at such time and place as the umpire shall designate and shall be had before the umpire alone, the arbitrators not to be permitted to attend the hearing before the umpire. If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to agree upon the selection of an umpire, the American Arbitration Association shall be requested to make such selection.

The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served, unless the parties agree in writing that such hearings be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claims or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other Court, including a court of a state in which such hearings would otherwise not be had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which such application is made may lawfully direct.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators, or a majority of them and consent that any such decision [fol. 5747-5751] or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, within seven (7) days, the Distributor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion pictures provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement between the parties hereto and/or terminate this and each such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payable by the Exhibitor.

If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision or the award of an Arbitration Board in respect thereto within seven (7) days, the Exhibitor may at the option of the Exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement between the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the Distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal; and the Exhibitor shall have the rights and remedies provided in Clause Second (b) for failure to deliver motion pictures.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any breach by the other party to this or any other existing agreement between the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

In Witness Whereof, the parties hereto have duly executed these presents, this . . day of . . . . 193 . . .

[fol. 5752] LOEW'S—1936-37

Form 851-D

Standard License Agreement

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Loew's Incorporated, a corporation, (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor, party of the first part, and the Exhibitor, (hereinafter named and referred to as the Exhibitor, operating the theatre hereinafter designated) party of the second part.

Witnesseth: The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First: The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts, a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit ~~publicly~~ said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each of such motion picture a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said copyrighted musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

[fol. 5753] Term and Warranty

Second: (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during the said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the date or dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures except such as may be excluded as provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all reference herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages—Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, excepting those which may be eliminated as provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof, or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof or shall deliver to the Exhibitor a print of any motion picture which print shall be determined was not in condition for exhibition and for the reproduction of sound as provided in Clause Second, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor [fol. 5754] with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third: (a) Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Percentage Bookings

(b) If the rental of any of such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date. Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and figures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an au- [fol. 5755] thorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The Distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect to this license.

Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings

(e) If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidating damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each date any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety (90) day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre [fol. 5756] during the period of thirty (30) operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion pictures should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to exhibit any of said motion pictures; provided that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five (65%) percent of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth: (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver, as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show," "try-out," "preview," or "prerelease" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "prerelease" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibition in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor in the exchange territory in which said theatre is located. The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions: (a) that the Exhibitor is [fol. 5757] not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the distributor and the Exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or, in the alternative, the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty (30) day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the Provisions of Article Sixth hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

(e) Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition, on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder, with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is [fol. 5758] served, or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such prints, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or, if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange, transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall have the right to participate in any compromise of or intervene in any arbitration or legal proceeding based upon any claim for such damage asserted against the distributor by another exhibitor; notice of which shall be given the Exhibitor by the Distributor.

Loss of and Damage to Prints

Fifth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction, or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the Exhibitor for any lost or stolen print, excepting "news reels," upon [fol. 5759] the return of such lost or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor, and delivery thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft, or destruction of or damage or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof, shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Playdates

Sixth: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor or Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates [fol. 5760] not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor.

Clearance and Run

Seventh: The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period" if any in the Schedule specified at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all thea-res in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Reissues, Foreign Pictures, Advertising Matter

Eighth: Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled or foreign produced by a foreign producer excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Ninth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other exhibitor having the right to a prior run [fol. 5761] thereof. Nothing in this Clause shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be roadshown by the Distributor and not excepted and excluded from this license, until after the completion of such roadshowing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(c) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor unless arbitration is herein provided for and immediately upon the receipt of any such notice of exclusion the Exhibitor by written notice given to the Distributor shall deny breaching any of the provisions of this Clause, in which case the question of fact raised by such denial shall be determined by arbitration.

Acceptance by Distributor

Tenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located east of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located west of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of [fol. 5762] application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Eleventh: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modification may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served provided such change or modification does not change or modify the *ur*n, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion picture specified in the Schedule.

Assignment on Sale of Theatre

Twelfth: This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the Exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor may assign this license to the purchasers of the theatre, or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless a written acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the Exhibitor shall be delivered to the Distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such [fol. 5763] tax, fee or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then, the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee or other like charge paid or payable by the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

Prevention of Performance

Fourteenth: If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

Option to Exclude if Group Licensed

Fifteenth: (a) If in this license agreement the total number of feature motion pictures offered to Exhibitor by Distributor at one time shall have been licensed by Distributor hereunder, and the license fees of all thereof average not more than two hundred and fifty dollars ($250.00), the Exhibitor shall have the privilege to exclude from this license agreement not to exceed ten per cent (10%) of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder; provided the Exhibitor

(1) is not in default under this license agreement, and

(2) shall have fully complied with all of the provisions, if any, set forth in this agreement for the exhibition of such feature motion pictures at specified intervals.

(b) Such privilege of exclusion may be exercised only upon the following terms and conditions:

(1) The Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice of Exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures within fourteen (14) days after the general release date thereof in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served.

[fol. 5764] (2) The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture out of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in this license agreement provided Exhibitor has paid for the other nine (9) of such group.

(3) If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding tenth motiton picture, as the case may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above.

If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege to exclude shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion pictures but one in such group.

(c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege of exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fees of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in this license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of this license agreement.

(2) If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

[fol. 5765] (e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (b) (3) hereof shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(2) If no feature motion pictures of the Distributor were exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half (½) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

First Run Exhibitions

Sixteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period [fol. 5766] of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Second Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor [fol. 5767] having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause, within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen (14) day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provisions of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion—as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Fail- [fol. 5768] ing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other exhibitor prior to September 1, 1933, the provisions of this Clause shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

Default

Seventeenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or of his said interests therein making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults shall cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

[fol. 5769] Cutting or Alteration of Prints

Eighteenth: The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the Distributor. The Exhibitor however may cut the print of a newsreel, and in such case shall completely restore all parts cut therefrom, prior to the return thereof to the Distributor or shipment elsewhere if so directed by the Distributor, in the same condition as received by the Exhibitor.

Advertising Accessories

The Exhibitor agrees to lease from the Distributor or the Distributor's authorized agent for use only in connection with the exhibition of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder and agrees not to sublease or sell the following advertising accessories: (All advertising accessories used by Exhibitor in connection with the exhibition at said theatre of the motion pictures licensed hereunder).

Roadshows

Nineteenth: (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow", at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory [fol. 5770] then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles, or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

(d) The inadvertent omission to send to any of such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (b) and (c) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for ex- [fol. 5771] hibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motiton picture in the United States, and such motition picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Clause Fifteenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor, and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Arbitration

Twentieth: The Exhibitor and the Distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceeding in any court by either of them, to determine, enforce or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration to an Arbitration Board (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the Arbitrators) which shall consist of four members, each of whom shall be engaged in the motion picture business, and two of whom to be appointed by the Exhibitor, and the remaining two to be appointed by the Distributor.

Upon the written request of the Distributor or the Exhibitor for the arbitration of any dispute or controversy arising hereunder, the party making such request shall [fol. 5772] name therein two arbitrators stating the business address and business or business connection of each and shall designate therein the date, time and place of the hearing of such controversy. The date of such hearing shall not be earlier than seven (7) days from the date of the sending of such notice, unless it shall be claimed in such notice that irreparable injury will result unless there is a speedy determination of such controversy in which case such hearing may be designated to be held earlier than said seven (7) day period.

Within five (5) days after the mailing of such request for arbitration, the party upon whom such request is made shall name two arbitrators in a written notice mailed or delivered to the other party, stating therein the business address and business or business connection of each arbitrator. If either party fails or refuses to name the arbitrators as herein provided or if any arbitrator so named shall fail or refuse to act, or be unable to serve or shall be challenged and others are or another arbitrator qualified and then available to act is not then appointed, others or another arbitrator may be appointed by the other party as the case may be.

No member of the Arbitration Board shall hear or determine any controversy in which he has an interest direct or indirect and any member having such interest shall be disqualified to act.

If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to reach a decision, then they, or a majority of them shall immediately select an umpire who shall not be engaged in the motion picture business. In such case the hearing before the umpire shall be at such time and place as the umpire shall designate and shall be had before the umpire alone, the arbitrators not to be permitted to attend the hearing before the umpire. If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to agree upon the selection of an umpire, the American Arbitration Association shall be requested to make such selection.

The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such [fol. 5773] account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder; provided that if after a full hearing of any controversy submitted for arbitration hereunder, excepting any submission to an umpire designated as hereinabove provided, the arbitrators or a majority of them are of the opinion that because of unusual circumstances arising after the execution of this license agreement and beyond the direct control of the parties hereto disclosed at such hearing, a strict enforcement of the provisions of this license agreement would impose undue hardship upon one of the parties, the arbitrators or a majority of them may recommend in writing to the parties a settlement of such controversy upon such terms and conditions deemed by the arbitrators fair and just. If such settlement is not agreed to by the parties within five (5) days after the receipt of a copy of such recommendation, the controversy shall be deemed withdrawn from the arbitrators and shall be submitted with a written statement of all of the facts adduced at the hearing before the arbitrators together with all documentary evidence, to the National Appeal Board in New York. The disposition by the National Appeal Board of any such recommendation shall be final and binding upon the parties hereto.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served, unless the parties agree in writing that such hearing be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other Court, including a court of a state in which such hearing would otherwise not be had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which such application is made may lawfully direct.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators, or a majority of them and consent that any such decision or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent [fol. 5774] jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, within seven (7) days, the Distributor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion pictures provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement between the parties hereto and/or each existing exhibition contract entered into between Exhibitor and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation and/or terminate this, and each such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payable by the Exhibitor.

If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision or the award of an Arbitration

Board in respect thereto within seven (7) days, the exhibitor may at the option of the Exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement between the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the Distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal; and the Exhibitor shall have the rights and remedies provided in Clause Second (b) for failure to deliver motion pictures.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any breach by the other party to this or any other existing agreement between the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

The parties further agree that if the National Appeal Board referred to in the sixth paragraph of this Clause Twentieth is not in existence at the time of the submission to arbitration of any claim or controversy arising hereunder, then and in such event that part of said sixth paragraph of this Clause Twentieth referring to the National Appeal Board (viz., from the word "provided" to the end [fol. 5775] of said sixth paragraph) shall be deemed of no force or effect, and the decision and/or award rendered by the Arbitration Board shall be final and binding upon the parties hereto.

Midnight Shows

Twenty-First: The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule shall not include the right of exhibition at any time previous to dawn of the first licensed and booked date of exhibition unless Exhibitor receives prior express permission therefor in writing from Distributor.

Twenty-Second: The following Schedule and all of the written and printed parts thereof are a part of this license:

Schedule

There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the Distributor's motion pictures of feature length, not to exceed fifty-two (52) and not less than forty-four (44), including not more than one (1) motion picture foreign produced by a foreign producer, generally released by the Distributor or Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation for distribution as Distributor's or Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distribution Corporation's 1936-37 feature productions to motion picture theatres in the United States during the year commencing September 1, 1936, and ending August 31, 1937, except the motion pictures as to which Distributor is required by contract to obtain the consent or approval of the producer thereof, or other party, to the terms and conditions of licensing the exhibition thereof, unless Distributor obtains such consent or approval to the licensing thereof hereunder. The "road-showing," "tryout," "preview" and/or "pre-release" of any motion picture during the said year shall not be deemed a general release of such motion picture.

It is expressly understood and agreed that neither THE GREAT ZIEGFELD, nor any feature productions licensed by Distributor or Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation as 1935-36 feature productions (even if generally released during the year commencing September 1, 1936), are included in this agreement.

[fol. 5776] It is agreed that Women Are Trouble and Kelly the Second, which were generally released prior to said September 1st, 1936, are included herein as 1936-37 productions.

For the license to exhibit said motion pictures at said theatre Exhibitor agrees to pay to Distributor the following:

Classifications

Number of motion pictures	Consecutive days run	License fee or minimum guarantee against % of gross receipts per motion picture		Score charge license fee per motion picture	To be exhibited on below specified days of week
		Rental or minimum guarantee	% of all gross receipts

Total Number of Feature Motion Pictures Offered ....

Total Number of Feature Motion Pictures Licensed ....

It is agreed that the motion pictures which are to be exhibited by Exhibitor under each of the classifications above provided for shall be designated by the Distributor, and that any motion picture which Distributor does not designate to any of such classifications at least fourteen (14) days prior to the date agreed upon or assigned for the commencement of its exhibition shall be exhibited on the terms provided for in the last Classification above.

It is further agreed that in case any motion picture excluded by Exhibitor under the "Option to Exclude" provision of this agreement shall be or shall have been designated by Distributor to any of the foregoing classifications, then such designation shall be deemed automatically rescinded and Distributor may designate a different motion picture in its place for exhibition upon the terms applicable to the motion picture so excluded.

It is further agreed that in the event any playdates confirmed to Exhibitor for any motion picture designated by Distributor to any of the foregoing classifications shall [fol. 5777] be on days of the week other than those herein provided for pictures of the respective classification, such playdates shall be deemed cancelled and Exhibitor agrees to select other playdates on days of the week herein provided for pictures of the classification to which such picture is designated by the Distributor.

(A) It is agreed that if any of the motion pictures licensed hereunder are licensed upon a "participating basis," that is, if the rental thereof is to be determined in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of said theatre or any part thereof.

(a) that in reporting to Distributor as provided in paragraph (b) of Clause Third hereof Exhibitor shall use the form of statement furnished by Distributor and shall set forth in each such statement the number of admissions at the respective admission prices charged at each performance, the number of free admissions at each performance, and such other data as called for by said form of statement.

(b) that Exhibitor's books and records shall show, among other items, the number of admissions and the gross receipts of each separate performance during the engagement of each of such motion pictures—matinee, evening, and any other performances; and that if Exhibitor's operating expense is an element of the computation of the amount payable to Distributor hereunder, the right herein granted Distributor to audit Exhibitor's books and records shall include the right to examine all of such books and records relating to Exhibitor's operating expenses, and that in computing Exhibitor's operating expenses any and all income (such as amounts payable to Exhibitor from renting and/or sub-renting space in the building where the Exhibitor's theatre is located and/or for screen advertising of any kind on the screen in the theatre; etc.) during the period of the engagement of any motion picture on a "participating basis" shall be deducted from Exhibitor's operating expenses.

(c) that all sums of money accruing to Distributor hereunder shall be held by Exhibitor in trust for Distributor.

(B) It is further agreed that "gross receipts," as such term is used in this agreement, means all sums (exclusive of admission taxes collected) received by Exhibitor for [fol. 5778] admission to said theatre on the date(s) of exhibition of the respective motion pictures.

(C) Exhibitor agrees to advertise and announce each motion picture as a "Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Production"; and further agrees that in all newspaper advertising and publicity issued by Exhibitor relating to said motion pictures Exhibitor shall adhere to the form of announcement contained in the advertising matter issued by Distributor.

(D) It is agreed that if Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to date, play, or pay the license fees of any motion picture(s) contracted for under any other exhibition contract(s) between the parties hereto or under any exhibition contract entered into between Exhibitor and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation, or if Exhibitor violates any of the other provisions of any of such other contract(s), Distributor may at its option exercise with respect to this agreement any and all of the rights granted Distributor under Clause Seventeenth hereof, and further agreed that in the event Distributor elects to terminate as provided in said Clause Seventeenth Distributor may at its option declare the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this agreement then not exhibited and/or paid for forthwith due and payable by Exhibitor; provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to give Distributor any of such rights with respect to a feature motion picture contract because of Exhibitor's default and a short subjects contract or (vice versa) if Exhibitor shall have agreed to arbitrate all claims and controversies arising under all existing exhibition contracts between the parties hereto.

(E) It is agreed that upon a breach or default by Exhibitor under this contract or any other contract between Distributor and Exhibitor or under any exhibition contract entered into between Exhibitor and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation by reason of which Distributor shall have the right to declare same a breach of the entire contract and/or of any or all other contracts between the parties and to recover as damages therefor the amount payable as license fees in respect of all motion pictures contracted for under this contract and/or such other contract(s) not therefore exhibited and/or paid for, the amount Distributor shall be entitled so to recover as [fol. 5779] damages for each day on which any motion pictures licensed under this and/or any such other contract(s) upon a "participating basis" was to have been exhibited is hereby liquidated as follows: Distributor shall be entitled to recover (in addition to any fixed sums payable able in respect of such motion picture) a sum equal to the percentage provided for in such "participating basis" of the average daily gross receipts of the theatre during the exhibition thereat of all feature motion pictures distributed by Distributor exhibited by Exhibitor on a "participating basis" during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date Distributor so declares such breach of the entire contract; or, in the event no feature motion picture distributed by Distributor was exhibited at said theatre on a "participating basis" during said period, then Distributor shall be entitled to recover (in addition to any fixed sums payable in respect of such motion picture) a sum equal to said percentage of the average daily gross receipts of the theatre during the period of thirty (30) operating days immediately prior to the date Distributor so declares such breach of the entire contract.

(F) Exhibitor hereby expressly grants Distributor the right to demand and receive, as a condition precedent to delivery of the print and/or sound records of any motion picture contracted for hereunder, payment of all amounts then due Distributor by Exhibitor under this or any other exhibition contract(s) between the parties hereto and/or under any exhibition contract(s) entered into between Exhibitor and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation and Distributor may require such payment of all sums then due by means of a C. O. D. shipment or otherwise.

(G) It is agreed that if the number of days of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, and confirmed in writing by Distributor for any motion picture licensed hereunder shall be less than the maximum number of days specified in the Schedule hereof with respect to such motion picture, then regardless of the number of days specified in said Schedule the license hereby granted to Exhibitor as to such motion picture shall be limited to the number of days of exhibition so selected and confirmed, unless Exhibitor prior to the last playdate so confirmed by Distributor shall secure Distributor's consent in writing [fol. 5780] to exhibit such motion picture an additional day or days up to the maximum number of days specified in said Schedule.

It is further understood and agreed that the license hereby granted shall not be deemed to include—

(a) any right of exhibition of any motion picture licensed hereunder at any time other than on the date or dates of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as herein provided, and confirmed in writing by Distributor to Exhibitor for such picture; nor

(b) any right of exhibition of any motion picture licensed hereunder other than by means of the print of the picture furnished to Exhibitor by Distributor for the express purpose of exhibition on the date or dates of exhibition so selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as herein provided, and confirmed in writing by Distributor to Exhibitor for such picture.

(H) It is understood and agreed that the remedy of damages provided for in Clause Second (b) of this agreement shall be the sole and exclusive remedy for any of the defaults by Distributor referred to in said Second (b).

(I) It is understood and agreed that Distributor may furnish prints of any of the motion pictures contracted for hereunder mounted on reels of 2000 feet maximum capacity.

(J) It is agreed that clause Nineteenth hereof (headed "Roadshows") be and same hereby is modified and amended so that the number of motion pictures mentioned in subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) of said clause shall be three (3) instead of two (2).

(K) Exhibitor during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder agrees to and shall charge for admission to said theatre the following prices:

	Matinee Admission Prices, per person		Evening Admission Prices (Commencing 6 P. M.), per person
Orchestra:	Children....	Adults......	Children.......	Adults..........
Balcony:	Children....	Adults......	Children.......	Adults..........

If during any such period less than said respective admission prices is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right: (a) to [fol. 5781] immediately terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited by written notice to such effect to the exhibitor, and upon the giving of such notice the license of such motion picture shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor; or (b) provided the Exhibitor is granted herein a period of clearance, to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the motion pictures thereafter deliverable hereunder; or (c) provided no period of clearance is specified in the Schedule, to withhold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each motion picture thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and as to each such motion picture the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such motion picture after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determined as provided in Clause Sixth hereof.

It is further agreed that during the entire period of the engagement at said theatre of each of the motion pictures licensed hereunder none of the respective admission prices above set forth shall be reduced without the prior written consent of Distributor, and that if any of the motion pictures licensed hereunder are licensed upon a "participating basis"—that is, if the rental thereof is to be determined in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of said theatre or any part thereof—that Exhibitor shall account to Distributor upon the basis of the respective admission prices set forth above for each person admitted to the theatre, except for a customary and reasonable number of free admissions to bona fide representatives of the press and/or in consideration of theatre advertising at each performance of each of said motion pictures (provided that if at any such performance any of the prices of admission are greater than the respective amounts above set forth Exhibitor shall account to Distributor on the basis of such larger amounts); and further agreed that if during the engagement of any of the motion pictures licensed hereunder any of the respective admission prices above set forth are reduced without prior written consent of Distributor, or upon failure or refusal of Exhibitor to account to Distributor upon the basis herein provided with respect to any one or more of the motion pictures licensed [fol. 5782] hereunder on a "participating basis," Distributor shall have the right to terminate this contract as to all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited hereunder, together with the right at Distributor's option to terminate any other exhibition contract(s) between the parties hereto and/or any exhibition contract(s) entered into between Exhibitor and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation and Distributor may at its option thereupon declare such violation hereof by Exhibitor a breach of this entire contract and/or any or all such other contracts entitling Distributor to recover from Exhibitor as damages therefor the amount payable as license fees in respect of all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited and/or paid for pursuant to the provisions of this contract and/or such other contract(s). It is understood and agreed that such rights shall be in addition to any and all other rights and remedies granted Distributor in this agreement and without prejudice to any and all other rights and remedies of Distributor at law or equity.

Run Clearance

(L) In case Exhibitor is granted a second and/or subsequent run hereunder Distributor may at its option require any of the motion pictures to be exhibited by Exhibitor as a prior run and Exhibitor agrees so to exhibit same.

(M) Separate Applications: It is expressly understood and agreed that the approval or rejection of this application by Distributor shall not be deemed an approval or rejection of any other application or applications signed by Exhibitor at the same time or at any other time.

Playing Arrangement(s)

Exhibitor by executing this application acknowledges that Distributor has two different forms of exhibition contract for the product hereby licensed and has offered Exhibitor the choice, and that Exhibitor has of his (its) own free will selected this form.

[fol. 5783] Optional Arbitration Clause

Optional Clause: The foregoing Clause Twentieth is optional with the parties hereto. If it is desired to make such clause a part of this license, the Exhibitor and the duly authorized representative of the Distributor shall sign their respective names where indicated immediately following this paragraph and unless so signed the said Clause shall be deemed excluded from this license agreement.

It is agreed by and between the parties that Clause Twentieth, providing for voluntary arbitration of disputes arising hereunder, shall be included as a part of this license.

Form 3640D 5-36

Standard License Agreement

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Paramount Pictures, Inc., a New York Corporation (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor), party of the first part, and the Exhibitor (hereinafter named and referred to as the "Exhibitor," operating the theatre hereinafter designated), party of the second part, Witnesseth: The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First. The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts, a limited license under respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit publicly said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each of such motion pictures a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said copyrighted musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

[fol. 5793] Term and Warranty

Second. (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the date or dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures except such as may be excluded as provided in Clause Fourteenth hereof. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs, and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages—Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, excepting those which may be eliminated as provided in Clause Fourteenth hereof, or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof or shall deliver to the Exhibitor a print of any motion picture which print shall be determined was not in condition for exhibition and for the reproduction of sound as provided in Clause Second, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor [fol. 5794] with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third. (a) Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

(b) Percentage Bookings.—If the rental of any such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date. Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and figures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all [fol. 5795] tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The Distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect to this license.

(c) Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings.—If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each date any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion pictures should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to [fol. 5796] exhibit any of said motion pictures: Provided That if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five (65%) of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth. (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show", "tryout", "preview", or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "pre-release" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor in the exchange territory in which said theatre is located. The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions (a) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the Distributor and the Exhibitor [fol. 5797] shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty-day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Sixth hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

(e) Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder, with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such prints, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous ex- [fol. 5798] hibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange, transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall have the right to participate in any compromise of or intervene in any arbitration or legal proceedings based upon any claim for such damage asserted against the Distributor by another exhibitor; notice of which shall be given the Exhibitor by the Distributor.

Loss and Damage to Prints

Fifth. The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print, lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the Exhibitor for any lost or stolen print, excepting "news reels", upon the return of such lost or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor and delivery [fol. 5799] thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft, or destruction of or damage or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter immediately after the first public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Playdates

Sixth. Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor.

[fol. 5800]

Clearance and Run

Seventh. The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period" if any in the Schedule specified at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Eighth. (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other Exhibitor having the right to a prior run thereof. Nothing in this Clause shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be roadshown by the Distributor and not excepted and excluded from this license, until after the completion of such roadshowing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(c) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such [fol. 5801] notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor, unless arbitration is herein provided for and immediately upon the receipt of any such notice of exclusion the Exhibitor by written notice given to the Distributor shall deny breaching any of the provisions of this Clause, in which case the question of fact raised by such denial shall be determined by arbitration.

Acceptance by Distributor

Ninth. Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located East of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located West of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Tenth. This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modification may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion picture specified in the Schedule.

[fol. 5802] Assignment on Sale of Theatre

Eleventh. This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the Exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor may assign this license to the purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor, but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless a written acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the Exhibitor shall be delivered to the Distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Taxes

Twelfth. The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee, or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax, fee, or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee, or other like charge paid or payable by the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

Prevention of Performance

Thirteenth. If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

[fol. 5803] Option to Exclude if Group Licensed

Fourteenth. (a) If in this license agreement the total number of feature motion pictures offered to the Exhibitor by the Distributor, at one time, shall have been licensed by the Distributor hereunder and the license fee of each thereof averages not more than Two hundred and fifty ($250.00) Dollars, the Exhibitor shall have the privilege to exclude from this license agreement not to exceed ten (10%) percent of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder; provided that the Exhibitor

(1) is not in default hereunder, and

(2) shall have fully complied with all of the provisions, if any, set forth in this agreement for the exhibition of such feature motion pictures at specified intervals.

(b) Such privilege of exclusion may be exercised only upon the following terms and conditions:

(1) The Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice of the Exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures within fourteen (14) days after the general release date thereof in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served.

(2) The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture out of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in this license agreement provided the Exhibitor has paid for the other nine (9) of such group.

(3) If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding tenth motion picture, as the case may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above.

If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege to exclude shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion pictures but one in such group.

[fol. 5804] (c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege of exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fees of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in this license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of this license agreement.

(2) If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

(e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (b) (3) hereof shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(2) If no feature motion pictures of the Distributor were exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

[fol. 5805] (f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half (½) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

First-Run Exhibitions

Fifteenth. (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Second-Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting [fol. 5806] those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen-day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in this Clause provided.

[fol. 5807]

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other exhibitor prior to September 1, 1935, the provisions of this Clause shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

Remedies

Sixteenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, [fol. 5808] or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or his said interests therein making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults should cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

Roadshows

Seventeenth. (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one ($1) dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such readshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending [fol. 5809] to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territority. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles, or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

(d) The inadvertent omission to send to any such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and [fol. 5810] including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Clause Fourteenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen (14) days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Cutting or Alteration of Prints

Eighteenth. The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the Distributor. The Exhibitor, however, may cut the print of a news reel, and in such case shall completely restore all parts cut therefrom, prior to the return thereof to the Distributor or shipment elsewhere if so directed by the Distributor, in the same condition as received by the Exhibitor.

Optional Arbitration Clause

Optional Clause. The following Clause Nineteenth is optional with the parties hereto. If it is desired to make such clause a part of this license, the Exhibitor and the duly authorized representative of the Distributor shall sign their respective names where indicated immediately following this paragraph and unless so signed the said Clause shall be deemed excluded from this license agreement.

[fol. 5811] It is agreed by and between the parties that Clause Nineteenth, providing for voluntary arbitration of disputes arising hereunder, shall be included as a part of this license.

—— ——, Representative of the Distributor duly authorized to agree to the following Clause Nineteenth. —— ——, Exhibitor.

Arbitration

Nineteenth. The Exhibitor and the Distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceeding in any court by either of them, to determine, enforce or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration to an Arbitration Board (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators) which shall consist of four members, each of whom shall be engaged in the motion picture business, and two of whom to be appointed by the Exhibitor, and the remaining two to be appointed by the Distributor.

Upon the written request of the Distributor or the Exhibitor for the arbitration of any dispute or controversy arising hereunder, the party making such request shall name therein two arbitrators stating the business address and business or business connection of each and shall designate therein the date, time and place of the hearing of such controversy. The date of such hearing shall not be earlier than seven (7) days from the date of the sending of such notice, unless it shall be claimed in such notice that irreparable injury will result unless there is a speedy determination of such controversy in which case such hearing may be designated to be held earlier than said seven (7) day period.

Within five (5) days after the mailing of such request for arbitration, the party upon whom such request is made shall name two arbitrators in a written notice mailed or delivered to the other party, stating therein the business address and business or business connection of each arbitrator. If either party fails or refuses to name the arbitrators as [fol. 5812] herein provided or if any arbitrator so named shall fail or refuse to act, or be unable to serve or shall be challenged and others are or another arbitrator qualified and then available to act is not then appointed, others or another arbitrator may be appointed by the other party as the case may be.

No member of the Arbitration Board shall hear or determine any controversy in which he has an interest direct or indirect and any member having such interest shall be disqualified to act.

If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to reach a decision, then they, or a majority of them shall immediately select an umpire who shall not be engaged in the motion picture business. In such case the hearing before the umpire shall be at such time and place as the umpire shall designate and shall be had before the umpire alone, the arbitrators not to be permitted to attend the hearing before the umpire. If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to agree upon the selection of an umpire, the American Arbitration Association shall be requested to make such selection.

The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder; provided that if after a full hearing of any controversy submitted for arbitration hereunder, excepting any submission to an umpire designated as hereinabove provided, the arbitrators or a majority of them are of the opinion that because of unusual circumstances arising after the execution of this license agreement and beyond the direct control of the parties hereto disclosed at such hearing, a strict enforcement of the provisions of this license agreement would impose undue hardship upon one of the parties, the arbitrators or a majority of them may recommend in writing to the parties a settlement of such controversy upon such terms and conditions deemed by the arbitrators fair and just. If such settlement is not agreed [fol. 5813] to by the parties within five (5) days after the receipt of a copy of such recommendation, the controversy shall be deemed withdrawn from the arbitrators and shall be submitted with a written statement of all of the facts adduced at the hearing before the arbitrators together with all documentary evidence, to the National Appeal Board in New York. The disposition by the National Appeal Board of any such recommendation shall be final and binding upon the parties hereto.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served unless the parties agree in writing that such hearing be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other Court, including a court of a state in which such hearing would otherwise not be had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which such application is made may lawfully direct.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators, or a majority of them and consent that any such decision or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, within seven (7) days, the Distributor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion picture provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement between the parties hereto and/or terminate this and each such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payable by the Exhibitor.

If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision or the award of an Arbitration [fol. 5814] Board in respect thereto within seven (7) days, the Exhibitor may at the option of the Exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement between the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the Distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal; and the Exhibitor shall have the rights and remedies provided in Clause Second (b) for failure to deliver motion pictures.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right of remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any breach by the other party to this or any other existing agreement between the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

If at the time of the submission to arbitration of any dispute that shall arise hereunder there shall not then be in existence the National Appeal Board of the Motion Picture Industry, referred to in the sixth paragraph of Article Nineteenth of this agreement, then and in that event the provisions of said paragraph sixth following the words "parties thereunder" in the third line of said sixth paragraph shall be deemed null and void and of no force and effect, and the decision or award rendered by the arbitrators in any such arbitration proceeding shall be final and binding upon the parties thereto.

Description of Pictures

Twentieth. (a) The Distributor shall have and hereby reserves the right in the sole discretion of the Distributor to change the title of any of the said motion pictures, to make changes in, alterations and adaptation of any story, book, or play and to substitute for any thereof any other story, book or play. The Distributor also shall have and hereby reserves the right to change the director, the cast or any member thereof of any of said motion pictures.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not be required to accept for any feature motion picture described in the Schedule as that of a named star or stars, director or named well-known author, book or play, any motion picture of any other star or stars, director, author, book or play nor to accept any [fol. 5815] other feature motion picture in place of any thereof which in the Schedule is designated "no substitute." The right of rejection conferred on the Exhibitor by this Clause is in addition to the right of exclusion provided in Clause Fourteenth hereof.

(c) The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled or foreign produced by a foreign producer, excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Advertising Accessories

Twenty-first. The Exhibitor agrees to lease from the Distributor or the Distributor's authorized agent for use only in connection with the exhibition of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder and agrees not to sublease or sell the following advertising accessories: (All advertising accessories used by the Exhibitor in connection with the exhibition hereunder of each of the motion pictures licensed hereunder.)

Twenty-second. The following Schedule and all of the written and printed parts thereof are a part of this license:

Schedule

Group S-8

There are licensed for exhibition hereunder all of the Distributor's Group S-8 motion pictures of feature length, not to exceed sixty-five (65), which shall be generally released by the Distributor for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States during the year commencing August 1, 1936 and ending July 31, 1937, except the motion pictures as to which Distributor is required by contract to obtain the consent or approval of the Producer thereof, or other party to the terms and conditions of licensing the exhibition thereof and except Paramount's six (6) Hopalong Cassidys. The "road showing," "pre-view" and/or "pre-release" of any motion picture during the said year shall not be deemed a general release of said motion picture. [fol. 5816] For the license to exhibit each of said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor the following:

Number of Motion Pictures Offered.......... Number of Motion Pictures Licensed........	Consecutive Days Run	Minimum Guaranteed License Fee Per Motion Picture	Distributor's Share of Gross Receipts Per Motion Picture	Gross Receipts Per Motion Picture inExcess of Which Distributor Shares	Recording Charges Per Motion Picture Which is in Addition to All Other License Fees

Distributor shall have the right to designate from time to time, to the foregoing classifications the motion picture licensed hereunder, regardless of the classification thereof made by the Distributor under any other license agreement.

It is expressly agreed that if any of the motion pictures licensed hereunder shall have been designated by Distributor for exhibition to any of the forgoing classifications, and the Exhibitor shall have exercised the right of exclusion of any thereof hereunder, then such designation by Distributor shall be deemed rescinded and Distributor may designate another motion picture from the motion pictures licensed hereunder for exhibition upon the terms applicable to the motion picture so excluded.

It is agreed that the license fees herein specified apply to each respective motion picture licensed hereunder according to the classification thereof by the Distributor, as above provided, and such license fees are not average license fees, regardless of the number of such motion pictures that may be released by the Distributor during the year commencing August 1, 1936 and ending July 31, 1937.

The Exhibitor agrees to charge minimum admission prices per person to said theatre on the respective exhibition dates thereat of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as follows:

Evenings (After 6 P. M.): Adults, Orchestra ....
Balcony .... Children, Orchestra ....
Balcony ....

[fol. 5817]

Matinees (Before 6 P. M.): Adults, Orchestra ....
Balcony .... Children, Orchestra ....
Balcony ....

If during any such period less than said admission prices is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right (a) to immediately terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited and/or of all the remaining motion pictures not theretofore exhibited hereunder, by written notice to such effect to the Exhibitor and upon the giving of such notice, the license of such motion picture and/or motion pictures shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor and the Distributor may, at its option, declare such failure or refusal a breach of the entire contract entitling the Distributor to recover from the Exhibitor as damages therefor the license fees payable in respect of all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited hereunder; or (b) provided the exhibitor is granted herein a period of "clearance" to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the motion pictures thereafter deliverable hereunder; or (c) provided no period of "clearance" is specified in the Schedule to withhold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each motion picture thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor; and as to each such motion picture the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such motion picture after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determined as provided in Clause Sixth hereof; and (d) if the license fee of any such motion picture is to be computed either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the gross admission receipts of said theatre, then the Exhibitor shall account to the Distributor for all admissions to said theatre during the exhibition of such motion picture upon the basis of the said admission prices specified above.

It is expressly understood and agreed that the above minimum admission prices are exclusive of any State, Federal, or local tax which now is or may be imposed upon admission to the theatre or theatres licensed hereunder.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to perform any other license agreement with the Distributor, the Distributor may, [fol. 5818] at its option, upon such failure or refusal to perform, exercise with respect to this license agreement any or all of the rights granted the Distributor in Article Sixteenth hereof, and if pursuant thereto the Distributor shall elect to terminate this license agreement, then the Distributor shall be entitled to recover from the Exhibitor as damages for such breach the license fees payable in respect of all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited under this license agreement and the Distributor shall be under no obligation thereafter to deliver or offer to deliver any picture or pictures hereunder.

It is agreed that the term "gross receipts" as used in this agreement shall be deemed to mean all sums received by the Exhibitor for admission to the theatre or theatres licensed hereunder on the date or dates of exhibition of the respective motion pictures licensed hereunder, excluding only therefrom any tax imposed by governmental authority expressly upon admissions to said theatre or theatres which is required to be collected by the Exhibitor and pursuant thereto is collected by the Exhibitor.

Exhibition Arrangement

The Exhibitor, in all advertising and exploitation of each motion picture licensed hereunder, shall advertise and announce each such motion picture as "A Paramount Picture" or as otherwise directed by Paramount, and shall otherwise adhere to the form of announcement contained in the advertising matter issued by Paramount in respect of each such motion picture.

If, with respect to any motion picture licenses hereunder, the date or dates of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon shall be a number of days less than the maximum number specified in the Schedule hereof, then the license hereby granted for such motion picture shall be automatically limited to the number of days or dates of exhibition so selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, regardless of the number of days specified in said Schedule.

The license hereby granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule hereof for each motion picture shall not be deemed to include:

[fol. 5819-5824] (a) any right of exhibition at any time during said exhibition period prior to 6:00 A. M. on the date or first date of exhibition herein provided for unless exhibition prior to 6 A. M. on said date or first exhibition date is expressly granted in writing;

(b) any right of exhibition at any time other than on the respective date or dates of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as provided herein, and confirmed in writing by the Distributor;

(c) Any right of exhibition other than by means of a print of any such motion picture furnished to the Exhibitor by the Distributor for the express purpose of exhibition hereunder in the theatre or theatres selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon as herein provided and confirmed in writing by the Distributor.

It is agreed that the Distributor may at its option deliver to the Exhibitor C. O. D. any motion picture deliverable hereunder, and may add to said C. O. D. the amount of any past due indebtedness owing under this or any other agreement by the Exhibitor to the Distributor.

RKO Distributing Corporation

Agreement, made in one or more counterparts, between RKO Distributing Corporation, a corporation (hereinafter referred to as "The Distributor"), party of the first part, and the Exhibitor hereinafter named and referred to as the "Exhibitor," operating the theatre or theatres hereinafter designated, party of the second part,

Witnesseth:

The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First: Subject to the payment by the Exhibitor of the fixed sums and/or percentages specified in the schedule on the reverse side hereof, which schedule is incorporated herein and made a part of this agreement, and subject to all of the other terms and conditions herein provided, the Distributor hereby grants, and agrees to grant, to the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor hereby accepts, and agrees to accept, a limited license under the copyrights of the respective motion pictures designated and described in the schedule (hereinafter called the pictures) and under any copyrights of any matter included in any sound recorded for reproduction in connection with the exhibition of any of the pictures, to exhibit publicly the respective pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the theatre described in the schedule (hereinafter called the theatre) for the number of days specified in the schedule, which days shall be only the dates determined as provided in Article Seventh hereof, and at no other time or place and for no other use or purpose. The license to reproduce such recorded sound, or any thereof, is granted and agreed to be granted only upon the express warranty and agreement by the Exhibitor and upon the express condition that (a) the sound reproducing equipment in the theatre will [fol. 5826] operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality, whether it is recorded upon a print or upon separate records, discs or other similar devices; and (b) if copyrighted musical compositions shall be included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have, at the time of the reproduction thereof, an effective license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly such copyrighted musical compositions. The Distributor may record such sound, or any part thereof, on the prints of the respective pictures or on separate records, discs or other devices, as the Distributor may from time to time elect and all references to a print made herein shall be deemed to include any records, discs or other devices upon which sound is recorded for reproduction in connection with the exhibition of such print. The license herein granted in respect of each picture shall extend only to the exhibition of the print of such picture delivered by the Distributor to the Exhibitor pursuant to Article Sixth hereof, and shall not extend to the exhibition of any other print.

If more than one theatre is designated in the schedule, no license is granted or agreed to be granted hereunder for the exhibition of any picture at more than one of such theatres unless it is otherwise specifically so stated in the schedule.

This agreement licenses the exhibition of pictures generally released by the Distributor for distribution in the United States of America during the period commencing September 1, 1936, and ending August 31, 1937, only Provided however, That in case the Distributor shall generally release after August 31, 1937, and prior to December 31, 1937, any picture or pictures which it shall have designated to exhibitors generally as a 1936-37 picture or as 1936-37 pictures, such picture or pictures shall be included in this license and shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor hereunder, unless the Exhibitor, on or before September 10, 1937, shall notify the Distributor, in writing, that the Exhibitor has elected to reject such picture, or, if more than one picture, that the Exhibitor has elected to reject all (but not less than all) of such pictures. In the event that the Exhibitor shall give the Distributor any such written notice of [fol. 5827] rejection, such picture or pictures shall be excepted and excluded from this license.

The term of this agreement, unless otherwise provided in the schedule, shall be for a period of eighteen (18) months from the time fixed as hereinafter provided for the exhibition of the first picture hereunder.

Time and Place of Exhibition

Second: The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit the pictures under the license herein granted in the order of their release, if and as available, only at the theatre on the exhibition date or dates fixed in the schedule or determined as hereinafter provided and subject to all of the terms and conditions of this license agreement. The Exhibitor will not allow any positive print to leave the Exhibitor's possession during the period specified for the exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and will not exhibit or permit the exhibition of any such positive print at any other time or place.

Payment

Third: The Exhibitor agrees to pay for the license to exhibit each picture the fixed sums specified in the schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of shipment of the positive print of such picture from the Distributor's exchange or from the last previous exhibitor, as the case may be.

Percentage Bookings

If it is provided in the schedule that all or any part of the license fee for the exhibition of any picture or pictures shall be computed upon the Exhibitor's gross receipts, such payment shall be made immediately after the last exhibition upon the last day of exhibition of each such picture and shall be accompanied by a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of the theatre for admission thereto upon the exhibition date or dates of the particular picture or pictures. Should the Distributor so require, such itemized statement shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon such exhibition date or dates the Distributor or its authorized representative may verify the sale of all tickets of admission to the theatre and may [fol. 5828] examine the books and records of the Exhibitor insofar as they relate to such gross receipts and for any such purpose may have access to the theatre and its box office. The Distributor or its authorized representative also may have access to all of the Exhibitor's books and records for the purpose of verifying such box office statement and if the operating expenses of the theatre are an element to be considered in computing the amounts payable to the Distributor hereunder, the Distributor or its authorized representative may examine and audit all of the Exhibitor's books and records relating to the Exhibitor's operating expenses, for a period of sixty (60) days after the receipt by the Distributor of the final box office statement and/or statement of operating expenses. Any information obtained by the Distributor pursuant to the provisions of said Article Third shall be treated as confidential except in any litigation in respect of this agreement. The Distributor agrees that unless its authorized representative shall be a regular employee of the Distributor it will not employ as its authorized representative any person who is a resident of or regularly employed in the place where the theatre is located, except with the written consent of the Exhibitor. In accounting to the Distributor hereunder the Exhibitor shall account on the basis of admission prices to the theatre for each person admitted in the theatre except only for a customary and reasonable number of free admissions to representatives of the press and/or in consideration of theatre advertising.

Payment On Account

Fourth: Payment, if made upon the execution hereof by the Exhibitor shall be deemed payment on account of the sums last payable hereunder.

Clearance and Run

Fifth: (a) In the event that it is stated in the schedule that the theatre shall have "clearance" or a specified "run" and the Exhibitor shall have exhibited each of the pictures on the dates determined as is in Article Seventh hereof provided, the Distributor will not grant a license to any other party to exhibit any of the pictures so exhibited by the [fol. 5829] Exhibitor at any theatre specifically named in the schedule or within the territorial limits specified in the schedule, as the case may be, on a date prior to the expiration of the so-called "clearance period" or prior to the so-called "run" granted the Exhibitor. The period of "clearance" in the case of each picture shall be computed from the last day of the exhibition thereof. If the "clearance" is granted against a named theatre or theatres and it is clearly indicated that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such "clearance" against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre, then, unless otherwise provided in the schedule, such "clearance" shall include any theatre hereafter erected or opened in such vicinity; if such theatre is recognized in the motion picture industry as being in direct opposition to the theatre. Anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding, no "clearance" shall be given in respect of any picture not exhibited on the date or dates originally designated by the Exhibitor in accordance with Article Seventh hereof unless the parties mutually shall agree otherwise in writing.

First Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (e) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article Seventh hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant [fol. 5830] of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by teh Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (f) of this Clause provided.

Second Run Exhibition

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (e) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article

Seventh hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (f) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(d) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (c) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (c) of this Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the [fol. 5831] expiration of the said fourteen (14) day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article Seventh hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (f) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(e) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(f) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (b), (c), or (d) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other [fol. 5832] exhibitor prior to September 1, 1933, the provisions of this Clause shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Sixth: The Distributor agrees to deliver to the Exhibitor a positive print suitable for exhibition of each of the pictures for exhibition at the theatre on the dates on which such exhibitions are licensed hereunder. Delivery of such positive print by the Distributor to the Exhibitor at the Distributor's exchange or to a common carrier or to the United States postal authorities for mailing or to any agent of the Exhibitor shall be deemed delivery by the Distributor to the Exhibitor hereunder.

All deliveries other than at the Distributor's exchange shall be made in time to enable the carrier thereof, in accordance with the carrier's time schedule, to deliver prints to the Exhibitor or at the place where the theatre is located at least one hour before the usual time for the opening of the theatre.

The Exhibitor agrees to return each positive print received by the Exhibitor hereunder, with the reels and containers furnished therewith, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served, or as otherwise directed by the Distributor, immediately after the last exhibition of such positive print, in the same condition as when received by the Exhibitor, reasonable wear and tear due to the proper use thereof excepted. The Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such positive prints, reels and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of any of such positive prints (as the case may be) and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange, transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor, obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive prints by the Exhibitor.

If the Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays [fol. 5833] forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor.

Selection of Playdates

Seventh: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor. In such event the license fees payable hereunder for such picture shall become due and payable on the date or dates so designated by the Distributor and the Distributor shall be under no obligation to ship or tender a print of such picture to the Exhibitor unless the Exhibitor shall have confirmed such date or dates in writing after the designation thereof by the Distributor.

[fol. 5834] Loss of and Damage To Prints

Eight: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any positive print lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery thereof by the Distributor and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from liability arising out of injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the latter for lost or stolen prints, excepting "news reels," upon their return to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any positive print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft or destruction of or damage or injury to any positive print. If any positive print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, prior to the second public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Description of Pictures

Ninth: (a) The Distributor shall have and hereby reserves the right in the sole discretion ~~of the~~ Distributor to [fol. 5835] change the title of any of the said motion pictures, to make changes in alterations and adaptations of any story, book or play, and to substitute for any thereof any other story, book or play. The Distributor also shall have and hereby reserves the right to change the director, the cast or any member thereof of any of said motion pictures.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not be required to accept for any feature motion picture described in the Schedule as that of a named star or stars, director or named well-known author, book or play, any motion picture of any other star or stars, director, author, book or play, nor to accept any other feature motion picture in place of any thereof which in the Schedule is designated "no substitutes." The right of rejection conferred on the Exhibitor by this Clause is in addition to the right of exclusion provided in Article Sixteenth hereof.

(c) The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled or foreign produced by a foreign producer, excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Assignment Upon Sale of Theatre

Tenth: This agreement shall not be assigned by either party without the written acceptance of the assignee and the written consent of the other party; provided, that if the Exhibitor sells or disposes of his interest in the theatre, he may assign this agreement to the purchaser of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor and such assignment shall become effective upon the written acceptance thereof by the assignee; such assignment, however, shall not relieve the Exhibitor of liability hereunder, unless the distributor consents in writing to release the Exhibitor from such liability. In the event that the Exhibitor shall cease to operate, or shall cease to remain in possession of, the theatre and shall assign this agreement as herein permitted, the Distributor may, at its election, cancel and terminate this agreement immediately, without waiving [fol. 5836] or impairing any other right or afforded the Distributor in law or in equity.

Exhibition and Advertising

Eleventh: The Exhibitor agrees to run pictures (excepting "news reels"), as delivered without alteration, excepting with the written or telegraphic approval of the Distributor, subject to requirements of duly authorized public authorities necessitating any change. The Exhibitor also agrees to advertise and announce each picture as a "Radio Picture." In all newspaper advertising and publicity issued by the Exhibitor relating to the pictures, the Exhibitor shall adhere to the form of announcement contained in the advertising matter issued by the Distributor.

Unless this agreement expressly provides for the "first run" in the City or Town wherein the theatre is located, the Exhibitor agrees not to advertise any of the pictures by means of lithographs, slides, trailers, lobby displays, newspaper announcements, advertising or otherwise prior to, and until after the completion of, the exhibition thereof by any other exhibitor having the right of the "first run" or any other prior run thereof in said City or Town.

The Distributor shall not in any wise be liable for any breach of the provisions of the immediately preceding paragraph contained in any other agreement with any other exhibitor.

Taxes

Twelfth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax, fee or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax fee or other like charge paid or payable by [fol. 5837] the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

Delay in or Prevention of Performance

Thirteenth: If either the Exhibitor or the Distributor shall be prevented from performing its obligations hereunder with respect to any picture or pictures for causes beyond its direct control, the license in respect of each such picture or pictures shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided that the party prevented from performing shall give reasonable written notice of the prevention of performance and the nature of such prevention.

Waiver

Fourteenth: The waiver by either party of any breach or default by the other party shall not be construed as a waiver, of any other subsequent breach or default by such other party.

Verbal Promises; Representations

Fifteenth: This agreement is complete and no promise or representations have been made by either party to the other except as set forth herein.

Sixteenth: (a) If in this license agreement the total number of feature motion pictures offered to the Exhibitor by the Distributor, at one time, shall have been licensed by the Distributor hereunder and the license fee of each thereof averages not more than Two hundred and fifty ($250.00) Dollars, the Exhibitor shall have the privilege to exclude from this license agreement not to exceed ten (10%) percent. of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder; provided that the Exhibitor (1) is not in default hereunder, and (2) shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in this agreement for the exhibition of such feature motion pictures at specified intervals:

Option To Exclude If Group Licensed

(b) Such privilege of exclusion may be exercised only upon the following terms and conditions: (1) The Exhibitor [fol. 5838] shall give to the Distributor written notice of the Exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures within fourteen (14) days after the general release date thereof in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served. (2) The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture out of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in this license agreement provided the Exhibitor has paid for the other nine (9) of such group. (3) If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding tenth motion picture, as the case may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above. If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege to exclude shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion pictures but one in such group.

(c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege of exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fees of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in this license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows: (1) Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of this license agreement. (2) If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theater during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

(e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be [fol. 5839] computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (b) (3) hereof shall be determined as follows: (1) Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded. (2) If no feature motion pictures of the Distributor were exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half (½) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

Acceptance by Distributor

Seventeenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located East of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located West of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

[fol. 5840] Liquidated Damages, Percentage Bookings

Eighteenth: If the license fee of any picture is to be computed either in whole or in part, upon a percentage of the gross admission receipts of the theatre, and if the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such picture as provided in this agreement, the Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day that the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such picture (in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such picture) a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of the theatre during the period of thirty (30) operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such picture should have been so exhibited, provided, however, that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such picture for less than the full number of days provided for in this agreement, such sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to seventy-five per cent (75%) of the gross receipts of the theatre for the last day of the exhibition thereat of such picture.

Road Shows

Nineteenth: (a) The Director shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four [fol. 5841] (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles, or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

(d) The inadvertent omission to send to any of such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Article First shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and including the date [fol. 5842] or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Article First and Sixteenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen (14) days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as herein provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Additional Pictures

Twentieth: Where any picture is designated in the schedule by the name of a single star or by the name of a single director, such designation shall not refer to, and there shall not be included in this agreement because of such designation, any picture in which such star shall appear with any other star or stars, whether or not such stars are named in the schedule, nor shall there be included in this agreement because of such designation, any picture which may be directed by such director so long as there shall appear in such picture any star or stars.

The Distributor may release, at any time, independently of this agreement, an additional picture or pictures of any star or stars designated in the schedule (but not more than two of such pictures during the period described in Article First hereof) and nothing in this agreement contained shall be deemed to give the Exhibitor any right to any such additional picture, but any such additional picture, whenever released, may be exhibited and/or licensed for exhibition free of any claim thereto by the Exhibitor, without affecting in any manner the Distributor's obligation to furnish, and the [fol. 5843] Exhibitor's obligation to accept, any and all of the pictures, as described in the schedule.

Cancellation in Event of Default

Twenty-first: In the event that the Exhibitor shall (a) fail or refuse to exhibit or pay the license fee in respect of any picture, (b) fail or refuse to select or designate a date for the exhibition thereof as in Article Seventh hereof provided, (c) refuse to permit the Distributor or its authorized representative access to the theatre and its box office for the purpose specified in Article Third hereof, or (d) otherwise default in its obligations hereunder, the Distributor, at its election, may consider any such action or failure to act (hereinafter referred to as a default) as a material breach hereof by the Exhibitor and may, at its election (1) terminate this agreement with respect to pictures not theretofore delivered, (2) withhold the delivery of additional pictures until such default shall be remedied, or (3) if such refusal shall relate to the payment of the license fees in respect of any picture or pictures, the Distributor may deliver any subsequent picture c. o. d. in an amount to pay the license fee for such subsequent picture and all previous pictures in respect of which the license fees are delinquent. If the Distributor shall elect to cancel and terminate this agreement, the license fees of all pictures licensed hereunder immediately shall become due and payable; the grant, if any, of the run or clearance in respect thereof shall stand revoked; the license in respect thereof shall revert to the Distributor; and the Distributor may thereafter license to other exhibitors any or all of such pictures. The Distributor shall not be obligated, however, to attempt to dispose of any such picture or pictures to exhibitors in the same locality for the purpose of mitigating the damages caused by the default of the Exhibitor.

In the event that the Exhibitor is adjudicated bankrupt or insolvent, or makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors, or in the event that a receiver, liquidator or trustee is appointed for the affairs of the Exhibitor, the Distributor, [fol. 5844] at any time thereafter, may terminate this agreement in respect of pictures not theretofore delivered to the Exhibitor hereunder by giving the Exhibitor notice in writing of its election so to do.

The election by the Distributor of any remedy hereunder shall not be deemed an election of such remedy in connection with any other default of the Exhibitor nor shall it be deemed as a waiver of any further or additional right or remedy of the Distributor in law or in equity.

Midnight Shows Consecutive Dates

Twenty-second: The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule shall not be deemed to include the right of exhibition at any time during the period prior to six A. M. on the date or first date of exhibition herein provided for, unless this license shall otherwise expressly permit exhibition prior to six A. M. on said date or first exhibition date. Unless this license shall otherwise expressly permit exhibition of each picture on dates which are not consecutive, if the number of dates of exhibition designated or otherwise agreed upon, as provided herein, are less than the maximum number of days herein specified, this license shall, upon such designation or agreement, be limited to the number of dates so designated or otherwise agreed upon, and in such event the maximum number of dates herein specified for any such picture shall be deemed to be reduced accordingly.

Twenty-third: The following Schedule and all of the written and printed parts thereof are a part of this license.

[fol. 5845] The Exhibitor agrees to play and pay for all feature pictures generally released by the Distributor during the 1936-37 season and further agrees that he shall be entitled to such pictures only as are identified by production numbers running from 701 to 746.

The Exhibitor agrees that the Distributor shall have the right to designate not more than . . . . photoplays to be played on the percentage terms listed in this license, and to designate the terms upon which the remaining photoplays shall be exhibited. The Exhibitor further agrees that the Distributor, in its sole discretion, may interchange the license fees specified in the Schedule to be payable in respect of any photoplay with the license fees specified to be payable in respect of any other photoplay to be exhibited under this agreement. The Distributor agrees to interchange and/or designate the terms for each photoplay by mailing notice in writing to the Exhibitor prior to the exhibition dates. The Exhibitor agrees to accept such photoplays on said terms and to give such photoplays playdates in accordance with clause six of this license agreement and further agrees that the Distributor may designate . . . . of the photoplays to be played on percentage to be played on preferred time including a Saturday and/or a Sunday.

If the license fees for any of the photoplays covered by this agreement are to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admissions receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor may employ any checking agency or its employees as the authorized representative of the Distributor provided for in Article Third hereof. If the Exhibitor shall refuse access to the theatre and its box office to any authorized representative of the Distributor, the Distributor in addition to all other rights or remedies hereunder may terminate the license herein granted in respect of the picture at the time being exhibited and immediately recover possession of the print of such picture without affecting this agreement insofar as it relates to other pictures.

The Exhibitor agrees that none of the feature photoplays licensed hereunder will be exhibited at the same performance with any other feature photoplay as part of a double feature [fol. 5846] program, and a breach of this provision will be considered a material breach of this agreement.

Special Arrangements:

Beginning of the Contract of License

The following shall constitute the contract of license for each picture for which the application of the Exhibitor is accepted by the Distributor at its home office in New York City:

License

First: The Distributor grants and the Exhibitor accepts a limited license under copyright of the motion picture for which the application is accepted and a license for use of the sound recorded therewith to exhibit publicly said motion picture and to reproduce publicly such recorded sound in synchronism therewith by use of the positive print delivered to the Exhibitor by the Distributor on the dates set in accordance with the terms hereof and specified or confirmed by the Distributor in writing.. Said license does not include any exhibition prior to 8 a. m. of the first date of exhibition.

Music

Second: If copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the exhibitor warrants to have at the date of exhibition a license to perform publicly such music from the copyright proprietor thereof.

Payment

Third: (a) The Exhibitor agrees to pay to the Distributor the license fees in the Schedule set forth at least 7 days in advance [fol. 5859] of the fixed day of the exhibition of each picture as such days are fixed in the Schedule or in accordance with Article Seventh hereof. Any and all payments to be made hereunder shall be payable to the Distributor at the city in which is located the Exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Payment Upon Percentage Basis—Trust Funds

(b) If any part of the license fees of said motion pictures shall be computed upon the exhibitor's gross receipts, such payment or part thereof shall be made to the distributor at the end of each day's exhibition together with a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon the exhibition date or dates of said motion picture for which payment is so required to be made, signed by the Exhibitor or the Exhibitor's Manager and the Exhibitor's cashier or treasurer. Should the distributor so require, such itemized statement shall be made upon forms furnished by the distributor. Upon said date or dates an authorized representative of the distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom, and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine the exhibitor's books and records relating to such gross receipts. The distributor, or its authorized representative, also shall have access for a period of one (1) year after the receipt by the distributor of each final box office statement, to all of the exhibitor's books and records for the purpose of verifying such box office statement. The distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this Clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding, or litigation in respect to this license. The Exhibitor further agrees to segregate the Distributor's share of the gross receipts as such admission moneys are paid into the box office and not to intermingle such funds with any other moneys and to hold such percentage share of such gross receipts in trust for the Distributor and to pay over such trust funds daily as in this paragraph provided, it being intended that the Distributor's share of the gross receipts shall be exclusively the property of the Distributor from the moment it is paid into the box office.

[fol. 5860]

Liquidated Damages for Breach

Fourth: 1. If Licensed Upon a Flat Fee.—The Exhibitor recognizes and agrees that the damage suffered by the distributor, if the exhibitor fails to exhibit and pay for any of the aforesaid motion pictures, is the license fee specified in the schedule above.

2. If Licensed Upon a Percentage Basis.—If payment hereunder of the license fee of any such motion picture shall be computed either in whole or in part, upon a percentage of the gross admission receipts of said theatre, and if the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any such motion picture as herein provided, the Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day that the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts in such theatre during the period of thirty (30) operating days to wit, the sixteen (16) operating days immediately prior to and the fourteen (14) days immediately after but including the date of the mailing of the notice of availability for the specific unplayed picture as set forth in Article Seventh Subdivision (2) and in addition any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect thereto. If the Exhibitor shall exhibit any such motion picture for less than the full number of days provided for in this license the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to seventy-five per cent (75%) of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery of Prints

Fifth: (1) The Distributor shall deliver a print of 2,000-foot reels or less, the length to be at the option of the Distributor, in physical condition for the exhibition contemplated herein.

[fol. 5861] 2. Delivery to the Exhibitor or the Exhibitor's authorized agent by delivery at the Distributor's Exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities, shall constitute delivery for all purposes under the terms of this agreement. Any delivery to a carrier shall be made in accordance with the carrier's delivery schedule in time to reach the place where the said theatre is located at least one hour before the usual time for the opening of said theatre.

Road Show

Sixth: A road show is solely under the control of the producer and is not a general release, and the producer does not deliver a picture to the distributor for general release until the completion of any such road shows. Thus said motion picture will become available to the Distributor for distribution only upon the completion of any such road show. However, the Distributor agrees that should any motion picture be "road-shown" in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre, in the same zone, as that word is understood in motion picture parlance, this contract for the exhibition of said motion picture may, at the option of either party, be cancelled by written notice given to the other party within 15 days after the commencement date of such road-show. Otherwise this agreement remains in full force and effect.

Fixing Exhibition Dates

Seventh: The exhibition date or dates of each motion picture, unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, or otherwise agreed upon in writing, shall be as follows:

(1) This contract contemplates the general release of the pictures to be delivered hereunder within twenty (20) months next succeeding the date of the execution of this contract. Should the Producer not deliver any one or more of these pictures to the Distributor so that the Distributor can generally release said picture or pictures by that date, the contract of license for each such picture not delivered shall be mutually cancelled on that date.

[fol. 5862] (2) Within a reasonable time after the delivery by the producer, and provided the exhibitor is not in default hereunder, or under any other contract with the distributor, the distributor agrees to mail to the exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, such date being hereinafter referred to as the available date. Such notice shall be mailed to the exhibitor at least fifteen days prior to the available date therein specified.

(3) The Exhibitor shall, within fourteen days after the mailing of such notice, select exhibition date or dates, such dates to be within the period commencing with the available date and ending thirty days thereafter, by giving to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected. If the exhibition date or dates so selected by the Exhibitor are not open to the Exhibitor, the Distributor shall so notify the Exhibitor, and in such event the exhibition date or dates shall be as provided in the following paragraphs (a) and (b):

(a) If other dates within the same period are open, the Distributor shall notify the Exhibitor thereof, and the Exhibitor agrees immediately to select from such open dates another date or dates. Should the Exhibitor fail so to do, the Distributor may, at its option, either declare the contract to be in default, or designate in writing such date or dates within the period beginning not earlier than two weeks and ending not later than six weeks from the date first selected by the Exhibitor, and give written notice thereof to the Exhibitor fourteen days before the date so designated by the Distributor. The Exhibitor must immediately confirm such dates to the Distributor, and should the Exhibitor not confirm the date so designated, the Exhibitor shall be in default under this contract.

(b) If no other dates within the said thirty days are open, then the Exhibitor shall designate the date or dates which shall be within the period beginning not earlier than two weeks, and ending not later than six weeks from the last day of the said thirty days, and written notices thereof shall immediately be given or mailed to the Distributor by the Exhibitor. If the Exhibitor fails to so designate such date or dates, then the Distributor may, at its option, either declare the contract to be in default, or designate in writing [fol. 5863] such date or dates within the period beginning not earlier than two weeks and ending not later than six weeks from the date first selected by the Exhibitor, and give written notice thereof to the Exhibitor fourteen days before the date so designated by the Distributor. The Exhibitor must immediately confirm such dates to the Distributor, and should the Exhibitor not confirm the date so designated, the Exhibitor shall be in default under this contract.

(4) In the event of Exhibitor's failing to designate exhibition date or dates for any motion picture as in this contract provided, or should the Exhibitor default in any other contract he has with the Distributor, then and thereupon any sum or sums of money or other fixed consideration payment of which is provided for hereunder shall ipso facto become due and payable by the Exhibitor to the Distributor, anything to the contrary in this contract notwithstanding, and the clearance period provided in this contract in respect to any motion picture shall be revoked. If payment hereunder of the license fee of any motion picture is to be computed in whole or in part upon the percentage of the gross admission receipts of said theatre, damages shall be computed as to all unplayed percentage pictures as agreed upon in paragraph "Fourth," subdivision (2) hereof from the last day of the fourteen (14) days after the mailing of the notice of availability as set forth in paragraph "Seventh," subdivision (2) above which notice of availability was sent concerning the picture in the dating of which the Exhibitor is in default.

(5) The date or dates fixed or determined as in this Article provided shall be for all purposes the exhibition date or dates of the motion pictures as though set forth in the Schedule before execution hereof by the Exhibitor.

(6) The Exhibitor is cognizant that the Distributor is bound by contract to cause the motion pictures distributed by it to be exhibited in the several exchange territories in sequence of the general release of such pictures in each respective exchange territory. Therefore, pursuant thereto, the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each motion picture for the license of which it contracts with the Distributor in the sequence of the notices of availability given the Exhibitor by the Distributor, and that this order of [fol. 5864] exhibition shall be of the essence of this and the other license agreements entered into by the parties hereto.

Return of Prints by Exhibitor

Eighth: (a) After each exhibition hereunder, the Exhibitor agrees promptly as instructed in writing by the Distributor, either to return the prints to the Distributor's Exchange, or to deliver the same to a carrier designated by the Distributor, or to deliver such print to another exhibitor, and in any case to pay all transportation charges therefor adequately valued and insured.

(b) In the event the Exhibitor is obligated by such written instructions to deliver any such print to another exhibitor, and fails so to do, and the Distributor is damaged thereby, the Exhibitor agrees to pay any and all such damages.

Loss of or Damage to Prints

Ninth: (a) The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's Exchange by telegram of the loss, theft or destruction of or damage to any print between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor, and in such event, the Exhibitor agrees to pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement for each lineal foot thereof.

(b) The Exhibitor agrees that all claims by him on account of the condition of or the late or non-arrival of a print shall be barred hereunder unless such claim shall be made by telegram, setting forth fully the condition complained of, within twenty-four hours after the exhibition date determined hereunder.

Cutting or Alterations of Prints

Tenth: The exhibitor shall exhibit each picture in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print thereof nor shall the exhibitor cut or alter the same, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly authorized public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the distributor, and the exhibitor shall return each print in the same condition as received, reasonable wear only excepted.

[fol. 5865]

Clearance and Run

Eleventh: (a) Provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor agrees to observe the Clearance specified in the schedule hereof.

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted hereunder a second or subsequent run, the Distributor shall have the right in its sole discretion to advance the Exhibitor's run by giving notice in writing to such effect to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit any motion picture the run of which is thus advanced in accordance therewith, even though the Exhibitor's run thus becomes a first run and there are no runs prior thereto.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Twelfth: If the Exhibitor is granted hereunder a second or subsequent run, the Exhibitor agrees not to advertise any picture to be delivered hereunder except by means of advertisements inside the said theatre not intended for removal therefrom by the public, prior to the exhibition of any such picture by any other exhibitor having the right to the first or prior run thereof. In the event of any violation of this clause the Exhibitor agrees to pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the damage, if any, so caused such other Exhibitor, and the Distributor may, at its option, terminate the license granted hereunder for that picture or any other picture to be delivered by the Distributor. The Distributor, however, shall not be liable for any breach of the provisions of this article caused by any other exhibitor.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The exhibitor shall pay to the distributor upon demand, any tax, fee or other like charge now or hereafter imposed upon the delivery, or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures or upon the sums payable under this license by the exhibitor to the Distributor.

Impossibility of Performance

Fourteenth: Neither party shall be liable unto the other for a default caused by force majeur.

[fol. 5866]

C. O. D. Shipments

Fifteenth: Exhibitor hereby expressly grants Distributor the right to demand and receive, as a condition precedent to delivery of the print or sound records of any motion picture contracted for hereunder, payment of all amounts then due Distributor by Exhibitor under this or any other exhibition contract between the parties hereto and Distributor may require such payment of all sums then due by means of a C. O. D. shipment or otherwise.

Waiver

Sixteenth: A waiver by either party of any breach or default of the other party shall not be construed as a waiver of any other or subsequent breach or default of such other party.

Verbal Promises; Changes Must Be in Writing

Seventeenth: This license agreement is complete, and all promises, representations, understandings, and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change, modification, or assignment hereof shall be binding upon the distributor unless in writing signed by an officer or any person duly authorized by the Distributor in its main office in New York City.

The right of the Distributor to approve or reject this application or any other application signed by the Exhibitor at the same time or at any other time is not dependent upon the approval or rejection by the Distributor of this application or of any other application.

The Distributor and Exhibitor agree that the above motion pictures are included in one contract form for convenience only, but that as a matter of substance the application for each picture specified in the Schedule is separate and distinct from the application for any other picture specified in the schedule and each application shall be treated as distinct from any other application by the Distributor and may be accepted or rejected without reference to the accepting or rejecting of any other picture, and that each application accepted is a separate contract as to the particular picture concerned, and this instrument if accepted [fols. 5867-5870] is to be construed as creating for each picture contracted for a separate contract containing the terms and conditions as are in this instrument contained as though there had been such a separate contract between Distributor and Exhibitor for each picture for which a contract is herein made.

Optional Standard License Agreement

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., a Delaware corporation (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor) party of the first part, and the Exhibitor (hereinafter named and referred to as the Exhibitor, operating the theatre hereinafter designated), party of the second part.

Witnesseth:

The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First: The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts, a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit publicly said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Ex- [fol. 5872] hibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each of such motion pictures a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said copyright musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

Term and Warranty

Second: (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures except such as may be excluded as provided in Clauses Fifteenth and Seventeenth hereof. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages—Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, excepting those which may be eliminated as provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof, and those which may not be generally released as provided in Clause Seventeenth hereof or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof or shall deliver to the Exhibitor a print of any motion picture which print shall be determined was [fol. 5873] not in condition for exhibition and for the reproduction of sound as provided in Clause Second, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third: (a) The Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Percentage Bookings

(b) If the rental of any of such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each [fol. 5874] such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date. Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and figures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The Distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect to this license.

Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings

(c) If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the [fol. 5875] Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable hereunder in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each date any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion pictures should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to exhibit any of said motion pictures; provided that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five per cent (65%) of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth: (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show", "tryout", "preview", or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "pre-release" [fol. 5876] exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor in the exchange territory in which said theater is located. The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions (a) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the Distributor and the Exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty-day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Sixth hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

(e) The Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder, with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such prints, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall have the right to participate in any compromise of or intervene in any arbitration or legal proceeding based upon any claim for such damage asserted against the Distributor by another exhibitor; notice of which shall be given the Exhibitor by the the Distributor.

[fol. 5878] Loss and Damage to Prints

Fifth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print, lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sums paid by the Exhibitor for any lost or stolen print, excepting "news reels," upon the return of such lost or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor and delivery thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft, or destruction of or damages or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Play Dates

Sixth: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

[fol. 5879] 1. Subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor.

Clearance and Run

Seventh: The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period" if any in the Schedule specified, at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Description of Pictures

Eighth: (a) (1) The Distributor will not substitute for any feature motion picture described in the contract there- [fol. 5880] for as that of a named star or stars or named director or named well-known author, book, or play, one of any other star or stars, director, author, book, or play, nor will the Distributor substitute any other feature motion picture for one which in this contract is designated "no substitute"; and the Exhibitor shall not be required to accept any such substitute motion picture.

(2) Nothing in this Article contained shall be interpreted to prohibit the Distributor from changing the title of any motion picture contracted for, from making changes, alterations, and adaptations of any story, book, or play upon which it is based and from substituting for any such story, book, or play another story, book, or play, or from changing the director, the cast, or any member thereof of any such motion picture, except as hereinabove specifically prohibited.

(b) The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled, or foreign produced by a foreign producer, except those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Ninth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of any of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising, prior to or during the exhibition thereof by any other exhibitor having the right to prior run thereof.

(b) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of the feature motion pictures licensed for exhibition by the Exhibitor as a group, but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures at any time prior to its exhibition by any other exhibitor having first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as hereinabove provided.

(c) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be roadshown by the Distributor and not excepted and ex- [fol. 5881] cluded from this license, until after the completion of such roadshowing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(d) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor, unless arbitration is herein provided for and immediately upon the receipt of any such notice of exclusion the Exhibitor by written notice given to the Distributor shall deny breaching any of the provisions of this Clause, in which case the question of fact raised by such denial shall be determined by arbitration.

Acceptance by Distributor

Tenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located East of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located West of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any of said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Eleventh: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings, and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modifica-

[fol. 5882] tion may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion picture specified in the Schedule.

Assignment on Sale of Theatre

Twelfth: This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the Exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor may assign this license to the purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless a written acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the Exhibitor shall be delivered to the Distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax fee, or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee, or other like charge paid or payable by the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

[fol. 5883]

Prevention of Performance

Fourteenth: If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

Option to ~~Exclude If Group Licensed~~: This Article Does Not Apply to Short Subjects

Fifteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor has contracted to exhibit all of the feature motion pictures listed in the schedule hereto and offered by the Distributor to the Exhibitor, and if the license fees of all of said pictures average no more than $250.00 per picture, the Exhibitor shall have the privilege to exclude from this license agreement not to exceed ten percent (10%) of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder; provided the Exhibitor

1. Is not in default under this license agreement and,

2. Has complied with all of the provisions hereof, if any, for the exhibition of such motion pictures at specified intervals.

(b) Such privilege of exclusion may be exercised only in the event aforesaid and upon the following terms and conditions:

1. The Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice of each motion picture to be excluded within fourteen (14) days after the general release date thereof in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served.

2. The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in this license agreement provided he has paid for the other nine (9) of such group.

3. If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (b) 2 above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding tenth motion picture, as the case [fol. 5884] may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (b) 2 above.

If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege to exclude shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion picture- but one of such group.

(c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege of exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fees of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in this license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all of the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows:

1. Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre, during the period of one year prior to the term of such license agreement.

2. If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

(e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (b) 3 hereof shall be determined as follows:

1. Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceeding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture excluded.

2. If no feature motion picture of the Distributor were exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) [fol. 5885] day period, average the daily gross receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in the license agreement for the picture excluded.

(f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

First Run Exhibitions

Sixteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the Distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

[fol. 5886]

Second Run Exhibitions

(b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the

Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Run Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen-day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period if any in respect [fol. 5887] thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fees as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other exhibitor prior to January 15, 1934, the provisions of this Clause shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

[fol. 5888] Pictures Not Generally Released

Seventeenth: If any of the said motion pictures described in the Schedule, excepting those, if any, which may be road-shown by the Distributor, shall not be generally released by the Distributor for Distribution in the United States during the period beginning Sept. 1, 1936, and ending Aug. 31, 1937, each such motion picture shall be excluded from this license, upon written notice to such effect given to the Exhibitor by the Distributor prior to fifteen (15) days before the end of said period, unless the Exhibitor shall give written notice to the Distributor not later than thirty (30) days after the end of said period that the Exhibitor elects to exhibit hereunder all such motion pictures if generally released during the year immediately following the end of said period. If such notice of election is given as aforesaid the Distributor shall deliver and the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of such motion pictures upon the terms and conditions of this license excepting that any thereof which are not so generally released within the said following year shall also be excepted and excluded from this license. In such case the Distributor may exhibit and license for exhibition each of such motion pictures so excluded when and where desired by the Distributor and all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof are hereby expressly waived and the Distributor released and discharged therefrom by the Exhibitor.

Exhibitor's Default

Eighteenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes [fol. 5889] insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or of his said interests therein making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults should cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

Cutting or Altering of Prints

Nineteenth: The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necesary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the Distributor. The Exhibitor, however, may cut the print of a news reel, and in such case shall completely restore all parts cut therefrom, prior to the return thereof to the Distributor or shipment elsewhere if so directed by the Distributor, in the same condition as received by the Exhibitor.

Roadshows

Twentieth: (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at [fol. 5890] which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los Angeles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing and exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

[fol. 5891] (d) The inadvertent omission to send to any of such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license of any such motion picture.

(e) The Distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture, extended to and including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Clauses Fifteenth and Seventeenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Additional Clauses

Number of Features Offered:
Additional Terms:

Number of Features Licensed:

Playing Arrangement: The Exhibitor agrees to play and pay for ...... of the above productions each and every ...... beginning .... in the order of release, if, and as available.

Of the motion pictures hereby licensed the respective number set forth below shall be exhibited on the days specified below:

.... motion pictures as selected by Distributor on ......
motion pictures as selected by Distributor on ......

[fol. 5893]

Admission Prices

The Exhibitor during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder agrees to and shall charge for admission to said theatre not less than the following prices:

Matinees:	Adults,	orchestra	balcony
	Children,	orchestra	balcony
Evenings:	Adults	orchestra	balcony
	Children,	orchestra	balcony

If during any such period less than said admission prices is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right: (a) immediately to terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited, by written notice to such effect to the Exhibitor and upon the giving of such notice, the license of such motion picture shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor; or (b) provided the Exhibitor is granted herein a period of "clearance" to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the motion pictures thereafter deliverable hereunder; or (c) provided no period of clearance is specified in the Schedule to withhold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each motion picture thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor; and as to each such motion picture the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such motion picture after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determined as provided in clause Sixth hereof. If the Distributor does not elect to terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited, as provided in subdivision (a) of this paragraph, the Exhibitor shall account for all admissions to the said theatre during the exhibition of such motion picture on the basis of the respective admission prices above stipulated for each person admitted to the said theatre, at each performance of said motion picture, provided that if at any such performance any of the prices of admission are greater than the respective amounts above set forth, the Exhibitor shall account to the Distributor on the basis [fol. 5894] of such larger amounts. The Distributor shall also have the right to suspend all further deliveries of motion pictures to the Exhibitor until such scale of admission prices at the said theatre shall have been restored to at least the amounts above specified. The use of "two for ones" service passes or similar devices shall be construed as a reduction in admission.

The Distributor agrees that the Exhibitor shall have the following run and clearance (such terms having the meaning generally given them in the trade):

Advertising Accessories

The Exhibitor agrees to lease from the Distributor or the Distributor's authorized agent for use only in connection with the exhibition of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder and agrees not to sublease or sell the following advertising accessories:

[fol. 5896] The Distributor may, in its discretion, interchange the film rental and terms (including the theatre if more than one theatre is mentioned herein) of any one or more of the motion pictures herein described, with the film rental and terms of any other motion picture licensed hereunder. Such right may be exercised by giving the Exhibitor written notice of such interchange at or prior to the date upon which notice of availability of such motion picture is mailed to the Exhibitor.

It is agreed that in case any motion picture excluded under Exhibitor's "Option to exclude if group licensed" shall have been designated by Distributor to play on percentage terms, then upon its exclusion such designation shall be deemed to be thereby rescinded and Distributor may designate a different motion picture to play on such specified percentage terms, it being the intent of the parties hereto that Exhibitor shall exhibit hereunder upon the respective percentage terms set forth in said Schedule the number of motion pictures specified in the Schedule to play on percentage.

Exhibitor hereby expressly agrees that Distributor shall have the right to demand and receive, as a condition precedent to delivery of the print and/or sound records of any motion picture contracted for hereunder, payment of all amounts then due Distributor by Exhibitor under this or any other exhibition contract(s) between the parties hereto and Distributor may require such payment of all sums then due by means of a C. O. D. shipment or otherwise.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to perform any other license agreement with the Distributor, the Distributor, at its option, may, upon such default or refusal to perform, either:

1. Terminate this license agreement, or

2. Suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults shall cease and be remedied.

If the Distributor shall elect to terminate this license agreement, then the Distributor shall be entitled to recover from the Exhibitor, as damages for such breach, the license fees payable with respect to all of the motion pictures not theretofore exhibited under this license agreement, and the Distributor shall be under no obligation thereafter to deliver or offer to deliver any picture or pictures hereunder.

[fol. 5897] Notwithstanding the number of days of exhibition specified for each motion picture in the schedule nor the reference to more than one theatre in the schedule, it is understood and agreed by and between the Distributor and the Exhibitor that the license herein granted is expressly limited to and shall not include any right of exhibition at any time or place or by any means other than:

1. The exhibition of each respective motion picture for the number of days of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as herein provided, and confirmed in writing by the Distributor to the Exhibitor but not exceeding the maximum number of days specified in the schedule hereof with respect to such motion picture.

2. The exhibition of each respective motion picture at the theatre and on the date or dates of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as herein provided, and confirmed in writing by the Distributor to the Exhibitor for such picture.

3. The exhibition of each respective motion picture hereunder only by means of the print of the picture furnished to the Exhibitor by the Distributor for the express purpose of exhibition on the date or dates of exhibition selected, designated or otherwise agreed upon, as herein provided, and confirmed in writing by the Distributor to the Exhibitor for such picture.

It is agreed that the Distributor may, at its option, furnish prints of any of the motion pictures licensed hereunder on reels of 2,000 feet maximum capacity.

[End of Schedule]

Midnight Shows

Twenty-second: The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the schedule shall not include the right of exhibition at any time previous to dawn of the first licensed and booked day of exhibition without securing express written permission therefor.

Optional Arbitration Clause

Optional Clause: The following Clause Twenty-third is optional with the parties hereto. If it is desired to make [fol. 5898] such clause a part of this license, the Exhibitor and the duly authorized representative of the Distributor shall sign their respective names where indicated immediately following this paragraph and unless so signed the said Clause shall be deemed excluded from this license agreement.

It is agreed by and between the parties that Clause Twenty-third, providing for voluntary arbitration of disputes arising hereunder, shall be included as a part of this license.

—— ——, Representative of the Distributor duly authorized to agree to the following Clause Twenty-third; —— ——, Exhibitor.

Arbitration

Twenty-third: The Exhibitor and the Distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceeding in any court by either of them, to determine, enforce or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration to an Arbitration Board (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators) which shall consist of four members, each of whom shall be engaged in the motion-picture business, and two of whom to be appointed by the Exhibitor, and the remaining two to be appointed by the Distributor.

Upon the written request of the Distributor or the Exhibitor for the arbitration of any dispute or controversy arising hereunder, the party making such request shall name therein two arbitrators, stating the business address and and business or business connection of each, and shall designate therein the date, time and place of the hearing of such controvery. The date of such hearing shall not be earlier than seven (7) days from the date of the sending of such notice, unless it shall be claimed in such notice that irreparable injury will result unless there is a speedy determination of such controversy, in which case such hearing may be designated to be held earlier than said seven (7) day period.

Within five (5) days after the mailing of such request for arbitration, the party upon whom such request is made shall [fol. 5899] name two arbitrators in a written notice mailed or delivered to the other party, stating therein the business address and business or business connection of each arbitrator. If either party fails or refuses to name the arbitrators as herein provided or if any arbitrator so named shall fail or refuse to act, or be unable to serve or shall be challenged and others are or another arbitrator qualified and then available to act is not then appointed, others or another arbitrator may be appointed by the other party as the case may be.

No member of the Arbitration Board shall hear or determine any controversy in which he has an interest direct or indirect and any member having such interest shall be disqualified to act.

If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to reach a decision, then they, or a majority of them shall immediately select an umpire who shall not be engaged in the motion-picture business. In such case the hearing before the umpire shall be at such time and place as the umpire shall designate and shall be had before the umpire alone, the arbitrators not to be permitted to attend the hearing before the umpire. If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to agree upon the selection of an umpire, the American Arbitration Association shall be requested to make such selection.

The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder; provided that if after a full hearing of any controversy submitted for arbitration hereunder, excepting any submission to an umpire designated as hereinabove provided, the arbitrators or a majority of them are of the opinion that because of unusual circumstances arising after the execution of this license agreement and beyond the direct control of the parties hereto disclosed at such hearing, a strict enforcement of the provisions of this license agreement would impose undue hardship upon one of the [fol. 5900] parties, the arbitrators or a majority of them may recommend in writing to the parties a settlement of such controversy upon such terms and conditions deemed by the arbitrators fair and just. If such settlement is not agreed to by the parties within five (5) days after the receipt of a copy of such recommendation, the controversy shall be deemed withdrawn from the arbitrators.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served, unless the parties agree in writing that such hearing be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other Court, including a court of a state in which such hearing would otherwise not be had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which such application is made may lawfully direct.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators, or a majority of them and consent that any such decision or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, within seven (7) days, the Distributor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion pictures provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement between the parties thereto and/or terminate this and each such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payable by the Exhibitor.

If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision or the award of an Arbitration [fol. 5901-5912] Board in respect thereto within seven (7) days, the Exhibitor may at the option of the Exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement between the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the Distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal; and the Exhibitor shall have the rights and remedies provided in Clause Second (b) for failure to deliver motion pictures.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any breach by the other party to this or any other existing agreement between the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

In witness whereof —— —— the Exhibitor, operating the —— Theatre located at —— in the —— City and State has on —— date executed this application, which upon written acceptance thereof by the Distributor shall be deemed to be the license or the said Exhibitor for the exhibition of the motion pictures specified in the Schedule, but only at the said Theatre in accordance with the terms and conditions hereof.

WARNER—1936-37

Form 90 WF 36-37 (10M-12-36)

WARNER BROS. AND FIRST NATIONAL PRODUCTIONS

Season 1936-1937

EXHIBITION CONTRACT

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counterparts between Vitagraph, Inc., a corporation (hereinafter referred to as the Distributor), party of the first part, and the Exhibitor (hereinafter named and referred to as the Exhibitor, operating the theatre hereinafter designated), party of the second part,

Witnesseth. The parties hereto agree as follows:

License

First: The Distributor grants the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor accepts, a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof and under the copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therewith, to exhibit publicly said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of consecutive days specified in the Schedule and for no other use or purpose; provided that the reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality; and provided further that if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the Exhibitor will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each such motion pictures a license from the copyright proprietor thereof or from any licensee of such copyright proprietor to perform publicly the said copyrighted musical compositions. If more than one theatre is hereinafter designated the said [fol. 5914] motion pictures are licensed for exhibition at only one of such theatres unless otherwise in the Schedule specifically provided in writing.

Term and Warranty

Second: (a) The term of this Agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable hereunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Schedule provided. The Distributor agrees during said term to deliver to the Exhibitor, and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit at said theatre during said term upon the date or dates herein provided for, a positive print of each of said motion pictures except such as may be excluded as provided in Clauses Fifteenth and Seventeenth hereof. The Distributor warrants that each positive print will be in good physical condition for projection and exhibition, and will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith if properly used upon standard reproducing equipment. If the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references herein to a print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device upon which sound may be recorded for reproduction with the exhibition of a print.

Damages—Failure to Deliver

(b) If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to deliver, or the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to exhibit during the term hereof, any of said motion pictures, excepting those which may be eliminated as provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof, and those which may not be generally released as provided in Clause Seventeenth hereof or if the Distributor shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of Clause Seventh hereof or shall deliver to the Exhibitor a print of any motion picture which print shall be determined was not in condition for exhibition and for the reproduction of sound as provided in Clause Second, the Exhibitor or the Distributor, as the case may be, shall pay the damage so caused and if such damage cannot be definitely computed shall pay as [fol. 5915] liquidated damages a sum equal to the fixed sum herein specified as the rental of each such motion picture or a sum computed as provided in Clause Third (c) hereof, if the rental of any such motion picture is to be determined, either in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum; provided that any claim by the Exhibitor with respect to the condition of a print shall be deemed to have been waived by the Exhibitor unless notice of such claim shall have been given by the Exhibitor to the Distributor's exchange from which the Exhibitor is served, by telephone or telegraph, or in person, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof by the Exhibitor and written confirmation thereof mailed by the Exhibitor upon the same day to the Distributor's said exchange.

Payment

Third: (a) Exhibitor agrees to pay for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule at least three (3) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the Distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment to the Exhibitor from another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the Distributor such payment shall be otherwise agreed to by the Distributor in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor. All payments hereunder shall be made to the Distributor at the City in which is located the exchange from which the Exhibitor is served.

Percentage Bookings

(b) If the rental of any of such motion pictures is to be determined either in whole or in part upon the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof, the Exhibitor agrees to pay such rental immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of the exhibition of each such motion picture or if requested by the Distributor at the end of each day's exhibition. In each such case the Exhibitor shall deliver to the Distributor immediately after the last exhibition upon each date of exhibition of each such motion [fol. 5916] picture a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon each such date. Such statement shall be signed by the Exhibitor or the Manager or Treasurer of said theatre and the Cashier thereof and shall include a statement of such facts and figures as may be provided in the Schedule to be furnished by the Exhibitor, and if requested by the Distributor, shall be made upon forms furnished by the Distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the Distributor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all relevant entries relating to such gross receipts in all the Exhibitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the Exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. Such right of access and examination of the Exhibitor's books and records limited as aforesaid, shall continue for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the Distributor of each such statement. The Distributor agrees, unless such representative is in the continuous employ of the Distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The Distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect of this license.

Liquidated Damages—Percentage Bookings

(c) If the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of said motion pictures as herein provided and the rental or any part thereof is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre, the Exhibitor shall pay the Distributor as liquidated damages for each day the Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion pictures, in addition to any fixed sums payable here- [fol. 3917] under in respect of such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre on each date any feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited thereat during the period of ninety (90) days prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited hereunder, or if no feature motion picture distributed by the Distributor was exhibited at such theatre during said ninety day period, then a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when such motion pictures should have been exhibited, or prior to the date of such failure or refusal to exhibit any of said motion picture; provided that if the Exhibitor shall exhibit such motion pictures for less than the full number of days provided for in the Schedule, for each day less than said full number of days, the sum equal to such percentage shall be computed upon a sum equal to sixty-five (65%) percent of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the Exhibitor to the Distributor upon demand therefor.

Delivery and Return of Prints

Fourth: (a) After each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and becomes available for exhibition hereunder by the Exhibitor, the Distributor agrees to deliver as hereinafter provided, a print thereof to the Exhibitor.

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange from which the exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show," "tryout," "preview," or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for public exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "pre-release" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

(c) The Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of said motion pictures in the order of its general release by the Distributor [fol. 5918] in the exchange territory in which said theatre is located. The Exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures, excepting the last deliverable hereunder, for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or clearance granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Sixth hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions (a) that the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Schedule for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the Distributor and the Exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion picture and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the Exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty (30) days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the Exhibitor shall then pay to the Distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the Exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty-day period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the Exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Sixth hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

(d) The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor or to the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier or to a post office, they shall be made in time for [fol. 5919] prints to reach the place where the said theatre is located in time for inspection and a projection thereof before the usual time for opening said theatre.

(e) Exhibitor agrees to return immediately after the last exhibition on the last date of exhibition licensed, each print received hereunder, with its reels and containers, to the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served or as otherwise directed by the Distributor in the same condition as when received, reasonable wear and tear due to proper use excepted. Exhibitor agrees to pay all costs of transportation of such prints, reels, and containers from the Distributor's exchange or the last previous exhibitor having possession of the same, and return to the Distributor's exchange; or if directed by the Distributor, to ship such positive prints elsewhere than to the Distributor's exchange transportation charges collect. It is agreed that the delivery of a positive print properly directed and packed in the container furnished by the Distributor therefor, to a carrier designated or used by the Distributor and proper receipt therefor obtained by the Exhibitor, shall constitute the return of such positive print by the Exhibitor.

(f) If the Exhibitor fails to or delays the return of any positive print to the Distributor or fails to forward or delays forwarding (as directed by the Distributor) any such print to any other exhibitor, the Exhibitor agrees to pay the Distributor the damage, if any, so caused the Distributor and in addition the damage, if any, so caused such other exhibitor. The Exhibitor shall have the right to participate in any compromise of or intervene in any arbitration or legal proceeding based upon any claim for such damage asserted against the distributor by another exhibitor; notice of which shall be given the Exhibitor by the Distributor.

Loss and Damage to Prints

Fifth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the Distributor's exchange for each linear foot of any print, lost, stolen or destroyed or injured in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the Exhibitor in full settlement of all claims for such loss, theft, destruction or [fol. 5920] injury. Such payment, however, shall not transfer title to or any interest in any such positive print to the Exhibitor or any other party, nor release the Exhibitor from any liability arising out of any breach of this agreement. The Distributor shall at the option of the Exhibitor repay or credit to the Exhibitor any sum paid by the Exhibitor for any lost or stolen print, excepting "news reels," upon the return of such lost or stolen print to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. The Exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage or destruction of any print, provided the Exhibitor establishes such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the Exhibitor and delivery thereof was made as hereinabove provided. The Exhibitor shall immediately notify the Distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft or destruction or of damage or injury to any print. If any print shall be received from the Exhibitor by the Distributor or any subsequent exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition it shall be deemed to have been so damaged or destroyed by the Exhibitor unless the latter, immediately after the first public exhibition thereof shall have telegraphed the Distributor's exchange that such print was received by the Exhibitor in a damaged or partially destroyed condition, and setting forth fully the nature of such damage and the amount of footage so damaged or destroyed.

Selection of Play Date

Sixth: Unless otherwise agreed upon or unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Schedule, the exhibition date or dates of each of said motion pictures shall be determined as follows:

1. Subject to the prior runs and/or clearance granted or hereafter granted by the Distributor to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the Distributor out of which the exhibitor is served, and provided the Exhibitor is not in default hereunder, the Distributor shall mail to the Exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when each such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor (which date is hereinafter referred [fol. 5921] to as the "available date"). Such notice shall be mailed to the Exhibitor at least fifteen (15) days before the available date therein specified.

2. Within fourteen (14) days after the mailing of such notice, the Exhibitor shall select an exhibition date or dates not theretofore assigned to another exhibitor or other exhibitors, within the period commencing upon the available date and ending thirty (30) days thereafter and give to the Distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected.

3. Upon the failure of the Exhibitor to so select such date or dates the Distributor shall designate such date or dates by mailing written notice thereof to the Exhibitor.

Clearance and Run

Seventh: The Distributor agrees not to exhibit or grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition in conflict with the 'run" or prior to the expiration of the "clearance period" if any in the Schedule specified at any theatre therein named or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of clearance as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If clearance is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the Distributor to grant such clearance against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the Exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Schedule, such clearance shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

Description of Pictures

Eighth: (a) The Distributor shall have and hereby reserves the right in the sole discretion of the Distributor to change the title of any of the said motion pictures, to make changes in, alteration and adaptation of any story, book or play and to substitute for any thereof any other story, book or play. The Distributor also shall have and hereby reserve-the right to change the director, the cast or any member thereof of any of said motion pictures.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not be required to accept for any feature motion picture described in the Schedule as that of a [fol. 5922] named star or stars, director or named well-known author, book or play, any motion picture of any other star or stars, director, author, book or play nor to accept any other feature motion picture in place of any thereof which in the Schedule is designated "no substitute." The right of rejection conferred on the Exhibitor by this Clause is in addition to the right of exclusion provided in Clause Fifteenth hereof.

(c) The Distributor warrants that none of said motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, ~~old negatives~~ retitled or foreign produced by a foreign producer, excepting those specifically specified as such in the Schedule; and further that none of said motion pictures contains or will contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the Distributor, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the Distributor.

Advertising Prior to First Run

Ninth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a subsequent run of the said motion pictures, the Exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other exhibitor having the right to a prior run thereof. Nothing in this Clause shall be deemed to prohibit the Exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided.

(b) The Exhibitor shall not advertise by any means of advertising any of said motion pictures which may be road-shown by the Distributor and not excepted and excluded from this license, until after the completion of such road-showing in the United States, and then only as permitted in paragraph (a) of this Clause.

(c) For a breach of the provisions of this Clause the Distributor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof by written notice to such effect mailed to the Exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and [fol. 5923] revert to the Distributor, unless arbitration is herein provided for and immediately upon the receipt of any such notice of exclusion the Exhibitor by written notice given to the Distributor shall deny breaching any of the provisions of this Clause, in which case the question of fact raised by such denial shall be determined by arbitration.

Acceptance by Distributor

Tenth: Until accepted in writing by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the Exhibitor this instrument shall be deemed only an application for a license under Copyright, and may be withdrawn by the Exhibitor any time before such acceptance. Unless such notice of acceptance is sent the Exhibitor by mail or telegraph within fifteen (15) days after the date thereof, if the said theatre of the Exhibitor is located east of the Mississippi River, and within thirty (30) days after the date thereof if located west of said river, said application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. The deposit by the Distributor of any check or other consideration given by the Exhibitor at the time of application as payment for any purpose or the delivery of a print of any said motion pictures shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the Distributor.

Changes in Writing

Eleventh: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings, and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein. No change or modification hereof shall be binding upon the Distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of the Distributor, excepting in an emergency and only then, a change or modification may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the Distributor managing the Distributor's exchange out of which the Exhibitor is served provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or clearance period, or decrease any rental, or eliminate any motion picture specified in the Schedule.

[fol. 5924] Assignment on Sale of Theatre

Twelfth: This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the Exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the Exhibitor may assign this license to the purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the Distributor but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the Exhibitor shall be delivered to the Distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the Exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the Distributor in writing.

Taxes

Thirteenth: The Exhibitor shall pay to the Distributor upon demand, any tax, fee, or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the Exhibitor to the Distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax, fee, or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the Distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the Exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the Exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee, or other like charge paid or payable by the Distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

Prevention of Performance

Fourteenth: If the Exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the Distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the Distributor without liability on the part of either party, provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

Option to Exclude if Group Licensed

[fol. 5925] Fifteenth: (a) If in this license agreement the total number of feature motion pictures offered to the Exhibitor by the Distributor, at one time, shall have been licensed by the Distributor hereunder and the license fees of all thereof average not more than Two hundred and fifty ($250.00) Dollars, the Exhibitor shall have the privilege to exclude from this license agreement not to exceed ten (10%) percent of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder; provided that the Exhibitor

(1) Is not in default hereunder, and

(2) Shall have fully complied with all of the provisions, if any, set forth in this agreement for the exhibition of such feature motion pictures at specified intervals.

(b) Such privilege of exclusion may be exercised only upon the following terms and conditions:

(1) The Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice of the Exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures within fourteen (14) days after the general release date thereof in the exchange territory out of which the Exhibitor is served.

(2) The Exhibitor may exclude without payment therefor one (1) motion picture out of each group of ten (10) of the number of feature motion pictures specified in this license agreement provided the Exhibitor has paid for the other nine (9) of such group.

(3) If such privilege of exclusion is not exercised as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above, the Exhibitor may nevertheless exercise such privilege by paying the license fee of each motion picture excluded with the notice of its exclusion. In such case, such payment shall be credited against such tenth or succeeding tenth motion picture, as the case may be, which the Exhibitor would otherwise be privileged to exclude as provided in paragraph (b) (2) above.

If the only or last group licensed is less than ten (10) and more than five (5) motion pictures, the privilege, to exclude [fol. 5926] shall apply provided the Exhibitor has paid for all motion pictures but one in such group.

(c) Upon the failure or refusal of the Exhibitor to comply with any term or condition of this license agreement, or to comply with any arbitration award in respect thereto, the privilege of exclusion forthwith shall be revoked and the Exhibitor shall be liable for and pay to the Distributor the license fee of all motion pictures theretofore excluded.

(d) If the license fee of any feature motion picture specified in this license agreement is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, such license fee (for the purpose of computing the average license fee of all the motion pictures licensed) shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the license fees of all of the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at the Exhibitor's theatre during the period of one year prior to the term of this license agreement.

(2) If none of the Distributor's feature motion pictures were exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during said period, average the license fees of all feature motion pictures exhibited upon a percentage basis at such theatre during the said period.

(e) If the rental of any motion picture excluded is to be computed in whole or in part upon a percentage of the receipts of the Exhibitor's theatre, the sum to be paid by the Exhibitor as provided in paragraph (b) (3) hereof shall be determined as follows:

(1) Average the gross receipts of all the Distributor's feature motion pictures exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during the ninety (90) day period preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion, and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(2) If no feature motion pictures of the Distributor were exhibited at the Exhibitor's theatre during said ninety (90) day period average the daily gross receipts of the Ex- [fol. 5927] hibitor's theatre for the period of thirty (30) operating days preceding the Exhibitor's notice of exclusion and apply to such average the percentage terms specified in this license agreement for the picture excluded.

(f) In computing the number of feature motion pictures which may be excluded hereunder, fractions of more than one-half (½) shall be regarded as one (1).

(g) Upon the exclusion of each feature motion picture, the license therefor and all rights thereunder shall terminate and shall revert to the Distributor.

First Run Exhibitions

Sixteenth: (a) If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the Distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the distributor out of which the Exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of clearance of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundred and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. If the Exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the clearance period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor, with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Second Run Exhibitions

[fol. 5928] (b) If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Clause, the Exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motiton picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the clearance period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Subsequent Runs Exhibitions

(c) If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other Exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequent run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Clause within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Clause the Exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Clause Sixth hereof to the contrary. If the Exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run [fol. 5929] of the said motion pictures and the Exhibitor fails to exhibit any feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the clearance period, if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the Exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the Distributor with the right to the Exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Clause provided.

Extended Runs

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run granted the Exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Clause and of Paragraph (b) of Clause Fourth.

Exhibition After Revocation of Run and Clearance

(e) Upon the waiver of the grant of the run and/or the clearance period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this Clause, the Exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Clause for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or clearance period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the Distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the Exhibitor as provided in this Clause. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the Distributor.

If the provisions of this Clause shall in anywise be in conflict with the provisions of any other license agreement made and entered into by the Distributor with any other exhibitor prior to September 1, 1933, the provisions of this Clause [fol. 5930] shall be deemed to be subordinate and subject to the provisions of such other license agreement.

Pictures Not Generally Released

Seventeenth: If any of the said motion pictures described in the Schedule, excepting those, if any, which may be roadshown by the Distributor, shall not be generally released by the Distributor for distribution in the United States during the period beginning September 1, 1936, and ending August 31, 1937, each such motion picture shall be excluded from this license, upon written notice to such effect given to the Exhibitor by the Distributor prior to fifteen (15) days before the end of said period, unless the Exhibitor shall give written notice to the Distributor not later than thirty (30) days after the end of said period that the Exhibitor elects to exhibit hereunder all such motion pictures if generally released during the year immediately following the end of said period. If such notice of election is given as aforesaid the Distributor shall deliver and the Exhibitor shall exhibit each of such motion pictures upon the terms and conditions of this license excepting that any thereof which are not so generally released within the said following year shall also be excepted and excluded from this license. In such case the Distributor may exhibit and license for exhibition each of such motion pictures so excluded when and where desired by the Distributor and all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof are hereby expressly waived and the Distributor released and discharged therefrom by the Exhibitor.

Remedies for Breach

Eighteenth: If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to pay the rental of any of such motion pictures as provided in this license or to furnish statements of the receipts of said theatre, if any are required hereunder, or to give the Distributor's representative access to the said theatre or its box office and/or the Exhibitor's books and records relative to motion pictures the rentals of which are based upon the said [fol. 5931] theatre's admission receipts as herein provided, or if the Exhibitor shall exhibit or permit the exhibition of any of said motion pictures at any time or place other than as herein specified, or if the Exhibitor becomes insolvent or is adjudicated a bankrupt, or executes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, or if a receiver is appointed for any of the property of the Exhibitor, or if the Exhibitor voluntarily or by operation of law should lose control of the said theatre or of his said interests therein making it impossible for the Exhibitor to exhibit the said motion pictures at the said theatre, then upon the happening of any one or more of said events, the Distributor may, at its option, (1) terminate this license agreement, or (2) suspend the delivery of additional motion pictures hereunder until such default or defaults should cease and be remedied. It is agreed that the exercise of any of said remedies by the Distributor shall be in addition to and without prejudice to any right or remedy of the Distributor against the Exhibitor at law or in equity and/or otherwise provided for in this license agreement.

Cutting or Alteration of Prints

Nineteenth: The Exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirely and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The Exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the distributor. The Exhibitor, however, may cut the print of a news reel, and in such case shall completely restore all parts cut therefrom, prior to the return thereof to the Distributor or shipment elsewhere if so directed by the Distributor, in the same condition as received by the Exhibitor.

Midnight Shows

Twentieth: The license herein granted for the number of days specified in the Schedule shall not include the right of exhibition at any time previous to dawn of the first licensed [fol. 5932] and booked date of exhibition without securing express written permission hereunder.

Roadshows

Twenty-first: (a) The Distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the Distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

(b) If and when any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the City of New York and/or the City of Los Angeles, and if the Exhibitor's theatre is situated in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in New York or in Los Angeles, as the case may be, the Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown in each or both of said territories, upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect not later than four (4) weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory. The exception and exclusion of any such motion picture in the territory then served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges located in the City of Los Angeles, or in the City of New York, as the case may be, shall not be deemed to require the Distributor to except and exclude the same motion picture in both of said territories.

(c) If and when any such roadshow exhibition, excepting those in the City of New York and/or in the City of Los geles, shall be in the territory served by the Distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the Exhibitor's theatre, the [fol. 5933] Distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license not to exceed two of such motion pictures so roadshown upon sending to the Exhibitor written notice to such effect within seven (7) days after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition and provided that the Distributor shall by like notice except and exclude each such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Clause and licensing the exhibition of such motion picture in such territory.

(d) The inadvertent omission to send to any such other exhibitors the notice provided for in Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this Clause shall not be deemed to affect the exception and exclusion from this license, of any such motion picture.

(e) The distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder when generally released by the Distributor and as and when available for exhibition by the Exhibitor, and the term of this license agreement specified in Clause Second shall be in respect to each such motion picture extended to and including the date or dates of exhibition by the Exhibitor hereunder of each thereof.

(f) For each motion picture that the Distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the Exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license (in addition to those which may be excluded as provided in Clauses Fifteenth and Seventeenth) one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the Exhibitor shall give to the Distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The Distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and excluded from this license by the Distributor and/or the Exhibitor, as aforesaid, when [fol. 5934] and where desired by the Distributor, free from all claims of the Exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the Distributor.

Additional Clauses

1. Distributor may in its discretion by giving Exhibitor notice in writing on or before "the available date" of the particular photoplay designate not more than four of the photoplays licensed hereunder for which the film rental and terms agreed to be paid by Exhibitor shall be, instead of the film rental and terms hereinabove provided —— percent of the gross box office receipts of such photoplays, such photoplays to be exhibited in the —— theatre for —— days each.

2. Distributor may in its discretion by giving Exhibitor notice in writing on or before "the available date" of the particular photoplays interchange the film rental and terms (including the theatre, if more than one theatre is mentioned above) of any one or more of the photoplays with the film rental and terms of any other photoplay or photoplays licensed hereunder.

3. Admission Prices.—The Exhibitor during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the motion pictures exhibited hereunder agrees to and shall charge for admission to said theatre the following prices:

Evenings: Adults: Orchestra — Balcony — Children —
Matinees: Adults: — Orchestra — Balcony — Children —

Unless a greater minimum admission charge is herein specified, the Exhibitor agrees to and shall charge for admission to said theatre during the whole of the licensed exhibition period of each of the motion pictures, an actual admission fee which shall not be less than fifteen cents (15c) for each adult person for each matinee performance and not less than fifteen cents (15c) for each adult person for each evening performance.

If during any such period less than said admission prices is charged, the Distributor in addition to all other rights hereunder shall have the right: (a) to immediately termi- [fol. 5938] nate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited, by written notice to such effect to the Exhibitor and upon the giving of such notice, the license of such motion picture shall forthwith terminate and revert to the Distributor; or (b) provided the Exhibitor is granted herein a period of "clearance" to reduce such period by not to exceed one-half in respect to each of the pictures thereafter deliverable hereunder or (c) provided no period of clearance is specified in the Schedule to withhold for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days notice of the date when each motion picture thereafter deliverable hereunder will be available for exhibition by the Exhibitor; and as to each such motion picture the "run" thereof, if any, granted the Exhibitor, shall be deemed revoked and the Exhibitor agrees to exhibit each such motion picture after notice of the available date thereof upon the date or dates determines as provided in Clause Fourth hereof.

4. It is conceded by the Exhibitor that the exhibition by it of any photoplay licensed hereunder on the same program, and as a part of the program with any other feature photoplay of five reels or more in length, substantially reduces the exhibition value of such photoplay to other exhibitors in the same city or general territorial division in which the Exhibitor's theatre is located, and furthermore, substantially reduces the film rental which the Distributor is entitled to receive from other exhibitors who have either a prior or subsequent run to the exhibitor licensed in this agreement. Therefore it is covenanted and agreed that the Exhibitor will not exhibit any of the above licensed photoplays as a part of programs or on the same program or bill with any other feature photoplay and that a violation of this covenant by the Exhibitor entitles the Distributor to all the rights and remedies herein given to it for violation or breach of any other covenant, term or provision in this contract.

5. This agreement covers only "Warner Bros. Productions" or "First National Productions," as the case may be, and as provided in the Schedule hereof, and shall not cover the productions not licensed hereunder or which may be generally released under any other or different brand or trade-mark.

[fol. 5939] 6. In the event that Exhibitor shall violate the provisions of any other agreement between Distributor and Exhibitor for feature photoplays therein agreed to be leased or shall fail to date, play and pay for the film rental provided for in such other agreement, Distributor may at its option exercise with respect to this agreement all or any of the rights granted Distributor under Paragraph Eighteenth.

7. The parties hereto recognize that the National Appeal Board referred to in Article Twenty-third is not now and may not during the term of this agreement be in existence. It is agreed, therefore, that until the said National Appeal Board shall be organized, the sixth paragraph of said Article shall be deemed to read as follows:

> "The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder."

8. Distributor hereby grants to the Exhibitor and the Exhibitor hereby accepts a license under copyright, subject to the terms and conditions hereof, to exhibit and reproduce in the theatre or theatres specified in this Schedule, the Trailers (which term shall be deemed to mean films or prints, ordinarily not in excess of one (1) reel in length, and the sound record accompanying same, designed to advertise and introduce coming photoplays), of the photoplays described in this Schedule opposite which there is a sum specified in the column of this Schedule marked "Trailer-Rental," but only for the number of successive days in this Schedule provided, on dates to be determined as follows: in the absence of special provisions for actual dates agreed upon in this Schedule, Exhibitor agrees to commence the first exhibition of each of the trailers seven (7) days prior to the first exhibition date determined as herein provided of the photoplay to which such trailer relates. Exhibitor [fol. 5940] agrees to pay Distributor for the rights herein granted with respect to each such trailer, the respective sums indicated in this Schedule therefor and to make such payment at least five (5) days prior to the first agreed exhibition date of each such trailer determined as herein provided.

Optional Arbitration Clause

The following Clause Twenty-Third is optional with the parties hereto. If it is desired to make such clause a part of this license, the Exhibitor and the duly authorized representative of the Distributor shall sign their respective names where indicated immediately following this paragraph and unless so signed the said Clause shall be deemed excluded from this license agreement.

It is agreed by and between the parties that Clause Twenty-Third, providing for voluntary arbitration of disputes arising hereunder, shall be included as a part of this license.

——, ——, Representative of the Distributor duly authorized to agree to the following Clause Twenty-Third; —— ——, Exhibitor.

Arbitration

Twenty-Third: The Exhibitor and the Distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceeding in any court by either of them, to determine, enforce or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration to an Arbitration Board (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators) which shall consist of four members, each of whom shall be engaged in the motion picture business, and two of whom to be appointed by the Exhibitor, and the remaining two to be appointed by the Distributor.

Upon the written request of the Distributor or the Exhibitor for the arbitration of any dispute or controversy arising hereunder, the party making such request shall name therein [fol. 5941] two arbitrators stating the business address and business or business connection of each and shall designate therein the date, time, and place of the hearing of such controversy. The date of such hearing shall not be earlier than seven (7) days from the date of the sending of such notice, unless it shall be claimed in such notice that irreparable injury will result unless there is a speedy determination of such controversy in which case such hearing may be designated to be held earlier than said (7) day period.

Within five (5) days after the mailing of such request for arbitration, the party upon whom such request is made shall name two arbitrators in a written notice mailed or delivered to the other party, stating therein the business address and business or business connection of each arbitrator. If either party fails or refuses to name the arbitrators as herein provided or if any arbitrator so named shall fail or refuse to act, or be unable to serve or shall be challenged and others are or another arbitrator qualified and then available to act is not then appointed, others or another arbitrator may be appointed by the other party as the case may be.

No member of the Arbitration Board shall hear or determine any controversy in which he has an interest direct or indirect, and any member having such interest shall be disqualified to act.

If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to reach a decision, then they, or a majority of them shall immediately select an umpire who shall not be engaged in the motion picture business. In such case the hearing before the umpire shall be at such time and place as the umpire shall designate and shall be had before the umpire alone, the arbitrators not to be permitted to attend the hearing before the umpire. If the arbitrators or a majority of them are unable to agree upon the selection of an umpire, the American Arbitration Association shall be requested to make such selection.

The Arbitration Board shall have general power to determine such dispute or controversy as shall be submitted, to make findings of fact in respect thereof and to direct specific performance of a contract, and/or that the same has been breached in whole or in part, and/or that damages on such [fol. 5942] account shall be paid. The Board of Arbitration shall have the power only to give force and effect to the provisions of this license agreement and the rights or obligations of the parties thereunder; provided that if after a full hearing of any controversy submitted for arbitration hereunder, excepting any submission to an umpire designated as hereinabove provided, the arbitrators or a majority of them are of the opinion that because of unusual circumstances arising after the execution of this license agreement and beyond the direct control of the parties hereto disclosed at such hearing, a strict enforcement of the provisions of this license agreement would impose undue hardship upon one of the parties, the arbitrators or a majority of them may recommend in writing to the parties a settlement of such controversy upon such terms and conditions deemed by the arbitrators fair and just. If such settlement is not agreed to by the parties within five (5) days after the receipt of a copy of such recommendation, the controversy shall be deemed withdrawn from the arbitrators and shall be submitted with a written statement of all the facts adduced at the hearing before the arbitrators together with all documentary evidence to the National Appeal Board in New York. The disposition ~~by the~~ National Appeal Board of any such recommendation shall be final and binding upon the parties hereto.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the Distributor from which the Exhibitor is served, unless the parties agree in writing that such hearing be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other Court, including a court of a state in which such hearing would otherwise not be had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which supplication is made may lawfully direct.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators, or a majority of them and consent that any such decision or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.
[fol. 5943]

If the Exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, within seven (7) days, the Distributor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion pictures provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement between the parties hereto and/or terminate this and each such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payable by the Exhibitor.

If the Distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision or the award of an Arbitration Board in respect thereto within seven (7) days, the Exhibitor may at the option of the Exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement between the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the Distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal; and the Exhibitor shall have the rights and remedies provided in Clause Second (b) for failure to deliver motion pictures.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any breach by the other party to this or any other existing agreement between the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

LEASE AND AGREEMENT

This memorandum of Lease and Agreement made this 31 day of Dec., A.D. 1939, between the undersigned, the Board of Trustees of the Memorial Building of Knox County, Ohio, First Party, and E. W. Long, Second Party, witnesseth:

That first party, in consideration of the covenants and agreements hereinafter mentioned to be kept and performed by the second party has demised and leased to second party the premises in the City of Mount Vernon, Knox County, Ohio, known and described as follows:

> Being the Memorial Theatre in the Knox County Memorial Building, situate on East High Street in said city, and including that portion of the building designated and intended for use as a theatre and assembly hall, including the approaches and exits thereto, the right of ingress and egress, through the walks and drives of the premises upon which said building is situated, and the portion of the basement underneath the stage, property room and stage approaches. Also including the use of the heating and ventilating fans and apparatus in the fan room and right of access thereto in common with the owners and tenants of other parts of said building. Together with certain furniture, equipment, scenery and accessories in accordance with an inventory and schedule thereof, hereto annexed and made a part hereof. The same to be used and occupied as a first class, high-grade theatrer, assembly hall and moving picture house. Provided, however, that first party reserves for itself and its employees the right to pass to and from the heating boiler room and fuel storage space situated in said building through the premises included in this lease, but at such times, and in such manner, as will not unreasonably effect second party's rights hereunder.

To have and to hold the same unto second party for the term of one year beginning on the 31st day of December, 1939, and ending on the 30th day of December, 1940.

First party doth hereby covenant with second party as follows, to-wit:

(a) That second party, so long as he shall pay the rent hereinafter provided, and perform and observe each and all of the covenants and promises herein contained, may peaceably hold and enjoy said premises during said term without any interruption by first party, or by any person lawfully claiming through first party, and except as hereinafter provided.

(b) First party will at all times during the term of this lease, keep the main walls, the roof and the exterior of said demises premises in good and substantial repair, together with the main sewer line used in common with other parts of said building, and the main gas, water and electric supply lines used in common with other portions of said building.

(c) First party agrees to furnish for the premises herein leased a reasonable and proper supply of heat from the heating plant in said building and reasonable ventilation through and by the ventilating system provided for said building and keep said system in proper repair, so that the premises herein leased may be reasonably and properly heated and ventilated for the purpose that said premises are to be used as hereinabove provided. First party agrees to assume all responsibility, charge and cost for the full and proper operation of the heating and ventilating plant and apparatus, provided for said building, and cold and hot water supply respectively for all toilets, drinking fountains, wash stands, sinks, etc., throughout same, including the premises herein leased. For the operating of said plant first party agrees to supply an honest and competent operator and engineer and fireman therefor at its own cost and expense. Electricity for the operation of both ventilating fans to be furnished by second party.

[fol. 5957] (d) First party grants to second party the right, at second party's option, but upon not less than three month's prior written notice by second party to first party, to renew this lease for an additional and further term, providing terms may be agreed upon, of one year from and after the expiration of the initial term thereof.

In consideration of said demise, second party doth covenant and agree with first party as follows:

1. To pay as rent for said demised premises the sum of Three Thousand Six Hundred Dollars, ($3,600.00) per year, said rental to be paid in equal monthly installments of Three Hundred Dollars, ($300.00) each, in advance, on or before the 10th of each and every month.

2. Second party admits full knowledge of the conditions of said premises and all property included in this lease, and accepts same in workable condition, and agrees to take good care of said premises and property, including all plumbing, sewers, and apparatus therein, and will keep same in good order and in proper condition, at his own expense, and will yield up said premises, property and apparatus to first party upon the termination of this lease in any way in as good and tenantable condition reasonable wear and tear, and damage by fire, excepted, as the same now are.

3. First party shall not be liable for any damage occasioned by failure to keep said premises in repair, or for any damage done or occasioned by or from plumbing, gas, water, steam or other pipes, or from sewerage, falling plaster, or the bursting, leaking or running of any water pipe, waste pipe or sewer, in or about any of said building or premises, nor for damages occasioned by water, snow, etc., coming through the roof, ventilator, or any other opening or part of the said building, nor for any damage arising from acts or neglect of other occupants of the same building or of the owners or occupants of adjacent property.

4. Second party agrees to pay in addition to the rent above specified, all costs and charges for electricity used and consumed in said demised premises, together with all electricity used to operate all exterior theatre exit lights.

5. Second party agrees to keep all of said demised premises and the property included in this lease, clean and neat and in first class order, repair and condition during the entire term hereof; and further agrees that he will not permit the operation of the theater included in said premises to be suspended or shut down for a period aggregating more than ten (10) days in any calendar months, (excepting during the months of July and August of each calendar year), without the special consent of first party. And second party further agrees that he will operate said theater at least forty four (44) weeks in each year, and that he will not use or permit the use of said premises for any purpose, performance or exhibition which is immoral or obscene, or may have any tendency to corrupt the characters of persons attending same or that may have any tendency to break down good government and teachings and principles generally understood to be in accordance with the Christian religion.

6. Second party agrees that in the use of said premises and the operation of said theater, he will fully comply with, observe and obey all laws, ordinances, rules, regulations and requirements of all proper and lawful authorities in any way affecting said premises or the use thereof, or this lease; that said premises will not be used or occupied for any unlawful purpose and that no intoxicating liquor of any kind or description shall be kept, used or sold on said premises during said term.

7. That he will not make any alteration or change in the building or the apparatus and equipment without the special written consent of the first party and its approval of a plan and specifications therefor. Second party further agrees that this lease shall not be assigned or transferred, voluntarily or involuntarily, nor shall said premises or any part thereof be under-let without the special written consent of first party first had and obtained. Provided, however, that this shall not apply to permitting said theater to be used for entertainments, etc., where the theater remains at all times under the control of second party. Second party further agrees that first party or its agents may enter upon said premises or any part, at any and all reasonable times to examine the conditions of the same and to make any repairs or improvements, changes or alterations that first party may deem expedient.

[fol. 5958] 8. Should said second party abandon or vacate said premises, or in the event second party should become bankrupt, insolvent, or make an assignment for the benefit of creditors, first party may immediately declare this lease terminated and the premises may be relet by first party upon such terms as said first party may see fit. And if a sufficient sum is not thus realized to satisfy the rent herein reserved and provided, second party agrees to satisfy and pay all deficiences, and agrees to post an approved bond in the sum of Three Thousand Six Hundred Dollars, ($3,600.00) as such guaranty.

9. Second party agrees that at the termination of this lease by lapse of time or otherwise, to yield up immediate possession to first party.

10. Second party agrees to pay all expenses incident to the maintenance and operation of the theater hereinabove mentioned and agrees to keep the equipment, fixtures, furniture and furnishings included in this lease in good order and condition and adequately insured against loss by fire.

11. Second party agrees to protect first party and the owner of the premises herein demised, as well as second party himself, from liability by providing and carrying at his own cost and expense, public liability insurance, applying to said premises and the use thereof in the sum not less than Ten Thousand Dollars, ($10,000.00) liability for injury to one person and Twenty Thousand Dollars, $20,000.00) for injury to two or more persons.

It is further agreed by and between the parties:

Nothing in this lease shall be deemed to prevent full and proper use of said building and the part thereof included in this demise by the general public of Knox County, Ohio, and especially the military organizations thereof, and nothing herein shall be deemed to prevent or preclude the control, management and supervision of the Knox County Memorial Building and grounds including the premises herein demised, under such rules and regulations as first party may from time to time adopt, subject to the approval of the Court of Common Pleas of said County.

Second party shall provide, free of charge or expense, and with[illegible] any right to claim any credit upon the rental price to be paid for said premises, the use of said theater during the daytime of each of holidays known as Memorial Day, usually observed on May 30th, and Independence day, usually observed July 4th, and also during the whole of Armistice Day usually observed November 11th. during each year of the term of this lease, for the use of the public generally and especially organizations composed of former soldiers of said county, or honoring the memory of such soldiers. And such use shall include light, heat, stage scenery in stock, apparatus and accessories, excepting motion pictures machine and screens, and motion picture sound apparatus, together with the services of proper persons qualified to operate a stage, equipment and lighting.

[fol. 5959] Second Party agrees to grant the use of said theatre to Knox County citizens, residents and organizations for any and all proper and lawful meetings, entertainments and assemblies, not contrary to the provisions of this lease or disapproved by first party at a reasonable charge not to exceed the rates hereinafter stated, and when and if the request for such use is given to second party such reasonable length of time prior to the date desired as will permit second party to cancel without loss any other booking or engagement for the use of said theater at the said date or dates desired. In case of any disagreement between second party and any such person desiring the use of said theater in respect to the reasonableness of the notice of the date desired, the amount of the charge for such use made by second party, or the purpose for which such use is desired, it is agreed that first party shall be the arbitrator in respect to such dispute and second party agrees to abide by the decision of said first party. Second party agrees that his maximum charge for such use of said theater, including light, heat and the services of the persons necessary to operate said theater, shall be as follows:

$20.00 for any day used in the operation of said theater. Where the services of additional persons are required, such as stage hands, musicians, ushers, box office attendant, etc., an additional charge may be made by second party to cover the actual cost of supplying such additional help.

Nothing herein, however, shall be deemed to prevent second party from supplying the use of said theater at a less charge or cost than the rate hereinabove mentioned at the option and discretion of said second party, and nothing herein shall be deemed to prevent first party from assuming all or any part of any such charge made for the use of said theater, in which case the amount of such charge so assumed by said first party shall be credited upon the next rental payment to be made hereunder by second party to first party.

It is expressly understood and agreed that the demise herein contained is subject and subordinate to a prior lease and agreement, given and granted by said first party, as lessor, to Mt. Vernon Community Music Club, as lessee, covering said premises, for the several periods hereinafter mentioned to be designated by the optional selection of said Club. For the purpose therefore, of protecting the rights of the parties under said prior lease, said first party herein reserves from the demise of the premises and property herein described any or all of three days, of twenty four hours each, during each year of the initial term hereof and each year of any extension of said term, up to a total of five (5) years from October 31, 1939, for the use of said Mt. Vernon Community Music Club. Said periods, not to exceed an aggregate of three days in each of said years, shall be at the option of said Club, and shall consist of any such day, or days, as may be selected and designated by said Club, in each instance by not less than thirty days prior notice to first party and by similar notice by first party to second party. During said periods the demise herein granted shall be deemed suspended and not in effect, and said prior lease to said Club shall be treated and considered as in effect. At the end of each such period the demise granted by this instrument shall be resumed and again become immediately effective. For each day that the demise herein granted may be suspended by the exercise of the optional rights granted said Club by said prior lease, said second party shall be entitled to receive a rental of Twenty Dollars ($20.00) which shall be collected by the second party.

It is also understood and agreed that if by reason of this lease first party is required to pay taxes on the premises and property herein demised, then, and in such event, if such tax liability may be thus avoided, or unless such liability is assumed by second party, this lease may be terminated by first party at its option upon reasonable notice to second party, but in such case, said premises and property shall not be leased to any one else during the unexpired part of the initial term hereof and/or the option extension thereof herein granted, for the purpose of carrying on a similar, or approximately similar, business by such new lessee as that proposed to be carried on by second party hereunder, without first offering said premises and property to second party under a lease containing similar terms as offered to such new lessee.

[fol. 5960] Should said premises be rendered untenantable by fire or other casualty, no rent shall be charged during the time they shall be necessarily unoccupied by reason thereof, and thereupon first party may at its option, in terminate this lease, or repair said premises within sixty days, and failing to do so, or upon the destruction of said premises by fire or other casualty, the term hereby created shall cease and determine.

It is understood and agreed that the rental price herein provided to be paid by second party to first party is based upon the understanding that second party may use said theater for the exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday, except in the forenoon. It is therefore further agreed that in the event that any time during the initial term, or any extension of the term of this lease, said second party should be prevented from so using said theater on Sundays, except in the forenoon, by reason of the order of a Court, or any public officer having authority, or by the enactment of any law or laws prohibiting such use, then, thereupon and thereafter the rental price herein provided and agreed to be paid by second party to first party shall be reduced by an amount fairly and reasonably equal to the average amount of net profit theretofore derived by second party from the use of said theater on Sundays, except in the forenoon. In case the parties hereto are unable to agree upon the amount of reduction to be applied to the rental sum to be thereafter paid by second party to first party shall be reduced by an amount fairly and reasonably equal to the average amount of net profit theretofore derived by second party from the use of said theater on Sundays, except in the forenoon. In case the parties hereto are unable to agree upon the amount of reduction to be applied to the rental sum to be thereafter paid by second party to first party shall be reduced by an amount fairly and reasonably equal to the average amount of net profit theretofore derived by second party from the use of said theater on Sundays, except in the forenoon. In case the parties hereto are unable to agree upon the amount of reduction to be applied to the rental sum to be thereafter paid by second party to first party on account of the termination of the right to use said theater in said manner on Sundays, except in the forenoon, the fixing of the amount of said reduction shall be determined by arbitration in the usual manner; each party to select one capable disinterested arbitrator, and if the two so selected shall not be able to agree, they shall select a third arbitrator, and the decision of a majority of said arbitrators shall be binding upon the parties hereto.

It is expressly agreed, between the parties hereto, and these presents are upon condition, that if said rent, or any part thereof, shall at any time be in arrears or unpaid, whether formally demanded or not, or if said second party shall at any time fail or neglect to perform or observe any of the covenants or agreements herein contained, upon his part to be performed or observed, then and in such case it shall, at the option of the said first party, work a forfeiture of all the rights and privileges of said second party in this lease, and entitle the said first party or any person or persons, authorized by it in that behalf, privilege and license therefor being hereby given and granted, without any formal notice being given, to enter into and upon said premises, or any part thereof, either with or without process of law, and the said party of the second part, or any person or persons occupying the same, together with its, his or their goods and effects, to expel, remove and put out, using such force as may be necessary so to do, and the said premises to again repossess and enjoy, as before this demise, without prejudice to any remedies which might otherwise be used for arrears of rent or proceeding break of covenants.

It is further agreed by the parties hereto, that after the service of notice, or the commencement of a suit, or after final judgment for possession of said premises, the first party may receive and collect any rent due, and the payment of said rent shall not waive or affect said notice, said notice or said judgment.

The party of the second part further covenants and agrees to pay and discharge all reasonable costs and expenses that shall be made and incurred by the party of the first part in enforcing the covenants and agreements of this lease; and all the parties to this lease agree that the covenants and agreements herein contained shall be binding upon, apply and inure to, their respective successors, heirs, executors, administrators and assigns.

February 26, 1935.

My Dear Rube:

Attached herewith you will find contract covering the 1934-35 product for the Memorial Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, which is opposition to Schine.

In Mr. McConville's letter he states he dislikes to sell this account against Schine and then later perhaps be forced to go back to Schine for business in Mt. Vernon. The only thing I can say is that Mr. Long, the exhibitor who has the Memorial Theatre, has been in business in Cadiz for a number of years and has a very good reputation, not only in picture business but also as a respected citizen of Cadiz, and he owns quite a lot of property. You will note that the contract is not signed as a corporation but by E. W. Long and & Son by Mr. Long. I think he will stay in business in Mt. Vernon as he has leased the theatre from the township, and due to the fact of his good reputation he was able to get the house away from a number of other people who were trying to get a lease.

I believe the deal to be a very good one, and I think if you will check up you will find in dollars and cents it is by far more than we received from Schine last year in both of his towns in the Cleveland territory, which are Mt. Vernon and Wooster. Mr. Long has already given us several dates and has plenty of playing time, and I believe this will be a forerunner of a lot of pleasant business relations in this particular situation.

It was impossible to sell him any of the pictures Schine shelved last year but I believe as we go along we will be able to spot book quite a few of these subjects in. You will note we are protected with preferred playing time on the ten big pictures and we were able to get the same price on the Robinson picture as we did on the Capras. He would not consider the Jones Re-Issues as he does not want to take a chance, and for that reason he would not consider second run on It Happened One Night or Lady for a Day.

I would appreciate a wire of approval on this contract as he has given us some early dates. If we had taken the deal when it was originally submitted, Mr. Long would have been up to date on his contract, but, unfortunately we had to hold the deal up on account of Schine.

Kindest personal regards.

Sincerely yours, ——, Branch Manager.

DEAR BISS:

With reference to Mt. Vernon, Ohio, due to the fact that we do not seem to be able to get any kind of satisfactory settlement of our difficulties with Schine, believe it advisable for you to sell this situation to the opposition independent account, provided you still believe this independent account is substantial.

I dislike very much to sell this account against Schine and then a little later on be forced to go back to Schine for business in Mt. Vernon. I know that you cannot personally guarantee that the exhibitor will stay in business, but I do want you to give it very careful study and consideration, and make sure, insofar as you possibly can, that it is worth while to take this account, and that within reason you feel sure he will be able to stay in business and continue as a permanent account with us. At least, for the play-off of the entire contract which you will negotiate at this time.

With kind regards.

Sincerely yours, Columbia Pictures Corporation, Jos. A. McConville.

From: (Office) Cleveland, (Dept.) Sales, (Name) A. M. Goodman.

To (Office) Home Office, (Dept.) Sales, (Name) Paul N. Lazarus.

Date—Feb. 8th, 1937.

DEAR PAUL:

I know you are thoroughly acquainted with the matter regarding the deal for first and second runs, Memorial Theatre, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

As I previously advised, the exhibitor did not want any second run pictures but as he is in desperate need of first run product, we naturally used the first run English pictures we had to sell as the club in securing a very fine deal for our entire product, second run, and obtained exceptional prices for the few English pictures, first run.

After you informed me that you could not act on the first run contracts because Schine might pick up these English pictures later on, I had occasion to talk to Charlie Stern in Pittsburgh about this situation. I explained to him that Schine needs these English pictures like he needs a boil on his neck since he has more product than playing time for the Vine Theatre and is only open one day a week at the Lyric. I, further, pointed out to him that in all likelihood, with the exception of one picture, most of these English productions will be booked to play the Lyric, where we would get a couple apples or a button, whereas I submitted contracts at real money for the Memorial.

Charlie, naturally appreciated that it was to our advantage to give these few English pictures to the Memorial in view of the money secured as well as the revenue involved. in the second run contracts, which we could not secure without giving the exhibitor these few English pictures, first run.

Subsequently, Bill Barron had occasion to talk to George Lynch, and George told him that you had contacted him and he was agreeable to the Memorial having these English pictures. However, later ~~on someone~~ contacted Meyer Schine and Schine for the time being would not give up these pictures.

I would appreciate your again taking this matter up with Charlie Stern and advise me if he had since contacted Meyer Schine and whether he was able to get his consent to our selling these English pictures to the Memorial Theatre.

As it now stands, we have no contracts either for second run in Mt. Vernon or first run on the English pictures in question, and the amount involved is somewheres in the [fol. 5966] neighborhood of $1600, which I am loath to lose, particularly in view of the fact that the few English pictures are of no value to Schine and the sale of them plus the second run means a great deal to the Cleveland Exchange.

Would appreciate hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Subject: Memorial Theatre-Mt. Vernon, Ohio. Emerson W. Long.
Date: April 7, 1938.

Dear Mr. Drew:

I have just received a letter from the Department of Justice with respect to the complaint of Emerson W. Long of the Memorial Theatre in Mt. Vernon, Ohio from which it appears that Mr. Long is unable to buy sufficient product, and that Schine is overbought.

With respect to each of the seasons 1936-37 and 1937-38, I would like the following information:

I. (a) Who bought first run.
  (b) For exhibition in what theatres.
  (c) Number of pictures bought.
  (d) Number of pictures played.
  (e) Number of pictures cancelled.
  (f) Average ~~film rental~~ paid for first run.
  (g) Clearance over second run.
II. (a) Same information with respect to second run as itemized under I.

With respect to the 1937-38 product, I would like the above information but in addition thereto, a list of every picture so far released, the date of availability for first run, the first run play date, availability for second run and second run play date. I would also like to have the average second run film rental on all product played to date.

I would also like to know the reasons why your second run licensee was changed beginning with the 1937-38 season.

Kindest regards.

November 25th, 1938.

Schine Lexington Corporation, Gloversville, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN:

The following is our agreement:

1. The undersigned, G. C. Scott and L. B. Scott, are the owners of a lease on a theatre to be erected in Corbin, Kentucky, between the said G. C. Scott and L. B. Scott as tenants and Hiram Owens as landlord. The said theatre will be a modern 800 seat theatre, air conditioned. The theatre is to be equipped by the tenant. The lease is a ten year lease at a rental of $300.00 per month. The landlord is to pay the taxes and insurance.

2. The undersigned, G. C. Scott, is the owner of a lease upon the Margie Grand Theatre, ~~Harlan~~, Kentucky, which lease has approximately three and one-half years to run, at a monthly rental of $862.50 per month for the entire building. The commercial rentals derived from the said building are approximately $200.00 per month. The said theatre has approximately 690 seats and is fully equipped. The equipment is owned by the landlord except the sound equipment, which is owned by the tenant subject only to service charges.

[fol. 5971] 3. The undersigned, G. C. Scott, is the owner of a lease on the Liberty Theatre, Pikeville, Kentucky, which lease has approximately five years to run, at a monthly rental of $230.00. The equipment in said theatre building is owned by the landlord, except the sound equipment, which is owned by the tenant subject only to service charges.

The undersigned, G. C. Scott and L. B. Scott hereby agree to assign to you the lease upon the said proposed theatre at Corbin, Kentucky, such assignment to be effected on a date designated by you, within thirty days from the date hereof, and you agree to pay for such assignment the sum of $2500.00.

In consideration of the foregoing the undersigned, G. C. Scott, hereby employs and engages you to negotiate and purchase motion pictures and other attractions for the Margie Grand Theatre and the Liberty Theatre, and generally supervise the operations of the said theatres for a term of five years from and after the date hereof. You hereby accept such employment and agree to use your best efforts in and about the same. As compensation for your services in such connection you are to receive five per cent (5%) of the gross receipts of said theatres payable weekly.

In consideration of the foregoing, the undersigned, G. C. Scott, hereby grants you a good and irrevocable option [fol. 5972] for a period of six months from and after the date hereof, to acquire a one-half interest in the said Margie

Grand Theatre and the said Liberty Theatre, for the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00).

Such option may be exercised by you at any time within six months from the date hereof, by mailing ten days' written notice to G. C. Scott, addressed as follows:

> "G. C. Scott, Margie Grand Theatre, Harlan, Kentucky."

stating that you elect to exercise such option.

If you elect to exercise such option, it is understood and agreed that we will jointly cause to be organized a Kentucky corporation, to which the leases of the Margie Grand Theatre and the Liberty Theatre will be transferred. Such leases will be transferred free and clear of any encumbrances. The stock of said corporation shall be owned fifty per cent (50%) by you and fifty per cent (50%) by G. C. Scott.

It is expressly understood and agreed that prior to the expiration of said option you will audit the books and records of the Margie Grand Theatre and the Liberty Theatre, and the undersigned, G. C. Scott, will afford you access to such books and records. If, as a result of such audit, it shall be determined that the combined profits of the two said theatres for the years 1938, 1937 and 1936 have [fol. 5973] averaged not less than Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000.) per year, and that the combined profits of the two said theatres for the year 1938 shall have been at least Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000.), then and in that event you shall be obligated to exercise the said option and to pay for the said fifty per cent (50%) interest the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.) as above stated.

As indication of your understanding of and agreement with the foregoing, please execute a duplicate original of this letter, which will constitute this a binding agreement between us.

Very truly yours, G. C. Scott [L. S.], L. B. Scott [L. S.].

Accepted and agreed: Schine Lexington Corporation, by Willard S. McKay [L. S.], Vice Pres.

Mr. G. C. Scott, Pikeville, Kentucky. Dec. 2nd, 1938.

DEAR MR. SCOTT:

Confirming our conversation and agreement, this is to advise that we understand, as you have fully detailed to us, that the present lease on the Liberty Theatre in Pikeville, Kentucky, is now in litigation in the Circuit Court of your county.

This is to further advise that we will refund to you the Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) which you have already paid to Mr. Hiram Owen, of Barbourville, Kentucky, on part payment on his contract to erect and construct a theatre building for you in the City of Corbin, Kentucky.

This is further to confirm our agreement that any additional theatres which you and Schine, or either of whom, may hereafter acquire in Pikeville or Harlan, Kentucky, shall be owned by a corporation in which you own fifty per cent of the outstanding capital stock and Schine owns fifty per cent of the outstanding capital stock.

Very truly, Louis Lazar, for Schine.

[fol. 5975] This Assignment made the 2nd day of Dec., 1938, by G. C. Scott of Pikeville, Kentucky, and L. B. Scott, of Harlan, Kentucky, (herein called the Assignors), to Corbin Theatre Company (herein called the Assignee),

Witnesseth

Whereas, Hiram H. Owens and Georgia B. Owens, of Barbourville, Kentucky, heretofore made, executed and delivered to the Assignors a certain contract of lease dated the 24th day of October, 1938, and recorded in the Harlan County Court Clerk's Office in Book 7 of Miscellaneous Instruments, at page 632, providing for the leasing of a motion picture theatre to be constructed on the premises situate on Main Street, between First and Second Streets, in the City of Corbin, Whitley County, Kentucky, as therein more particulary described, and subject to the rents, terms, covenants and conditions therein contained, and

Whereas, the Assignors represent that they have not defaulted in the performance of any of the terms, covenants and conditions in said contract of lease contained, and

Whereas, the term of said lease is for a period of ten (10) years from and after the date when said theatre shall be completed and ready for occupancy.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the sum of Two Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($2,500) to be paid to the Assignors by the Assignee, on or before January 10, 1939, the Assignors hereby assign, transfer, convey and set over unto the Assignee all of their right, title and interest to and in the said contract of lease, including any payments made by the Assignors thereunder, together with the prem- [fol. 5976] ises therein described, with the appurtenances.

To have and to hold the same unto the Assignee, its successors and assigns, from and after said date of payment, for all of the term mentioned in the said lease, and subject to the rents, terms, covenants, provisions and conditions therein set forth.

And the Assignors hereby covenant that the said lease and the assigned premises are free from encumbrances, and that they have good right to assign the same.

In Witness Whereof, the Assignors have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

G. C. Scott (L. S.), L. B. Scott (L. S.)

State of Kentucky,
County of Harlan, (Sct):

I, Elwood Hart, a Notary Public in and for the County and State aforesaid, do hereby certify that on this day personally appeared before me in my said county G. C. Scott and L. B. Scott, who acknowledged and delivered the foregoing instrument with Corbin Theatre Company to be their voluntary act and deed.

My commission expires on the 29 day of June 1939.

Given under my hand and seal of office this 2nd day of December 1938.

EXHIBIT P-25

Agreement made this 30th day of November, 1938, by and between G. C. Scott of Pikeville, Kentucky, and L. L. G. C. S., of Harlan, Kentucky, herein together called the Operators, parties of the first part, and Schine Lexington Corporation, herein called Schine, party of the second part,

Witnesseth

Whereas, the Operators are the lessees of certain theatres in Harlan and Pikeville, Kentucky, and

Whereas, Schine is engaged, through subsidiary and affiliated corporation, in the supervision and management of the operations of motion picture theatres in the State of Kentucky, and has an organization and facilities adapted thereto, and

Whereas, the Operators desire to avail themselves of said organization and facilities, and have requested Schine to undertake the general management and supervision of the operations of the said theatres now leased, or hereafter acquired, by the Operators, and Schine has agreed to undertake the same, in consideration of the payments to be made to it hereunder, and of the granting to it of an option to purchase a half interest in the leases of said theatres as hereinafter provided,

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the premises, and of the mutual covenants and agreements herein contained, the parties hereto have agreed and do hereby agree as follows:

I. The Operators covenant, represent and warrant as follows:

a) That they are the owners of a good, valid and subsisting lease on the building, including the theatre contained therein, known as the Margie Grand Theatre, Harlan, Kentucky, having a seating capacity of approximately six hundred and ninety (690) seats; that the term of said lease [fol. 5978] has approximately three and one-half (3½) years to run; and that the monthly rental for said theatre building is Eight Hundred Sixty-two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($862.50) per month, and that the commercial rental therefrom is approximately Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) per month. That the said theatre is fully equipped for operation as a motion picture theatre, duly licensed by all necessary authorities to operate as such, and that the equipment is owned by the Landlord, except for the sound equipment, which is owned by the Tenant, subject only to service charges.

b) That they are the owners of a good, valid and subsisting lease on the theatre known as the Liberty Theatre, Pikeville, Kentucky, having a seating capacity of approximately 700 seats; that the term of said lease has approximately five (5) years to run, and that the monthly rental for said theatre is Two Hundred and Thirty Dollars ($230.00) per month. That the said theatre is fully equipped for operation as a motion picture theatre, duly licensed by all necessary authorities to operate as such, and that the equipment is owned by the Landlord, except for the sound equipment, which is owned by the Tenant, subject only to service charges.

2. The Operators do hereby engage and employ Schine to have complete general management and supervision of the operations of the theatres now leased, or hereafter acquired, by the Operators, for a period of five (5) years commencing as of November 25, 1938, and Schine agrees to act as such, and to render the following services for the Operators in connection therewith.

a) Selecting, purchasing and booking all motion pictures and other attractions and entertainment for said theatres.

b) Determining the operating and entertainment policy of said theatres.

[fol. 5979] c) Auditing and supervising the accounts and records relating to the operations of said theatres, for which purpose Schine shall keep and maintain a complete and accurate set of books and records, showing all receipts and other income, and expenses and disbursements with respect thereto, which shall be open at all times for inspection by the Operators.

3. The Operators agree to pay to Schine, as compensation for its services hereunder, five per cent (5%) of the gross receipts of said theatres, which sum shall be payable each week out of said gross receipts, and the Operators agree to send to Schine, each day addressed to it in care of Schine Circuit, Inc., 40 North Main Street, Gloversville, New York, true, complete and accurate daily statements showing the receipts from all sources from said theatres, and, in addition, to send to Schine weekly and monthly reports showing all receipts, income, expenses and disbursements in connection with the operations of said theatres.

4. Schine agrees, at all times, to use its best efforts to perform its duties hereunder in a painstaking, careful and businesslike manner and for the best interests and welfare of the Operators.

5. It is agreed that for the purpose of carrying out its duties hereunder, Schine may engage the services of any person, firm or corporation subsidiary to or affiliated with it, or may assign this contract thereto, provided, however, that such employment or assignment shall not relieve Schine of its ultimate responsibility hereunder.

6. In consideration of the agreement of Schine as hereinabove set forth, and of the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) and other good and valuable consideration paid to the Operators by Schine, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, the Operators do hereby grant to Schine a good, valid and irrevocable option, at any time within six months from and [fol. 5980] after the date hereof, to acquire a one-half interest in said leases covering the said Margie Grand Theatre Building, Harlan, Kentucky, and the said Liberty Theatre, Pikeville, Kentucky, for the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000).

The said option may be exercised by Schine by giving ten (10) days written notice, at any time within six months from the date hereof, to the Operators, addressed to them in case of G. C. Scott, Margie Grand Theatre, Harlan, Kentucky, of its intention to exercise the same. Immediately upon the exercise of said option, by Schine, the parties hereto shall jointly cause to be organized a Kentucky corporation, and the Operators agree, immediately upon the formation of said corporation, to assign and transfer thereto all of their right, title and interest in and to said leases, and in and to the personal property and equipment owned by them and contained in said theatres, free and clear of all encumbrances, the stock of said corporation to be issued to and owned fifty per cent (50%) by G. C. Scott and fifty per cent (50%) by Schine, or its nominee. The articles of incorporation, by-laws, minutes, and all corporate proceedings with respect to said corporation, including the issuance of its stock and the election of its officers and directors shall be subject to the approval of counsel for Schine.

It is further expressly understood and agreed that Schine shall, at any time after the date hereof, and prior to the expiration of said option, have the right to examine and audit all of the books and records of the Operators, with respect to said theatres, and the Operators agree that the representative or representatives of Schine shall have access to said books and records and may inspect the same at any time for the purpose of making a complete examination and audit thereof. In the event that such examination and audit shall disclose that the combined net profits of the two said theatres for the years 1936, 1937 and 1938 [fol. 5981] have averaged not less than Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000) per year, and that the combined net profit of said theatres for the year 1938 shall have been at least Fifteen Thousand Dollars, then Schine agrees to exercise said option and to acquire a half interest in said theatres, for the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000).

7. This agreement and option shall be binding upon the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

In Witness Whereof, the parties hereto have caused these presents to be executed under seal the day and year first above written.

Option

I, George Angelas of Mansfield, Ohio, have entered into an agreement with one Amelia Troendle for the purchase of certain premises in the City of Norwalk, Huron County, Ohio, and described as follows:

> "Situated in the City of Norwalk, County of Huron and State of Ohio, and being the whole of in-lot Number Fifty (50), excepting a strip Fifteen (15) feet wide taken off the east side thereof to widen Prospect Street. The property is bounded on the north by Monroe Street, on the east by Prospect Street, the south by Main Street and on the west by in-lot Number One Hundred Ninety Eight (198)."

which transaction is about to be consummated, and I contemplate the construction of a building to be used for restaurant, store-rooms and theater purposes on said land, the location of store-rooms and restaurant and dimensions thereof to be determined by me. There will be provided, however, a proper and suitable entrance to the theater from Main Street and ample space and dimensions for a theater with a seating capacity of Nine Hundred (900) to One Thousand (1000) and proper stage facilities. And in consideration of One and no/100 Dollar ($1.00), in hand paid, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, I, George Angelas, hereby give and grant unto Schine Circuit, Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of New York, the exclusive right and option when, if and as I determine to construct said building on the above described premises, of leasing the portion of said premises provided by me for theater purposes. I will give written notice to the said Schine Circuit, Inc. of my intention to proceed with the development of said project and the construction of said building, the said Schine Circuit, Inc. is, within ten (10) days from such notice, to then definitely advise the exercise of this option and to enter into a definite arrangement for the construction of said building and the leasing of a portion thereof for theater purposes; and upon failure of said Schine Circuit, Inc. within said time to make definite arrangement and enter into a proper leasing arrangement, for the use of a portion of said premises for theater purposes upon proper terms and conditions, then this option is fully terminated and has no further force and effect.

[fol. 5987] It is further understood as a term and condition of this option that upon notice of the exercise thereof by the said Schine Circuit, Inc. it will join with the undersigned in the prompt preparation and approval of plans and specifications and give proper assistance toward the construction of said building and the preparation thereof for occupancy as a theater at the earliest possible date.

It is further understood that said leasing arrangement shall be for a period of not less than twenty (20) years and that during said period, the said Schine Circuit, Inc. will at all times guarantee the prompt and full payment of all rentals for the use of said building, and at the time of the execution of said leasing arrangement satisfy me as to their financial ability so to do or furnish other satisfactory security for payment of all rentals.

Notice of exercise of this option must be given in writing to the undersigned by registered mail at his address, 195 Maple Street, Mansfield, Ohio.

In witness whereof, I hereto set my hand this 27th day of January, 1939.

George Angelas.

Mr. J. Myer Schine, Schine Theatrical Co., Inc., Gloversville, N. Y.

Dear Myer:

This will confirm conference with Mr. Rodgers and myself in New York last Tuesday regarding Bucyrus, O.

In this situation, we are arranging to split the product with Mr. M. H. Bryer of the State Theatre who has been and is our present customer.

However, inasmuch as your new theatre will probably not be open until about the first of the year, have suggested to Mr. Drew that he work out the division of product with Mr. Bryer by having him take all of the releases up to Jan. 1st and thereafter a sufficient number to equal his one-half of the product. Believe that this is the better way to arrange the split of the product rather than attempting to work out a split on paper because we do not know just what pictures will be released nor when.

Mr. Drew will see Mr. Bryer to work out the division along these lines within the next week or so.

With best wishes and kindest regards.

Sincerely, —— ——.

DEAR JACK:

Myer has referred your letter dated August 23rd to me regarding Bucyrus.

As I understand it he is willing to give up the product released by your Company from now until the 1st of January but he feels that from the 1st of January on the releases should be his which I, personally, believe is very fair due to the fact that you no doubt will release the largest portion of your hit pictures between now and the first of the year.

I would, therefore, appreciate if you would kindly advise me by return mail the pictures that you are releasing from now until the first of the year so I can mark my records accordingly.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Dear Mr. Shreffler:

I have your letter of July 2 and am somewhat disappointed to learn that you cannot meet me in Cleveland. However, I will arrange to stop in to see you at Shelby the first time I am in that vicinity.

I am very sorry to learn that you do not believe a leasing arrangement could be worked out, as frankly we do not care to make such heavy investments in real estate as would be required in the purchase of the Castamba Theatre, Shelby.

If you could take the time to discuss the advantages of a Schine partnership with Henry Bieberson of Delaware, Ed Mott of Wooster, Dave Britton of Tiffin and Bucks of Fostoria, I am sure that you would not hesitate to help work out a partnership arrangement, as under such arrangement I can assure you that you not only would be considerably happier, but that you also would earn considerably more money.

Insofar as you leaving the business is concerned, I can assure you that there is no need for you doing so as I would be only too happy to have you continue in active operation of Shelby in case we were able to work out some sort of arrangement.

The time is rapidly approaching when the support and protection of a concern as large as ours would be of tremendous value, and I urge you to carefully consider the many advantages, against the possible disadvantages, which an association with us would give you.

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of seeing you shortly, I am

Very truly yours, Louis Lazar.

Memorandum of agreement dated the 21st day of January, 1941, between Michael Boumansour, of Malone, New York, herein called "Boumansour", and Schine Theatrical Co. Inc., a domestic corporation, herein called "Schine",

Witnesseth: Boumansour, who owns and operates the Plaza Theatre, Malone, New York, being desirous of assuring himself of a fixed income for a period of years, has approached Schine with a view to renting his theatre to it, and obtaining a position for himself. As an inducement to Schine to rent the theatre, Boumansour makes the following representations and warranties:

1. That he is the owner of the building in which said theatre is located, in fee simple, free and clear of all encum-brances, except a mortgage in the amount of Ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00).

2. That said theatre is fully and completely equipped for operation as a motion picture theatre, and that all the equipment and personal property is owned by him, free and clear of any and all liens, claims and encumbrances whatsoever, and that said building, including the theatre located therein, complies with all laws, ordinances and regulations, including the rules and regulations of the Board of Fire Underwriters.

[fol. 5993b] 3. That all bills payable accruing prior to the commencement of said lease will be paid by him or satisfactorily adjusted.

4. Boumansour agrees, in the event a lease is executed, to deliver to Schine an agreement not to engage in the motion picture business in said Village of Malone, New York, or in any town in which Schine operates a motion picture theatre, or within a radius of twenty (20) miles therefrom, during the term of said lease.

In reliance on the representations and warranties of Boumansour, Schine agrees to enter into a lease of said Plaza Theatre, Malone, New York, in form substantially like the lease between the parties hereto made the 2nd day of August, 1934, for a term of ten (10) years, commencing February 16, 1941, on the following terms and conditions:

(a) The rental shall be the sum of Eight thousand dollars ($8,000.00) per year, payable in equal monthly installments in advance, with the last year's rent to be paid upon the execution and delivery of the lease.

(b) Schine agrees to heat the building and to operate the theatre an average minimum of two (2) days per week.

(c) Schine agrees to enter into an employment agreement with Boumansour for a period of one (1) year, at a salary of Seventy-five dollars ($75.00) per week.

(d) Schine agrees to purchase the truck now used by the Plaza Theatre for the sum of Three hundred twenty-six [fol. 5993c] dollars ($326.00), and also to purchase the new Bausch lenses now in said theatre for the sum of One hundred seventy-four ($174.00), said items to be subject to inspection and approval by Schine, and if not satisfactory, Boumansour agrees to refund the purchase price.

(e) Schine agrees to hold Boumansour harmless in connection with the following contracts:

1940-41 Metro, Paramount, Monogram and Republic Film Contracts.

Altec Service Contract.

National Screen Trailer Contract.

Said contracts to be exhibited to Schine prior to the execution and delivery of the lease.

In witness whereof, the parties have executed these presents the day and year first above written.

Agreement made this 29th day of May, 1937, by and between Belpik Theatre Corporation, an Ohio corporation, having its principal office in the City of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, hereinafter called "Belpik", party of the first part, and Arthur J. Buck, Ural Buck, Eulalia Hawkins and Charles H. Mergenthaler, of Fostoria, Seneca County, Ohio, doing business as State Theatre, hereinafter called "State", parties of the second part.

Witnesseth: Whereas, Belpik operates the theatres known as the Civic and Roxy Theatres in the City of Fostoria, Ohio, and

Whereas, State operates the theatre known as the State Theatre in the City of Fostoria, Ohio, and

Whereas, the parties hereto are of the opinion that they will mutually benefit by combining the operations of said theatres as hereinafter provided,

Now, therefore, in consideration of the mutual promises and agreements hereinafter contained, it is hereby agreed as follows:

1. The parties hereto agree to cause to be organized, promptly upon the execution of this agreement, an Ohio corporation (hereinafter called the "New Corporation"), with a nominal amount of paid-in capital, the stock thereof to be divided into two classes, fifty shares to be known as Class A stock and to be subscribed for and held by Belpik, and fifty shares to be known as Class B stock and to be subscribed for and held by State. Said corporation shall have four directors, two of whom shall be elected by the [fol. 5995] Class A stockholders and two of whom shall be elected by the Class B stockholders. The Class A and Class B shares shall have equal rights in all respects.

2. The by-laws of the new corporation shall provide that neither stockholder shall have the right or privilege to sell, dispose of, or transfer any of his or its stock without first offering said stock to the other stockholder at the same price at which he or it may have received a bona fide offer.

3. The certificate of incorporation of said new corporation shall contain such other provisions as shall be mutually agreed upon.

4. Belpik agrees to assign, or cause to be assigned, to the new corporation the leases covering the Civic and Roxy Theatres in Fostoria, Ohio, together with any renewals or extensions thereof, and State agrees to assign or cause to be assigned, to the new corporation the lease covering the State Theatre, Fostoria, Ohio, together with any renewal or extension thereof.

The rentals to be paid by the new corporation under said leases shall be as follows:

Roxy Theatre,	$125.00	per month
Civic Theatre	205.00	" "
State Theatre	235.00	" "

5. It is mutually agreed that the parties hereto will cause the new corporation, immediately upon its formation to enter into a contract with Belpik, and Belpik agrees to enter into such a contract, for the supervision and management of said theatres in Fostoria, Ohio, with the exclusive right of Belpik to purchase and book all motion pictures and other attractions for said theatres, for which services Belpik is to receive the sum of five per cent (5%) of the gross [fols. 5996-5997] receipts of said theatres.

6. Each of the parties hereto agrees that any theatre or theatres in the City of Fostoria, Ohio, or interest therein, which may hereafter be acquired, either directly or indirectly, by either of the parties hereto, and any and all agreements relating thereto, shall be acquired for the benefit of the new corporation, and any and all evidence of ownership or interest shall be transferred and conveyed to the new corporation.

7. The parties hereto agree that the amounts which the new company may require from time to time for working capital shall be advanced fifty per cent (50%) by Belpik and fifty per cent (50%) by State, and shall be repaid in the same proportion.

8. Current operating expenses shall be paid by the local manager in Fostoria, and all sums over and above said operating expenses shall be transferred to the reserve account to be opened in the name of the new corporation in a bank in Fostoria, to be designated by the Board of Directors. The surplus remaining in said reserve account each month after paying for rent, film, management fees, taxes, insurance, and other charges, shall be distributed to the stockholders as a dividend.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have caused this agreement to be executed the day and year first above written.

Belpik Theatre Corporation, by J. M. Schine, Pres. Arthur J. Buck, Charles H. Mergenthaler, Ural Buck, Eulalia Hawkins.

Exhibit P-97

Agreement

This Agreement made and entered into this 23rd day of July 1935, at Cleveland, Ohio, by and between Belpik Theatre Corporation, a New York corporation qualified to do business in the State of Ohio (hereinafter sometimes referred to as "Purchaser"), First Party, and William K. Selman of Norwalk, Ohio, Second Party, and David Selman of Cleveland, Ohio, Third Party (Second and Third Parties being sometimes hereinafter referred to as "Sellers"),

Witnesseth: Whereas, Second Party and Third Party are each the owners of forty (40) shares of the Common Capital Stock of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, an Ohio corporation, said stock being of the par value of $100 per share, and

Whereas, Second Party is the holder of an option executed by Jerome G. Steel of Oberlin, Ohio, to Second Party, giving Second Party the right to purchase of said Jerome G. Steel forty (40) shares of the Common Capital Stock of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, par value $100 per share, for the sum of $4,000.00 on or before July 24, 1935; and

Whereas, the Purchaser desires to purchase said Common Capital Stock owned by Third Party, and desires to acquire the said 40 shares of stock now owned by said Jerome G. Steel and optioned to the Second Party as aforesaid,

Now therefore, it is hereby mutually covenanted and agreed by and between the Parties hereto:

1. The Purchaser agrees to purchase, and the Third Party agrees to sell to the Purchaser or its nominee, 40 shares of Common Capital Stock of Norwalk Theatre Corporation [fol. 5999] now owned by Third Party for the sum of $4,000.00, payable in manner as follows:

$3,800.00 in cash at the consummation of this Agreement.

$200.00 by Purchaser assuming and paying to Norwalk Theatre Corporation the unpaid balance of said amount owing upon the subscription of third party for said stock.

2. Purchaser agrees to acquire and pay for the said 40 shares of Stock of Norwalk Theatre Corporation now owned by Jerome G. Steel. Second Party represents that he holds an option executed by said Steel to him for the purchase of said stock on or before July 24, 1935 for the sum of $4,000.00. Second Party agrees to execute said option in accordance with its terms and to acquire said stock from said Steel. Purchaser agrees to advance the sum of $4,000.00 for the use of Second Party in exercising said option and acquiring said stock. It is understood that upon the acquisition of said stock by Second Party and same will be by him endorsed, assigned and transferred to Purchaser or its nominee. It is understood and agreed that said Steel owes to Norwalk Theatre Corporation an unpaid balance of $200.00 on his purchase of said stock from the Company, and that Second Party will endeavor to obtain the stock of said Steel for the sum of $3,800.00 in cash and the assumption of the unpaid balance of $200.00, but that failing in said efforts said stock is to be acquired for the sum of $4,000.00 cash, which Purchaser agrees to advance.

3. Second Party and Third Party jointly and severally represent that the said shares of stock of Third Party and of said Steel are fully paid except as herein mentioned. That the stock of Third Party is free and clear of all liens and encumbrances of any kind, and that he has the right to sell same; that all of said shares of stock are non-assessable and represent valid and outstanding shares of stock of Norwalk Theatre Corporation; that said corporation is an Ohio corporation in good standing; that all franchise reports due to date have been filed and franchise taxes paid [fol. 6000] for the year 1935; that said corporation owes no sums of money for unpaid salaries to officers or directors nor is it indebted to anyone for wages or salaries except as have accrued since July 19, 1935. Second Party has submitted to purchaser the books of the corporation for inspection, and represents that to the best of his knowledge the books and records submitted show all of the obligations of the Company. Second Party and Third Party further jointly and severally represent that J. Steel of Oberlin, Ohio, and Second Party are the lessees under a certain Indenture of Lease dated October 31, 1934 by and between Henry Pohl and Rebecca Pohl of Norwalk, Ohio, Lessors and said J. Steel and William K. Selman, Second Party, as Lessees, said lease being upon premises known as the "Forum Theatre" in Norwalk, Ohio, and being for a term of ten years ending December 31, 1944, with an option for an additional ten years, subject to all of the conditions, covenants, agreements and terms in said lease which has been exhibited to Purchaser, that said lease was entered into for the benefit of Norwalk Theatre Corporation and is a valid and existing lease upon said premises in accordance with its terms. Said parties further represent that the lessors under said lease have consented to an assignment thereof to Norwalk Theatre Corporation, and Second Party represents that he will join in the execution of said assignment.

4. Third Party agrees to deliver to Purchaser his resignation as officer and director of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, and to deliver to Purchaser the stock certificate or certificates evidencing the shares herein sold. Second Party agrees that he will attempt to procure from said Steel his resignation as director, Secretary and Treasurer of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, and that upon acquisition of said stock of Steel he will deliver the certificate or certificates evidencing the same to the Purchaser duly assigned and endorsed.

5. Second Party represents that there is due and owing [fol. 6001] to the Oberlin Savings Bank Company upon a certain Promissory Note signed by said Steel, Second Party and Edward J. Sable and T. O. Murphy, the sum of $1,050.00 plus accrued interest on said note, which note is in fact the obligation of Norwalk Theatre Corporation. Purchaser agrees that it will, concurrently with the exercise of the Steel option by second party, advance to said Norwalk Theatre Corporation funds sufficient to pay and discharge the aforesaid note to the said The Oberlin Savings Bank Company.

6. In addition to the sums of money hereinbefore provided for, Purchaser agrees to advance to Norwalk Theatre Corporation the sum of approximately $10,000.00 for the purpose of paying off and discharging the outstanding Chattel Mortgage, Conditional Sale and other liabilities of the Corporation, when, as and if the payment thereof is required by Norwalk Theatre Corporation. The Purchaser further agrees that it will advance or cause to be advanced such sums as may be necessary in the future for the purpose of financing capital improvements, or for any expansion program of the corporation, or for the acquisition of other theatres. No such obligation shall be incurred, however, without the consent of all of the members of the Board of Directors of Norwalk Theatre Corporation. All advances made by Purchaser for the purpose of discharging present obligations of said Norwalk Theatre Corporation, or which may be made in the future for improvements, expansion or acquisition of other theatres, as aforesaid, shall be made upon the understanding that the same are to be repaid by Norwalk Theatre Corporation only out of surplus funds of the Corporation.

7. Purchaser and Second Party hereto agree that no dividends shall be paid by Norwalk theatre Corporation at any time until and unless all obligations of the Corporation, of whatever nature, and including the advances hereinabove referred to, shall have been fully paid, and the parties hereto agree to vote or cause to be voted any shares of stock which [fol. 6002] they own or may own in said Corporation, in accordance with this provision, when the subject of dividends may be up for consideration or action by the corporation.

8. Second Party and Third Party represent that the authorized capital of Norwalk Theatre Corporation is 250 shares of Common Capital Stock of the par value of $100 per share, and that the only shares of stock of said Corporation outstanding aggregate 120 shares of which 40 are owned by Second Party, 40 shares by Third Party and 40 Shares by said Steel.

9. Immediately upon transfer to Purchaser of the 40 shares of stock of Second Party, and of the 40 shares of stock of Steel, as herein referred to, and upon the election and qualification of a new Board of Directors and new officers of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, said new Directors will ratify, approve and adopt an Employment Contract between Norwalk Theatre Corporation and William K. Selman in the exact form of the exhibit hereto marked Exhibit "A" and initialed by the parties hereto.

10. It is further understood and agreed that the new Board of Directors of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, immediately upon its election and qualification, will authorize and direct the execution of a so-called Booking Agreement by and between Norwalk Theatre Corporation and Belpik Theatre Corporation, in the exact form of a copy of said Agreement attached hereto marked Exhibit "B" and initialed by all of the parties hereto.

11. The parties hereto mutually covenant and agree that any theatre or theatres in the City of Norwalk, Ohio, or interest therein, which may be hereafter acquired either directly or indirectly by any of the parties hereto, and all agreements relating to such theatre or theatres shall be acquired for the benefit of Norwalk Theatre Corporation, and the parties agree to transfer and convey and set over unto Norwalk Theatre Corporation any and all evidence of [fol. 6003] ownership or interest in such theatre or theatres.

12. Second Party and Third Party represent that Norwalk Theatre Corporation is not indebted to either of them in any way, and that they have no claims against Norwalk Theatre Corporation for any sums whatsoever, and the said parties further agree that they will, if required, execute a general release to Norwalk Theatre Corporation evidencing that they have no such claims as of the date of the execution of this instrument.

In Witness Whereof, the parties hereto have set their hands to triplicates hereof, and have initialled Exhibits "A" and "B" hereto attached this 23rd day of July, 1935.

DEAR MR. SICHELMAN:

The following memorandum is for your information regarding Schine Enterprises, which contracts you have in New York.

You will recall Mr. Grainger made a deal with Mr. J. Myer Schine when in New York for the town of Bellefontaine, Ohio covering thirty pictures.

Last week he received a wire from George Lynch asking us to withhold selling any pictures of last year, or a second run of this year's product to an opposition theatre which is just about to reopen. The opposition house is the Court Theatre, operated by Harry L. Moller, formerly connected with Schine. In view of this situation I believe we should get a deal set for one hundred percent product in the city of Bellefontaine.

Expect George Lynch in Cleveland sometime this week. He was in touch with me and stated he would discuss the above. Will inform you after talking to him of what has developed.

Very truly yours, I. J. Schmertz, Branch Manager.

I wish you would advise me concerning the status of the Schine deal. You know my Rochester city proposition gives Schine preference throughout the City of Rochester, and naturally I cannot go ahead and deal with the balance of the exhibitors in this town until I know what we will do about accepting the Schine proposition.

We also have pictures available for the Schine houses in the neighborhood houses in Rochester, and I would like to get these pictures dated.

You- advice on this matter will be appreciated.

DEAR MR. SICHELMAN:

Please advise what became of our contracts for the Schine situations at Wooster and Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Just recently heard from George Lynch and asked him to communicate with you regarding a change in his deal for Bellefontaine. I suggested and recommended that he buy our entire product one hundred percent, in view of the opposition theatre opening in this town and Mr. Lynch asking us not to sell the opposition any pictures which we might have available in the town, either first run, second run or any other run.

I believe in all fairness if they expect us to stay out and not sell any product in this town to the opposition, we should get a one hundred percent deal and I so informed him in my letter. I believe he will get in touch with you, if not, advise and I will try to work out a deal:

Very truly yours, I. J. Schmertz, Branch Manager.

In answer to your letter of the 24th, with reference to the Schine situation in Wooster and Bellefontaine, Ohio, we are returning the contracts to you under separate cover.

Regarding Bellefontaine, I believe that Mr. Lynch will see it your way and buy 100% in Bellefontaine in view of the fact that you have an opposition theatre where you can sell a subsequent run.

I also know that Mr. Schine would not be so unfair as to expect us to stay out of the town and not sell the product to the opposition when we can get some revenue out of the town, and if he gets in touch with me I will so advise him.

DEAR MR. SICHELMAN:

With further reference to your letter of September 27th regarding Schine's situation at Bellefontaine, Ohio, wherein you agree with us that they should purchase our product one hundred percent in this town.

Have already written two or three letters to George Lynch asking whether or not he is coming on to Cleveland, or if they intend doing anything with reference to purchasing our product one hundred percent for this town.

There is no good reason for staying out of the town. As a matter of fact we have received several communications from the opposition theatre, the Court, asking us to let him have our product which was not purchased this year or last year, or second runs.

We have given every opportunity to Lynch to get this situation set and purchase our product one hundred percent, as there is no good reason for Schines getting a selective contract of thirty pictures.

You mentioned in your letter that you were returning Schine's contracts to us. We have not as yet received these contracts nor do I know whether or not you approved same. Will wait another few days to hear from you.

Very truly yours, I. J. Schmertz, Branch Manager.

Subject: Bellefontaine Situation.

Dear Mr. Sichelman:

Recently wrote you that George Lynch of Schine Enterprises was in to see me at which time discussed with him the matter I wrote you about with reference to changing his deal at Bellefontaine to one hundred percent. I informed you he stated he could not at this time do anything but perhaps would figure it out later on. Of course to me that means nothing and I do not expect anything, excepting that they will run along with a selective contract.

My reason for again writing is that we are in receipt of three or four letters and two telegrams from the opposition, the Court Theatre, inquiring whether or not we have any product available and we really cannot answer and state that we are entirely sold. In fact did not answer any of Moller's letters for the above reason.

In conversation with Lynch he stated that Meyer Schine when in New York discussed this very proposition with Mr. J. R. Grainger who promised Meyer we would not sell the opposition, Moller's Court Theatre any of our product, neither the balance left on this year's contract nor any of last season's product. However, I do not know whether this promise was actually made to Meyer Schine.

We are attaching hereto letter received this day from this same party again.

DEAR MEYER:

You made a deal with Mr. J. R. Grainger for Bellefontaine, to take 32 pictures on the following basis:

8 features at 25% of the gross
8 " " 20% " " "
16 " " $40.00 flat rental.

This means that there are ten pictures open in this town, and at the time you made this deal, you told Mr. Grainger you could not use more than the number of pictures you bought.

This means that we can sell second run and maybe the balance of the first run pictures that you do not use.

Mr. Schmertz now advises me that in a conversation he had with you, you advised him that Mr. Grainger promised that we would not sell anyone in Bellefontaine. This is not so as you know that I was present when the deal was made and Mr. Grainger would never make a statement that would be detrimental to the Fox Film Corporation and whereby we lose 10 pictures on first run and also second run revenue.

We now have a chance to sell the ten pictures that you will not use as first run, and also sell 100% second run, and I am writing Mr. Schmertz to go ahead and sell the balance of the 10 pictures which you haven't bought on first run, and also sell second run.

However, if you decide you want the balance of the 10 pictures first run, you can take the matter up with Mr. Schmertz direct. We have got to sell second run and get the revenue in where it rightfully belongs.

Kindest regards.

Mr. Jack Sichelman, Fox Film Corporation, New York City.

DEAR JACK:

Myer Schine has referred me to your letter dated Oct. 21st regarding Bellefontaine. Perhaps, Jack, you are not acquainted with what has happened in Bellefontaine. The man who has opened up the Court Theatre was a former empl-yee of ours and due to numerous things which happened during his employment he was let out. He then took over the old Opera House in Bellefontaine and got two men to put up some money and opened up in opposition to us.

The only product which he has been able to buy has been from independent companies. There has not been a major company that has sold him any product. He has advertised in the newspapers that they should patronize local people. He has bucked chain operation and is selling the product for 10¢ and 15¢, children 5¢, not only this but he has flooded the entire town with passes and I am quite sure that it is not your company's intent to encourage opposition of this kind.

If it was possible for us to play second run you may rest assured that we would certainly do it but I believe you will agree with me that a town such as the size of Bellefontaine is not large enough for a first and second run house. We are charging a top of 40¢ admission at our Holland Theatre and we don't want to have the distributing companies make it impossible for us to continue getting this price. I am quite positive that if you will take this matter up and explain to Mr. J. R. Grainger, the things which I have mentioned to you in this letter, he will agree with me that you should not sell second run.

I have also written Mr. Schmertz advising him that we will take the remaining pictures which we did not buy first run, and, have also asked him to refrain from selling this second run house.

[fol. 6013] If you would like to have me forward some of the opposition's ads if you will write me I will be very glad to mail them to you.

DEAR IZZY:

I expected to be in Cleveland Thursday of this week but I now find that it is impossible for me to get there.

Regarding Bellefontaine I am willing to take the ten additional pictures at the following deal:—if any of the 10 pictures play the Strand, price to be $25.00; if they play at the Holland, price to be $40.00.

Myer has given me your letter dated October 21st and he wants me to explain to you that he would appreciate very much if you hold off selling the Court Theatre. Their admission price, Izzy, is way under ours not only that but he is flooding the town with passes. There is no question but if you sell accounts as this one you are merely encouraging ten and fifteen cent houses for houses for opposition. We have established a 40¢ admission price in this town and we do not want to deviate one cent from this price notwithstanding the fact that the Court Theatre is advertising "Why Pay More."

I am sure you can appreciate the harm it will do if you insist on sellng hm. I can assure you that f we want—second run we would certainly buy your product but there is no room in a town the size of Bellefontaine for a second run house.

Trusting that I receive a favorable reply from you, I am with kindest personal regards.

Subject: Lockport-(Schine)

Dear Mr. Sichelman:

We are attaching hereto copies of letters received from Schine in connection with their situation in Lockport, N. Y., where they originally operated two theatres—the Palace and Rialto. They did not renew the lease on the Palace Theatre and are now operating the Rialto.

These letters ask for our agreement to transfer the remaining unplayed pictures to a subsidiary company to be played at the Rialto Theatre. With the exception of the straight percentage pictures, on which our earnings will be decreased by playing them at the smaller theatre—the Rialto—I do not see where we would have any objection to this transfer. Of course, when the Palace is reopened by the owner of the building, they will be in the market for pictures, but in view of our pleasant relations with the Schine organization and the fact that we serve them throughout their circuit, I do not believe we should have any objection to going along with them and serving them in the Rialto Theatre, Lockport.

However, I am submitting these letters for your approval, on receipt of which I will have the proper riders drawn up transferring the remaining pictures to the subsidiary company, which is the Palace Lockport Corporation.

Very truly yours, Sydney Samson.

Dear Mr. Samson:

I have just finished an analysis of the Schine contracts which you submitted, and there are a number of discrepancies that I want to bring to your attention.

Auburn: You should have absorbed $108., whereas you have accounted for only $90.

Bath: You should have absorbed $117.30, whereas you have accounted for only $78.

Canandaigua: You should have absorbed $100.80, whereas you have accounted for only $72.

Corning (1st Run): You should have absorbed $105., whereas you have accounted for only $99.

Corning (2nd Run): You should have absorbed $70.72, whereas you have accounted for only $65.

Cortland: You should have absorbed $78.82, whereas $84. is accounted for. I also note that you have changed the clearance in this situation by adding the towns of Tully and Groton, which were not in last year's schedule.

Geneva: You should have absorbed $87.84, only $84. accounted for.

Lockport (1st Run): You should have absorbed $118.56, only $110.50 accounted for. This account has clearance over Newfane, which it enjoyed last year, but we do not have any record of a theatre in this town.

Newark: You should have absorbed $92.40, only $88. accounted for.

Oswego (1st Run): You should have absorbed $66.24, only $55. accounted for. With reference to the clause permitting the exhibitor to play 15 pictures in the Capitol Theatre, I note that you have increased the price from $30. in K-6 to $34.50 in K-7. What happens to this additional revenue in the event that they do not decide to play any of these pictures in the Capitol Theatre.

Oswego (2nd Run): You should have absorbed $84.76, only $65. accounted for.

Penn Yan: You should have absorbed $112.80, only $106. accounted for.

Perry: You should have absorbed $137.76, only $120. accounted for.

Salamanca: You should have absorbed $151.32, only $140. accounted for. The clearance provides for 30 days on Little Valley, which is the same clearance it enjoyed during the K-6 season. However, we do not have any record of a theatre in Little Valley.

Seneca: You should have absorbed $167.96, only $150. accounted for.

Will you please analyze the various points I have made in this letter, and let me have your reply as quickly as possible.

Very truly yours, William Sussman.

Fox Film Corporation

Inter-office Correspondence Only

Date: June 27, 1939.
To: Mr. W. Sussman.
From: Sydney Samson, Buffalo.
Subject: Schine Circuit.

Dear Mr. Sussman:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter with discrepancies in score charges for the Schine Circuit. These discrepancies in the main are due to the shift in the deal from a 46 and 49 picture deal to a 52 picture deal.

At the time we shifted into this new deal I recognized that there would be small differences in score but I did not want to open up this subject again inasmuch as at that particular moment securing a waiver elimination on the top groups of both the percentage and flat pictures was my immediate concern and I did not want a further delay in the making up of these deals while the entire Schine office was checking and rechecking the accurate score charge.

The total difference in my entire territory is $193.00, and in many instances some of these differences do not entirely agree with our checked records. Some of these differences are due to breakage in figures as in Geneva $3.84; Newark $4.40; Corning $6.00.

I believe we have recovered as much of the score charge as we possibly can, and only in one instance was there an attempt on Lynch's part to chisel the actual cost of score and that was in Auburn, N. Y., where our figures read $4.38 per picture and he only wanted to pay $3.75. The difference in this town is $18.00.

Regarding the slight changes in clearance: Tully and Groton were added to the Cortland clearance. There is no theatre in Tully, and Cortland has enjoyed clearance over Groton in the last two years. Inasmuch as our Schine contract was made out three years ago Groton was not included at that time.

In Lockport, Newfane has no theatre, but the village is adjacent to Lockport and it is possible that a theatre may go into this town.

Salamanca, no theatre in Little Valley but this village is adjacent to Salamanca and the high school in this town occasionally runs a show.

Oswego, the additional revenue was put on the bottom group where we get $34.50 for each picture played at the Capitol Theatre. If the Capitol decides not to run these pictures then we will get $55 per picture. Inasmuch as the Capitol Theatre needs pictures as much as the Strand in this town, there is every indication that these pictures will be played at the Capitol, or we will benefit by increased revenue if played at the Strand.

Very truly yours, Sydney Samson.

Mr. M. Grassgreen, Albany, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Grassgreen:

I have completed an analysis of the Schine contracts which you recently submitted and wish to call the following discrepancies to your attention.

Amsterdam—You should have absorbed $65 in score charges whereas you have accounted for only $60. You have also set up both issues of News on the basis of ¾ days, one of these issues should be on the basis of ⅔ days in accordance with the K-6 deal.

Carthage—You should have absorbed $69.44, whereas you have accounted for $110. The days on the short subjects deal should be in accordance with the K-6 contract, namely ½ instead of ⅔ days as you have set it up.

Glens Falls (2nd Run)—I note that you have changed the clearance here by providing for 60 days over third run Glens Falls. 60 days clearance here and elsewhere seems to be excessive.

Gloversville (1st Run)—Should have absorbed $62.40, only $60 accounted for.

Gloversville (2nd Run)—Should have absorbed $36.60, only $30 accounted for.

Hamilton—Should have absorbed $159.12, only $130 accounted for.

Herkimer—You should have absorbed $119.70, only $105 accounted for. The short subjects contract should have been set up on the basis of ½ days instead of ⅔. I also note that you changed the clearance by inserting 14 days after first run Utica. I do not see how you can serve Herkimer under this arrangement when your first run Utica deal definitely specifies that they are to have 30 days over a radius of 15 miles from Utica.

Hudson—You should have absorbed $160.16, only $156 accounted for.

Ilion—You should have absorbed $148.72, only $130 accounted for. Groups "C" and "D" should have been set up on the basis of ½ days instead of ⅔ days. This account has clearance this year, as previously, over Mohawk. Our records do not indicate any theatre in Mohawk.

Little Falls—You should have absorbed $96.60, whereas you have accounted for $100. The days on the short subjects contract should have been ½ instead of ⅔ days.

Malone—You should have absorbed $113.20, only $70 accounted for. The clearance also includes the town of Brushton, but we do not have any record of a theatre in Brushton. The clearance further provides for 60 days over second run. We do not have a second run in this situation and furthermore, as stated previously, 60 days over second run seems excessive.

Massena—You should have absorbed $97.44, only $80 accounted for.

[fol. 6030] Norwich—You should have absorbed $144.04, only $130 accounted for. Groups "C" and "D" should be set up on the basis of ½ days instead of ⅔. You have included the town of Mount Upton in the clearance this year. It wasn't in the K-6 deal nor do we have a record of a theatre in this situation.

Oneonta (1st Run)—You should have absorbed $148, only $120 accounted for. Here too you have changed the clearance by the addition of the towns of Cherry Valley and Worcester.

Oneonta (2nd Run)—You should have absorbed $50, only $25 accounted for. You have also changed the clearance as compared to last year by setting back first run 60 days behind second run.

Ogdensburg—You should have absorbed $150.80, only $130 accounted for. Groups "C" and "D" should be set up on the basis of ½ days instead of ⅔.

Saranac Lake—The days on the short subjects contract should be ½ instead of ⅔.

Tupper Lake—You should have absorbed $174.72, only $130 accounted for.

Watertown (1st Run)—The clearance includes Dexter similar to the K-6 setup, but we do not have any record of a theatre in this situation.

Watertown (2nd Run)—Does the clause permitting the exhibitor to play pictures in the Palace Theatre affect the run of any other theatre?

Will you please analyze the various points I have made in this letter, and let me have your reply as quickly as possible.

Very truly yours, William Sussman.

Mr. William Sussman, New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Sussman:

I have your letter dated June 27th with reference to your analysis of the Schine contracts and beg to advise as follows:

Amsterdam—Scores: While our earnings showed an average of $2.76 per picture on the scores Mr. Lynch informed me that you were agreeable to leave the odd amounts off in view of which we set the scores up in this situation on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

News: The rental on both issues is $15.00 each which is the same as last year while the number of days call for ¾ days on the Odd Issue and ⅔ days on the Even. The reason we provided for a ¾ day play on both issues is that in the event they should change over to the other issue they could then play it at the maximum number of days without the necessity of putting through any rider to cover the change. At present they are using the Even Issue three days, Sunday-Monday-Tuesday and the Odd Issue two days, Wednesday-Thursday. Inasmuch as we permit them to play one issue ¾ days at $15.00 and the rental of the other issue is the same I cannot see any objection to our providing for a ¾ day play on the other issue. After all they only have seven days at their Rialto Theatre and under the circumstances can only play one issue four days and the other three. While we did discuss this in our telephone conversation of today regarding the possibility of carrying one issue over to the other house and playing it the maximum number of four days, they don't do as much business at their Strand Theatre or "B" house to warrant any increase in rental.

Carthage—Scores: Our average here this year was $2.18 per picture involving $78.48 based on the 46 picture commitment covering 36 flat rental pictures. We added the scores to the remaining group and the difference is brought about by the fact that the deal has been set up on the basis of a 100% feature commitment or six additional pictures.

Shorts: While in previous years the short subject contract was drawn up on the basis of ½ days, I think this was more or less an error as the contract should have provided for the maximum playing time of ⅔ days the same as the feature contract.

[fol. 6032] Glens Falls (2nd run)—Clearance: Our previous contracts with Schine in this situation have always provided for sixty days clearance over third run, and while it may be excessive, this clearance has been set up and George Lynch insisted on carrying it through for the future.

Gloversville (1st run)—Scores: Our average on the scores this year amounted to $2.73 per picture. In order to make it an even amount we set the scores up on the basis of $2.50 per picture which was added to the "D" or remaining group.

Gloversville (2nd run)—Scores: This year we averaged $2.78 per picture. In order to make it an even amount we set the scores up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Hamilton—Scores: Here we averaged $3.01 per picture. George Lynch insisted that we set up the scores here on the basis of $2.50 per picture because of the theatre going to have a greater number of double feature changes.

Herkimer—Scores: This year we averaged $2.75 per picture. In order to make it an even amount, the scores were set up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Shorts: Same explanation as Carthage.

Clearance: We did not change the clearance in this situation, for although it was omitted from our prior franchise, we have always served Herkimer 14 days after Utica. From Theatre to Theatre the distance is in excess of fifteen miles.

Hudson Falls—Scores: Here we averaged $3.19 per picture. In order to make it an even amount we set the scores up on the basis of $3.00 per picture.

Ilion—Scores: This year we averaged $2.95 per picture. In order to make it an even amount and as George Lynch would not agree to $3.00 it was set up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Increase days on "C" and "D" groups: George Lynch informed me that he had an understanding with you that the number of days for the features on all contracts would read 2 or 3 days.

Clearance: While there is no theatre in Mohawk the contracts always provided for clearance over this situation. It did operate in the silent days and the way theatres are springing up in the small towns they insisted that the clearance over Mohawk be included in the contract the same as previous years.

Little Falls—Scores: This year we averaged $2.34 per picture. He agreed to increase the 20 pictures in the "C" group from $35.00 to $40.00 or $100.00, and while it gives us a few dollars more than we earned on the scores last year, it was to make up for some of the situations where we were obliged to leave off the odd amounts resulting in less score rental.

Shorts: Same explanation as Carthage.

[fol. 6033] Malone—Scores: Here we averaged $2.08 per picture and the scores were set up on the basis of $2.00 per picture. On the original basis of a 46 picture commitment it left 35 pictures in the flat rental group which involved $70.00 in view of which we added $3.50 to the "C" group of 20 pictures. When changing the deal to a 100% feature commitment we failed to pick up the scores on the additional six pictures of $12.00.

Clearance over Brushton: While there is no theatre in this situation, it did operate in the silent days, but the fact remains that their contracts always carried clearance over this situation.

Clearance over second-run: While last year's contract did not provide for any clearance over second-run it was understood that it would be 60 days. As they want to be consistent they set up their own subsequent runs on the basis of 60 days which is the same clearance that they demand and get over independent subsequent runs.

Massena—Scores: Here we averaged $2.32 per picture. In setting up the scores we added $5.00 to the "C" group of 16 pictures involving $80.00. On the original basis of 46 picture commitment which left 36 pictures in the flat rental group the total amount involved $83.52 so it is only a question of $3.52 because of our leaving the odd amount off.

Norwich—Scores: Here we averaged $2.50 per picture. In setting up the scores we added $2.50 per picture.

Increased days on "C" and "D" groups: Same explanation as Ilion.

Clearance over Mount Upton: While there is no theatre in this situation one did operate during the silent days. It is situated between Norwich and Sidney. Although last year's contract did not include clearance over Mount Upton in previous years the contract did carry provision for this clearance. If a theatre should open in Mount Upton they are most certainly entitled to 30 days clearance.

Oneonta (1st run)—Here we averaged $3.63 per picture. George Lynch insisted that the scores be set up on the basis of $3.00 per picture which amount was added to the flat rental groups.

Clearance: Regarding the clearance over Cherry Valley and Worcester and while last year's contract did not provide for any they have always enjoyed clearance over these situations. Your contract records will show that Cherry Valley follows Cooperstown and Richfield Springs, Cooperstown playing after Oneonta while Richfield Springs plays after Cooperstown and Ilion. Worcester had always played 30 days after Oneonta although last year's contract did not carry this provision.

Oneonto (2nd run)—Scores: While all of the repeat pictures were played single feature last year, their present policy is double-feature and because of this George Lynch insisted that the scores be set up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Clearance: While last year's contract provided for 30 days clearance after first-run in order to be consistent with their demands for 60 days over independent subsequent runs they insisted on setting up 60 days clearance [fol. 6034] in this situation after their own first-run operation.

Ogdensburg—Scores: In this situation we averaged $2.85 per picture. In order to make it an even amount the new deal was set up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Increased days on "C" and "D" groups: Same explanation as Ilion.

Saranac Lake—Shorts increased days: Same explanation as Carthage.

Tupper Lake—Scores: In this situation we averaged $3.50 per picture. George Lynch contends that practically everything in this situation is now double-features in view of which he insisted that the scores be set up on the basis of $2.50 per picture.

Watertown (1st run)—Clearance over Dexter: While there is no theatre in Dexter one did operate in the silent days which also applies to Philadelphia and Theresa and their contracts always carried clearance over these situations.

Watertown (2nd run)—For your information the clause permitting them to play pictures in the Palace Theatre does not affect the Strand Theatre which is third-run. Their second-run contract permits them to play pictures second-run at either the Olympic or Palace Theatre after first-run Avon, or second-run at their Palace for those pictures playing first-run at the Olympic. As a matter of fact their contract further provides that any pictures playing first-run at the Olympic or Palace may be cancelled.

Yours very truly, M. Grassgreen, Branch Manager.

DEAR SYDNEY:

I have your letter of June 27th regarding the discrepancies in the Schine Circuit deal and I cannot reconcile myself to your excuse that the difference is due to the fact that you did not have time and you did not want to wait until the entire Schine office checked these score charges.

You say the difference in your territory is $198.00 but don't forget that is $198.00 times three because it is a three year deal and when you start to figure up $600. in your territory and the other hundreds in the other territories, it runs into a considerable amount of money.

I want what I am entitled to and I cannot see any reason why you should pass up this money so lightly. As far as clearances are concerned, your explanation for Courtland, Lockport and Salamanca seems to be reasonable.

As far as Oswego is concerned, frankly, I don't know what you are talking about. Even if the 15 pictures do play at the Capital Theatre, at $34.50 what happens to the other 9 pictures in the D group? We are entitled to our score here. Here again I must criticize you for passing up our money so lightly.

The way you have the deal worked out, the only way we can recoup any of our score charge is for the pictures to play at the Capitol Theatre and by your own admission, they may not play there, so we are passing up $66.00 in score charge money.

I don't think we should go for it and I want you to change these deals in accordance with what we should get.

Please let me know when they are taken care of.

Very truly yours, W. Sussman. William Sussman.

Dear Sir:

Regarding the reduction on some of your product, I must insist upon it, definitely. The Schine Amusement Co. has been playing first run product in the Ben Ali at 16¢ matinee bal-ancy price and second run at the Strand at 16¢ lower floor matinee price with double features. It is impossible for me to take in enough to pay the expense on many of the program pictures because in showing them I, too, must double feature and expense is too great for the ineffectual drawing power that many of the program pictures have.

I believe I have been very fair in giving you preferred playing time on percentage, on most pictures, many of which should not be thus allocated.

I hope to receive a reply immediately.

Yours truly, Harry Schwartz.

This is in reference to contracts submitted under date of Feb. 19th on Emperor Jones, $35.—2 days and Henry Eighth, $35. 2 days for the Palace Theatre, 2nd run in Lockport, N. Y. with no explanation on forms #41.

We do not understand why you submit these contracts inasmuch as we already have existing second run contracts with the Hi-Art Theatre, namely—Henry Eighth $30.—2 days, Emperor Jones $30.—2 days.

Evidently these Palace contracts are to supercede the existing contracts with the Hi-Art. However, we are not sure about this and we would like to have an explanation from you.

We are holding these two contracts pending receipt of your reply.

Reply

Our agreement with Schine on the second run contracts was that they were for the Class B house, and any picture which Schine could not play in his Class A house first run, were to play in the Class B house on preferred playing time, and the second run contract cancelled out.

This situation is one where the two pictures in question were played at the Class B house first run; and we were able to resell the second run to the opposition house at more money.

Form 51 to cover is going thru to Home Office today.

The agreement with Schine as regards second run contracts is that those pictures which they cannot play in their Class A house, first run, will play in the Class B house first run, and the second run contract for the Class B house is to be cancelled out.

In this instance, we have resold both these subjects at a higher rate, for second run in Lockport to the opposition house.

In re: Strand-Liberty Theatres, Watertown, N. Y., Run 3

Up to last season, we sold the Avon or Olympic Theatres in this town first run, and then sold the Strand second run.

When we sold Schine last year for the 33-34 group, he bought our product for the Avon or Olympic Theatre, first run, and also made a deal with him to play our product second run at the Olympic Theatre, inasmuch as there was an additional theatre opening up there, namely the Palace, in order to protect his first run in the town, he felt that if he bought the pictures for second run also, he could protect himself by getting longer clearance in this town.

After selling Schine both runs, we made a deal with the Strand Theatre for third run on the same group of pictures. This theatre was always our second run account previously and in making a deal with him, we secured the same prices that we had secured from him for second run in past years. As none of the pictures were available at that time with the change of runs in Watertown, and did not become available to him for several months thereafter, the man did not know how the Olympic would affect his business, and as stated previous , it was several months before he was able to play the pictures and then found that the grosses on the third run in town were about one-half of what they were when he bought and played second run, with the result that he would not play the pictures unless we adjusted the prices.

If you will look at the cards, you will notice that the Strand Theatre, third run, pays us considerably more money than Schine does for second run, for you realize that we took every dollar we could possibly get out of this situation for third run on our product. Every possible effort was made on our part for the past several months to get these pictures played off per contract, but it is simply impossible to do so unless we can get an adjustment of the prices to more equitable terms in accordance with the business done.

By granting him a reduction of 25% on all the pictures, I believe we can get these played off. Please advise.

In re: Palace Theatre, Lockport, N. Y.

The above situation which we have recently sold the unplayed pictures of this season, is a Schine opposition, and is really the best theatre in the town, having the best location and being a modern up-to-date house.

I have a proposition from them today for the following pictures:

Miserables, 40% gross receipts, 5 days including Sunday,

Richelieu, 35% gross receipts, 4 days including Sunday,

Let Em Have It, 30% gross receipts, 4 days, including Saturday or Sunday.

We have been having so much difficulty in getting together with Schine, and while we have not had the results we anticipated from this house so far, I attribute it mainly to the fact that we haven't had a picture on which we could get a break for the reason that we sold this house so late in the season. I honestly believe that there is an opportunity to get some money out of this town and in this situation, and I would like to have the Home Office duly consider all the facts in this case, and if acceptable, approve this deal so that we can get an early run on the pictures, while they are fresh in the minds of the public and see just what we can do in this theatre.

I wish you would take this up with Harry and see what his reaction is and let me have an early reply as to the Home Office attitude in regard to same.

It is necessary for us to hold the contracts recently submitted covered by #41's, #106747-#106751 inclusive.

Before considering the deal, we want to be absolutely certain as to the clearance following ten days after Herkimer.

We do not want to encounter any difficulty with the Schine Circuit insofar as clearance is concerned; therefore, we want to be definitely assured that the clearance as submitted in the contracts is satisfactory to the Schine Company.

It is necessary for us to hold the contracts recently submitted covered by #41's, #106747-#106751 inclusive.

Before considering the deal, we want to be absolutely certain as to the clearance following ten days after Herkimer.

We do not want to encounter any difficulty with the Schine Circuit insofar as clearance is concerned; therefore, we want to be definitely assured that the clearance as submitted in the contracts is satisfactory to the Schine Company.

Inter Office Letter

Date, 9/16/37.

From: (Office) Buffalo, (Dept.) Office Mgr., (Name) J. A. Bykowski.

To: (Office) Buffalo, (Dept.) Sales, (Name) S. Lehman.

DEAR MR. LEHMAN:

Following is the resume of Schine's clearances, which I consider unfair and should be altered for the 1937-38 season.

Situations that are not mentioned in this letter at all meet with our approval and, therefore, no comment is necessary.

Buffalo, Granada

This situation has always been open booking with Kenmore and as you know, we sold Shea Kenmore on percentage basis and their clearance calls for the same availability as the North Park theatre. This means that according to the Shea set up, we will be unable to give Schine open booking with Kenmore.

I called Bob Murphy on this matter and he was unable to give me any idea how they will book this zone. He did, however, state that it depends on the exchanges when selling Schine.

If they sell the Granada to follow Kenmore, all well and good, but, if the sale is made the same as in the past—open booking with Kenmore, then the Kenmore contracts will have to be altered to conform with that run.

Buffalo, Riverside

In view of the fact that Murphy does not know how the booking for the Kenmore will be done this coming season, I am unable to make any definite statement with reference to this situation.

However, if we are to live up to the present Kenmore contracts, which call for the same availability as Shea's North Park, Kenmore would have to be served ahead of the Riverside, whereas the Riverside theatre in the past had protection of fourteen days over the Kenmore. This, I believe, will also be left up to the discretion of the exchanges.

Geneva

You will find that they request thirty days ahead of Lyons. This town will have to be left out of the Geneva protection entirely as it is our intention to cut the Newark protection over this town; which, if we did, Geneva would interfere as they ofttimes book Newark anywhere from seven to ten days after Geneva.

Newark

The thirty days protection that they have over Clyde, Lyons and Palmyra should be cut down to not more than ten days. As near as I can determine one of the major Distributors serves these three situations ten days after Newark, whereas ours calls for 30.

[fol. 6049] As you know dou*d*t know, this has been the biggest sore spot in Schine's protection and should be cut accordingly.

Oswego

Here is another spot that ofttimes causes a great deal of trouble and I believe that the number of days asked ahead of Fulton is unfair.

This should be no more than fourteen days, which, in my estimation, I think is plenty.

Rochester, Dixie, Liberty, Riviera, State

Although you will note that they have various protections listed for these situations, it does not mean much because in the past we also received a supplementary rider, whereby Schine had to play these four situations within three weeks of available date or lose their protection.

In other words, first run gets thirty days, which would make any pictures available for these situations on the 31st day after first run. The runs following Schine, which usualy are the Fenyvessy houses, could, according to this set-up, get the pictures 21 days later whether Schine was dated or not.

It was, therefore, safe for me to make the Fenyvessy houses available at the same time or 52 days after first run. However, we never experienced any trouble here, inasmuch — Schine has always dated the pictures within that three week period, but for our protection, believe that the same set-up should be made this coming season.

The supplementary rider reads as follows: In order that there won't be any misunderstanding deal made for our Rochester houses are for second, third, fourth, fifth run all to be played within twenty one days or run waived.

The balance of the situations in Rochester are okay.

Salamanca

I believe Franklinville, over which town they ask thirty days, should be left out. Last year was the first season that this protection was requested and why, I cannot say.

I believe it unfair for the reason that Franklinville is quite a distance away from Salamanca and not even on the road between Buffalo and Salamanca. Franklinville is situated between Buffalo and Olean and in order for people from this town to go to Salamanca they would have to go either by way of Olean or up north a few miles and turn left on the road leading to Salamanca.

It is needless for me to say that anything you can do to cut down the protections in accordance with this letter will be of great help to us and enable us to serve a good many of our accounts without hard feelings.

Re: Schine Deal, 1938-39

Attached hereto are schedules showing the terms for the pictures of the 1938-39 season that we have sold to Schine.

Relative to the percentage contracts, the following clauses will apply:

It is agreed that the exhibitor shall have the right to deduct the cost of the second feature and bank night in all situations where this policy prevails, and it is understood that only one of these deductions is to be permitted on any of these engagements. The deduction to be made from the gross receipts.

In the percentage towns where the pictures are played on a midnight show, terms for the midnight show to be 5% less than the original terms.

Although playing time is stipulated on the percentage contracts, we have incorporated the following:

Playing time to be mutually agreed upon.

In connection with the flat rental situations, the following clauses will apply:

In all situations where a flat rental picture is used on a midnight show and the midnight show engagement exceeds the number of days the picture is contracted for, the price of the midnight show is to be $10.00.

In any flat rental situation or situations where a picture is used above the contracted number of days, the terms for such additional day or days to be 50% per diem rate.

We have placed the interchange clause on each of the contracts that Mr. Bert Stearn now has. Just as soon as these contracts are signed, we shall send you your copies.

Dear Bill:

In accordance with your booking request of March 17th, we herewith confirm the change of date on "Drums" from the Olympic-Watertown May 25-26 to the Palace theatre May 28-29.

I notice that your second run dates in this situation are way past availability.

We have always experienced trouble with subsequent runs in Watertown because of ~~the fact~~ that you held up your own second run bookings sixty days after first run and insisted on sixty days protection over third run.

We certainly cannot wait five or six months before making pictures available to the sub runs if we were to base the availabilities on the dates recently given us.

I am, therefore, making the picture available to third run 120 days after first run Watertown, which, I think, is reasonable.

Kindest regards.

Dear George:

In line with your conversation with Charlie Stern, I am listing herewith the discrepancies between your 1938-39 clearance and the clearance sheet for 1939-40.

Amsterdam—Rialto, Strand or Regent should read first run.

Gloversville should read first run; 40 days over Johnstown instead of 45 with no clearance over Canajoharie.

Norwich should read 14 days over Oxford and Sidney and not 30 days.

Oneonta should read 14 days over Cooperstown instead of 30 with no clearance over Stamford.

Saranac Lake should read 14 days ahead of Lake Placid.

Inasmuch as we have predicated our deals with other exhibitors on the basis of our last year's clearance, we are changing your 1939-40 clearance to so read.

As a matter of record between your Company and ours, we would appreciate an acknowledgment of this letter.

Dear Charles:

I am in receipt of a letter from Eddie Mullens in reference to clearance for the 1939-40 contracts.

Amsterdam—he is correct on. It should read first run.

Gloversville—he writes that the clearance should be 40 days over Johnstown instead of 45 days with no clearance over Canajoharie. If he will check up last year's contract, he will find it reads "45 days over Johnstown, 30 days over Canajoharie".

Norwich—he is correct in advising that the clearance should read 14 days over Oxford and Sidney.

Oneonta—he is correct, the clearance should read "14 days over Cooperstown with no clearance over Stamford.

Saranac Lake—the clearance here should read 14 days ahead of Lake Placid.

This will acknokledge receipt of your letter of December 26th regarding the clearances.

After rechecking, I find that the clearance which you signed with Bert Stearn for the 1938-39 product did carry clearance from Gloversville over Canajoharie. However, in checking back further, I find that in previous years there was no clearance from Gloversville over Canajoharie in our contracts.

I believe the fact that this clearance was inserted last year was an oversight on the part of you and Bert Stearn, and we would sincerely appreciate a further check by you, and if you can do so eliminate this clearance on our present contract.

Dear Charlie:

Relative to the conversation we had while in Pittsburgh, of the pictures left out of the Schine deal, and which I would like to sell in Mt. Vernon and Van Wert to the opposition, am herewith listing same:

Divorce of Lady X
Fire Over England
Troop Ship
Dreaming Lips
Accused
Thief in the Night

As regards Van Wert, am not so much concerned about that situation as we can sell a second run there without giving that account any first run pictures.

However, regarding Mt. Vernon, the only reason why we could secure a second run deal on all of our product was due to the fact that we could give the exhibitor—first run pictures, which he needs badly, and incidentally, we can sell same at very respectable prices.

Am sure that George Lynch will cooperate with you in allowing us to sell these pictures to the opposition in Mt. Vernon.

Your kind cooperation in informing me as soon as possible will be appreciated by the writer as I am holding the entire deal, both first and second run, pending your advice that it meets with Lynch's approval for us to sell these pictures to the opposition in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Charles Stern

Dear Charlie:

In the Cleveland office, I am right down to scratch to get new deals and every possibility means a lot to me. Am referring now to the Mt. Vernon situation. As you know, when Andy Smith made the deal for Schine, he omitted the following pictures in Mt. Vernon:

Divorce of Lady X
Accused
When Thief Meets Thief
Dreaming Lips
Troopship
Fire Over England

There is no legitimate second run in the town. However, the Cleveland office was able to go in there and sell the Schine opposition a second run and the little sugar we had to use were the few pictures that Schine did not buy first run and which this exhibitor did buy first run.

The prices secured are way ahead of the prices we had on Schine and personally, I do not think that Schine would ever pick these pictures up. The exhibitor will not accept approval on the second run deal until we are able to approve these few pictures for first run.

You are a lot more intimate with Schine than I am. Will you therefore please see what you can do to get this matter okayed on these few first run pictures. Will greatly appreciate anything you can do to expedite this matter.

Why don't you drop me a line once in a while and let me know what's new?

Kindest regards.

1936-1937 FEATURE RELEASES

Release Schedule FINAL No. 1

(SUBJECT TO CHANGE) FEBRUARY 5th—PLEASE DESTROY PREVIOUS ISSUES

A PROMISE MORE THAN FULFILLED!

This release schedule, listing the 20th Century-Fox Pictures for the first six months of the current season, gives us a lot of satisfaction.

It represents a record of accomplishment in which 20th more than made good its promises to you.

It shows a steady stream of outstanding product — to keep your theatre prosperous week in and week out.

And out of that powerful array of box office pictures have come new personalities to thrill your audiences: Simone Simon, Tyrone Power, Sonja Henie, Don Ameche, the Ritz Brothers, to mention a few.

There's nothing in show business like a 20th Century-Fox contract!

1936 - 1937 FEATURE RELEASES

Release Schedule FINAL No. 2

(SUBJECT TO CHANGE. JULY 7th, 1937—PLEASE DESTROY PREVIOUS ISSUES

GET IT WHILE THE GETTING'S GOOD!

The money you don't take in today can never be made up. Something to consider during the rest of 1936-1937.

Exhibitors who gave "Wake Up and Live" the advance campaign it rates are far richer than the man who waited before he got busy. And that goes for "Cafe Metropole" and the other big ones.

"This Is My Affair," "Slave Ship" and "Wee Willie Winkie" are yet before you. It's not too early to start planning big campaigns for them now with extra-playing time in mind . . . besides those extra-juicy pickings early in the run.

20th has been giving you plenty of boxoffice hits. Have you been getting the most out of them?

Schine Enterprises, Inc.,
Gloversville, N. Y.

October 24, 1932.

Mr. Jack Sichelman,
Fox Film Corporation,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Jack:

Myer Schine has referred me to your letter dated October 21st regarding Bellefontaine. Perhaps, Jack, you are not acquainted with what has happened in Bellefontaine. The man who has opened up the Court Theatre was a former employee of ours and due to numerous things which happened during his employment he was let out. He then took over the old Opera House in Bellefontaine and got two men to put up some money and opened up in opposition to us.

The only product which he has been able to buy has been from independent companies. There has not been a major company that has sold him any product. He has advertised in the newspapers that they should patronize local people. He has bucked chain operation and is selling the product for 10¢ and 15¢, children 5¢, not only this but he has flooded the entire town with passes and I am quite sure that it is not your company's intent to encourage opposition of this kind.

If it was possible for us to play second run you may rest assured that we would certainly do it but I believe you will agree with me that a town such as the size of Bellefontaine is not large enough for a first and second run house. We are charging a top of 40¢ admission at our Holland Theatre and we don't want to have the distributing companies make it impossible for us to continue getting this price. I am quite positive that if you will take this matter up and explain to Mr. J. R. Grainger, the things which I have mentioned to you in this letter, he will agree with me that you should not sell second run.

I have also written Mr. Schmertz advising him that we will take the remaining pictures which we did not buy first run,

DEAR DAVE:

Lou Goldstein advised me that Mr. Bork notified him that it was compulsory for us to play 20 pictures second run at the Capitol Theatre, Oswego.

In checking up our contract, I find that technically Mr. Bork is right insofar as the contract reads this way. However, in checking over the deal sheets signed by Sig Wittman, it clearly states that I am to repeat at the Capitol Theatre second run on all pictures which are played first run at the Strand.

I would appreciate it if you would kindly look at the copy of your deal sheet and I believe you will find I am correct in this matter. Then, I would appreciate it if you would kindly advise Mr. Bork regarding this.

Very truly yours, Geo. V. Lynch.

DEAR GEORGE:

Acknowledging yours of May 8th, with reference to the Capitol, Oswego contract, please be advised that, while I was not present at the time you made the deal with Mr. Wittman, I subsequently sent you contracts, for second runs in Oswego, Corning and Lockport, calling for twenty (20) pictures in each situation, so that we could definitely set up our records covering this transaction, and you signed these contracts and returned them to me, which were then forwarded to New York for approval.

We have no alternative, therefore, but to consider that you are obligated to play twenty (20) pictures second run in each one of these situations.

In view of the impending complaints being brought against you by opposition exhibitors, in just such situations as this, it is my suggestion that you follow through on the terms of these contracts, rather than allow the record to stand as of your deal sheet with Mr. Wittman, which merely allows you to hold up the playing of all of these pictures, in these situations, without any definite commitment.

If you will consult with Mr. Myer Schine, regarding these remarks, I think he will agree that this is good advice. Kindest regards.

Sincerely yours, Universal Film Exchanges, Inc.,

PERSONAL

Mr. Myer Schine
Schine Enterprises, Inc,
Gloversville, N. Y.

DEAR MYER:

In accordance with our 'phone conversation, regarding Perry, N. Y., I am submitting herewith grosses on some of our pictures played during the 1932-33 Season, most of which played during 1933. We did not sell the exhibitor last year.

Title	No. Days
Invisible Man	2	$254.60
Moonlight And Pretzels	3	398.90
Her First Mate	2	323.60
Secret Of The Blue Room	2	248.60
Don't Bet On Love	2	[illegible]5.35
King Of Jazz	3	336.60
Kiss Before The Mirror	2	139.85
Out All Night	2	223.65
Cohens & Kellys In Trouble	2	254.50
Big Cage	3	225.60
Private Jones	3	207.15
They Just Had To Get Married	2	262.75
Old Dark House	2	185.45
Air Mail	3	266.80
All American	3	212.10
Once In A Lifetime	2	220.95

These grosses represent playdates on every change of the week, and it is very apparent that the average daily business, in this theatre, is well over $100.00.

[fol. 6096] The theatre is located in an old Town Hall, seating about 650, including a balcony. The Post Office is in the same building.

The town has a population of a little less than 5000, and is, virtually, isolated, the next town, of any consequence, being Warsaw, which is about ten miles away.

Perry has a Knitting Mills, and a Cutlery Works, which are working consistently, besides which, it is the center of a rich farming community—if a farming community can be considered rich these days.

Personally, I would liken the town, in many ways, to Cortland although, naturally, its possibilities are reduced considerably, because of the reduced population as against Cortland.

The exhibitor, now operating the theatre, can hardly be termed a "showman", in any sense of the word, ~~and~~, undoubtedly, has made a lot of money in this town, despite himself.

I feel sure that this situation will bear investigation on your part.

I have tried to locate George Rosing, and have left word for him to get in touch with me at which time I will advise him regarding your desire to see him in Gloversville.

Kindest personal regards.

Sincerely yours, Universal Film Exchanges, Inc.,
Dave Miller, Resident Manager.

[fol. 6097a] This deal represents an additional run in the town. Incidentally, this is our initial Third Run representation. This house was formerly our Second Run outlet, but was shoved out when Schine insisted upon a Second Run for the town.

Because of the manner in which Schine operates in their First Run we could not better the 18-picture commitment.

The Western pictures, which are Second Run, played the leading role in lining up the feature proposition.

Rentals are equitable for this situation, which is operating with a 10¢ admission price.

Recommend acceptance.

Re: Reliance Theatres, Inc.

DEAR MR. SCHIMEL:

Relative your letter of July 15th, I am attaching hereto copies of correspondence and contracts in connection with the action referred to.

As is pointed out in our reply to their letter of April 29th, 1933, we have a franchise with Schine which prohibited our negotiating deals with Reliance until Schine eliminated pictures.

In line with this procedure, we sold Reliance the following subjects on the dates and at the terms listed below:

8/26–38/34	I Give My Love	25% of gross)
8/29/ 8/29–30/34	The Love Captive	25% " ")
8/31–9/2/34	Embarrassing Moments	25% " ")	First
9/30–10/2/34	All Quiet on Western Front	25% " ")	Run
10/3–4/34	Countess of Monte Cristo	25% " ")
10/5–6/34	Uncertain Lady	25% " ")
10/31–11/1/34	Affairs of a Gentleman	25% " ")

They also used of the 1933–34 releases;

16	16 comedies	— $7.50 each
8 single reels		" $3.50 each and $5.00 each

Six (6) issues of our NEWS were spot booked at $10.00 each and they terminated the agreementthe agreement of their own volition.

On the previous Season's product, we sold the following:

3/22–34/34	Airmail	$17.50)
3/13–14/34	Kiss Before the Mirror	17.50)	Second
3/11–12/34	Secret of the Blue Room	17.50)	Run
3/22–24/34	King of Jazz	17.50)

Also:

1 two-reeler @ $7.50 and 2 one-reelers @ $5.50 each

1/21–24/34	The Rebel	$50.00)
1/21–24/34	Fighting President	15.00)	First Run
1/27–30/24	Be Mine Tonight	50.00)

[fol. 6099]

Together with:

1/17–18 and 1/19–20/34	2 two-reelers @ $10.00 each
4/22–24/34	1 Strange As It Seemb @ $5.00
1/12–13/34	1 Oswald Cartoon @ $5.00
1/14–16/34	World's Greatest Thrills $10.00
1/7–9 and 1/14–15/34	2 Radio Acts @ $10.00 each

7/14–15/33	Laughter in Hell	$50.00 vs 20%)
7/21–22/33	Nagana	50.00 " 20%)	First
7/23–25/33	Old Dark House	50.00 " 20%)	Run
5/11–13/33	Afraid to Talk	50.00 " 20%)

On the 1931-32 Group, we sold second run after Schine:

8/30-31/33	Waterloo Bridge	$20.00
5/18-20/33	Reckless Living	20.00
8/13-14/33	Unexpected Father	20.00
9/7-9/33	Impatient Maiden	20.00
8/16-17/33	Back Street	25.00
8/18-19/33	Radio Patrol	20.00
10/25-26/33	Night World	20.00
7/2-4/33	Fast Companions	20.00
8/16-17	C. & K. in Hollywood	20.00
5/11-13	Brown of Culver	20.00
5/25-27	Scandal for Sale	20.00

On the current Season's product, we have offered them the following pictures, eliminated by Schine, which they have not seen fit to buy as yet, although notification was made by Salesman Siegel to Mr. Grafiades in this office, some months ago. These pictures are:

Great Expectations.
Cheating Cheaters.
Rendezvous at Midnight.

We are attaching also, for your further edification, correspondence in one of the Code Authority cases brought jointly against Schine and various Distributers including ourselves.

The financial responsibility of Reliance, insofar as we are concerned, is good, inasmuch as their bills have been paid promptly and without question.

Mr. A. Schimel:

We would appreciate your returning the contracts and correspondence after it has served its purpose.

Sincerely yours, Nate Sauber, Resident Manager.

DEAR DAVE:

Just spoke to George Lynch and he okayed the $7.50 News for Wooster. I am submitting contract to him today for signature, inasmuch as he would not let me sign same, due to the fact that he has a partner in Wooster and wanted his own signature on the contract in case of any trouble later on.

In Bucyrus, he wants our product and will make a deal with you direct.

In Van Wert, he wants you to get out of your second run and resell first run, as he does not want this other theatre to establish a second run policy in the town. He claims that he spoke to Mr. McCarthy about this about a week ago, and Mr. McCarthy agreed with him that it would be best to let this other fellow play our pictures first run.

He also claims that no other Company will sell this other theatre second run, and if he allowed us to sell him second run he is afraid all other companies will follow, and thereby establish a second run in the town.

Kindest regards.

Re: Schine Commitments.

Dear Mr. McCarthy:

The attached sheets show short product commitment for the Schine Theatrical Enterprises. It is not a very healthy commitment. However, George gives the following reasons for not buying shorts in the towns we have left out:

Buffalo Territory

Bath: Double feature policy.

All Buffalo Theatres: Double feature policy. Will continue to spot-book both shorts and serials as heretofore at same rentals. Does not contract for shorts or serials with any Company. (I doubt it.)

Canandaigua: Double feature policy.

Corning: Double feature policy.

Lockport: Double feature policy.

Newark: Double feature policy.

Rochester: Same as Buffalo Theatres. Will continue to spot-book at same rentals as heretofore.

Salamanca: Double feature policy.

Syracuse: First and second run—will spot-book at same rentals as heretofore. Claims no commitment with any other Company, but I know that Warners and RKO both had commitments with former operators.

Ohio Territory

Bellefontaine: Double feature policy.

Norwalk: Double feature policy.

Wooster: Double feature policy.

[fol. 6105]

Albany Territory

Herkimer: Double feature policy.

Lake Placid: Bought ten single reels last year—eight are still undated and unplayed.

Massena: Bought ten single reels last year and seven are unplayed.

Norwich: Double feature policy.

Saranac Lake: Double feature policy.

Watertown: Double feature policy. One theatre burned. Still has thirteen undated singles.

Did not make any feature or short product deal for Athens, Bucyrus or Van Wert in Ohio. Meyer would not go along on the same formula for the top pictures in Athens, offering me the same as Bellefontaine. Lynch suggested that he make the deal later direct with Mr. Krieger for this town.

In Bucyrus there was no deal made in New York, and Lynch suggested that he make his deal direct with Dave Miller. He wants the pictures in this town, although, they still haven't a theatre.

In Van Wert, Dave Miller advises that upon Mr. Grainger's suggestion, he took away the first run from the opposition and sold him a second run. Lynch claims that he does not want a second run policy to prevail at the second run opposition and has promises from other major companies that they will not sell second run. Wants Dave Miller to reinstate first run at opposition as they will give up the pictures for this town.

All contracts are signed with the exception of Auburn, first and second runs, Syracuse, and Roosevelt Theatre, Buffalo. These contracts Mr. Lynch kept because they have to be countersigned by his partners.

I would suggest that you check up with Nate Sauber and Dave Miller, also Mr. Krieger as to whether or not the towns mentioned by Lynch as being strictly double features are so.

Dear Paul:

We are encl-sing herewith contracts covering the Schine Circuit for Piqua, Athens and Delaware, Ohio.

If clearances stated on these contracts are not what other major companies granted Schine, you are then to take this matter up directly with George Lynch in Gloversville. It is my understanding with him that clearances as written in these contracts are the same as granted to him by other major companies.

Please have Comparative Price Schedules made out and submitted to New York this week, as Mr. Grainger would like to have these contracts cleared immediately.

Dear George:

You will recall when I spoke to you over the 'phone last week you were going to let me know by Thursday, December 30th, just what your plans were regarding our 1937-38 product in Medina, Ohio. Up to this writing I have heard nothing from you. At the same time the new opposition house has opened in Medina and we have had numerous requests from them for our product, and I am sure that I can get a very equitable deal from these people in view of this situation. You know, George, that I have been holding this product for you for the past six months and while I don't want to do anything that might be misconstrued by you or Meyer or Louis, certainly your attitude in this particular instance is most unfair, and I must ask that you advise by return mail whether or not you want to make a deal for our product in the Medina situation.

Unless I hear from you by the end of this week, I will consider that you are not interested and I will proceed to make a deal with the opposition house. I feel that in justice to Universal I have no alternative.

Kindest personal regards.

Inter-office Correspondence

From Exchange N—Cleveland.

Date: 1/21/38.

Mr. F. J. A. McCarthy, Eastern Sales Manager, Home Office.

Dear Mr. McCarthy:

Apropos of the Bellevue situation, and prior to that, Shelby, I would like to call to your attention Medina, Ohio, and some of the typical Schine maneuvers involving Universal.

On March 19, 1937, within a few days after we had received a letter from Fine and Essick advising us that they were going into Medina, Ohio, and asking us to hold our product for them, I received the following letter from George Lynch:

"This is to advise that we have taken over the Princess Theatre in Medina, Ohio, and will be in a position to use your product. I will be very glad to make an appointment at your convenience to consummate a deal."

Copy of this letter was sent to Mr. J. R. Grainger. I immediately acknowledged this letter and asked Lynch to further advise whether or not he would be in Cleveland within the next week or whether he felt I should come to Gloversville to arrange this deal, and I sent you a copy of this letter. I recall distinctly that within the next few days, when talking to you over the phone, you advised me not to go to Gloversville.

Later, our Schine deal was received here with no mention whatsoever of a deal for Medina, and I have since then written several reminders to the Home Office about this situation but have had no action from Schine in Medina.

About four weeks ago both Fine and Essick made inquiries regarding our product for their house in Medina, and I tried to get direct from Lynch some admission as to what Schine's plans were, and finally, after Lynch had promised me as of a certain date that he would let me know definitely, and having not kept his promise, I wrote him on [fol. 6110] January 4th giving him my ultimatum regarding this situation; copy of this letter was sent to you at that time and I am attaching a copy of same herewith. I heard nothing further from Lynch and in the meantime Fine and Essick were still pressing as to what our intentions were. I finally called Lynch on the phone on Monday after Grainger was in my office, and asked him just what he expected to do in Medina, and he informed me that he did not want to commit himself in writing but that it would be okay for us to sell our product. This "permission" being given to us ten months after he had asked us to hold the product.

Now we find it difficult to consummate a deal with Fine and Essick because of Fine's attitude towards playing Universal pictures on percentage and we are again a victim of the old Schine machine.

The above is for your information.

Kindest regards.

Sincerely yours, Dave Miller, Branch Manager.

January 27th, 1938.

Mr. George Lynch,
Schine Theatrical Enterprise Co.,
Gloversville, N. Y.

DEAR GEORGE:

Prior to March 19th of last year our Cleveland office received a letter from Fine and Essick, advising him that they were going into Medina, Ohio, and wished to purchase our product for that situation. Before Mr. Miller could enter into any negotiations with these gentlemen he received a letter from you requesting that he hold our product for your use in Medina. At that time you advised him you were taking over the Princess Theatre, and you would shortly be in Cleveland to negotiate with him for that situation.

Pursuantly nothing had developed for our Cleveland branch, altho Fine and Essick had been consistently and persistently endeavoring to buy Universal product from the Cleveland office without success, because of your letter to Mr. Miller. However, on January 4th Mr. Miller wrote you on this matter, and stated that if he had heard nothing from you at the end of that week he would take it for granted that you had no intention of buying our product there, and would, to the best of his ability dispose of the product. I also understand that Mr. Miller called you a week ago Monday and asked what you expected to do in Medina and you informed him it would be okay to sell our product elsewhere. I want you to realize, George, that this information was given us ten months after you requested us to hold the product.

Now Mr. Miller is in the position of being unable to close a deal with Fine and Essick because of our previous refusal to negotiate for this situation. I want you to know that it will be impossible for us to consider any such request unless a deal at the same time is made for our product in that situation.

Kind regards.

Dear George:

It has been brought to our attention that various major Companies are serving Waterloo within the 30-day period of the Seneca Falls showing, and I would want you to extend us the same consideration.

The type of clearance and availability we have on our Waterloo contract provides that we serve them within the 30-day period if any other major distributor does so.

I will anticipate this consideration, for it has been generally understood with you that you would grant me equal consideration if you made any deviations or exceptions to the set-up clearances.

For obvious reasons, I would prefer to discuss this matter with you in person, but not having an opportunity to be in Gloversville at an early date, I have no alternative but to use this medium.

I will appreciate an early response to this request so that I will be in position to liquidate our contract in Waterloo.

Dear Mr. Herman:

I saw Louis Schine today with reference to clearances asked over the Smalley Circuit. Mr. Schine absolutely refuses to grant us the privilege of serving pictures other than the clearances under which his contracts were taken.

He insists that Metro, Fox and any other Company that we claim are not serving in accordance with the clearances requested by him, are not doing so, and that if they are, it is being done without his knowledge.

Mr. Schine warned me that if we serve Smalley, that he will stop booking our pictures.

I had to take this matter up with Mr. Schine today, because Smalley insisted Saturday that I advise him one way or the other, today. George Lynch is still quarantined and could not be reached except by telephone, and when I attempted to call him from Gloversville, his wife answered and told me he was resting and could not be disturbed.

I have wired Smalley today as follows: "Cannot accept contracts as written. Letter follows."

DEAR AL:

Oscar Blumenthal this morning called my attention to the deal made by Dave Miller with Schine for the Arcade Theatre, Salisbury, Md.

Very frankly, I think it is lousy in comparison to our former deal, both of which I am enclosing for your edification.

At the same time, Oscar informed me that George Lynch was arranging with Mr. Scully to wash out all the existing deals we have in the towns they have taken over. In three towns, namely, Easton, Hurlock and Federalsburg, Md., we do not as yet have a Schine deal.

Very frankly, Oscar and myself do not know anything at all about the Schine situation, as to what the deals actually are and what disposition is to be made with the deals now existent. Inasmuch as George Lynch has started to date, it becomes imperative that we hear from you on the above so that we might handle this situation in an intelligent manner.

Please let me hear from you immediately.

Eastern Division Manager

Dear Mr. McCarthy:

Rather than wait any longer for the forms to arrive, in accordance with your letter of May 31, we made our own chart for the Schine Circuit in this territory and submitted same to you yesterday.

Kindly note that aside from the fact that Paramount, MGM and Warner Bros. have much better deals, more percentage pictures and full deals in Salisbury, Cambridge and Easton and twenty-six to forty picture deals with the top group at percentage, in Hurlock and Federalsburg, we are entitled to more pictures at percentage, 35% and 30% terms; to full commitments in Salisbury, Cambridge, and Easton; to a minimum of twenty-six pictures in Hurlock plus all Arlen-Devine Features and all of the Westerns based upon past performance in said good situations, with one exception, i.e., Hurlock, before the Schine Circuit took over same.

Our blind checking records substantiate the fact that said circuit is buying our product "at peanut prices". Further, in the period less than a year, since the Schine Circuit "invaded" this unique Eastern Shore Peninsula, (please refer to a map) the business of all surrounding town situations has been greatly depleted. Said circuit's policy of featuring previously unheard of "Big Bank Nights" of $400.00 and more in the larger situations, coupled with double billing on certain days (in what was previously a single bill territory), is hurting all other theatre situations in said sector.

Mr. Herman accompanied me along the Eastern Shore and familiarized himself with the aforenamed Schine Circuit situations. Further, he was given the Paramount 1938-39 deal for each of said situations. No information could be obtained about Twentieth Century-Fox, since said company's product is being shown in the New-Ulman's Opera House Theatres, opposition to Schine's Arcade and Wicomico Theatres in Salisbury, the key situation of the Shore.

If there is any further information that you may wish concerning the aforelisted situations, I shall be happy to follow through at your request.

Kind regards.

Re: Bellefontaine

Dear Jack:

I understand that Mr. Harry Moller, our former manager of the Holland Theatre, Bellefontaine, has taken a short term lease on the Opera House, Bellefontaine. Mr. Moller was discharged from this organization for a number of reasons which I am unable to explain to you in this letter. Since his discharge, which is now over a period of six months, he has been causing us considerable trouble in regard to the propaganda he has been spreading, his main issue being that our admission prices are too high and that no one should have to pay over ten and fifteen cents for a show. He has now been able to sell this idea to the few people in Bellefontaine who have backed him to operate this Opera House. He personally has nothing and I want you to refrain from selling him any pictures whatsoever. Should your Cincinnati office sell or serve him with any pictures you will only be encouraging cheaper admission prices, double features and all in all unfair competition notwithstanding the fact that you will also hurt the film rentals which you are receiving from our theatre.

I know it is not your desire to hurt us and this is therefore the reason I am writing you this letter before the harm is done.

I would appreciate receiving a letter from you regarding this.

From Mr. E. K. O'Shea—Buffalo To Mr. W. F. Rodgers

Subject: Berinstein Bros. Date October 13, 1933

Dear Mr. Rodgers:

We finally worked out a deal in Ithaca, N. Y. as to short product, News, preferred playing time and other minor terms, which I believe is now entirely satisfactory.

In all three situations, Ithaca, N. Y.—Seneca Falls, N. Y. and the Colonial Theatre, Albany, N. Y. the 8 specials are to include a Sunday. In Ithaca, N .Y. I have one Can News 4 days in the State Theatre at $25.00. I have another issue 3 days in the Temple, the "B" house at $7.50, the second week of release.

I allowed them some slight modification of terms on several series of comedies amounting in total to $265.00, but on the total sale of last year on our short product we received $2085.00 om Ithaca, and on the total for all series of single and two-reel subjects this year we will receive $2265.00, so that the difference is very little in this situation.

In Seneca Falls, N. Y. despite the fact that Schine has increased his clearance from 10 days to 30 days, Genevq over Seneca Falls, I received the same $40.00 on the flat rental pictures and adjusted the short subject contract $101.00 on the series difference compared to last year, so that this season we will receive $594.00 in total for our short product in Seneca Falls as against $590.00 last season.

In Albany the short subject prices are $7.50 and $12.50 for the Laurel-Hardy single reels the same as last year—no change here, and I received one issue of the News in Seneca Falls, second week of release—2 days—$4.00, and one issue of the News, second week of release—at the Colonial Theatre, Albany, 2 days—$3.00.

I am forwarding the contracts either late today or tomorrow morning, but I wanted you to have this record of the sale as soon as I could get it to you and I do not believe it will be necessary now to take up any matter concerning differences with Mr. Ben Berinstein.

E. K. O'Shea

From Mr. Ralph Pielow, Albany, to Mr. J. E. Flynn, Detroit.

Date Jan. 4, 1934.

DEAR MR. FLYNN:

Just returned from Gloversville where I had a long talk with both Meyer and ~~Louis Schine~~, also George Lynch. They will not agree to the contracts for second run in Watertown and Glens Falls as they still want the right to play the percentage pictures on the days which they choose. They still insist upon sixty days clearance over third runs and want the privilege of playing the flat rentals three days when they so desire.

Meyer discussed with me at length the reasons why we should not sell second runs in towns under 75,000. I frankly believe that the reason he does not want us to sell situations of this kind is because he is not in favor of our selling third runs and rather than have us sell a third run, he would rather see us pass up a second run.

If we permit them to have their own way on the second run contracts this year, their demands next year will be entirely out of reason.

George is writing you a letter which I told him was unnecessary, however, he felt that he wanted to write it. He ridiculously stated to me that he felt we did not want to sell him in order that we could sell the other theatres in Watertown and Glens Falls. I told him that this was not the case as we were very pleased to do business with them if we could sell our product in the proper manner.

Will hold up the contracts until I hear from you.

Schine would not agree to any weekly payment plan on the short subjects although we discussed the matter at great length.

I feel that in some of the situations, the clearance that he is demanding is unfair and distinctly told Mr. Lynch that in all of the situations where he has clearance over other towns I would expect him to play the pictures immediately as they become available to him and in the event that he did not do so, we would have no other alternative but to reduce the clearance.

The matter affecting Oswego and Fulton again presents itself and for fear Myer Schine may be delayed in his return to New York, it is believed advisable that you take the matter up with him direct in Florida, or if you and Louis Schine want to decide the issue, well and good.

Although we know we are committed for a thirty day clearance to you at Oswego over Fulton this writer is firmly convinced that the clearance is excessive and I believe a ten day, or fourteen day clearance at the outside—but preferably ten day—would be sufficient for the Oswego house over Fulton.

For the reasons explained to you when you were last here, the matter is considered by us as important and sufficiently so to justify my asking you to give it your early consideration and it would be appreciated if you would let me hear from you.

For Use Only Between Offices of this Corporation

From Mr. E. K. O'Shea, Buffalo, to Mr. J. E. Flynn, Detroit.

Subject Schine Circuit.

Date June 15, 1936.

DEAR MR. FLYNN:

Regarding the various bank and cash nights in the Schine Circuit houses, please be advised that they have instituted one and two of these nights in every one of their situations and I am giving below the spots where they are having bank nights twice a week:

Geneva, N. Y.	Wednesday & Saturday
Lockport, N. Y.	Wednesday & Friday
Lake, Rochester	Monday & Thursday
Liberty, Rochester	Tuesday & Saturday
State, Rochester	Tuesday & Friday
Seneca Falls, N. Y.	Thursday & Saturday

In the instances of Geneva and Lockport particularly, you can understand just how difficult it would be to get extended playing time in these two towns because of the extra day on preferred time falling on a bank night. We have up to this time just been allowing the exact amount of the prize only and not allowing them to include any royalty or other expense. On the last several deductions that the Schine Circuit have made, they have added the royalty and while this might be a fair deduction, I want an expression from you before agreeing to this additional deduction because of the Bank Nights. In other words, instead of their being a $40.00 deduction in Geneva or Lockport, it would be $60.00 if we allowed the royalty that is paid to the bank night people.

Schine has also been asking us for additional flat rental pictures in these situations due to the Bank Nights, etc. in several of their towns, and are not willing to play percentage pictures on the nights where they have these cash give-aways. This is also getting to be a more difficult situation as far as the proper dating of our pictures is concerned. I wish that you would take this matter up direct with Schine regarding these Bank Nights to this point: That the two bank nights a week in Geneva (Wed. & Sat.), and in Lockport (Wed. & Fri.) preclude the possibility of our getting extended playing time, and the fact that in Seneca Falls, Salamanca, State, Liberty, Dixie Theatres, Rochester, Rialto Theatre, Lockport, Geneva Theatre, Geneva and Riverside and Granada Theatres, Buffalo practically keep the second preferred datings of every week from us because they hesitate to book on a Friday and Saturday, or have as their second best change in most of their situations a Thursday and Friday which is far less desirable than the Friday and Saturday that most of our "A" class action pictures would be entitled to.

I believe if they are to have Bank Nights for the purpose of building up their business on the poorer days of the week, then certainly the bank nights should be without exception on a Wednesday and Thursday so that they would not interfere with the booking of our better class pictures on the more preferred changes of each week.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION

For Use Only Between Offices of This Corporation

From E. M. Booth, Cincinnati. To Mr. E. K. O'Shea, Detroit.

Subject: Lexington, Ky. Date; August 30, 1937.

DEAR MR. O'SHEA:

Your letter of August 28th.

Mr. Lynch has made a slight error in advising you that the Opera House, Lexington, Ky. plays any of our pictures 10¢ adult admission after six o'clock. We have not and do not permit this practice in any situation. The facts are the admission at the Opera House is 10¢ matinee and 16¢ at night.

Am very sorry that Born to Dance played day and date with Broadway Melody. This was definitely a slip-up and, I agree with you, a bad booking. However, Mr. Schwartz of the Opera House was in the office this morning complaining about the business on Born to Dance which was less than 50% of what he usually does on a Sunday-Monday show.

In my opinion the situation in Lexington is very bad. While it is not my desire to suggest any changes of theatre operation where it tends to lessen our gross, nevertheless Schine's policy is materially affecting the surrounding towns. For instance, the price at the Ben Ali is 16¢ balcony, 22¢ main floor matinee and 22¢ balcony, 33¢ main floor at night with practically all changes double bills.

The Strand, second-run, plays some slough first-runs and always double bills at 16¢ to all matinee, and 16¢ balcony, 22¢ main floor at night. State—10¢ matinee and 16¢ at night.

When we sold Mr. Schwartz of the Opera House fourth run in Lexington, Schines were not operating under this policy. It has made it very difficult for the Opera House to continue under the present contract. He is going to try a few more pictures and then if he cannot possibly stand the prices charged, it will be necessary to make an adjustment. As above stated, he is charging 10¢ matinee and 16¢ at night, playing fourth run after Schines double bill at the Ben Ali, Strand and State on a comparable admission price. He told me this morning he may be forced to charge 10¢ balcony and 16¢ main floor at night in order to meet this competition. Of course I definitely established with him I could not become involved or a party to whatever he decided to do as it related to competition and that we would not supply him our product at less than the contracted admission price, viz. 10¢ matinee and 16¢ at night. What makes it very hard is that for instance a picture like Maytime was played on a double bill at the State at 16¢.

Kindest regards.

Very truly yours, E. M. Booth.

Dear Mr. Booth:

Yours of Aug. 30th.

When I wrote you regarding admission prices in the Opera House, Lexington, it was not with any thought of an adjustment for this theatre.

Insofar as the Opera House charging 10¢ balcony and 16¢ main floor to meet the competition, I would like to have the gentleman who operates this theatre understand that M-G-M pictures are not being shown anywhere at night for 10¢ and we shall expect him to conform to the prices on his contract. Two wrongs do not make a right and this house going into a 10¢ policy would only force the Schine house to cut their price to meet the wrong kind of competition.

With best wishes.

E. M. Booth, Cincinnati; Mr. E. K. O'Shea, Detroit; Opera House, Lexington, Ky.

November 1, 1937.

Dear Mr. O'Shea:

The reason for this letter is to explain in more detail the condition in Lexington.

As you know, we have sold Schine 1st, 2nd and 3rd runs. At the time we sold the Opera House the present fourth run contract we did not know that Schine would operate on their present policy. It has made it very difficult for the Opera House to pay the prices. The facts are he is considerably delinquent and it was necessary to make certain adjustments in order that we may quickly liquidate the contract.

The Opera House is charging 10¢ matinee and 16¢ at night all over the house.

The Kentucky, first-run—matinee 27¢, night 40¢—single feature.

The Strand, 2nd-run—matinee 16¢; night balcony 28¢, main floor 22¢; 100% double bill.

The State, 3rd-run—matinee 10¢; night 18¢; 100% double bill.

The Opera House has a $90 a day overhead excluding film. The past few months their average intake has been around $85 a day thru the week; Sunday from $150 to $200 and Saturday approximately the same. When we sold Mr. Schwartz 4th-run for the Opera House, neither of us knew what the possibilities were and Schines were not operating under their present policy.

Feel this exhibitor is definitely entitled to consideration and earnestly recommend approval of the attached alterations.

Very truly yours, Resident Manager.

DEAR RALPH:

This is to advise you that we will require clearance starting with the season of 1938-39 on our Grand Theatre, Rochester, over the Strand Theatre, Rochester.

I will appreciate your giving us whatever consideration you can in this respect.

Clearance Changes.

May 15, 1939.

DEAR MR. O'SHEA:

With reference to your letter of April 25th, have analyzed the territory very carefully with regard to certain changes in clearance that I think advisable and justified and I am listing same below with my reasons for your consideration:

(1) Present Schine clearance of 30 days Newark over Lyons, Clyde and Palmyra, N. Y. This clearance is entirely too long as now set up and the three towns should be moved up to no later than 12 days after Newark, N. Y. because they are all within a radius of fifteen miles. Admission prices in each town as follows:

Newark—10¢-25¢-35¢.
Lyons—15¢-25¢.

Palmyra—10¢-25¢-35¢.
Clyde—15¢-25¢.

Prior to the term deal with Schine, these three towns enjoyed a 10-day availability after Newark, N. Y. 10 days, as you know, on Sunday pictures playing Newark would make them available the second Sunday after the Newark playdate to the other towns. Naturally, it is only on the top pictures that these accounts complain of the lateness of their availability. As you also know, we keep Newark back of Rochester and inasmuch as Geneva holds 30 days' clearance over Lyons and Palmyra, this automatically includes Clyde as Clyde and Lyons play pictures on an open booking basis from us. The Schine booker dates Newark after Geneva and this procedure keeps the aforementioned towns a greater number of days back of Geneva than the clearance calls for.

(2) Seneca Falls over Waterloo—present clearance 30 days. Waterloo admission 10¢-25¢, Seneca Falls admission 10¢-25¢-35¢. Seneca Falls, a Schine town, has been enjoying 30 days' clearance over this situation and the towns are about five miles apart. Schine's Geneva Theatre takes 21 days over Seneca Falls and with the present clearance set-up pictures become available from 60 to 90 days after Geneva. Believe this clearance should be reduced to not more than 21 days after Seneca Falls which is the same clearance that Schine's Geneva Theatre takes over Seneca Falls, N. Y.

(3) Kenmore, N. Y. with the Riverside Theatre, Buffalo playing ahead of Kenmore and the Granada and Kenmore Theatres playing day and date, believe the Granada and Kenmore availabilities should be moved up to not more than 14 days after the North Park instead of 21 days. Admission prices are identical.

(4) Dunkirk over Fredonia, Silver Creek and Angola. While clearance of 30 days has been set up over these situations for some time, believe that the smaller towns such as Angola and North Collins are severely affected because of the clearance Dunkirk has taken over Silver Creek, which town in turn gets clearance over Angola and North Collins. We are at a decided disadvantage because each one of these towns can get sufficient product to buy clear on one another and we have for many years enjoyed representation in all of these situations. I do not believe that the cutting of clearance from 30 to 14 days would effect the business in Dunkirk in the least and recommend that this clearance be reduced from 30 to 14 days. Ad- [fol. 6142] mission prices are as follows:

Silver Creek—10¢-25¢
Dunkirk—10¢-25¢-35¢ Loges 40¢
Fredonia—10¢-20¢-30¢ Loges 35¢
Angola—10¢-25¢

(5) Gowanda over Cattaragus, N. Y.—30 days present clearance. Mr. Lorence of the Cattaraugus Theatre has been agitating a clearance reduction between Gowanda and Cattaraugus for the past several years, altho he alone is definitely responsible for the necessity of longer clearance so granted by the distributors to Mr. Read of the Hollywood Theatre in Gowanda. I do not believe, despite Mr. Lorence's efforts to have the clearance reduced from 30 to 14 days or open booking if he can get it, that it would be to our best interests to reduce this clearance unless Mr. Lorence would definitely agree to conduct his business ethically by not advertising within the confines of the city of Gowanda until after the Gowanda run on our pictures is completed. As you know, Gowanda, N. Y. has been playing our product 100% for a great many years and gives us preferred and extended playing time. I mention this at this time because of the possibility of Messrs. Cohen & Kosch discussing the matter with you. These towns are fourteen miles apart, Cattaraugus charging 10¢-25¢ with a few loge seats at 35¢ and Gowanda charging 10¢ and 30¢.

(6) Suggest a reduction in clearance from Cortland over Marathon, N. Y. from 30 days to 14 days, also the same reduction in clearance from Cortland over Groton, N. Y. Marathon is 15 miles from Cortland and Groton is 12 miles from Cortland, Marathon charging 10¢-25¢, Cortland 10¢-25¢ matinee and 10¢-30¢-40¢ at night. Groton charges 10¢-25¢ and in addition to playing after Cortland also follows Moravia, N. Y.

(7) Present clearance of Ithaca over Moravia and Interlaken 30 days. Suggest changing to 14 days. This situation has been a particularly troublesome one and the cause of many complaints both by the Berinsteins and Mr. Ray

Pashley. I believe Mr. Pashley should be cautioned not to advertise our product in the Ithaca territory prior to the playing of same in the Ithaca "A" theatres where the majority of our pictures play on percentage and it is of the utmost importance that they be given an opportunity to earn. Ithaca charges 15¢-40¢, Interlaken and Moravia 15¢ and 30¢.

Believe the aforementioned changes are constructive and will materially assist in speeding up the liquidation of our product and further better terms, also effect a more pleasant business relationship with the accounts in question.

Sincerely, R. W. Maw.

Subject, ——— ———. Date: June 8, 1939.

Mr. J. Myer Schine called on me yesterday and advised that he would reduce the clearance at Clyde, N. Y., over which his Newark house now enjoys 30 days, to 14 days.

He understands, however, we have sold Lyons equal availability with Clyde and he cannot agree to Lyons playing 14 days after Newark.

There is merit to his contention, because he mentioned that even though the information imparted was that Lyons was 10 miles from Newark, he measured it the night before last and from town limit to town limit between the two situations he says it is four and a fraction miles.

Mr. Dillard makes the suggestion that we try to persuade Mr. Schine to let the clearance be reduced to 14 days in both situations for the remainder of the current season and then next year it is quite apparent that when you sell Lyons you will not be able to sell them day and date, but that Newark will have to get a greater clearance against them than they had against Clyde.

Will you take this up with Mr. Dillard and then you might want to talk to Mr. Schine on the telephone.

DEAR MR. FLYNN:

When discussing different matters with George Lynch yesterday at Gloversville, he mentioned that he was going to meet you in Pittsburgh on Saturday and at that time further discuss with you the matter regarding clearance for Ogdensburg over Canton.

~~You will recall~~ that at the time of signing the contracts he insisted upon 30 days Clearance over Canton for the 1935-36 product in view of the 1934-35 product only having fourteen days. The writer discussed this matter with you when you were in Albany and you refused to permit the 30 days and advised George accordingly, at the same time informing him that the next time that you were in Gloversville with the writer, you would further discuss the matter with him in order that he would be perfectly satisfied.

It seems that other Companies are using the old argument "We will give what Metro gives", and George mentioned he was going to bring this matter up in Pittsburgh but the writer would suggest that in the event he does, you inform him that you would rather hold the matter in obeyance for discussion until you come to Albany. By doing this we can then straighten the matter out I am sure, to the satisfaction of all parties.

Best wishes.

Sincerely, Ralph Pielow, Resident Manager.

DEAR MR. FLYNN:

With further reference to second run, Amsterdam, N. Y.

When in Gloversville last week George Lynch mentioned that he would like to play a selective contract, second run, in the Regent Theatre, Amsterdam, and the writer informed George that we could not do business that way, and he then later mentioned that he doubted if the theatre would be opened, but he did not want us to sell the Orpheum Theatre, which request is unfair for him to make.

However, wish to advise that we can obtain the following proposition from the Orpheum Theatre, on the 39 first releases of the 1935-36 product:

7	@	$35.00	against 35%	—Fri.-Sat.
7	@	35.00	" 30%	—Fri.-Sat.
Balance		17.50 each, plus score

Score $2.50 each picture.

48 Single Reels $2.50 each, in Color $3.00 each.
52 Issues of News @ $3.50
Trailers $1.50.

This theatre has 296 seats and is agreeable to play the pictures at least 45 days after first run. The admission prices are just 5¢ under the Schine second run house 10 and 15¢ in the afternoon and 10 and 20¢ in the evening.

The writer has advised the exhibitor operating this theatre that we would get in touch with him the latter part of this week or the first part of next week and give him a definite answer regarding the above proposition, as we do not feel that in selling this theatre product a year old that it would in any way effect the first run theatre and in view of the fact that other national companies are selling this theatre second run, there certainly should not be any objection to our selling the theatre in the event that we are agreeable to accepting this business.

Sincerely, —— ——, Resident Manager.

Subject: ——. Date: August 2, 1938.

When Meyer Fine and Perc Essick were in your office last week they discussed with you the Medina, Ohio situation.

In checking our records we find the following:

Schine has a 350 seat house in the town and has been sold the product for the remaining part of their national deal; therefore, he has two seasons yet to go, namely the 1938-39 season and the 1939-40 season.

The terms are as follows:

4 at 40%.
4 at 35%.
8 at $75.00.
14 at $50.00.
Balance $22.50.

Mr. Essick's house is a brand new one seating 800 and according to Mr. Essick is the best house in the town and one where some of our product should be playing.

I am listing below six pictures that have played on percentage so far:

Production	Days of wk.	Final Percent.	Gross	Net
Double Wedding	SMT	30%	247.83	74.35
Firefly	SMT	35%	272.10	83.65
Rosalie	SMT	37½%	333.39	125.02
Yank at Oxford	SM	35%	247.93	86.78
Girl of Golden West	SMT	35%	281.11	98.39
Test Pilot	SMT	40%	542.04	216.82

These pictures all have a reversion clause on them and the percentage listed is the final settlement.

Mr. Fine advised that the only product that they had for their house was half of Warners, all of Columbia, all of Universal and half of United Artists.

Subject: Schine Circuit Deal.

DEAR EDDIE:

Am enclosing signed contracts for the Schine Circuit with the exception of Lake Placid which I will touch on later. You will also note a letter attached which is part of the contracts. The only difference is that they want sixty (60) days over a mythical second run that might open in the various towns, as well as ninety (90) days over Lake Placid Club.

As far as we are concerned in Albany, it means nothing, so it is perfectly satisfactory, because in all those towns

Schine has houses which could be opened second run and the danger of another second run theatre is so slight that I did not hesitate to grant it. However, as far as Bellefontaine and Wooster are concerned, I know nothing about it and while same was included in the letter that is really up to you for agreement.

As far as the second clause in the letter is concerned, it is O.K. in that we would be only too glad to have him pick up additional pictures and when I brought this up to him he said that he wanted it in there irrespective. I was wondering if there is any motive behind such a clause. My reason in mentioning this is that when we took a selective contract in Schroon Lake you rejected it until such time as we could get a clause to the effect that their selection would only be from such pictures announced as of the date of the contract, due to the fact that we might release something that they could secure which would not be agreeable to you.

As far as the last paragraph is concerned relative to cancelling out unplayed product at the Lyric Theatre, Wooster, he already had a signed letter from Harry Dixon on this and inasmuch as the date of said letter was August 17th and would not be in effect as far as these contracts are concerned, he incorporated same in the attached letter and you will note the postscript to the extent that approval of the contracts will also be approval of the attached letter. [fol. 6153] Harry Dixon's deal was not set when I left there. He was trying to get you on the 'phone and naturally, my understanding with Lynch is to the effect that if the Buffalo deal doesn't go through, the contracts I am sending to you are to be held up accordingly.

Regarding Lake Placid, I got in touch with Marshall Taylor and Harry Thompson this week and they agreed to fourteen days protection over Lake Placid with the exception of July and August, when they agreed to waive protection providing Lake Placid did not charge a lesser admission than Saranac Lake. This was agreeable to Lynch but before doing anything he wanted to take it up with Mr. Dodds of Lake Placid. I waited until Mr. Dodds arrived there and the result was that after a conference they decided that inasmuch as Paramount had sold them without any protection over Saranac Lake, as well as Fox, and also due to the fact that Metro agreed on a deal without any protection, they would not allow the protection on our contract with the result that they would not sign the contract we had and naturally, I could not take the contract without it.

On my return to the office I talked with Harry Thompson, stating that I was going to take the matter up with you in New York and he was very agreeable to this in order to bring this to an issue. He stated emphatically that he has protection with Fox and that if Schine has a contract to the contrary it is a trick contract and that someone is liable to get burned. As far as Paramount and Metro are concerned, he claims they have not set the deal and they will not set the deal unless this protection is granted.

I would suggest that you get in touch with Mr. Peskay and bring this to an issue, irrespective of who gets burned, because last year we were innocently burned by similar tactics with Fox against Smalley, as well as Fiber and Shea against Johnstown and I see no reason why our company should be discriminated against by any circuit, regardless of their buying power.

[fol. 6154] Frankly, I think Lynch has a trick contract for Lake Placid. Incidentally, while he promised me that he had protection from Fox, Paramount and Metro over Canton and agreed that if any change in protection was made that we would also benefit, I can assure you right now that I will make the same personal check on Canton and Ogdensburg as I did last year with Oneonta and Cooperstown and Amsterdam and Johnstown and then use that evidence for a fair deal another year.

I could not get any shorts in Ohio. He claimed he could not do anything until the 15th of next month. When I called his attention to the fact that his reason for holding it up was until he got his deal set, he admitted that such was the case and when I mentioned that the reason he was holding us up was that he may be forced to buy shorts from someone else, he got rather peeved. However, I could do nothing on the shorts and naturally on the attached contracts we can do nothing until Harry Dixon gets set with his Buffalo deal.

Would suggest upon receipt of Harry's deal, if same is satisfactory that you wire us approval so that we can start dating the pictures accordingly.

In conclusion, please bring Lake Placid to an issue. Otherwise, we are out of this situation.

With kindest regards, we are

Sincerely, RKO Distributing Corporation C. R. Halligan, Branch Manager.

C.R. Halligan:S.

P. S. The contract which you sent us for Piqua was at a $20.00 average when in reality it should have been a $40.00 average. However, you will note we have corrected same and the contract is now at the $40.00 average.

To Home Office—Mr. E. L. McEvoy.
From Albany—C. R. Halligan.
Subject: Palace and Victoria Theatres—Watertown.

DEAR EDDIE:

The attached contracts for the Palace and Victoria Theatres, Watertown, third and fourth run is an exceptionally good deal considering the fact that Schine is buying second run in this town for $22.50. The writer took a trip with Garvey last week and my main reason was to analyze and if possible, set the subsequent runs in Watertown.

Schine has brought about a very chaotic condition up there in that by his buying second run he leaves four other subsequent runs holding the bag for third run. The Strand and Liberty were naturally in the market for third run but we were able to convince the Palace and Victoria, operated by the same people, to buy third and fourth run in order to protect themselves. Incidentally, they are our old customers and were entitled to any consideration possible.

With the Schine second run at $22.50 and this third and fourth run of $60.00, it is almost as much as we got first run out of the town last year. I might add that owing to the way the runs are set up and the product sold, there is no question in my mind but what we will sell a percentage of this year's pictures fifth run to either the Strand or Liberty because Schine is going to double feature all pictures second run which means the third and fourth run will have to double feature and that naturally brings about a policy that the others will have to follow with the result that they will need pictures and we positively will sell a fifth run also.

You will note we also got a deal on "India Speaks." This was arrived at in an odd way due to the fact that upon arriving in Watertown we found that Halliburton is scheduled to speak there on November 17th which naturally worked to our advantage. We contacted the women under whose auspices Halliburton is going to speak and I am quite certain that a campaign can be started which will do some business for the Palace and if they do business it will show Schine that the picture has possibilities in his other towns. I might add that Schine would not play this picture under [fol. 6156] any consideration and I would like to prove to him in Watertown anyway that it can do business.

You will note we also got a renewal on our News reel and all in all this Palace and Victoria deal is the best deal that ever came out of Watertown for runs of this type. Would therefore, ask that you wire us approval on this immediately.

Yours very truly, RKO Distributing Corporation,

I am inclosing herewith deal covering 1934/5 product for the Palace Theatre, Corning, N. Y.

In this town we have sold first run product to Schine for the Fox or State theatre and we have also sold second run product to Schine for the State Theatre.

Of course, all of our pictures will not be played second run by Schine in Corning and we have been successful in securing this deal for the Palace. The contract is written up in an unusual manner, however, it is strictly to our advantage and if there are any pictures for this town that can be used by this independent house the exhibitor in this situation has obligated himself to play them at a rental which I believe to be fair taking into consideration the fact that our best pictures will no doubt, be played first and second run by Schine.

This contract will give us additional revenue and recommend its approval.

When replying please refer to subject and number mentioned above.

DEAR MR. SMITH:

We just received the following wire from Mr. Lynch of the Schine Enterprises, Inc., Gloversville, N. Y., which is self explanatory.

> "Hold 1931-32-33 product for me for second run Bellefontaine. Will see you your exchange next week or week after."

It is very evident that someone is taking over the Opera House in competition to the Schine Enterprises, and I am passing this information along to you for the reason that if you have made your first run deal with them, you also can handle the second run deal as well for the 1931-32, 1932-33 product.

Please advise.

Subject: State Theatre, Glens Falls, N. Y.

DEAR MR. SMITH:

I have the following proposition from the above account. This theatre is operated by Fred Mausert and it is really a third run and even though Schine has sixty days clearance over this theatre at his second run house, Mr. Mausert is agreeable to signing up with us.

3 at 40% 2 days
7 at $17.50 against 30% 2 days
25 at $12.50 2 days
25 at $10.00 2 days
Scores: $2.50
Trailers: 7 days $1.00
78 singles at $2.00
52 doubles at $4.00 making a total of $364

and the exhibitor agrees to pay us $7.00 per week except the weeks when he plays a three reel subject when the payment will be $9.00.

In view of the run, I think this is a very good deal and I hope before long Mr. Lynch will break down the 60 day clearance over this situation. The Empire is supposed to play 60 days after first run and then they hold up 60 days more over the State. Incidentally Mausert will be in the town regardless of how tough they would like to make it for him. I have known Fred for many years and I would class him with Bill Benton. He has never been in the habit of operating under any give away policies or any trick admissions and I should think that this would be taken into consideration in setting up clearance. As I told you this morning over the 'phone, the clearance set up is all wet, but this will eventually be straightened out. At the present time he is hard hit for pictures and I have given him the right to repeat on our present pictures at $10.00. I would also like your okay to serve him Forty Second Street repeat at $25.00 flat rental.

[fol. 6165] In setting up the short product you will note I have arranged for a $7.00 a week payment plan and while we have a deal with Lynch at the Empire, he is not playing same. From his recent conversation with me, he thought it would be all right to serve shorts to the State Theatre with the Empire or ahead of it.

Very truly yours, R. S. Smith, Branch Manager.

Subject: Canton, N. Y.

DEAR MR. SMITH:

Alex Papayanakos of Canton was in today to date some pictures and in this situation he has been forced to wait a long time for Ogdensburg. In order to get dates I gave him a concession in price similar to the last revision I made and which you okayed. He had the following pictures available which he dated today:

Jimmy the Gent	$25.00	to be	$20.00
Harold Teen	25.00	" "	20.00
Reg. Nurse	20.00	" "	15.00
Modern Hero	20.00	" "	15.00
Upperworld	20.00	" "	15.00

Honorable Guy	25.00	" "	20.00
Merry Wives Reno	25.00	" "	15.00
Smarty	20.00	" "	15.00
Merry Frinks	25.00	" "	17.50
He Was Her Man	25.00	" "	20.00

He has been forced to wait 30 days after Ogdensburg for pictures and they certainly depreciate in this situation for reason it is a college town and most of the pictures are much older than 30 days, as Schine doesn't play them on release date.

At the present time Mr. Papayanakos is trying to eliminate this clearance and if he is successful, it will make a better condition for us all. Canton is a pretty good town under ordinary conditions and I believe if he can get the pictures newer, he will do more business and we could get more rental for our film.

Very truly yours, R. S. Smith, Branch Manager.

Subject: Schine Protections.

DEAR BOB:

I am sorry I didn't make myself clear over the telephone today regarding the suggested clearances desired by Schine. What I want to get at is this—take Little Falls for instance, the clearance reads 30 days over Dolgeville, but the Code Authority has already decided it should be 14 days. Lynch insisted that we go along on a 30 day basis even though the Board approved the 14 day arrangement.

Also in Watertown they want 30 days over Lowville the same as last year, even though the Board decided it should be 7 days clearance at the Avon Theatre and open booking with the Olympic.

I am holding up the contracts, but will submit the deal to you by letter. The reason for this is that I wrote George Lynch today relative to this change in the clearance set up, as he wants same to be part and parcel of the contracts.

I am giving you below the clause I read to you over the 'phone.

> "The following are the protections which are to be inserted in the contracts and the protections listed herewith are part and parcel of the contracts signed this 29th day of August 1934 and the approval of the contracts dated this date will be the automatic approval of these protections."

Very truly yours, R. S. Smith, Branch Manager.

Subject: Schine.

Dear Mr. Smith:

After a two day session at Schines, Ray Smith and I were finally successful in closing a short deal and also complete feature set up for their various situations. Blank contracts for the entire set up were signed.

It was utterly impossible to secure a short deal for Piqua, Ohio, as Mr. Schine claims that he double features each change and did not buy any shorts last year and could not use any there this year.

Although in Bath, Canandaigua and Newark, I was compelled to lower the number of shorts from 52 singles to 40,—and from 52 doubles to 40. I made this up in other situations where last year they contracted for 52 singles and 52 doubles. This year I managed to sell 100%. This, plus increase we received on two reelers and technicolors will net us more money than we received last year as a whole.

In lieu of set up on shorts, per the attached it is necessary that we cancel the Penners in each of the following towns—

3—Bath
3—Canandaigua
4—Corning
1—Cortland
5—Geneva
5—Newark
2—Oswego
5—Salamanca

Although our 1934-35 short deal starts Dec. 1st, 1934, Mr. Schine assured me that on Nov. 30th, 1934, he would pay for any unplayed 1933-34 shorts in his situations.

Regarding features subsequent runs Buffalo and Rochester, I could not get more percentage pictures than we received last year. Same applies to second run in the following situations—Lockport, Oswego and Corning.

Reason for the 40 feature contract, instead of 60 which we received last year,—second run in the above situations is that Mr. Schine does not want to get into a mess with the Code Authorities as he did this past year. He, however, advised that if we do not sell the balance of 20 pic- tures to oppositions—second run,—he will do everything possible to use them.

Regarding protections,—they are set up the same as last year with the exception of the city of Rochester, and Mr Schine absolutely refuses to take any part of his entir deal, unless we stipulate in his third run contracts that h will follow only Capitol and Temple Theatres, Rochester [fol. 6169] This was brought about by the fact that Schine had intended to take over Madison and Monroe Theatre from Fenyvessys, which deal fell thru and there is som talk of Commerford taking over these two houses. Mr. Schine advises that whether or not that deal goes thru, he wants same run as he had last year (3rd run to follow only Capitol and Temple).

We are waiting your decision so that all contracts can be typed up for final approval.

Very truly yours, H. A. Seed, Branch Manager.

Subject: Amsterdam, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Smith:

Mr. M. Kronick who operates the Orpheum Theatre, Amsterdam has written me several letters regarding the purchase of our product for second run in this town. At our recent meeting in New York we discussed this and you advised me to write you relative to what product he has bought. At the present time he has Paramount bought.

In talking to Lynch about this course he doesn't want us to sell them, but one thing Mr. Kronick does is at least run his theatre on a businesslike basis and does not cut his admissions. You were not in favor of selling second-run in Amsterdam even prior to the Schine set up, but in view of the fact that Paramount has sold him and no doubt the other companies will sell him, I cannot see any reason why we could stay out.

George Lynch, as you know, is away at the present time and he left us holding the bag for $1200 in short product.

We certainly give him every cooperation and in return he should give us the same. While I do not want to start anything that will effect us on future setups, and I do not want you to think I am trying to depreciate the value of our product by selling second run in Amsterdam, my thought is, while we don't want to get into any jam and I know the answer to why we shouldn't sell, yet there are towns smaller than Amsterdam where we set up second run deals.

This fellow was in here again yesterday and I have been stalling him with the hopes we can work out something here that would satisfy Mr. Schine. If the other fellows keep selling him and still sell Schine the coming season's product, there is no reason why we couldn't get this revenue.

RECOMMENDATION

Until about six months ago this theatre was under lease to Schine, who kept it closed. Mr. Boumansour, the owner, would not renew the lease unless the theatre was opened, which Schine refused to agree to. Consequently Mr. Boumansour opened the theatre and for the past several months has been running only first run pictures, all of them being Schine rejects from former seasons. It now develops that he is unable to secure sufficient first run product to operate the house on this policy, forcing him to a second run policy or close the house, which he will not do as he has spent considerable money remodeling it. He has applied to other distributors for second run product and to the best of my knowledge at this writing has been unable to secure a contract. I believe the attached deal is the only one actually negotiated at this time. The terms of this deal, in my opinion, are excellent for second run in this town and do not hesitate to recommend acceptance of same in so far as the terms are concerned. I have discussed this deal with Mr. Kalmenson and he suggested submitting same for approval but prefers for the time being at least, to spot book the pictures as per the terms set up on the contract. In other words, we will not forward the approved copy of these contracts to the exhibitor unless advised to the contrary.

Schine—Harlan and Lexington

Dear Mr. Sachson:

With reference to yours of December 9, in regards to selling Schine for second run in Harlan, Ky., if there is any possible way of getting out of selling this account we would greatly appreciate it. We have a very good first run in this situation who pays us tops for this size town and we definitely know it will hurt him considerably to sell a second run in this situation. I talked to Mr. Joel Golden the other day and he advised me that our first run situation here repeated on pictures that he played but upon checking up we find that there is no contract existing for second run product at all in this particular town.

In regards to fourth run Lexington at the Ada Meade, you probably mean fifth run, as we now have four contracts in this situation. You, of course, know that this is a 10¢ theatre and we would rather not go into a contract with this account but during the Drive would like to spot book some of our older pictures. The Schine booker advises they are paying $22.50 top in this situation, everything flat. We feel sure that if we serve this account on a spot booking arrangement, even tho he is charging 10¢ it would not interfere with any of the surrounding theatres and at any time we could withdraw our product if it would cause any trouble.

Kindly advise.

Cordially yours, —— ——, Branch Manager.

We note what you say in regard to the Ada Meade Theatre, Lexington and, therefore, will not supply this particular theatre with any of our product.

With reference to Harlan, at the time we discussed this with the local Schine booker, he gave us the information that they only use repeat pictures on double bills or bank nights and will only select a very small number of the top pictures thruout the year. Should we negotiate a deal with Schine for second run product, we believe it to our advantage to hold this account at least 60 days after first run.

[fol. 6187] Agreement entered into this 1st day of October, 1936, between Loew's Incorporated, a Delaware corporation (herein referred to as "Loew's") party of the first part, and Schine Enterprises Corporation, a New York corporation, party of the second part,

Witnesseth:

First: Loew's hereby grants to Exhibitor upon the terms and conditions herein specified a license to exhibit as herein provided, in synchronism with recorded sound, at the theatres listed on annexed Schedules I and II all of the feature motion pictures and all (unless a less number of the respective product is hereinafter provided for) of the one-reel and two-reel short-subjects, Newsreels and Trailers generally released by Loew's for distribution to motion picture theatres in the United States in each fifty-two week period during the four (4) years commencing September 1, 1936, and ending August 31, 1940. Said period of four (4) years is sometimes herein referred to as the "period" or "period of this agreement"; and said fifty-two week periods as "seasons". The license for such feature motion pictures is for first run in each situation unless a different run is specified on said Schedules.

This license is under the respective copyrights of said feature motion pictures, one-reel and two-reel short-subjects, Newsreels and Trailers and under any copyrights which may be in force with respect to any matter included in such recorded sound. Exhibitor hereby accepts such license and agrees to comply with all the terms and provisions hereof.

It is agreed that the feature motion pictures entitled Kelly the Second and Women Are Trouble, although re- [fol. 6188] leased prior to September 1, 1936, are included in the feature motion pictures of the first fifty-two (52) week period to be furnished by Loew's and exhibited by Exhibitor hereunder.

It is agreed that upon the execution and delivery hereof any and all contracts for motion pictures heretofore entered into for any and all of the theatres covered by this agreement shall be deemed terminated and of no force or effect as to the motion pictures covered by such contracts generally released from and after September 1, 1936, and that all such product shall be furnished and exhibited under and pursuant to the terms and conditions of this agreement.

Second: It is agreed that there shall be excepted and excluded from this license and agreement, even though generally released during the period of this agreement:

(a) all motion pictures as to which Loew's shall be required to obtain the approval of the producer thereof or any other party, except a producer of company owned or controlled by Loew's or under common ownership or control, to the terms and conditions of the licensing thereof, unless Loew's obtains such approval to the exhibition thereof hereunder. Loew's agrees to use its best efforts to obtain such approval.

(b) all reissues, it being understood and agreed that any picture remade by Loew's of any silent or sound picture at any time theretofore released by Loew's or any other distributor under the same or any other title is not to be considered a reissue.

(c) all foreign pictures. The term "foreign" is deemed to mean a motion picture made in a country other than the United States of America, but no motion picture shall be [fol. 6189] deemed to be a "foreign" if such motion picture is made on a location outside of the United States with a director theretofore employed in the making of so-called American-made motion pictures and with a cast in which the leading players shall have theretofore been employed in American-made motion pictures.

It is agreed that Loew's may exhibit and/or license to any other exhibitor for exhibition in any manner Loew's sees fit, free from any claim by Exhibitor thereto, any and all motion pictures excepted and/or excluded as herein provided.

Third: Clearance for the respective theatres covered by this agreement as to the pictures of the first season shall be as set forth on the "Clearance Schedule" hereto annexed and made part hereof; and as to each subsequent season shall be the same as herein provided for unless the parties hereto mutually agree upon other clearance as to the pictures of the respective season.

Fourth: It is understood and agreed that as to pictures herein provided to be exhibited at flat rental prices the license fees herein provided for are for not more than the number of days of exhibition herein set forth, and that as to the pictures herein provided to be exhibited upon a percentage basis the number of days herein provided for is the minimum. If any flat rental picture is exhibited for any extra days, Exhibitor agrees to pay, for each such extra day, fifty (50%) percent of the per diem flat rental of the respective picture.

Fifth: It is further agreed that Loew's is to have the sole right of designation of the particular pictures in each classification hereinafter provided for, and of the respective pictures to play on the respective changes herein provided [fol. 6190] for. Loew's agrees to notify Exhibitor of the classification of a particular picture not later than approximately fourteen (14) days after its general release.

Sixth A: For the license to exhibit the feature motion pictures of each season in each theatre listed on said Schedule I, Exhibitor agrees to pay to Loew's the following:

Classification 1—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season—

(a) Forty (40%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre equal or exceed the amount set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "40% Control" on the annexed Schedule I.

(b) Thirty-seven and one-half (37½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "40% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule I.

(c) Thirty-five (35%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule I.

Classification 2—As to each of twenty-six (26) pictures of the respective season:

(a) Thirty-five (35%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre equal or exceed the amount set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "35% Control" on the annexed Schedule I.

[fol. 6191] (b) Thirty-two and one-half (32½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "35% Control" but equal or exceeded the amount shown under the heading "32½% Control" on said Schedule I.

(c) Thirty (30%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "32½% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "30% Control" on said Schedule I.

(d) Twenty-seven and one-half (27½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "30% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "27½% Control" on said Schedule I.

(e) Twenty-five (25%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture at the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "27½% Control" on said Schedule I.

As to each situation on said Schedule I, it is understood and agreed that as to the pictures of each season in this Classification 2, in the event on the basis of said control figures there are not at least six (6) pictures on each of which Loew's shall be entitled to thirty (30%) percent or more of the gross receipts, then Loew's shall have the right to select a maximum of six (6) pictures for each of which Exhibitor agrees to pay sufficient additional film rental to equal thirty (30%) percent of all gross receipts of the respective picture in the respective situation, payment of such additional film rental to be made not later [fol. 6192] than fourteen (14) days after Loew's sends written notice to Exhibitor of its selection of such six (6) pictures.

Classification 3—As to each of the remaining pictures of the respective season—the respective flat rental amounts listed opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "Flat Rentals" on said Schedule I.

It is understood and agreed that if any of said twenty-six (26) pictures of Classification 2 are, pursuant to mutual agreement, exhibited in the B house in any of the situations on annexed Schedule Ia, the control figures for such pictures shall be as shown on said Schedule Ia.

B. For the license to exhibit the feature motion pictures of each season in each theatre listed on said Schedule II (except the theatres listed in subdivisions C, D, and E below) Exhibitor agrees to pay Loew's the following:

Classification 1—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season—

(a) Forty (40%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre equal or exceed the amount set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "40% Control" on the annexed Schedule II.

b) Thirty-seven and one-half (37½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "40% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule II.

(c) Thirty-five (35%) per cent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule II.

Classification 2—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season:

(a) Thirty-five (35%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective pic- [fol. 6193] ture in the respective theatre equal or exceed the amount set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "35% Control" on the annexed Schedule II.

(b) Thirty-two and one-half (32½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "35% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "32½% Control" on said Schedule II.

(c) Thirty (30%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "32½% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "30% Control" on said Schedule II.

(d) Twenty-seven and one-half (27½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "30% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "27½% Control" on said Schedule II.

(e) Twenty-five (25%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "27½% Control" on said Schedule II.

Classification 3—As to each of the remaining pictures of the respective season—the respective flat rental amounts listed opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "Flat Rentals" on said Schedule II. The flat rental prices listed on said Schedule II are for the feature motion pictures of this Classification 3 of the first two (2) seasons (1936-37 and 1937-38) only. As to the next season (1938-39) Exhibitor agrees to pay, instead of said flat rental prices, flat rentals of fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals shown on said Schedule II, unless the [fol. 6194] parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of such 1938-39 season that the flat rentals for any particular theatre or theatres shall not be increased; and as to the last season (1939-40), Exhibitor agrees to pay fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals herein provided for pictures of the 1938-39 season, unless the parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of such 1939-40 season that the flat rentals for any particular theatre or theatres shall not be increased.

C. For the license to exhibit the feature motion pictures of each season in each of the following theatres, viz.,

Cameo Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. (Sub run)
Lake Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. (Sub run)
Holland Theatre, Bellefontaine, Ohio (First run)
Strand Theatre, Lexington, Ky. (Second run)
State Theatre, Lexington, Ky. (Third run)
Bourbon Theatre, Paris, Ky. (First run)
Madison Theatre, Richmond, Ky. (First run)
Opera House, Ashland, Ohio (First run)
Civic Theatre, Fostoria, Ohio (Second run)
Opera House, Kent, Ohio (Second run)
Ritz Theatre, Tiffin, Ohio (First run)

Exhibitor agrees to pay Loew's the following:

Classification 1—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season:

(a) Forty (40%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre equal or exceed the amount set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "40% Control" on the annexed Schedule II.

(b) Thirty-seven and one-half (37½%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "40% Control" but equal or exceed the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule II.

[fol. 6195] (c) Thirty-five (35%) percent of all gross receipts where the gross receipts of the engagement of the respective picture in the respective theatre are less than the amount shown under the heading "37½% Control" on said Schedule II.

Classification 2—As to each of the remaining pictures of the respective season—the respective flat rental amounts listed opposite the names of the respective theatres under the heading "Flat Rentals" on said Schedule II. The flat rental prices listed on said Schedule II are for the feature motion pictures of this Classification 2 of the first two (2) seasons (1936-37 and 1937-38) only. As to the next season (1938-39) Exhibitor agrees to pay, instead of said flat rental prices, flat rentals of fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals shown on said Schedule II, unless the parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of such 1938-39 season that the flat rentals for any particular theatre or theatres shall not be increased; and as to the last season (1939-40), Exhibitor agrees to pay fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals herein provided for pictures of the 1938-39 season, unless the parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of such 1939-40 season that the flat rentals for any particular theatre or theatres shall not be increased.

D. For the license to exhibit the feature motion pictures of each season first run at the Fox Theatre, Corning, N. Y., Exhibitor agrees to pay Loew's the following:

[fol. 6196] Classification 1—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season—the same as provided in subdivision A of this Article Sixth for Classification 1 pictures.

Classification 2—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season—the same as provided in subdivision B for Classification 2 pictures.

Classification 3—As to each of eight (8) pictures of the respective season,—twenty-five (25%) percent of the gross receipts.

Classification 4—As to each of the remaining pictures of the respective season—the respective flat rental amounts listed under the heading "Flat Rentals" on said Schedule I.

E. For the license to exhibit the feature motion pictures of each season, commencing with the 1937-38 season, first run at each of the following theatres, viz:

Capitol Theatre, Ballston, N. Y.
State Theatre, Mechanicville, N. Y.
Capitol Theatre, Whitehall, N. Y.

Exhibitor agrees to pay Loew's the following:

Classification 1—As to each of four (4) pictures of the respective season—the same as provided in Subdivision A of this article Sixth for Classification 1 pictures.

Classification 2—As to each of eight (8) pictures of the respective season—the same as provided in Subdivision B for Classification 2 pictures.

Classification 3—As to each of the remaining pictures of the respective season—the respective flat rental amounts listed under the heading "Flat Rentals" on said Schedule I.

The flat rental prices listed on said Schedule I for the Capitol Theatre, Ballston, N. Y., State Theatre, Mechanicville, N. Y. and Capitol Theatre, Whitehall, N. Y. are for the feature motion pictures of this Classification 3 of the 1937-38 season only. As to the next season, 1938-39, Ex- [fol. 6197] hibitor agrees to pay instead of said flat rental prices fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals shown on said Schedule I, unless the parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of said 1938-39 season that the flat rentals for any of said theatres shall not be increased; and as to the last season (1939-40) Exhibitor agrees to pay fifteen (15%) percent more than the respective flat rentals herein provided for the pictures of the 1938-39 season unless the parties shall mutually agree not later than sixty (60) days prior to the beginning of such 1939-40 season that the flat rentals for any of such theatres shall not be increased.

Seventh: ~~(a)~~ It is agreed that whenever any feature motion picture of Classification 2 is exhibited in any theatre listed on Schedules I and II (including the Fox Theatre, Corning, but excluding all theatres covered by subdivision C of Article Sixth) as part of a double feature program, the cost of the second feature may be deducted from the gross receipts before computing Loew's share of the engagement, provided that the amount of the deduction shall in no instance exceed the amount of the flat rental in the next to the lowest bracket for such theatre. For example, if one of the four (4) pictures of Classification 2 herein provided to be exhibited at the Strand Theatre, Carthage, N. Y., is exhibited as part of a double feature program, Exhibitor may deduct the cost of the second feature, but not to exceed Twenty-five ($25.00) dollars.

(b) (Midnight Shows) If any feature motion picture (other than a flat rental) is exhibited at a midnight show, Exhibitor agrees to pay with respect to such midnight show the same percentage of all gross receipts of such midnight show as payable to Loew's on the regular engagement of the respective picture. The receipts of a midnight show are not to be included in computing the percentage payable to [fol. 6198] Loew's with respect to the regular run.

If any feature motion picture licensed hereunder for exhibition on a flat rental basis is exhibited at a midnight show, then with respect to such midnight show exhibition Exhibitor agrees to pay an amount equal to the per diem flat rental of the respective picture; except that where a picture is given a midnight show and is used only the minimum number of days provided for in the annexed Schedules, then there will be no additional charge for such midnight show. For example, if the number of days provided in annexed Schedules for a given theatre is two to three days and the license fee is One hundred fifty ($150.00) dollars, then if the picture is exhibited for a midnight show and two (2) days, Exhibitor pays a total of One hundred fifty ($150.00) dollars, but if the picture is exhibited for a midnight show and three (3) days Exhibitor pays a total of Two hundred ($200.00) dollars.

Eighth: It is understood that the number of tenths which the respective control figures on said Schedules I, Ia and II represent are indicated on said Schedules, three tenths being allocated to Sunday, two tenths to Saturday and one tenth to each other day of the week (except that three tenths is to be allocated to each of the following holidays—Christmas, New Years Day and Thanksgiving,—and two-tenths to Labor Day); and agreed that if any picture in Classification 1 or 2 is exhibited in any theatre a greater number of tenths than indicated on said Schedules for said theatre, all of the control figures for such theatre set forth on the respective Schedule are to be proportionately increased as to such picture, and if exhibited a less number of tenths such control [fol. 6199] figures are to be proportionately reduced, and the percentage payable to Loew's hereunder shall be determined by the control figures as so revised.

As to each of the situations set forth on Schedule IV hereof, each picture in Classification 2 shall be exhibited the minimum number of days set forth opposite the names of the respective theatres.

Ninth: It is agreed that not less than sixteen (16) of the feature motion pictures of each season herein provided to be exhibited on a percentage basis shall be exhibited on the preferred change of the week in the respective theatres. Playing time at the respective theatres for the remaining percentage pictures of each—— season is to be mutually [fol. 6200] agreed upon as the respective pictures become available for exhibition at the respective theatres.

Tenth: With respect to each of the feature motion pictures licensed for exhibition hereunder on a percentage or participating basis, Exhibitor agrees to furnish to Loew's a daily statement of the boxoffice receipts of the respective theatre, showing the number of admissions at the respective admission prices. As to each such picture Exhibitor further agrees to furnish to Loew's immediately following the conclusion of the engagement thereof at the respective theatre, a true and complete settlement statement showing the gross receipts of the entire engagement and any and all additional figures and information necessary to compute the license fees payable hereunder for the respective picture, provided that if any such picture is exhibited for more than one week Exhibitor shall furnish such statement at the end of each week. All such statements shall be upon forms furnished by Loew's should Loew's so demand.

Exhibitor further agrees to keep true, accurate and complete books of account, vouchers and other records, showing the gross receipts of the motion pictures in respect of which a percentage of gross receipts of the exhibition thereof is payable hereunder, and any and all additional information and figures necessary to compute the license fees payable therefore hereunder, and Exhibitor agrees that Loew's shall have access at all times following the engagement of the respective pictures, at all reasonable times, through its accredited representatives, to the box-office of each theatre and to the books of account, vouchers, records and documents of the Exhibitor and any affiliated or subsidiary corporation insofar as they relate to the gross receipts and [fol. 6201] any and all additional information and figures necessary to compute the license fees payable hereunder for each such motion picture. Loew's agrees that all information obtained by it pursuant to the provisions of this paragraph shall be treated as confidential except in any arbitration proceedings and/or litigation in respect of this agreement, in which event such information shall be made available to such arbitrators or the court as the case may be.

Eleventh: Exhibitor agrees that it will not without the prior written consent of Loew's reduce admission prices for the engagement of any feature motion picture covered by this agreement below those shown on the annexed Schedule headed "Admission Prices".

Twelfth: Exhibitor agrees to commence the exhibition of each motion picture in each situation covered by this agreement not later than twenty-one (21) days after the date of availability designated by Loew's of the respective production.

Thirteenth: It is agreed

(1) that as to any situation where Exhibitor has two or more theatres, upon the closing of any of such theatres at any time during the term of this agreement all feature and short subject motion pictures, Newsreels and Trailers then remaining to be exhibited hereunder shall be exhibited in the theatre(s) remaining open;

(2) that with respect to any situation where Exhibitor has one or more theatres, if at any time during the term of this agreement all of such theatres shall be closed, Exhibitor shall be liable for and shall pay to Loew's the license fees herein provided for all the feature and short-subject motion pictures, Newsreels and Trailers of the then current season [fol. 6202] remaining to be exhibited at such theatre(s), (the amount payable with respect to any and all feature motion pictures herein provided to be exhibited on a percentage and/or participating basis to be computed as provided in the Article hereof headed "Liquidated Damages"), less the amount, if any, Loew's may receive from another exhibitor in such situation to whom Loew's relicenses such product, or part thereof, for exhibition for the same run as that herein granted Exhibitor, and as to all further product this agreement shall be deemed terminated as to such theatre(s).

Fourteenth: In addition to the license fees herein provided for feature motion pictures, Exhibitor agrees to pay Loew's a score charge per picture in the respective amounts shown under "Score Charge" on the annexed Schedule III.

Fifteenth: The minimum number of reels of short-subjects, Newsreels and Trailers, respectively, of each season to be exhibited hereunder, the number of days, and the license fees therefor, are set forth on said Schedule III.

It is understood and agreed that the license fees shown on said Schedule III for short-subjects and Newsreels are for the number of days shown on said Schedule, and that for each additional day Exhibitor shall pay fifty (50%) percent of the per diem rate.

It is agreed that as to each theatre on said Schedule III for which the commitment of short-subjects is less than "All", such commitment is agreed upon because such theatres at present have a double feature policy part of the week; and it is understood and agreed that if at any time during the period of this agreement any of such theatres adopt a single feature policy then from the time such single feature policy goes into effect all of Loew's short-subjects output of each season shall be exhibited in such theatre, the license fees per reel to remain the same as provided in said Schedule III.

[fol. 6203] It is further agreed that as to theatres like the Grand, Rochester, N. Y., no commitment of short-subjects is hereby provided for because such theatres at present have a double feature policy, and that if at any time during the period of this agreement any of such theatres adopt a single feature policy, then not less than fifty (50%) percent of Loew's short-subjects output from that time on is to be exhibited in such theatres at license fees to be mutually agreed upon.

It is understood and agreed that wherever reference is made in this agreement to "one-reel" short product same means a subject ~~of not~~ less than approximately seven hundred (700) linear feet and not more than approximately one thousand (1000) linear feet; and that wherever reference is made to "two-reel" short product same means a subject of not less than approximately fifteen hundred (1500) linear feet and not more than approximately two thousand (2000) linear feet.

It is understood and agreed that Loew's may at any time during the term of this agreement change the brands or series of any of the one-reel and two-reel short-subjects, and/or the number of either, from that released by Loew's as its 1936-37 short product.

It is agreed that Loew's may, if it so desires, cease the distribution of any and all short-subjects and/or News and/or Trailers at any time during the period of this agreement without in any wise affecting this agreement as respects all other motion pictures licensed hereunder.

Sixteenth: It is understood and agreed that the term "gross receipts" as used in this agreement means and shall consist of all sums, exclusive of admission taxes collected, received by Exhibitor for admission to the respective theatres on the dates of exhibition of the respective pictures.

[fol. 6204] Seventeenth: Exhibitor hereby expressly waives any right to exclude motion pictures under the "Option to Exclude" provisions of the printed form of exhibition contract hereinafter referred to, or otherwise.

Eighteenth: It is agreed that the acceptance by Loew's of any sum tendered by the Exhibitor as full payment of any license fee payable hereunder shall not estop or prevent Loew's from thereafter disputing the correctness of the amount of each such respective payment.

Nineteenth: Exhibitor further agrees to expend for exploitation and advertising of Loew's pictures in each theatre at least the average amount Exhibitor expends in the case of other pictures of similar production cost or reputation, and to keep and maintain all of its said theatres and their standard of operation at at least as high a standard as at present maintained.

Twentieth: It is agreed that in the event of default by Exhibitor in the performance of any of the terms or conditions of this agreement Loew's shall by registered mail give notice of such default, and that if such default is not remedied within ten (10) days after the mailing of such notice then Loew's shall have the right to terminate this entire agreement or in lieu thereof and in its discretion may so terminate as to the particular theatre or theatres so in default. It is agreed that any termination herein provided for shall be without prejudice to any other rights or remedies of Loew's hereunder and/or at law or in equity.

Twenty-first: If Exhibitor shall file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy or be adjudicated a bankrupt or be adjudged insolvent by any State or Federal Court of competent jurisdiction, or if a Receiver shall be appointed for substantially all of its assets and such appointment be not vacated within sixty (60) days from the date thereof, then and upon the [fol. 6205] happening of any of such events and at any time within sixty (60) days thereafter Loew's may (in addition to any other rights and remedies that Loew's may have in such respect) terminate the license herein granted as respects any and all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited hereunder, by giving written notice to Exhibitor of Loew's intention so to do.

If Loew's shall file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy or be adjudicated a bankrupt or be adjudged insolvent by any State or Federal Court of competent jurisdiction, or if a Receiver shall be appointed for substantially all of its assets and such appointment be not vacated within sixty (60) days from the date hereof, then and upon the happening of any of such events and at any time within sixty (60) days thereafter Exhibitor may (in addition to any other rights and remedies that Exhibitor may have in such respect) terminate this agreement as respects any and all motion pictures not theretofore exhibited hereunder, by giving written notice to Loew's of its intention so to do.

Twenty-second: Arbitration: It is understood and agreed that all claims and controversies arising hereunder shall be decided by arbitration (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators), the procedure for any arbitration hereunder to be as follows:

Either party may initiate the arbitration by mailing written notice to the other demanding arbitration, stating in such notice the matter(s) to be arbitrated and the date for the holding of the first hearing (which date shall be not less than five (5) nor more than seven (7) days after the date of the sending of the notice). Upon the date so designated the hearing shall commence before Mr. W. F. Rodgers (or his substitute selected by Distributor) and Mr. J. Myer Schine (or his substitute selected by Exhibitor). In the event either of the aforesaid fails or refuses to meet with the other upon the date designated in the notice, the party which has made the demand for arbitration may at any time [fol. 6206] thereafter, upon written notice to the other party, request the President of the American Arbitration Association to designate a substitute arbitrator, and the hearing of the claim or controversy shall proceed before such two persons.

In case the two arbitrators above provided for cannot agree upon the matter(s) submitted to them for arbitration within thirty (30) days from the date of their first meeting, they shall select a third arbitrator, and in case the two arbitrators cannot agree upon a third arbitrator within thirty-five (35) days from the date of their first meeting then such third arbitrator shall be appointed at the request of either party in writing, upon notice to the other party by the President of the American Arbitration Association. The decision of two (2) of the three (3) arbitrators shall be final and binding and conclusive upon the parties hereto.

The hearing of any arbitration herein provided for shall be held in the City, County and State of New York unless the parties shall mutually agree upon a different place for such hearing.

The parties hereto further agree to produce all relevant records required by the arbitrators to be produced.

Any determination, decision and/or award of the arbitrators herein provided for shall become a part of this agreement and shall be susceptible of enforcement hereunder by appropriate proceedings at law or in equity.

Twenty-third: Any waiver by either party of any of its rights hereunder shall not be deemed a continuing waiver and shall not estop or prevent such party from thereafter enforcing such rights.

Twenty-fourth: This agreement is entire and complete, and no representations or warranties of any kind have been made by either party thereto to the other, except as in this agreement expressly set forth. It is agreed that neither [fol. 6207] party is the agent or partner of the other party, and neither party hereto shall be liable for or bound by any representations of or by the other party.

Twenty-fifth: It is agreed that this agreement shall be construed and interpreted according to the laws of the State of New York.

Twenty-sixth: It is understood and agreed that this license is personal to Exhibitor and that if any theatre covered by this agreement is sold, leased or transferred, the license herein granted as to said theatre may be assigned only if Loew's shall give its prior consent in writing in each particular case to the assignment of this license by Exhibitor and the assumption thereof by the vendee, transferee or lessee, such consent by Loew's to any such assignment not to relieve Exhibitor hereunder from liability under this agreement as to such theatre; and if Loew's does not agree to such assignment then at Loew's option the Exhibitor hereunder shall remain liable for performance of this agreement as to all product of the then current season, and as to subsequent seasons this agreement shall be deemed terminated as to such theatre; Provided, that in the event twenty-five (25%) percent or more of the Class A theatres, or thirty-three and one-third (33 1/3%) percent or more of all theatres, covered by this agreement shall be sold, leased or transferred by Exhibitor; or in the event of the closing for at least fourteen (14) days of twenty-five (25%) percent or more of the Class A theatres, or thirty-three and one-third (33 1/3%) percent or more of all the theatres, covered by this agreement; or if the ownership and/or control of the majority of voting stock of Exhibitor corporation goes out of the hands of those now having such ownership and/or voting control,—then and in any such event Loew's shall have the right to terminate this entire agreement, such termination to be effective at the time fixed in said notice of termination.

[fol. 6208] Twenty-seventh: All notices hereunder shall be served only by registered mail (except notices of availability, notices of exhibition dates, notices of designation of pictures, and similar notices to Exhibitor from Loew's exchange, which may be sent by ordinary mail) addressed, when intended for Exhibitor, to Schine Enterprise Corporation, Gloversville, N. Y., and when intended for Loew's, to Loew's Incorporated, at 1540 Broadway, New York City, New York. If either party shall change such address, such party shall give written notice to the other party to that effect, and until so given the address of such party above specified shall be deemed the address of such party for the giving of any notice hereunder.

Twenty-eighth: Exhibitor agrees to pay to Loew's the license fees payable hereunder as follows:

(a) Exhibitor shall pay any fixed sums and/or guarantees payable hereunder in respect of any feature motion picture, Newsreel and Trailer, not later than Saturday of the week following the close of the week during which the respective picture, Newsreel or Trailer was exhibited in the respective situation.

(b) Exhibitor agrees to pay the amount due Loew's on each picture herein provided to be exhibited on a percentage basis, not later than Saturday of the week following the close of the week during which the respective picture was exhibited at the respective theatre.

Twenty-ninth: It is agreed that the terms and conditions hereto, together with the terms and conditions of the annexed printed forms of exhibition contract for the respective product (features, short-subjects, Trailers and Newsreels), constitute the agreement between Exhibitor and Loew's, [fol. 6209] it being understood and agreed that if any of the provisions of any of such printed forms shall be contrary to or inconsistent with any of the provisions hereof the provisions hereof shall control.

Thirtieth: It is understood and agreed that in the event in any season, after the first season, Loew's adopts a policy of distributing thirty (30) or less pictures as its feature output of the season, the rental terms, playing time and commitments for each theatre shall be revised to a fair and reasonable basis and in the event the parties hereto are unable, within thirty (30) days after Loew's makes public announcement of its intention to release thirty (30) or less feature pictures, to agree upon fair and reasonable terms, playing time and commitments for each of the Exhibitor's theatres, this agreement may be terminated by either party by written notice to such effect to the other party, such termination to be effective with the delivery of the last picture of the then current season.

The announcement herein required shall be made by Loew's not later than sixty (60) days preceding the beginning of the season, which announcement shall state the number of feature photoplays Loew's intends to release during the season in question, and shall be effective only if made generally to the trade in two or more motion picture trade papers.

Thirty-first: It is understood and agreed that notwithstanding the limitation on the number of motion pictures to be roadshown provided in the annexed printed form of features contract, Loew's shall have the right to exhibit and/or cause to be exhibited as roadshows at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder not more than four (4) of the feature motion pictures of the first season of this agreement, and as to each of the following seasons of this agreement not more than four (4) of the feature motion [fol. 6210] pictures of the respective season unless the parties hereto shall mutually agree upon a greater number; and that any motion picture roadshown shall be delivered by Loew's and exhibited hereunder as and when available to Exhibitor after the completion of the roadshowing of such motion picture throughout the United States, provided such motion picture is available for general release during the terms of this agreement.

Thirty-second: Liquidated Damages: If Exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures licensed hereunder on a percentage and/or participating basis Exhibitor agrees to pay to Loew's as liquidated damages with respect to each such picture a sum equal to the average of the amount which shall have accrued to Loew's for all of the pictures of the same Classification theretofore exhibited hereunder at Exhibitor's theatre where such motion picture should have been exhibited during the period of twelve (12) months prior to the time such picture should have been exhibited, provided that if at the time of such failure or refusal by Exhibitor this agreement shall have been in effect for less than twelve (12) months then Exhibitor shall pay with respect to such picture a sum equal to the average of the amount which shall have accrued to Loew's for all of the pictures of the same Classification exhibited at such theatre hereunder during the period this agreement shall have been in effect.

The right to liquidated damages hereinabove provided for shall be in addition to any and all rights hereunder and/or at law or equity Loew's may have by reason of such breach by Exhibitor.

Thirty-third: It is agreed that if at any time during the term of this agreement Loew's distributes "television productions" (which term means and includes motion pictures [fol. 6211] distributed for exhibition or projection—with or without sound—by television, and/or performances by actors, singers and/or others for transmission and projection—with or without sound—by television; such term television, wherever used, including any new method similar to television) this agreement shall be renegotiated as to "television productions" and if the parties hereto shall not within thirty (30) days after Loew's notifies Exhibitor in writing, or makes announcement to the trade generally by publication in two (2) or more trade papers, of its intention so to distribute "television productions" have entered into a new agreement as to such "television productions" such so-called "television productions" shall not be included in this agreement and Loew's may exhibit and/or license to others for exhibition all "television productions" free from any claim by Exhibitor thereto; but this agreement shall nevertheless continue in full force and effect with respect to all straight sound motion pictures released by Loew's during the balance of the term of this agreement. It is expressly understood and agreed that the provisions of the paragraph hereof headed "Arbitration" shall not apply as to terms for "television productions".

Thirty-fourth: It is agreed that the flat rentals and guarantees for the feature motion pictures, short-subjects, Newsreels, Trailers and score charges, provided to be paid herein are based upon the present value in gold of the lawful monies of the United States of America, and that if during the term of this agreement the value of said monies shall be decreased and such decrease shall be reflected in increased prices charged for admission to the theatres in which the motion pictures licensed hereunder are or shall be exhibited, the flat rentals and guarantees for the feature motion pictures, short-subjects, Newsreels, Trailers and score charges, [fol. 6212] shall be adjusted from time to time upon the request of Loew's so as to be increased in the same relative proportion as such increase in the then prices charged for admission to the theatres shall bear to the present prices charged for admission to said theatres.

Thirty-fifth: It is agreed that if by reason of any statute or ordinance now or hereafter in effect the public exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday be prevented, the legality of this agreement shall not be affected but Sunday shall be excluded from the run of any picture, and equivalent playing time shall be substituted therefor.

Thirty-sixth: It is agreed that any termination herein provided for shall be without prejudice to any of the rights or remedies of either party hereunder and/or at law or in equity.

Thirty-seventh: It is understood and agreed that Loew's shall have the right to assign this agreement to any parent, affiliated or subsidiary corporation.

In Witness Whereof the parties hereto have caused this agreement to be signed, executed and delivered the day and date first above written.

#1 Letter to Franchise

Mr. J. Myer Schine, Schine Circuit, Inc., Gloversville, N. Y.

Re: Clearance—Ogdensburg, N. Y. over Canton, N. Y.

Dear Myer:

Confirming telephone conversation today, this letter will serve to reduce the clearance of Ogdensburg over Canton as now entered in Franchise from thirty (30) days to fourteen (14) days.

With best wishes.

Sincerely, Tom (Signed).

Accepted and approved: Loews Inc., by T. J. Connors (signed). Schine Enterprises Corp., by Geo. V. Lynch (signed).

#2 Letter to Franchise

Mr. J. Myer Schine, Schine Circuit, Inc., Gloversville, N. Y.

Re: Clearance—Oneonta, N. Y. over Cooperstown, N. Y.

Dear Myer:

This will serve to change the clearance which Oneonta has over Cooperstown, as set up in Franchise, from thirty (30) days to fourteen (14) days—this as per Mr. Connors' letter to you under date of Sept. 16, 1937.

With best wishes.

Sincerely, Tom (Signed).

Accepted and approved: Loews Inc., by T. J. Connors (signed). Schine Enterprises Corp., by Geo. V. Lynch (signed).

[fol. 6237] Dec. 29th, 1937.

#3 Letter to Franchise

Mr. Geo. V. Lynch, Schine Circuit, Inc., Gloversville, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Lynch:

This letter will serve to change the number of days on the Newsreel covering the Schine Theatre, Piqua, O., as now entered in the Franchise as "one" day to "two" days—the same as the 1935-36 contract, at the rental of $7.50 per issue.

With best wishes.

Sincerely, J. E. Flynn.

Accepted and approved: Loews Inc., by T. J. Connors. Schine Circuit, Inc., by Geo. V. Lynch.

[fol. 6306] EXHIBIT 648

AGREEMENT

This agreement made and entered into this 28th day of February, 1939, by and between Schine Medina Corporation, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Ohio, hereinafter called "Schine", party of the first part, and The Medina Temple Theatre Company, an Ohio corporation, hereinafter called "Fine", party of the second part,

WITNESSETH

Schine is the ~~operator~~ and lessee of a certain theatre in the City of Medina, known as the "Princess" Theatre, under a lease and certain amendments thereto, copies of which are annexed hereto, made a part hereof, and marked Exhibit "A":

Fine is the operator and lessee of a certain theatre located in the City of Medina, Ohio, known as "The Medina Temple Theatre" under a lease, a copy of which is annexed hereto, made a part hereof, and marked exhibit "B".

The parties hereto believe that a more efficient, economic and beneficial operation of the aforesaid theatres would be obtained under the joint cooperative efforts of the parties hereto and are therefore desirous of associating themselves in the manner and the extent hereinafter set forth in the conduct and operation of the aforesaid theatres in the said City of Medina.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the mutual covenants, policies and agreements herein set forth, the parties hereto hereby agree as follows:

First. Within ten (10) days after the execution hereof, Schine and Fine agree that they will cause to be formed under the laws of the State of Ohio, a corporation under the name of "Medina-Princess Corporation", such corporation to be hereinafter referred to as the New Corporation. Such corporation shall have an authorized capital stock [fol. 6307] of One Hundred (100) shares without nominal or par value, of which fifty (50) shares shall be known and designated as Class A Stock, and fifty (50) shares shall be known and designated as Class B Stock. The said fifty (50) shares of Class A stock of the New Corporation shall be subscribed for and purchased by Schine or its designees in the manner hereinafter described, and the said fifty (50) shares of Class B Stock of the New Corporation shall be subscribed for and purchased by Fine or its designees in the manner hereinafter described.

Second. Copies of the proposed Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of said New Corporation are annexed hereto, made a part hereof and marked Exhibit C-1 and Exhibit C-2 respectively, but it is in any event agreed with respect to such New Corporation as follows:

(a) The Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws of the New Corporation shall provide that the holders of Class A Stock shall always have the right to nominate and vote separately and exclusively for one-half (½) of the Board of Directors, and the holders of the Class B Stock shall always have the right to nominate and vote separately and exclusively for the other one-half (½) of the Board of Directors.

(b) The By-Laws shall provide that no salaries or any other compensation are to be paid to any officers of the New Corporation as such, and that except for the election of directors as aforesaid each share of stock shall be equal in all respects to each and every other share of stock, irrespective of class.

(c) The Board of Directors of the New Corporation shall consist of four (4) members and not more unless mutually agreed upon by the holders of the outstanding respective classification of stock. The Certificate of Incorporation and/or By-Laws of the New Corporation shall provide that the presence of a majority of the entire [fol. 6308] Board of Directors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum at any meeting of the Board, and that the affirmative vote of at least one (1) Class A Director and at least one (1) Class B Director and a majority of the whole Board shall always be necessary to determine any question, take any action or pass any resolution by the Board.

A

(d) The By-Laws of the New Corporation shall provide that at each meeting of the stockholders the presence in person or by proxy of the holder of majority in number of the issued and outstanding shares of Class A Stock and a majority in number of the issued and outstanding shares of the Class B Stock shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business, and that the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority in number of the issued and outstanding shares of each class of stock shall be necessary to adopt any resolution, carry any motion or take any corporate action which requires a stockholder's vote, except, however, actions in connection with the election of directors or the filling of vacancies in the Board of Directors, in which case the respective holders of stock shall vote separately, and that for such voting purposes the Class A Stockholders may vote separately for the election of Class A Directors without the presence of Class B Stockholders, and the Class B Stockholders may vote separately for the election of Class B Directors without the presence of Class A Stockholders.

(e) The By-Laws and Regulations of said New Corporation shall provide that it shall not be necessary for any person to be a stockholder of the corporation, in order to qualify as a director, and further that it shall not be necessary for any person to be a stockholder of the corporation in order to qualify as an officer.

Third. Schine covenants and agrees that the two (2) [fol. 6309] directors elected by the Class A stock will always vote for two (2) officers designated by Fine, and Fine covenants and agrees that the two directors elected by the Class B stock will always vote for two (2) officers designated by Schine. The two (2) officers which Schine shall be entitled to designate shall be the President and Treasurer, and the two (2) officers designated by Fine shall always be the Vice-President and Secretary. The Board of Directors may at any time or from time to time elect such other officers as it may deem necessary or proper.

Fourth. Schine agrees that upon the organization of the New Corporation it will subscribe for fifty (50) shares of Class A capital stock thereof and pay for the same by assigning or transferring, or causing to be assigned and transferred to the new Corporation, the lease upon the Princess Theatre, a copy of which is annexed hereto, made a part hereof and marked Exhibit A, together with all furniture, fixtures, equipment and other personal property now contained in said theatre, now owned by said lessee.

Schine shall secure an extension of said Princess Theatre lease to correspond with the termination of The Medina Temple Theatre lease, to-wit: December 31, 1963.

Fifth. Fine agrees that upon the organization of the New Corporation it will subscribe for fifty (50) shares of Class B capital stock thereof and pay for the same by assigning or transferring, or causing to be assigned and transferred to the New Corporation, the lease upon the Medina Temple Theatre, a copy of which is annexed hereto, made a part hereof and marked Exhibit B, together with all furniture, fixtures, equipment and other personal property now contained in said theatre, now owned by said lessee. Said lease shall be for a term expiring December 31, 1963.

It is understood that the New Corporation will get the benefit of any reductions in rental or any allowances on account of rent either under the lease set forth in paragraph (Fourth) above or the lease set forth in the within paragraph.

[fol. 6310] Sixth. Each of the parties agrees that upon the assignment of the respective leases above mentioned to the New Corporation they will be free and clear of any and all claims, charges or encumbrances of any and every nature whatsoever, and that all equipment contained in the respective theatres will either be owned outright by the respective lessees, the assignors of said leases, or by the respective landlords of said theatres, so that the New Corporation will under no circumstances be in any way obligated to pay any moneys or incur any expense in respect of past due charges upon the said leases or in respect of unpaid installments, past or future, upon the said furniture, fixtures and equipment.

It is especially understood, however, that the equipment and chattels contained in the Medina Temple Theatre are subject to a chattel mortgage in favor of the lessor of said lease to secure the faithful performance of the terms and conditions thereof, as is set forth on page 4 of said Medina Temple Theatre lease, and said chattels and equipment shall be accepted only subject to said chattel mortgage, given as security for the faithful performance of said lease; otherwise, said equipment and chattels shall be delivered to the New Corporation free and clear of any liens of claims.

Seventh: The parties hereto agree that the New Corporation shall employ and engage Schine, or its nominee, to manage and operate the said two (2) theatres, or any additional theatres which may hereafter be acquired by this corporation in the City of Medina. Such management and operation shall include and consist of buying and booking of all motion pictures and other attractions for said theatres, the hiring and discharging of all personnel, the keeping of all books of record and accounts, and the general supervision of the operation of the said theatres, subject to the following rights of Fine in said management:

(a) Fine shall have an equal voice as to any future improvements in connection with said theatres, provided [fol. 6311] said improvements shall cost more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00).

(b) Fine shall have an equal voice with respect to material changes in policy of said theatres in the future.

(c) It is understood that Schine at the present time is under contract with Ben Yudelevtiz to act as local manager of the Princess Theatre at a compensation of $50.00 per week, and it is agreeable with Fine that said local manager continue at said salary provided that said compensation of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) per week shall include compensation for the management of both the Princess and the Medina Temple Theatres.

Eighth. Fine shall consult and advise with Schine with respect to the management of said theatres, but shall not in any way interfere with the full and complete operation thereof by Schine, except as is more fully set forth in paragraph (Seventh) herein.

Ninth. All rentals and other charges in connection with the operation of the said theatres shall be paid by the New Corporation, and neither party hereto shall be in any way liable or responsible for any expense in connection with the operation thereof.

Tenth. As full payment and compensation for the services to be rendered by Schine hereunder, the New Corporation shall pay to Schine, or its nominee, the sum of Forty Dollars ($40.00) per week, which shall be considered as an expense of said theatres, plus one-half (½) of the first Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) profits derived by the New Corporation after payment of all expenses, including the said Forty Dollars ($40.00) per week.

As full payment and compensation to Fine for his services in advising and assisting Schine in the operation of said theatres, the New Corporation shall pay to Fine one-half (½) of the First Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000.00) profits derived by the New Corporation from its operation, after payment of all expenses, including the said Forty [fol. 6312] Dollars ($40.00) per week payable to Schine, plus the next Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) of profits derived by the New Corporation, as aforesaid. It being understood that "the next Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) of profits" to be paid to Fine, as set forth and referred to in this paragraph, shall be computed, determined and ascertained on an annual basis only; that is to say, such profit, if any, shall be determined each year and on a yearly basis and if the full sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) as referred to herein is not earned or available out of the profits in any one year, only the actual amount available, determined and ascertained on this basis shall be paid to Fine, and any loss or deficit sustained in any one year, shall not be carried over to the next or succeeding year.

It being further understood that said Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) payments to Fine shall not be cumulative, but shall be annual figures and computed yearly, to-wit: from January 1st to December 31st, except during the first year of the operation of the New Corporation, in accordance with this agreement, said computation shall commence as of the effective date of operation to December 31, 1939.

It is understood between the parties that "the next Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) of profits" derived or earned by the New Corporation, as set forth in the preceding paragraph, shall only continue to be paid to Fine until the investment of Fine in the Medina Theatre, represented by Fine as the sum of Fifty-three Thousand Two Hundred Fifty-three Dollars and Fifty-six Cents ($53,253.56) has been paid in full, and any and all payments of said "next Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) of profit," shall be applied directly against said account, and after payment of said sum of $53,253.56 from this source, thereafter all profits earned by said New Corporation shall be equally divided between Schine and Fine, it being further expressly understood that the aforesaid amount of $53,253.56 is the result of an audit by Fine, and Schine shall have the right [fol. 6313] and privilege to recheck or verify said audit, and in the event any discrepancies are found, said amount shall accordingly be changed.

Eleventh. After payment of the above sums, the profits derived by the New Corporation from the operation of said theatres shall be divided equally between the Class A and Class B stockholders in such manner as the Board of Directors may determine.

Twelfth. The New Corporation shall have two (2) bank accounts, opened pursuant to appropriate resolutions of its Board of Directors, one of which shall be a general account of the deposit of funds of the New Corporation, which account shall be subject to checks or drafts drawn and signed by two (2) persons who shall be designated by the Board of Directors of the New Corporation. The other account shall be an operating account, in which a balance of at least One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) but not more than Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000) shall always be maintained. Such account shall be subject to checks drawn by any person or persons designated by Schine, said accounts to be originally opened at The Old Phoenix National Bank of Medina, Ohio, subject to subsequent change by the Board of Directors.

Thirteenth. The New Corporation shall furnish Schine and Fine respectively weekly, monthly and annual statements of its business and of the theatres operated by it, and the books of account shall at all reasonable times be subject to audit by the holders of either class of stock, at the expense of the party auditing such books.

Fourteenth. It is understood and agreed that during the terms of the respective leases above mentioned neither the holders of the Class A stock nor the holders of the Class B stock of the New Corporation shall sell or otherwise dispose of, in any manner, the shares of capital stock owned by them in the New Corporation without first offering same for sale to the holders of the other class of stock upon the same terms and conditions as those upon which such party proposes to sell the same to a bona fide purchaser.
[fol. 6314] The foregoing, however, is subject to the right of the holders of Class A stock to sell or transfer said stock among themselves prior to any offering to the Class B stockholders of said stock, and, likewise, the Class B stockholders shall have the prior right to sell or assign their respective stock among the holders thereof prior to the offering of said stock to the Class A stockholders. It being the intention of this clause to allow each class of stockholders to deal in said stock among themselves, but in the event they offer same to any outside or third parties the provisions of this paragraph shall apply.

Fifteenth. Any pledge, hypothecation or other encumbrance of any stock of the New Corporation shall be subject to the terms hereof with respect to sale and transfer.

All certificates of stock of the New Corporation shall bear an appropriate legend thereon setting forth the above restrictions.

Sixteenth. The parties hereto mutually agree to share equally any and all costs and expenses in connection with the incorporation and qualification of the New Corporation, excepting, however, that each party shall pay its own attorneys fees.

Seventeenth. It is understood and agreed by and between the parties hereto that during the term of the respective leases above mentioned neither party hereto will, directly or indirectly, acquire any interest of any kind in any motion picture or other theatre in the City of Medina, Ohio, without first giving the New Corporation the opportunity to acquire such interest upon the same terms and conditions as those upon which such party proposes to acquire the same. The New Corporation shall have thirty (30) days after written notice of such offer within which to accept or reject the same, and written notice of such rejection or acceptance shall be given to the party submitting the same within such time. In the event that the Board of Directors of the New [fol. 6315] Corporation shall reject such offer, then the party originally negotiating for the same may proceed to acquire such theatre or theatres upon the same terms and conditions as offered the New Corporation.

It is, of course, agreed that the party submitting any proposition for the acquisition of new or additional theatres as in this Article provided will cause its directors to vote in favor of such acquisition, and if the directors of the party submitting such proportion for the acquisition of new or additional theatres shall fail or refuse to vote to acquire the same, then the party submitting such proposition to the New Corporation shall not have the right, either directly or indirectly, to acquire such new or additional theatre or theatres or any interest therein. The provisions of the within paragraph shall also apply to any renewals of the existing leases, namely: before either party renews its lease upon the respective theatres involved in this transaction, or upon any new theatres which may be acquired, the opportunity should be first offered to the New Corporation in the manner as hereinbefore more fully set forth.

Eighteenth. It is mutually agreed between the parties hereto that the regulations and By-Laws of this corporation shall include the following provisions:

(a) That dissolution of this company may be had upon the agreement of all of the Class A and Class B stockholders.

(b) Otherwise, there can be no dissolution of this corporation until as a condition precedent either class of stockholders give to the other at least one year's notice of their respective intention to dissolve said corporation, and no right to dissolve otherwise shall be recognized without the compliance with the foregoing notice provision.

In the event of dissolution, the corporation shall reassign to the respective parties to this agreement the leases of the respective theatres, together with any modifications [fol. 6316] or supplements to said respective leases, and including equipment contained in said theatres, and shall divide any and all cash on hand and supplies equally, and that otherwise the parties shall be restored to the status existing at the date of the execution of the contract in all respects.

Nineteenth. It is further understood and agreed that in the event the New Corporation should require additional financing, either because of losses in operation or for necessary improvements, or for the acquisition of new property, the respective parties will advance the necessary funds to the New Corporation by way of loans in equal amounts.

As security for the performance of this covenant, each party shall deposit its stock in the New Corporation in escrow with the Old Phoenix National Bank of Medina, Ohio, as Escrow Agent, duly endorsed in blank. If either party shall fail to make any loan in accordance with these provisions, the other party shall have the right to make good the deficit and shall have a lien upon the leases and equipment in respect of such advances. At any time when the advance is made by one party for the account of the other, shall aggregate the sum of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars ($2500), the escrow agent shall, on thirty days written notice to the party in default (unless such $2,500 is paid to the other party within said thirty days), deliver the stock of the New Corporation held by the defaulting party and said defaulting party shall have no further interest in said New Corporation.

It is further understood that in the event that Fine for any reason does not wish to comply with the aforesaid deposit of the stock in escrow to be issued to Fine, then in that event and in lieu thereof Fine shall deliver to the New Corporation a guarantee satisfactory to Schine executed jointly and severally by the individuals to whom said Fine stock shall be distributed, to-wit: M. S. Fine, S. H. Stecker, Abe Kramer, P. E. Essick, J. S. Jossey and Charles G. Deckman, guaranteeing that in the event additional financing is required for the reasons above set forth that said [fol. 6317] individuals jointly and severally agree to provide their respective share of said funds required for said financing.

Twentieth. This agreement shall bind and inure to the benefit of the respective parties hereto, their respective successors and assigns.

In Witness Whereof, the parties hereto have affixed their signatures to duplicates hereof the day and place first above written.

Schine Medina Corporation, by Ben Yudelevitz, Pres., Party of the First Part. The Medina Temple Theatre Company, by M. S. Fine, Pres.; by P. E. Essick, Sec., Party of the Second Part.

Indenture of Lease

This indenture of lease made and entered into at Medina, Ohio, this 18th day of January, 1938, by and between The Medina Masonic Temple Company, an Ohio corporation, hereinafter called the Lessor, and the Medina Temple Theatre Company, an Ohio corporation, hereinafter called the Lessee,

Witnesseth:

That the Lessor does hereby let and lease unto the Lessee the theatre, auditorium, lobby and remaining unimproved portion of said premises for parking privileges, of the following described premises:

Parcel Described

Situated in the Village of Medina, County of Medina and State of Ohio; and known as being a part of Lots One Hundred Forty Two (142), One Hundrey Forty-Three (143), One Hundred Forty-four (144), One Hundred Forty-seven (147) and One Hundred Forty-eight (148) on the Medina Township side of said Village, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the north line of aest Liberty Street, One hundred feet east from the south-west corner of Lot 147; thence north thru lots 147 and 148 a distance of one hundred fifty feet to an iron pin; thence west in lot 148 a distance of One hundred feet to an iron pin set in the east line of North Elmwood Street; thence north along the east line of said street a distance of One Hundred Seven feet to an iron pipe; thence easterly in lots 142 and 143 two hundred sixty-eight and three tenths feet to a post; thence south twenty feet to a post; thence east fourteen feet to an iron pin; thence south in lot 144 Seventy-five feet to an iron pin; thence westerly in lots 144 and 148 a distance of one hundred sixty-five and sixty-six hundredths feet to an iron pin; thence south One Hundred sixty-feet to the north line of Liberty Street; thence west along said street line seventeen feet to the place of beginning, it being the intention of the Lessor and Lessee herein to lease that part of the premises owned by the Lessor which will adequately provide the Lessee with sufficient land to cover entirely that portion of the real estate owned by Lessor upon which there has been constructed a theatre, auditorium, foyer and lobby, which the Lessee, by the terms of this lease, is leasing from said Lessor, and, in the event the foregoing description shall not be sufficient to cover that portion of the real estate upon which said theatre, auditorium, foyer and lobby was constructed, it shall then be the undertaking of the parties hereto that the premises described herein shall include all the premises required for [fol. 6319] said purpose, together with the granting to the Lessee and its patrons the right of ingress and egress to and from said premises by right of way leading south therefrom to West Liberty Street; also the right of ingress, by right of way on the north side of the building, to and from the unimproved portion of said premises used for parking space and to provide a driveway for said purpose, which rights shall not be exclusive, but to be enjoyed in common with the Lessor.

The Lessee shall have the right during the term of this lease to have the lobby extended to West Liberty Street, if it so desires. The Lessee shall also have the right to erect on top of the Masonic Temple Building, or any place on premices facing West Liberty Street, a sign or signs for advertising purposes for its theatre.

It is understood between the Lessor and Lessee herein that in connection with the lighting of the driveway leading into the parking space and the parking space herein leased to the Lessee, there are certain facilities already installed on top of the building and on poles in the parking space for the purpose of illuminating said driveway and parking space, and the Lessee agrees to pay for all current used in connection with said lighting.

To have and to hold unto the Lessee for a period of twenty-five (25) years, commencing on the 1st day of January, 1938, and ending on the 31st day of December, 1963, upon the covenants and agreements herein set forth.

The Lessee hereby covenants and agrees to pay the Lessor as minimum rental for the premises during said term, the sum of Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000.00) per year, for the duration of said lease, payable in monthly installments of Five hundred Dollars ($500.00) each in advance on the first day of each and every month.

[fol. 6320] In addition to the above stipulated minimum rental, the Lessee agrees to pay additional rental to the Lessor, computed on the basis of ten per cent (10%) of the gross receipts in excess of Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000.00) per year. "Gross receipts" shall be defined as all income taken in at said theatre from the sale of tickets and admission fees, less refunds and any sums collected for city, county, state or federal tax purposes on admissions, imposed by law.

Determination of additional rental, if any, due in accordance with the terms hereof, shall be computed on an annual basis, and Lessee agrees to furnish semi-annually a written statement of all gross receipts taken in at said theatre, and in the event said statement discloses any excess due Lessor on receipts for said six-month period above the sum of Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000.00), said excess shall be paid within thirty (30) days after the completion of each semi-annual accounting period. In the event that it shall be found that there has been any overpayment of said additional rent during any of the above mentioned semi-annual periods, computed on an annual basis, then and in that event said Lessee shall be entitled to deduct any excess rental paid during any annual period from the subsequent minimum monthly rental amounts due under the terms of this lease. The payment of any excess rental due Lessor by reason of the foregoing clauses is hereby modified for a period not to exceed twelve and one-half (12½) years from the commencement of this lease as follows:

That during said period not to exceed twelve and one-half (12½) years from the commencement of this lease, the Lessee's obligation to pay additional rental to the Lessor in the manner above set forth forth shall be computed on the basis of five per cent (5%) of the gross receipts in excess of Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000.00), and the remaining five per cent (5%) shall be retained by the Lessee until such [fol. 6321] time as the Lessee has been repaid the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00, which sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) is the agreed amount between the parties hereto that shall be returned to the Lessee under this plan by reason of the fact that the said Lessee has contributed an amount in excess of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) for the benefit of the Lessor in connection with the construction of the theatre auditorium, foyer and lobby herein leased. It being the intentions of the parties hereto that in the event said agreed sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) to be repaid to the Lessee out of said division of excess rentals, shall be repaid in this manner to said Lessee prior to twelve and one-half (12½) years from the commencement of this lease, then and in that event the within provision shall terminate immediately upon the repayment of the said sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) and thereafter any further amount of excess rental due Lessor shall be paid to Lessor in accordance with the original provisions pertaining to the payment of any excess rental which may be due in accordance with the provisions hereinabove set forth; meaning thereby, that the said Lessor shall then receive the original agreed amount of ten per cent (10%) of the gross receipts in excess of Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000.00). It is expressly understood that there shall be no obligation upon the Lessor to repay to the Lessee the aforesaid agreed amount advanced by Lessee for the completion of said building as is herein set forth except insofar as said amount may be repaid by the above division of excess rentals which may be due Lessor from Lessee in accordance with the terms of this lease.

All equipment and furnishings now installed by the Lessee or hereafter installed by Lessee, required for the operation of a modern theatre, shall be free and clear of all liens, except purchase money mortgages, it being further understood that the sound equipment shall be on a lease basis.

It is further understood that after all of said equipment and furnishings installed by Lessee have been fully paid [fol. 6322] for, and the purchase money mortgages thereon have been discharged, then at such time the Lessee agrees to execute and deliver to the Lessor as additional security for the faithfull performances of the terms and conditions of the within lease, a chattel mortgage in favor of the Lessor covering said items of personal property installed or hereafter to be installed by Lessee, and Lessee agrees to execute additional chattel mortgage or mortgages when necessary to cover additional equipment or furnishings which may hereafter be installed by Lessee.

The Lessor agrees to furnish the necessary equipment and facilities to properly heat the demised premises and further agrees to furnish a fireman to operate said heating system, and in consideration thereof, the Lessee agrees to furnish and pay for all fuel used to heat said theatre, together with all fuel used in connection with the heating of the Masonic Temple Building.

Lessee shall pay for all electric current and water used and consumed in the leased premises.

Lessee shall pay all expenses in operating and maintaining the air conditioning and ventilating system installed by the lessor.

Lessee shall maintain at its own expense all inside repairs and decorations, pertaining to said theatre, foyer and lobby.

Lessor shall maintain at its own expense the exterior of said building and premises, containing said theatre, foyer and lobby.

Lessee shall carry at its own expense adequate liability insurance for the benefit of both itself and Lessor in the customary amount carried by theatres of this size, but in any event within the $25,000.00-$50,000.00 limits, and Lessor agrees to carry liability insurance in a similar amount for the remaining portion of said building in which said theatre is situated.

Lessor shall maintain at its own expense sufficient fire and tornado insurance covering said portion of said build- [fol. 6323] ing in an amount sufficient to rebuild said theatre, including foyer and lobby, in case of fire or destruction during the term of said lease and in the event of such a contingency Lessor agrees to promptly rebuild any damaged portion of said theatre and the within lease shall remain in full force and effect except no rent shall be paid by the Lessee during said period and until such time as said theatre has been rebuilt and ready for use and occupancy by the Lessee.

It is understood that there shall be no abatement of rental as long as Lessee is able to operate said theatre.

The Lessee agrees that it will not permit the said premises to be used for any unlawful purpose, or in any way that will injure the reputation of the premises or the building of which they are a part, or disturb the tenants of the building or of the neighborhood, except insofar as the normal operation of a theatre would affect same.

The Lessee further covenants that it will not permit any alterations upon any part of the demised premises without the written consent of the Lessor. All alterations or additions to the said premises shall remain for the benefit of the said Lessor.

The Lessee further covenants that it will deliver up and surrender to the Lessor possession of the premises hereby leased upon the expiration of this lease or its termination in any way in as good condition and repair as the same shall be at the commencement of said term (loss by fire, elements and ordinary wear and tear only excepted.)

The Lessee further covenants and agrees that the Lessor may have free access to the premises at all reasonable times for the purpose of examining the same or to make any alterations or repairs to the building that Lessor may deem necessary for its safety or preservation, provided, however, that such repairs or alterations shall not interfere with the operation of the said theatre.

[fol. 6324] The Lessee further covenants and agrees that the Lessor shall not be liable for any damage occasioned by failure to keep said premises in repair and shall not be liable, after Lessor has put said premises in good condition, for any damage done or occasioned by or from plumbing, gas, water, steam, or other pipes, or sewage or the bursting, leaking or running of any cistern, tank, washstand, water closet or waste pipe in, above, upon or about said building or premises, nor for damage occasioned by water, snow or ice being upon or coming through the roof, skylight, trapdoor or otherwise, unless said damage be caused by negligence of the Lessor or its duly authorized agents or servants, nor for any damage arising from acts or negligence of co-tenants or other occupants of the said building, or any owners or occupants of adjoining or contiguous property, unless notice thereof has been duly served upon Lessor by the Lessee and Lessor fails within reasonable time to correct said situation within its power to remedy.

The Lessee further covenants and agrees that every demand for rent, wherever and whenever made, shall have the same effect as if made at the time it falls due and at the place of payment or on the premises; and after the service of any notice or commencement of any suit, or final judgment therein, Lessor may receive and collect any rent due, and such collection or receipt shall not operate as a waiver of nor affect such notice, suit or judgment. Any notice or summons to be served by or on behalf of Lessor upon Lessee under this lease or in connection with any proceedings or action growing out of this lease, or the tenancy arising therefrom, may be sufficiently served by leaving such notice or summons addressed to the Lessee upon the said demised premises. Any notice to be served upon the Lessor under this lease may be served by sending it to the Lessor at Medina, Ohio, by registered mail, or to any other [fol. 6325] address given to the Lessee by the Lessor.

The Lessee further covenants and agrees at all times to save harmless the Lessor from all damages that may occur to any person or persons on the demised property, or to the property itself, resulting from any act done by or through the Lessee, and to at all times maintain and occupy the said premises in a safe and careful manner.

The Lessee covenants that it will remove from the premises regularly, at its own cost and expense, all garbage, rubbish and waste material, and shall not permit any offensive odors on said premises, and shall provide proper receptacles for garbage, rubbish and waste material, the location of which shall be at the election of the Lessor; and likewise Lessor covenants that it will not allow any other tenants in the building to create any offensive odors on said premises which may be likely to be drawn in by the ventilating system used in said theatre, or allow other tenants to unduly display merchandise in any manner that will obstruct the entrance to the theatre and shall not allow any of the other tenants in said building to in any manner obstruct the outside area-ways used for exit purposes by said theatre.

If the Lessee shall be in default in the payment of rent or any part thereof, or shall violate any of the covenants or obligations of this lease, the Lessor may at its option terminate this lease by serving thirty (30) days written notice of its intention to so terminate. If the default is not cured within the said thirty-day period, the Lessor may then declare the lease void, and enter into possession of the said premises and sue for and recover any and all damages accrued or accruing under this lease. The Lessor may sue for and recover any sums due under this lease without declaring the lease void or entering into possession of the said premises.

The Lessee shall not assign the within lease without the [fol. 6326] written consent of the Lessor.

The Lessor covenants and agrees that if the Lessee shall perform all the covenants and agreements herein stipulated, the Lessee shall at all times during the said term have the peaceful and quiet enjoyment and possession of said premises without any manner of let or hindrance from Lessor or any person or persons lawfully claiming said premises.

Wherever the words "Lessor" and "Lessee" appear in the within lease, the same shall include the Lessor or Lessee and their successors and assigns.

In witness whereof, the parties have hereunto set their hands to duplicates hereof on the day and year and place first above written.

Lease

This indenture of lease, dated for convenience the 1st day of April, 1937, but actually executed this 21st day of July, 1937, by and between the Medina Theatre Corporation of Medina, Ohio, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Ohio (hereinafter designated as the "Lessor") and the Schine Medina Corporation, an Ohio corporation with its principal office and place of business in the City of Cleveland, Ohio, (hereinafter designated the "Lessee").

Witnesseth

That said Lessor does hereby demise, let and lease unto the said Lessee, its successors and assigns, the following described premises, situated in the City of Medina, County of Medina and State of Ohio and known as the Princess Theatre, situated at No. 100 Public Square, and further described as the premises located on the N. E. corner of the Public Square in said village, including the building, fixtures, furniture, curtains, scenery, sound equipment, seats and machinery, together with any and all additional furniture, fixtures, equipment and appliances connected therewith and contained in said theatre heretofore conducted by said Lessor and known as the Princess Theatre of Medina, Ohio; it being the intent of said Lessor to let and lease unto the said Lessee that portion of the building only which is known and designated as the Princess Theatre, together with the basement under said premises, with the privilege of using the areaways appurtenant to the above described premises for ingress and egress purposes, in common with the Lessor, other tenants of the building, and all others who may desire to use same for passage, including ingress and egress purposes.

The Lessor covenants and agrees that it will pay all general and special property taxes levied by the State of Ohio, or any subdivision thereof upon the demised premises, or any part thereof, including all general and special property taxes levied by the State of Ohio, or any subdivision [fol. 6328] thereof upon the demised premises, or any part thereof, including all general and special property taxes levied by the State of Ohio, or any subdivision thereof, upon the furniture and equipment hereinbefore described; that the Lessor shall not be required to pay any special taxes or license fees levied, assessed or imposed by law or ordinance upon the business being conducted by the Lessee therein as a motion picture theatre, and shall hold the Lessor harmless therefrom.

The Lessee shall at its own expense and cost supply the theatre and lobby with the necessary heat, having regard for the purpose for which the premises are to be used; Lessor to furnish all water.

The Lessor covenants, represents, warrants and guarantees that the said theatre at the time the demised premises are delivered to the Lessee as provided herein shall be duly and completely equipped for operation as a motion picture theatre, and that all equipment and personal property therein shall be owned by the Lessor free and clear of any and all liens, claims, charges, mortgages or encumbrances of any and every nature whatsoever. The Lessee may at any time replace any of the equipment contained in the demised premises provided that such replacements shall be equal in quality to the quality and condition of the replaced equipment. All furniture, fixtures or equipment removed by the Lessee shall become the property of the Lessee, and all replacements shall, upon the termination of this lease, become the property of the Lessor. Any furniture, fixtures or equipment installed by the Lessee as additional furniture, fixtures and equipment not in the nature of replacements shall at all times remain the property of the Lessee, and may be removed by it from the demised premises at any time.

To Have and to Hold the above described premises with all the rights, privileges, easements and appurtenances thereunto belonging and attaching, unto the Lessee for a term of twenty (20) years, commencing at 12 o'clock, midnight on the 1st day of September, 1937, on which date absolute and complete legal possession of the motion picture theatre in the said building shall be delivered to the Lessee ready for use and operation as a motion picture theatre, in accordance with the provisions hereof.

[fol. 6329] Yielding and paying therefor, during the term aforesaid, the yearly rental of Thirty-six Hundred ($3600) Dollars, payable in equal monthly installments of Three Hundred ($300) Dollars each, in advance, on the 1st day of each and every month of the term hereof, at the office of the Lessor herein.

And the said Lessee, for itself, its successors and assigns, does hereby covenant and agree with said Lessor as follows:

A. That the said Lessee shall indemnify and save harmless the Lessor from and against all loss, liability or damage for injuries to persons or property sustained on said premises and from all loss liability or damage by reason of the operation of said theatre by the said Lessee.

B. That the Lessee will neither do nor permit any act or thing which may increase the fire hazard or insurance rates on said building.

C. That said Lessee shall at its own expense, make all interior repairs to said theatre and that it will indemnify and save harmless the Lessor from and against all liens, claims or damages by reason of any repairs or improvements which may be made by said Lessee on said premises, except the alterations and changes as hereinafter set forth.

D. That said Lessee will pay said rent at the times and places and in the manner aforesaid.

E. That said Lessor will pay all bills for water, and the said Lessee shall pay for all gas and electric current which may be assessed or charged against the occupant of said premises during said term, or any extension thereof.

F. That said Lessee will use and occupy said premises in a careful, safe and proper manner and that it will carefully control and guard all fires that may occur therein.

G. That said Lessee will not commit or suffer any waste therein.

H. That said Lessee will fully comply with and obey all the laws, ordinances, rules, regulations and requirements of all lawfully constituted authorities in any way affecting said premises or the use thereof, or this lease.

I. That said premises will not be used or occupied for any unlawful purpose.

J. That no intoxicating liquor shall be manufactured or sold on said premises during the said term.

K. That the Lessee shall not sell, assign or transfer this lease or underlet the premises, or any part thereof, without the written consent of the Lessor.

[fol. 6330] L. That said Lessor, or its agents, may enter upon said premises at all reasonable times, to examine the condition of the same.

M. That said Lessee will surrender and deliver up said premises at the end of said term in as good order and condition as the same now are, or may be put by said Lessor, reasonable use or natural wear and tear, or unavoidable casualty excepted.

N. That every demand for rent after the same falls due shall have the same effect in law as if made on the day and at the time the same is due, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

O. That the Lessee will make no alterations or additions in or to said premises without the written consent of the Lessor.

Providing, however, that if said rent, or any part thereof, shall at any time be in arrears and unpaid and shall remain unpaid for a period of thirty (30) days thereafter, and without any demand being made therefor, or, if said Lessee shall fail to keep and perform any of the covenants, agreements and conditions of this lease on its part to be kept and performed, or if said Lessee shall be adjudged a bankrupt, or shall make an assignment for creditors, or if the interest of the Lessee herein shall be sold under execution or other legal process, or if a receiver shall be appointed for any property of the Lessee on said premises in any suit or proceeding by or against the Lessee, it shall be lawful for said Lessor, its successors and assigns, to enter into said premises and again have, repossess and enjoy the same as if this lease had not been made, thereupon this lease and everything herein contained on the part of the said Lessor to be done and performed shall cease, determine and be utterly void; without prejudice, however, to the right of the Lessor to recover from the Lessee, or assigns, all rent due up to the time of such entry, and,

Providing further, that in case said theatre and theatre building, without any fault or neglect of said lessee shall be destroyed by the elements or other cause, said Lessee may thereupon surrender possession of said premises to said Lessor and thereupon this lease shall determine, cease and be utterly void; but in case of partial destruction of said building, the Lessor shall at once proceed to make the repairs necessary to put the building in its former condition and this lease shall not terminate, but during the time in which such repairs are being made, no rent shall be payable, except for such parts of said premises as may then be used [fol. 6331] and occupied by said Lessee.

And said Lessor hereby covenants and agrees with said Lessee, its successors and assigns:

A. That said Lessee, paying the rents and keeping and performing the covenants of this lease, on its part to be kept and performed, said Lessee shall peaceably and quietly hold, occupy and enjoy said premises during said term, without any let, hindrance or molestation by any person whatsoever, and,

B. The said Lessor will make all repairs to the roof, skylights and exterior of said building.

It is further agreed by the parties hereto that said demised premises shall be used for the purpose of conducting and operating therein a motion picture and theatre business and that for such business it is necessary to remodel the exterior and interior of said building and demised premises and it is agreed that such remodeling and alterations shall be done upon the following terms and conditions.

A. That all plans, blue prints and specifications for the remodeling of said building shall conform to any and all building codes of the State of Ohio, or any political subdivision thereof, and approved by all authorities enforcing said codes and shall also have the approval of said Lessee, all to be done before the work of remodeling said building is begun.

B. That all expenses for the plans, blue prints, specifications, estimates and securing the approval as aforesaid, shall be paid by Lessor.

C. That Lessor shall advance and pay the total expense of remodeling and altering said demised premises for use and occupancy as a motion picture and theatre business; all estimates for this work have been submitted to the Lessee herein and it is agreed that said Lessor shall advance and pay, for the purpose of making said alterations and changes in said demised premises, a sum not to exceed Twelve Thousand ($12,000) Dollars, but, in no event shall said alterations and remodeling cost less than Ten Thousand ($10,000) Dollars, including the installation of any and all furniture and fixtures.

It is further stipulated and agreed that the Lessee shall be under no obligation to pay rent for said demised premises until said theatre and theatre building have been completely remodeled and altered in accordance with the plans and specifications heretofore approved by said Lessee, anything herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

This lease and all the covenants, provisions, terms, conditions and agreements herein contained shall inure to the profit of and be binding upon the successors and assigns of the parties hereto.

[fol. 6332] In witness whereof, the parties hereto have caused these presents to be executed as of the day and year first above written.

Dear Mr. Grafiades:

In acknowledgment of your letter received, requesting information as to our 1933-34 product, please be advised that our new season's policy on product has not been set up as yet for the forthcoming season, and we are not now in a position to make any definite commitment regarding the new year's pictures.

However, we appreciate your inquiry and will certainly keep your situation in mind, as you request.

Kindest regards.

Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge your letter of April 29th.

In view of the fact that we already have, in existence, a long-term franchise with the Schine Theatres in Lockport, we are unable to comply with your request to commit ourselves to play any of our pictures in your theatre.

We shall be glad to negotiate with you, as we have in the past, on any of the pictures that Schine eliminates in this situation.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Grafiades:

We have your recent letter regarding our next season's product for Lockport, N. Y.

It is too early as yet to make plans for next season. We will, however, keep your request at hand until such time as we are ready to sell our new season's product. We will at that time give it consideration.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:—

Your letter of May 26th to the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors has been referred to us for attention.

We regret very much that it will be impossible for us to offer you our product for the coming season, because of our partnership with Mr. Schine in the Rialto Theatre.

Naturally, we have to reserve our pictures for our own theatre.

Very truly yours,

My Dear Mr. Grafiades:

The delay in acknowledging your letter to me of the 18th has been occasioned by my frequent absences from the city.

In our negotiations with the Schine interests it will very likely be that we will have to give them consideration for our product at Lockport, as well as other situations, and as we are hardly in a position to forego or jeopardize the business from their other situations, and for the further reason that they have for a number of years been a very representative account, we feel that our interests would be best served by giving them such consideration.

Under the circumstances, we are not in a position to offer your our 1933-34 product.

The assurance you speak of as made to you by Messrs. Dipson and Osborne was certainly not with our sanction, as no arrangements were made with them for the delivery of product to the Palace Theatre, Lockport, beyond those pictures covered in the existing agreements and representing those subjects under contract to the above theater for what is known as our 1932-33 product.

We appreciate your letter of inquiry and also the consideration you have seen fit to give us in the past and feel sure that after due deliberation you will fully understand our position in the matter.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

W. F. Rodgers

Inter-Office Communication

To Mr. M. Rose
Attention of
In Regard to:
From Mr. Montague's office
By Irene Danels
Date Sept. 8, 1944.
[Stamp:] Received Sept. 8, 1944, Legal Dept.

I am sending you herewith printed schedules of feature releases for the 1938-39 to the 1941-42 seasons inclusive.

I am unable to find printed schedules of this character for any season prior to 1938-39; and I believe it was not the practise of the company to print such schedules prior to the 1938-39 season. We did, during earlier seasons, publish in the Beacon lists of feature pictures in the form of release schedules, but I understand that such lists published in the Beacon do not come within the terms of the subp-ena.

Printed release schedules of the character furnished to you herewith are issued by us at approximately monthly intervals, but the monthly issues for the period beginning 1938-39 are not readily available.

att. Irene Danels.

In Regard to ——.
Date Sept. 8, 1944.
[Stamp:] Received Sep. 8, 1944, Legal Dept.

I am sending you herewith printed schedules of feature releases for the 1938-39 to the 1941-42 seasons inclusive.

I am unable to find printed schedules of this character for any season prior to 1938-39, and I believe it was not the practise of the company to print such schedules prior to the 1938-39 season. We did, during earlier seasons, publish in the Beacon lists of feature pictures in the form of release schedules, but I understand that such lists published in the Beacon do not come within the terms of the subp-ena.

Printed release schedules of the character furnished to you herewith are issued by us at approximately monthly intervals, but the monthly issues for the period beginning 1938-39 are not readily available.

Irene Danels.

Re: U. S. v. Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., et al.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with the understanding made during the course of my testimony in the above matter on September 28, 1944, I send you each herewith a list of the feature motion pictures released by Paramount together with the actual dates on which they were so released for the season 1931-32 up to and including season 1938-39.

You will note that for the seasons 1939-40 and 1940-41 the days of the month are not set forth with respect to the features released. Commencing with the 1939-40 season it was the policy of this Company not to have so-called national release dates and consequently the release schedules made available to our various exchanges and to the trade throughout the country did not carry any specific days of the month.

I trust that the information submitted constitutes full compliance with the request heretofore made on September 28, 1944.

Very truly yours, Richard P. Morgan.

Agreement made at Lockport, New York, this 17th day of June, 1935, by and between Jessamine E. Shannon, LeGrand O. Robson and James A. White, as Executors of the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, deceased, late of the City of Lockport, Niagara County, New York, having their offices at Room 45, Fourth Floor, Savings Bank Building, Lockport, New York, hereinafter described as the "Sellers" and G. C. Theatre Corp. a New York corporation having its principal office at Gloversville, New York, hereinafter described as the "Purchaser",

Witnesseth:

For and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements hereinafter contained, the parties hereto do hereby mutually covenant and agree as follows:

1. The Sellers covenant and agree to sell (as soon as possible and in any event by December 31st, 1935) and the purchaser covenants and agrees to purchase: (a) the premises and property described in Exhibit A annexed hereto and made part hereof, for the sum of $159,000.00, which sum the said Purchaser hereby agrees to pay the Sellers as follows: the sum of $90,000.00 by the assumption and agreement to pay, or the execution, acknowledgment and delivery by the Purchaser to the Sellers or to such person, firm or corporation as the Seller may designate (in which event the mortgage recording tax, recording fee and the revenue stamps on the bond shall be paid by the Sellers) of a bond and first mortgage in the said sum upon the said premises and property, or a portion thereof, the interest whereon, at a rate not to exceed 5½% per annum, shall be payable not more frequently than semi-annually, and the principal whereof shall be payable not sooner than in ten (10) semi-annual instalments (the first of which shall not become due prior to six (6) months after the date hereof) of $2500.00 each and a final instalment (which shall not become due prior to five (5) years after the date hereof) of $65,000.00, and the sum of $69,000.00 in cash at the time and place of closing [fol. 6360] as hereinafter provided, and (b) the premises and property described in "Exhibit B" annexed hereto and made part hereof, for the sum of $1000.00, which sum the said Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers at the time and place of closing as hereinafter provided.

Interest items, insurance premiums and water rates shall be pro-rated and adjusted between the parties hereto as of the date of the delivery of the deeds or of the possession of the said premises and property, whichever shall be earlier. All taxes which may be a lien on the said premises and property shall be paid by the Sellers except the City and County taxes for the current fiscal year which shall be pro-rated and adjusted between the parties hereto as of the date of the delivery of the deeds or of the possession of the said premises and property, whichever shall be earlier. All assessments for local improvements now a lien, or which may become a lien prior to the date of the delivery of the deeds or of the possession of the said premises and property, whichever shall be earlier, shall be paid by the Sellers.

The Sellers shall furnish to the Purchaser, at least 15 days before the date of closing, fully guaranteed tax and title searches made by an incorporated title or abstract company and surveys of the said premises and properties, made by a licensed surveyor, showing the lands which are to be conveyed hereunder and all buildings and improvements thereon, and shall tender the Purchaser good, marketable and insurable titles to said premises and property. Upon the payment of the agreed purchase price at the time and in the manner above mentioned, the Sellers shall execute and deliver, or cause to be executed and delivered, to the said Purchaser, or to its assigns, good and sufficient warranty deeds and bills of sale of the said premises and property. The Purchaser shall have possession of each of said premises and property from and after the delivery of said deeds free and clear from all liens and encumbrances not [fol. 6361] otherwise provided for herein and the Sellers shall take such steps as may be necessary to put the Purchaser in possession. The Sellers further covenant and agree to deliver possession of the premises and property so described in "Exhibit A" to the Purchaser as soon as they acquire the right to such possession.

This contract shall be closed, the payments made and the deeds and bill of sale delivered at the office of the Niagara County Clerk, Lockport, New York, on such date prior to the 1st day of January, 1936, as may be specified in a notice by the Sellers to the Purchaser of the readiness of the Sellers to close, which notice shall be sent by registered mail addressed to the Purchaser at its address as hereinabove stated at least 15 days prior to the date indicated in such notice, or, if no such notice shall be given, on December 31st, 1935, at 12 o'clock noon. The risk of loss or damage to said premises and property until the delivery of the deeds and bill of sale therefor is assumed by the Sellers.

2. This agreement shall not be valid for any purpose unless within ten days after the date hereof the Purchaser shall deposit in escrow at the Lockport Exchange Trust Company a certificate of deposit or certified check for $10,000.00, endorsed in blank, to guarantee the performance by the Purchaser of its obligations thereunder, which check or certificate of deposit shall be delivered by the Trust Company to:

(a) The Sellers, when and if the Purchaser shall so request, in writing, to be accepted by the Sellers in part payment of the purchase price of the said premises and property to the extent of the face amount thereof and the interest accrued thereon; or

(b) The Sellers, as liquidated damages and not as a penalty, upon proof to the said Trust Company that the [fol. 6362] Purchaser has failed to fulfill its obligations hereunder but not until ten days after written notice to the Purchaser by the Trust Company of its intention to deliver the same to the Sellers; or

(c) The Purchaser on the 2nd day of January, 1936, in the event that the Sellers, prior thereto, shall not have furnished proof that their obligations hereunder have been fulfilled.

3. In the event that the Sellers shall fail to fulfill their obligations hereunder on or before December 31st, 1935, the Purchaser may, at its option, elect to rescind this agreement. Anything to the contrary hereinabove contained, the Sellers shall not be liable for damages for failure to fulfill their obligations hereunder in the event that the first mortgage held by Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co. upon the premises described in "Exhibit A" shall be foreclosed and the said premises shall be sold in such foreclosure action to a person, firm or corporation, other than the Sellers, or one of the Sellers of the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, deceased, and over whom or which neither the Sellers nor any of the Sellers, nor any of the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, deceased, have any control, and in which neither the Sellers, nor any of the Sellers, nor any of the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, deceased, have any interest, for a purchase price of more than $160,000.00.

4. The Sellers severally represent and warrant that they have the authority and right to enter into this agreement and to make the covenants and agreements herein contained.

5. This agreement and the covenants and agreements herein contained shall be binding on and inure to the benefit of the successors and assigns of the respective parties hereto.

In Witness Whereof, the Sellers have hereunto set their [fol. 6363] hands and seals and the Purchaser has caused this agreement to be executed in its name by its duly authorized officer on the day first above written.

[fol. 6371] Exhibit 691

Memorandum of agreement, made and entered into this 20th day of April, 1936, by and between Jessamine E. Dickinson Shannon, LeGrand O. Robson and James A. White, as Executors of the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, parties of the first part, and Nikitas Dipson, Peter Grafiades and Reliance Theatres, Inc., a domestic corporation, parties of the second part:

Whereas, Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, and Nikitas Dipson entered into a certain agreement dated December 22, 1932, concerning the formation of Reliance Theatres, Inc.; the respective rights, duties and obligations of said Dickinson and said Dipson to each other and to said Reliance Theatres, Inc.; also concerning its stock, assets, management, control and the assignability of their respective interests therein; and

Whereas, it was provided, in said agreement dated December 22, 1932, that said Dickinson and said Dipson should each have fifty shares of stock of Reliance Theatres, Inc., and that neither could transfer any or all of his stock without consent of the other; and

Whereas, said Dickinson entered into a certain agreement March 14, 1933 with Peter Grafiades of the City of Batavia, New York, whereby said Dickinson agreed that Dipson could transfer his stock in Reliance Theatres, Inc. to Grafiades, and further agreed to accept Grafiades' assumption of Dipson's rights and duties under the agreement of December 22, 1932, wherein Grafiades agreed to accept and assume Dipson's obligations thereunder; and

Whereas, on the 13th day of April, 1933, the said Dickinson and Grafiades entered into a certain agreement whereby it was provided that Dickinson would transfer and [fol. 6372] consent to transfer to Grafiades sixteen and one third (16⅓) shares of Reliance Theatres, Inc. then held by Dickinson, with the provision that said Dickinson should be voting trustee of said stock for a certain number of years, and with the further provision that thereafter Grafiades would assume the obligation connected with said stock and that Dickinson would be released therefrom; and

Whereas, the parties of the first part now desire to transfer and assign all their rights, property, interest, etcetera, in the aforesaid agreements, and in the capital stock of Reliance Theatres, Inc., to which parties of the first part are entitled, said transfer and assignment to be made to John R. Osborne of the City of Batavia, New York;

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the payment of the sum of One Dollar ($1.00), by each of the parties hereto to the other in hand paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and in consideration of the mutual covenants hereinafter set forth, It is agreed as follows:—

1. That the parties of the first part may sell, assign and transfer any and all shares of stock and voting rights therein to John R. Osborne of the City of Batavia, New York.

2. Parties of the second part, individually and collectively, hereby remise, release and forever discharge the parties of the first part and their successors and all parties interested in the Estate of Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, of and from all manner of action and actions, cause and causes of action, suits, debts, dues, sums of money, accounts, etcetera, now already due or that may hereafter become due, in any way to the parties of the second part under the terms [fol. 6373] and conditions of certain contracts entered into between Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, and Nikitas Dipson December 22, 1932, and by and between Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, and Peter Grafiades March 14, 1933 and April 13, 1933, particularly and specifically releasing and discharging the parties of the first part from the payment of any sum of money at the present time, or at any time in the future, under Paragraph 7 of the agreement of December 22, 1932, for current repairs, replacements and actual operating losses, or for any other purpose.

3. The agreements above referred to, entered into by Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, December 22, 1932 with Nikitas Dipson, and on March 14, 1933 and April 13, 1933 with Peter Grafiades, are hereby abrogated, rescinded and cancelled by all the parties to said agreements, and it is understood and agreed that henceforth all rights of any of the parties to any of said agreements shall be in every respect terminated, annulled and extinguished.

4. Parties of the first part specifically forego, waive and extinguish any and all right to hold sixteen and one-third (16⅓) shares of common stock of Reliance Theatres, Inc. as voting trustees for Peter Grafiades under the terms and conditions of the agreement of April 13, 1933.

5. From the time of the execution of this agreement forward, parties of the first part will have no interest, voice or concern whatsoever with the corporate affairs of Reliance Theatres, Inc., or with any action taken by any of the parties of the second part in connection therewith.

6. Parties of the first part remise, release and forever discharge the parties of the second part from all claims, debts, dues, accounts, notes, etcetera for any sums of money [fol. 6374] that may have been advanced by Charles E. Dickinson, Deceased, to Reliance Theatres, Inc. prior to his death, pursuant to the terms of the agreements recited above.

In Witness Whereof, the parties hereto have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.
